NYA BOYS WORK TO BEAUTIFY CITY

Flowers Planted About Graham Springs Pavilion; Graded School Play Grounds Improved.

Ten workers under the National Youth Administration have completed the beautification of the grounds around the springs pavilion in Graham Springs city park under the direction of Miss Margaret Smith, NYA supervisor for Mercer county. A number of iris, cornflowers and other hardy plants were set out, and also hollyhocks, Harrodsburg's official flower. These plants were contributed by Mrs. J. B. RoBards and Miss Fannie Chelf, members of the Civic-Garden department, of the Woman's Club, this organization being the sponsor for NYA in Harrodsburg.

At present the boys are improving the playgrounds at the Graded School with Principal J. K. Powell directing their labors. The campus is being graded, cleared of stones and some additional planting will be done at the proper time, Miss Smith announced. At present there are 45 youths working in Mercer county.

The Woman's Club is making plans to beautify several other places about the city with NYA labor. This federal project gives remunerative employment to youths who would otherwise be idle. It also presents an opportunity for vocational training, as well as developing self-reliance in boys through directed work by which they are able to earn pay. This creates a desire to be self-supporting and keeps the growing boys away from the evils that beset idle-ness.

Dr. H. M. Washburn, of Africa, outstanding in the work of the Congo, is to make the address at the Men's Missionary Dinner on June 9, sponsored by the Laymen's League of America. Fred Michel, of Chicago, president of the League, will be present and introduce the speaker. Not only laymen and ministers of all Harrodsburg churches will attend, but nearly all the churches in the county will have representatives to hear Dr. Washburn. He has labored in the Belgian Congo for about 25 years and is familiar with the missionary work of all denominations in that section. He has seen savage tribes, hating the white race, won gradually to God through spiritual and material ministrations of the missionaries. Many amusing and pathetic incidents have come under his observation, and he relates them in such an interesting manner that the Laymen's League secured him for a series of talks, and Harrodsburg was selected as one of the cities where he will be presented to the laymen of the various churches.

The bonds will be mailed to the veterans in registered letters and will be delivered only to the addressees. Those receiving the bonds must be able to identify themselves to the postal carrier or clerk, and must sign the registry receipt. If any addressee is unknown to the carrier or clerks, he must be identified by two witnesses before the bonds will be released.

There will be no cash payments for the bonds at the post office, Mr. Gabhart explained. Anyone wishing to receive cash must turn them in at the post office. They will be given receipts at that time and the bonds sent to Louisville. Special Treasury Department checks will be mailed out from Louisville in return for the bonds.

To provide facilities for taking care of the bonus, bonds have created quite a problem for the post office. A special window will be designated in the post office. Owing to the extra work entailed by handling the bonds, none of the employees will be able to take vacations in June.
