Dainty Lady Petunia Delicate, Golden Yellow

Dainty Lady Petunia, Award Of Merit Selection For 1936.

This year an entirely new color in petunias is introduced to the gardening public. Various new shades of rose, pink, blue and crimson may be expected from season to season, but 1936 brings a new hue, distinct in the petunia color range—delicate golden yellow.

It is called Dainty Lady, and was given an All-America Award of Merit in the 1936 trials.

This new introduction is believed to be the first really yellow petunia ever produced. It has taken the grower ten years of careful selection in the fall. They are always fresh and true to the first suggestion of yellow gradually deepened.

There is no more inviting sight than a bed of petunias, whose unique merit is that they flower constantly without a letup until frost kills them in the fall. They are always fresh and attractive and they are in such great variety—from the double sorts which are frequently grown as pot plants as well as in the garden, including those fringed and ruffled, large-flowered ones, to the single trailing or border forms which may be seen growing on the hillside and along the highways where they receive so little attention.

Dainty Lady is a neat, compact, semi-dwarf flower, and exceedingly free flowering, bearing generous quantities of the medium-sized, delicately fringed light golden yellow flowers throughout the summer months.

Seed is very small, and if it had wings like the dandelion, you'd have a fine time sowing on a windy day. As it is, it is difficult to sow thinly, and a mixture of sand with the seed helps to spread it evenly.

Seed is best sown in flats, because of its size and slow germination. Fill a flat with good loamy garden soil, press and smooth the surface. Sow in drills 1 to 2 inches apart and press seed into soil. Kept thoroughly moist but not wet, the seeds will germinate readily and if grown in the sunshine they will develop into plants in a short time.

MISS BUSH HONORED FOR SERVICE AS A TEACHER

Miss Fannie Bush, teacher in the public schools at Winchester for 41 years, was the honor guest of the Kiwanis Club, of that city, at its luncheon at the Brown-Proctoria Hotel Wednesday. Miss Bush is principal of the Fannie Bush School, named some years ago as a tribute to her educational work in the city. At the special program arranged as an honor to her, she was paid a complimentary tribute by Superintendent E. F. Birchhead. Warren F. Jones reviewed her work in the schools and the club presented her with flowers. Miss Bush spoke briefly.

Miss Bush is an aunt of Miss Virginia Bush, of the Harrodsburg graded school faculty, whom she has visited here. This public tribute to her is of interest to her friends in Harrodsburg. Last year the Rotary Club gave a special luncheon to Miss Bush.

GIRL'S NAME HELPS PAY FAMILY DEBT TO INDIANS

When at Colorado Springs, W. T. (Bully) Van de Graaff Colorado college football coach and Mrs. Van de Graaff decided to christen their infant daughter Cherokee, it was a gesture to the memory of a kindly Indian chief.

About 1800, when warring Creek Indians menaced the Alabama plantation of the coach's forebears, a Cherokee chief took the family inside his stockade while his tribe battled the Creeks.

While the family was thus protected, a baby girl was born. The only reward the friendly chief would accept was the promise the girl would be named for his tribe.

The name Cherokee has been given to a girl in every generation of the family since.

"MY HOUSECLEANING"

Each person should consider "my housecleaning" along with the other applications to which housecleaning is applied. A good code of ethics for "my housecleaning" may be found in the following:

"I will repair my friendships that show signs of wearing out, not thru use, but through the abuse of neglect."

"I will consign to the scrap heap my disappointments and blasted hopes, just as a housekeeper throws away a cracked vase."

"I will air my smiles and good will instead of my personal opinion, in the humble hope that my neighborhood may be a bit better for my so doing."

"I will beat my past production record even if it takes considerable effort to do it."

"I will scrub the grimy footprints of fear from my mind and put up a sign, 'No trespassing'."

"I will take as definite and defiant a stand against waste and extravagance as a good housekeeper takes against dirt and disorder."

THE SCRAPBOOK

DEATH OF A CITY DWELLER

Oh, all his life he hungered for some land for gardening. Where he could catch green, growing shoots.

Push through the soil with spading. He talked about a sprawling house, not very big, some ground

Where he could have an orchard, trees, poultry and dogs around.

There'll be no dearth of tenants, God, to claim he'd rather have his choice Among the little farms.
