News of Modern Women

The number of seal engravers in the world is very small and one of them, Mrs. Bertha B. Sunderland, of Larchmont, N. Y., is probably the only woman engaged in this art, at least Mrs. Sunderland knows of no other. Soon after she left Skidmore College, she got a job with the late Ottavio Negri, considered the greatest master in this art. She has created many rare portraits and designs incised in stone. Tools used for this work are, for the most part, copies of those used by the Romans.

Few Wall Street firms have women members so it was something of a surprise to hear that Mrs. Elizabeth E. Gorrie has recently been made a full-fledged partner in a New York brokerage house. Twenty-six years' experience in this business has well qualified her to handle stocks and bonds.

Club women in many of our states are largely responsible for America's first national art show put on in Rockefeller Center, New York, by Mrs. Henry Breckinridge, chairman of the Mayo's Municipal Art Committee. When Mrs. Breckinridge wanted a national exhibit, the Mayor invited the Governors of the states to send in pictures and sculpture by their own artists. Very few responded, so Mrs. Breckinridge got busy with the club women, who through their federation art chairman, rounded up enough native art works to offer a sizeable show.

Operating on birds is an unusual profession. These tiny creatures are subject to colds, nervous breakdowns, pneumonia and many other ills which Miss Emilia Steinacher treats with success in her New York laboratory. She can wind a tiny bandage around a broken leg after it has been set, treat a bird for heart trouble and help to adjust its nervous system. Miss Steinacher is a niece of the late Dr. J. J. Hanna, one of the founders of the French Hospital.

Miss Marion J. Harron, of California, has been appointed a member of the United States board of tax appeals. She succeeds another woman, Miss Annabel Matthews whom President Hoover appointed as the first woman to serve on this board. Miss Harron was born in San Francisco.

Membership Goal Red Cross Drive

A tentative goal of 104,000 members in Kentucky has been set for the 1936 rollcall of the American Red Cross, it was learned this week, following the holding of six regional conferences, in the state, in preparation for the annual rollcall.

The work of the Red Cross in Kentucky in relieving the distress caused by floods, tornadoes and like disasters in the past was reviewed. It was brought out that in the past five years the American Red Cross has expended, for every dollar subscribed to its work in the annual rollcalls, approximately $4.00.

Some idea was given of the variation in membership in Kentucky since the beginning of the World War. In 1917 the American Red Cross rollcall in Kentucky resulted in 271,878 persons joining the Red Cross. In 1918 the number was 291,520, the peak membership for the state. From that year on there was a large slump in the membership in Kentucky, last year's figures being 58,594, an increase from the year before.

Kentucky is 41st in rank in the United States in point of membership, or about 2 1/2 per cent of the population of the state, which, according to the 1930 census, is 2,614,589.

Tired Of Paying On Note, Woman Grabs, Eats Paper

Mrs. A. Draper, a farmer's wife, got tired of making payments on a $1,000 note so she ate it.

Mrs. Draper and her husband called on Mrs. Max Haage, whose husband is their creditor, to make a payment on the note, on which they still owed $800. When Mrs. Haage began to credit the payment on the back, Mrs. Draper grabbed it and gulped it down.

Haage asked Sheriff Charles W. Struble what to do about it. Struble scratched his head but has not yet reported.

FIRST WILD GEESE

Out of the mists they ride on silver quills.

A scolding gander leading; do they know

A span of weeks must pass before my hills

Will hold a hint of winter or of snow?

Have they no fear of all those leaden hails

Which soon will break along this bayou's curve?

How prematurely they have set their sails—

To what good purpose can their journey serve?

I must be like the locust; summer-footed.

These birds are not mistaken; they have heard—

A mad gale's threats or felt the lake's breast cooled;

Such signs are made for warnings to a bird—

Wise is the goose who knows the way of weathers;

Knows how the blizzards love to whip the feathers.

—Jay G. Sigmund.
