

To Emma Jones:-

You are notified that my portion of the line fence between your property and mine is a good and sufficient fence, but that your portion thereof is completely rotted down. Unless you proceed to put up a new fence along this line within the time allowed by law, I will do so and hold the cost as a lien against your farm. You are also notified to refrain from turning my stock on the highway, as I will sue you for the cost of those already lost in that way.

Sept. 20, 1930.
