

DEATHS

SMITH

Mrs. Lucy Jane Smith, prominent woman of Salvisa, died at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, February 17, 1936, at the age of 76 years. She was the widow of J. W. Smith who passed on a number of years ago. Her parents were Bacon Meaux and Elvira Driscoll Meaux and she had been for many years a member of the Presbyterian church at Hebron. She leaves no children, but is survived by one sister, Mrs. Guy Barnes, of Lawrenceburg, and a number of nephews and nieces. Her funeral was at 11 o'clock on the morning of February 19 at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hutchison, Salvisa, and the burial was in the Hebron cemetery. Rev. B. C. Morton, pastor of Sand Spring Baptist church, in Anderson county, will conduct the service.

BRUMMETTE

Daniel T. Brummette, well known restaurant proprietor, died unexpectedly from cerebral hemorrhage about 3:30 Saturday morning, Feb. 15, 1936. He was a native of Whiteley county born there 57 years ago, the son of C. T. and Winnie Pemberton Brummette. He had made his home in Harrodsburg for many years, engaging in several lines of merchandising at various times. Genial in disposition, he was generally liked and respected. He was a member of the Baptist church and also held membership in the following lodges: Montgomery Lodge of Odd Fellows; Harrodsburg Camp of Modern Woodmen; the Masonic Order and the Royal Neighbors lodge of Cornishville.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Hallie Corn Brummette, a son, Everett Brummette, Harrodsburg; a sister, Mrs. E. J. Wyrick, of Corbin; and five brothers, J. L. and S. W. Brummette, of Jeffersonville; Major J. S. Brummette, Fort Benning, Ga.; Dr. E. M. Brummette, Lexington; Dr. G. A. Brummette, Tampa, Florida.

The funeral was at the Harrodsburg Baptist church Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, conducted by his pastor, Rev. G. Whitcomb Eilers, assisted by Rev. T. Hassell Bowen, pastor of the Christian church. Burial was in Spring Hill cemetery. The pall bearers were fellow members from the Odd Fellows and Woodmen lodges as follows: Honorary, Thomas Adkinson; I. C. James, Herbert Burns, Thomas Farnsworth, B. F. Pollard, Judge Charles T. Corn; active, C. E. Peavler, Lytle Trower, Omer Carr, W. J. Wilson, Raymond Hawkins, and A. L. Gibson.

Relatives from out of town attending the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brummette, Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler Brummette, Louisville; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Brummette, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Brummette, Jeffersonville, Ind.; Major J. S. Brummette, Fort Benning, Ga.; Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Brummette, Lexington; Mrs. E. J. Wyrick, Corbin and others.

VANSANT

Dr. J. T. Vansant, 83, died of heart trouble Friday, Feb. 14, 1936 at his home in Paris. He was a brother of the late A. H. Vansant, former prominent merchant in Harrodsburg, and had been in failing health for sometime. He practiced medicine for 57 years. Born in Fleming county, Dr. Vansant located in Paris in 1880. He was graduated from Centre College in 1875, and received his medical training at the American College of Homeopathy, New York. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Gertrude Edgar Vansant; a son, Edgar Vansant, and a sister, Mrs. John S. McElroy, Springfield, Ky.

Funeral services were on Sunday afternoon with burial in Paris.

CURRY

General regret was felt here when news of the death of a former prominent citizen, J. Reed Curry, Tampa, Florida, was received by his brother, N. L. Curry in a wire Thursday afternoon, February 13, 1936. Mr. Curry was 64 years old, the son of the late Daniel J. Curry and Emma Rue Curry, members of well known early families here. He was in the insurance business in Harrodsburg with his uncle, L. M. Rue, until leaving to reside in the South. Settling in Tampa, Florida, he became manager of the organization department of the Florida Citrus Exchange, a position he held with honor for 25 years. Seeming as well as usual when he left home that morning, Mr. Curry went to the Florida State Fair at Tampa, and was sitting in the citrus exchange pavilion when stricken with a heart attack. He died before attendants at the exhibit could carry him to the Red Cross building a few feet away.

Mr. Curry was one of the widely known citrus men of Florida, as he traveled throughout the state and made thousands of addresses at meetings of growers and other groups on the citrus industry. He was an elder in the First Presbyterian church, a member of the Rotary club, several Masonic organizations and Egypt Temple Shrine. He was a graduate of Centre College, Danville. His funeral was on Saturday afternoon at the church of his faith with burial at Tampa.

Mr. Curry is survived by his wife, Mrs. Charlie Louise Wheatley Curry, two sons, James M. Curry, Tampa, and Charles Curry, student at the University of Florida; a sister, Mrs. H. P. Atkins, of Cincinnati, and four brothers, N. L. Curry, Harrodsburg; Dr. Edwin R. Curry, Kansas City, Mo.; Lucian Curry, Richmond, Va.; and D. J. Curry, Kansas City and Harrodsburg.

MORGAN

Mrs. Sarah Shouse Morgan, widow of W. H. Morgan, former well known merchant here, died about 8 o'clock Friday, February 14, 1936 at her home on North Main street. She was the daughter of John and Lucy Petty Shouse and was born in Anderson county June 27, 1860. She had resided in Harrodsburg for a long number of years and was a devoted member of the Christian church and a regular attendant as long as health permitted. For several years she has been failing and had been a partial invalid since a severe attack of illness last year. Since the death of her husband, Mrs. Morgan had lived alone with her companion, Miss Margaret Summers. She is survived by two brothers, John W. Shouse and William Shouse, both of Lawrenceburg. Her funeral was on Sunday afternoon at the residence conducted by her pastor, Rev. T. Hassell Bowen. Burial was in Lawrenceburg. The pall bearers here were J. J. Graves, James King, Lawrence Walker, W. W. Wilham, C. E. Rankin and George Johnson. At Lawrenceburg the pall bearers were relatives of the Shouse family.

"HARRODSBURG'S BUSY SPOT"

U. S. Church Has Service For King

Bruton Parish Church, Williamsburg, Va., State Church of British Colonies Memorializes George V.

Colonial Bruton Parish Church, Williamsburg, Virginia, once a church of state of England, assured the royal family of its prayers and sympathy upon the death of King George V. Meanwhile, it prepared to hold a special memorial service for the late monarch in connection with his funeral rites.

Nearly the British flag flew at half-mast above the restored British colonial Virginia capitol. The Imperial banner flies over the site where once royal colonists performed legislative functions as an arm of the British government.

A proclamation from Dr. W. A. R. Goodwin, rector of Bruton, hung on the main church door, read: "England's king is dead! Long live the king!" Bruton, bound to old England by many ancient ties, and continuing bonds of fellowship, bemoans the death of King George V.

"We entreat all visitors to this sacred place at this time to be mindful in silence and in prayer, of God's servant, His Majesty, the King, departed, and of his family and subjects in this affliction."

"An appropriate memorial service was held in Bruton in connection with the funeral of the King."

A telegram to the royal family from the congregation of the church read:

"Colonial Bruton Parish Church, Virginia, assures the royal family of our prayers and sympathies."

The proclamation put on the church door followed an old rule which required that death notices of all kings be posted on the church door.

Bruton was the only court church in Virginia. The parish was formed in 1674, by a union of two older parishes, one of which dated back to 1632. Memorial services were held there at the time of the deaths of George I, George II and Edward VII. The services for Edward VII were held in 1912. Five years previous to that, in 1907, the monarch gave to the church a Bible commemorating the 300th anniversary of the founding of the English colony on the peninsula.—Southern Churchman.

CONSIDERED FOR U. S. CITIZENSHIP

Why bother to write jokes when one can get dialogue like the following, overheard at the Bureau of Naturalization?

"Where is Washington?"

"He is dead."

"I mean the capitol of the United States."

"Oh, they loaned it to Europe."

"Do you promise to support the Constitution?"

"Me? How can I? I have a wife and six children to support."
