

The foundation of every state is the education of its youth—Diogenes

Every addition to true knowledge is an addition to human power.—Horace Mann

FOREWORD

That the memories of the high school days of the class of '39 may present inviting and lingering thoughts that will not fade throughout the years to come, we give you this Harrodian---whose pages reveal a warmth of heart and genuine interest.

MISS FLORENCE ARMSTRONG

DEDICATION

To this cultured gentlewoman, who has helped to lead us triumphantly along the winding paths of Education; and who has, at all times, been a sincere friend and a wise counselor---whose personality has blossomed forth a character fine to know---we dedicate this volume of the Harrodian as an expression of our gratitude and devotion.

In Memoriam

Dr. I. B. RoBards

Mr. James L. Isenberg

They were noble in heart, gracious in manner, and genuine in thought--Gentlemen who brought a little more peace, a little more joy, a little more love of mankind, and a greater sense of duty and loyalty. Their work was well done, and their lives were nobly lived.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

May we pause for a brief rest on our journey to review some of the main points of interest in our travel during the last four years.

The differences in circumstance and environment had made each year a little tour in itself. While the way we were to follow was well marked out, we have found it necessary at times to detour; and again we were not able correctly to interpret the road signs we would encounter.

Every road had its ups and downs. At times, cheered by the radiant sunshine and songs of birds, we traveled smoothly along the high places. Again we dipped into gloomy valleys whose pitfalls we avoided only by accident or extreme effort.

Four years ago seventy-seven boys and girls enrolled in a roving, frolicking company. Green? Yes - - still enjoying the bliss of ignorance save for the vexations often afforded by those who were more advanced than we. We lingered along the little footpath without care or ambition, just wondering where our exploring around the next bend or over the hill would lead. Before we reached the first stopping-place at mid-year, however, we had joined other tourists in their various activities and felt that we were indeed one with the company moving steadily toward a destined goal.

After a brief rest, during which we took an inventory of our stock and trade and found that the assets exceeded our liabilities, we pushed on.

We rested during the summer and resumed our journey in September.

Our guides of the previous year had opened for us a gate which led into a long winding lane which we found to be easier to follow. We had grown used to travel by this time, and the mountains of the last year seemed only mole hills.

Of course, the destination of all was not the same; and by this time each member of the company had decided at what place he would stop. The activities of the party were the same as last year, and with greater effort we were able to travel farther and faster besides taking part in recreational facilities afforded at the different stopping-places.

In the distance we could see two companies of people going in the same direction whose superior knowledge of the road kept them far in advance, and we knew there was no possibility of our over-taking them because of the handicap of one and two years.

We ventured to ascend quite a long hill and turned into the macadamized road bearing the sign "Juniorville."

Our change from lower to higher ground was a unique experience for us. Since the road was so different and we were not seasoned travelers by any means, we found many problems, one of which was the making of arrangements for an entertainment at a beautiful inn for those just ahead of us who had completed the journey. We succeeded, after resorting to many different means of raising the necessary funds. This event closed the year and we found ourselves possessed of great dignity and much wisdom.

After our usual summer's rest we entered the broad, paved highway marked by a very small road sign. A joyous crowd we were--leaders of a long procession plodding toward a coveted goal. Our watchword may well have been, "One for All and All for One," for a more congenial group never passed this way before. Perfect harmony prevailed until the question of commencement costumes arose, and it seemed a battle between the "ayes" and "noes" was not only probable, but as many thought, imminent; but four years' consideration for others and forgetfulness of self triumphed, and an amicable decision was reached. The coventional white dress with roses outnumbered the scholarly caps and gowns, and peace once more prevailed.

As we drew near our journey's end, our spirits rose higher and higher, and we were prone to forsake the beaten path for the pleasant byways; but the gleam which we had followed for four years beckoned, and keeping our eyes upon it, we pressed on, for we knew that there was the trail's end.

At the urgent request of some of our fellow travelers, we paused for one last evening of frivolity, through which ran an undercurrent of sadness, for we realized we had reached the parting of the ways and the time had come when good-byes must be said.

Some of us, no doubt, will choose to go on farther on the road that leads to fame and fortune; while others will be content to follow the sequestered vales and pathways. But neither the blaze of distinction nor the dim light of mediocrity can obscure the memories of those who led and those who traveled with us--the faithful, conscientious leaders and the thoughtful, generous fellow-travelers who were instrumental in crowning our efforts with success and happiness.

FAREWELL OUR DEAR H. H. S.

Words and Music By Joe Daugherty

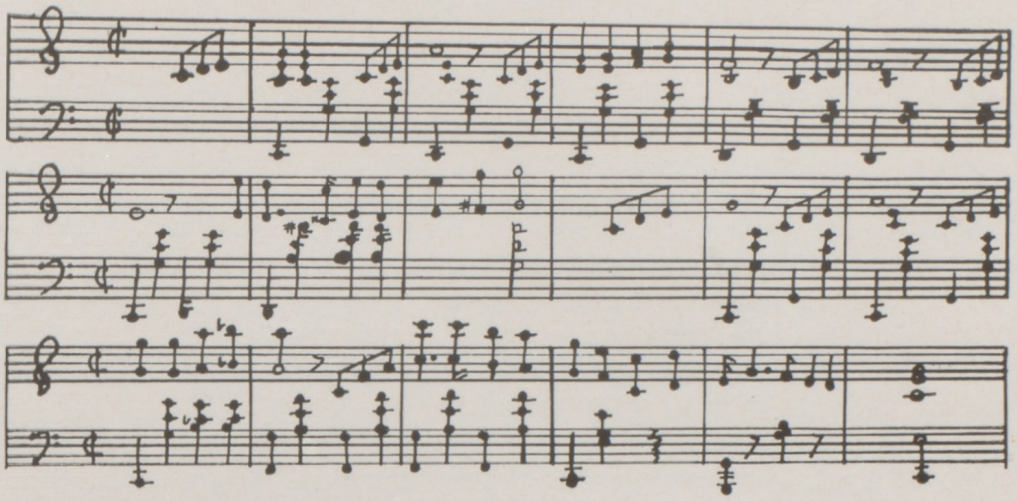

To the white and the blue,
We have tried to be true,
Through our short years with you.
And as we go our way,
We feel we must say,
Farewell, our dear H. H. S.
We've had our hardships,
And we've struggled on each day.
Though we hate to leave you now,
We have to go our way.
So we'll just say adieu,
We will soon be leaving you,
Farewell, our dear H. H. S.

We can say we are glad,
For teachers we have had,
And all our classmates, too.
When the Juniors take our place,
May they keep our learning pace,
To save our white and our blue.
We've reached our goal at last
And leave for separate ways,
Memories of fun in school
Will last through all our days.
Now we leave and we say,
As we go our many ways,
Farewell, our dear H. H. S.

TO OUR HIGH SCHOOL

Words and Music By Rena Wells Lawson

I

We're always cheering you H. H. S.
For of all schools we love you best.
You are the light that shines afar
Guiding us on wher'er we are.
Mem'ries we'll keep with us always
In honor of our high school days
To reach the goal where fate has beckoned us
And striving to keep your name.

II

And when we leave we'll spread your name
From far and wide in all domains
For you're the one that gave us our name
And for you we'll do the same.
Our hearts are sad, and as we go,
We hate to leave you for we know
The distance may be long and far between
Us and our loyal school.

LA RUE DE LA VIE

From the fleeting path of youth,
Winds another full of cares.
The first, a narrow footpath, though uncouth
Has paved the way for one who dares
To seek the best there is in life,
Despite the hardships of the way,
To smile at troubles and petty strife,
And be to others a guiding ray,
As the first trail sank from view.

We found another of fresh endeavor,
Leading to "plains and pastures new,"
With prospects fair and brightening ever,
Filled with new zeal and inspiration.
Traveling together all the way,
We pressed on toward our destination
And reached at last this "Perfect Day."

At life's crossroad we stand today,
With each life's purpose to fulfill
Before us is life's broad highway,
Beside us, byways beckon still;
The choice is ours; early or late
The quests must end at chosen goals.
"We are the masters of our Fate
We are the captains of our Souls."

Flash! Well--here we are, (class of '39) in this age of swing and jitterbugs. Flash! Flash! Credit goes to Gladys Anderson--the only one who flattered everyone in the annual. Laurel wreaths for the beauties--Louise Davenport (Hollywood Star), Harriet Alexander (Model of Artists and Models) Rena Lawson (All American Senior Girl), and Eugenia Bisset (Campus Sweetheart). William and James Casey will "toss" for the parts of "late" Model T as graduation presents. Marvin Purdom and Lola will be parted next year by a diploma. Julian Sampson was voted "Senior Heartbreaker." Reason: donations of gum. He ran our eventually.

For the future: Sterling Bugg--conducting recreational centers for Annual Editors. Helen Curtsinger - - considering the stage. Future "Farmers' Wives": Our Home Ec. Stars, Mary K. Tyler and Wilma King. Eloise Sanders and "Zeke" (Centre football star) married. Sara Durr moving to Paris to live and retaining the name "Susie of Bellows Mill." Harriette Reed becoming "Mrs. Harry." Kathleen Ellerd - - "Miss Personality," winning a "Potter." Marie and Margie Jacobs still fighting over "Cocky." B. V. Sims wearing stylish shoes. George Sadler still natural with "Athlete's feats." James Adams still proposing "Merchant's Spring Clean-up," not for a "Penny" either. Philip Trisler and Patsy McDonley still hitting it off together. Junior Cole announcing the opening of Cole-Coyle Funeral Home. Roy Durr, "Dignified," a lawyer in the making. Rosie Martin in charge of the Tea Room at Beaumont Inn. J. B. Scanlon reducing! Eliza Wilder and Hazel still sticking together like glue.

Back to the present: Velois Sinkhorn, being Historian, not required to attend History Class. Mary Elizabeth Howard, (Mrs. J. Cummins) and Martha Comingo, (Mrs. S. W. Denny) certainly make a pair. Gertrude Parsons is satisfied with only the "Best." Senior Class donates a pillow to Woodrow Wilson for Accounting Class--May he rest in peace! Arnold Nichols places charges against "Chuck" Wade, "Dude" Edwards, and "Cheese" Hawley for repairs on a Model T. Bobby Foster, Charles Wells, Frank Trisler and Charles McCarty promise to find wives before 1950. Good luck boys! More power to you!

Can you imagine? ? ? ? ? ? ? ? ? Richard Johnson as a handsome young doctor sending wives to Reno for their nerves? Rosa Mae Sexton as a capable young nurse, holding a male patient's hand? Duke Coleman, who found a hatchet, and then buried it? Billy Sullivan, tobacco auctioneering, with Harriet as inspiration? Pearl Sexton as a professional "jitterbug?" Billy Balden, as Romeo, selling kisses at the five and ten? Martha Shirley (Miss Jilted) as a saleslady of "Caps and Gowns?" Joe Daugherty as a manager of "Vocal Varieties," swing and special music novelties? Flash! Flash! That's chatter for you!

JUNIOR THEME

"With courage true we kept the code
In calm content, in toil or strife,
With purpose firm we trod the Road
The high road to a fuller life."

JUNIOR HISTORY

After much study and hard work in our Freshman and Sophomore years, we have at last attained the high pedestal of Juniors and are reaching for the goal of Seniors in the year to come.

We have not been idle, as evidenced by the intellectual entertainment furnished by the "Pioneer Trail Blazer" a semi-monthly paper sponsored by us. This financial support has meant a great deal, too. We have realized a large sum from the sale of Coca-Colas at footfall and basketball games.

The class is proud of the many Juniors that have brought honors to the school, both in athletics and dramatics. Dick Mitchell, Winfred Foster, Sol Potter, Harvey Dean, Elmer Sharpe, players, and Buford Cloyd, manager, were awarded letters in football. Thornton Lamkin, "Junior" Britton, Sol Potter, and Billy Hanna were awarded letters in basketball. We are also glad to say that our girls in the Dramatic Club aided in winning the district trophy for our school. Sara Rankin won second prize in extemporaneous speaking; Ethel Glass won first in Senior discussion; and Mary Farmer won third prize in poetry recitation.

Our activities have been varied, bringing before the public the many talents which have attracted complimentary comment.

The outstanding performance of the year in which both boys and girls participated was the Junior play, "Prince Charming." This brought not only fame but fortune in the shape of a neat sum of money to supplement our accumulated funds to be spent on the upper classmen at a later date.

The occasion referred to was the Junior-Senior Reception and Banquet which was anticipated with thrills because it furnished an opportunity for all to dress up and look charming and to exhibit their gracious manners as hosts. Lest they might appear slightly awkward, a number of boys took dancing lessons in preparation for the great event.

Our Senior year lies in the misty future. We are earnestly hoping to make it even better than this one has been, and we hall strive to win even more honors for our school.

SOPHOMORE THEME

"We traveled down the old Trail
O'er veiled with skies of blue;
With steps and hearts that did not fail
We sought adventures new."

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

The graduating class of '41 has successfully passed through the miseries of the Freshman year and with equal success has gone on to conquer the difficulties of the Sophomore year with new-found courage and enthusiasm exhibited in their steady climb up the scholastic ladder.

With the beginning of the new school year, all Sophomores were ready and eager to try their new wings along many lines. Since then, they have brought glory to H. H. S. in football, basketball, debate, and grades registered by the class as a whole.

You will remember that it was the Sophomore boys who had the only 100% H. A. A. membership. These successes are due in large measure to the fine leadership of our home room teachers, Miss Armstrong and Mr. Goranflo, who have shown great patience and much interest in helping us when the going was hardest.

The Sophomore class looks forward with open admiration upon the Juniors and Seniors, and backward with a smile and helping hand to the struggling Freshmen.

Our only aim is to add to the glory of Harrodsburg High School and to those in that school who have made our high school days our happiest.

FRESHMAN THEME

"The Footpath which we slowly climb
With steps uncertain day by day
Thru tangled ways of briar and vine
Led to a plainer, broader way."

FRESHMAN HISTORY

On the morning of September 7, 1938, the pupils of the Freshman class approached the steps of the high school, standing timidly by the wayside as they passed an upperclassman because of the tales of treatment that these same students had inflicted upon the freshman class of the year before. Up the walk, into the hall, and then into our newly assigned room we went. Taking our seats, we looked up seeing before us an unknown dominie who later gave us a few rules and regulations to remember.

At that time we were known as "green" freshman from lack of intelligence concerning the laws of the school, but now, I think we could say that we could hold our own with all pupils who have gone before. After getting acquainted with all the laws of the school and conducting ourselves in a satisfactory manner we had the privilege of giving a Thanksgiving party.

Then came the call for football players to which Bobby Cloyd, Kenneth Sanders and Franklin Sallee responded. Kenneth Sanders was awarded a letter. Near the first of school the entire freshman class met to elect officers. Tom Moore was nominated and elected for the presidency, Mary Helen Graves was chosen vice president, William Wells, treasurer and Vivian Isham, secretary.

A number of class meetings were held and a few programs given.

The freshman class of '38-'39 is no more but, Phoenix like, from its ashes will rise a Sophomore class with higher aims and greater achievement.

FOOTBALL

The past year of football has been one of the Pioneer's best years. Under the splendid coaching of Coach "Flo," the season came to a close with four wins, three losses and a tie. When the season was half over Coach "Flo," lost one of his best backs and this was a great handicap to the team. Good sportsmanship and hard hitting were the outstanding characteristics of every boy on the team. The season was brought to a close by an excellent banquet given by the mothers. Honor jackets were awarded to seniors and the seventeen letter men were announced.

GEORGE EDWARDS, End, Co-Captain — "Dogs" was recognized for his great defensive work, ability to catch the impossible passes and he was a great spirit builder for the team. George's graduation will leave a big hole for some one to fill next year. George received honorable mention for the All-State East team.

GEORGE SADLER, Quarterback, Co-Captain— Sadler was our backfield ace this year. His records show that he was one of the best backs in the state. Sadler became 20 years old during the football season, and as a result of this, Harrodsburg High School only won one out of the 4 remaining games. Sadler not only was a good football player but was equally as good in basketball.

CHARLES WADE, Halfback—"Chuck" was one of the "Rams" in the backfield. He could really drive, catch passes, and was a good tackler. Charles had plenty of bad luck while playing. During the weeks of practice "Chuck" saw little service, but always at game-time he was there to give all he had. Charles surely will be missed next year.

CHESTER HAWLEY, Half-Back—Last year was Chester's first year on the squad. He was never an outstanding player, but when the coach called on someone to do anything, Chester always volunteered and did his best. We certainly hate to see him graduate.

BILLY BALDEN, End—Billy was a hard working boy. Billy just did not have enough experience. He could play good ball if he only had another year. But like most of the boys he is through football just when he is really ready to play. We hope we have more boys with as fine spirit as Billy.

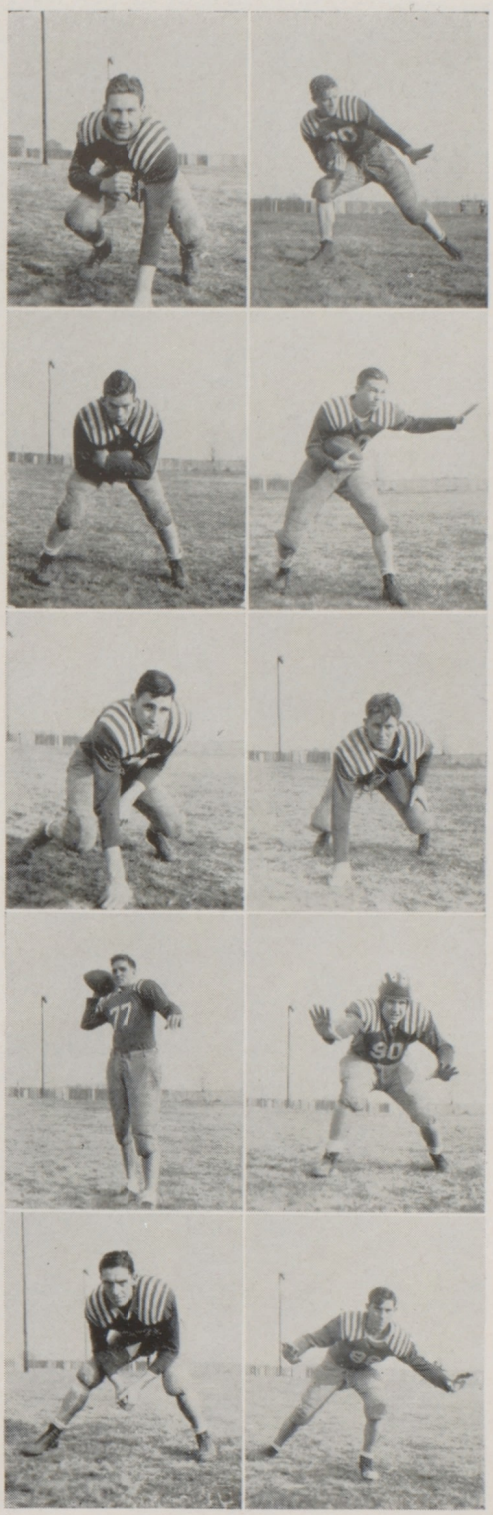

WILLIAM COLE, JR., Tackle—Junior was a great defensive man. With his 203 lbs. it was plenty hard to get through the center of the line. William played only one year of football and made a good defensive man.

DUKE COLEMAN, Half-Back—When Duke first came out in his Senior year, everyone said he'd never make a player and that he didn't have what it took, but when Duke was really needed he showed the public what he could do. His graduation will leave a gap next year.

J. B. SCANLON, Tackle—J. B. filled up a big hole in the line. He weighed about 230 lbs., was a good tackler, and liked the game. He played football his Senior year and made the opponents take punishment. His graduation will weaken next year's team.

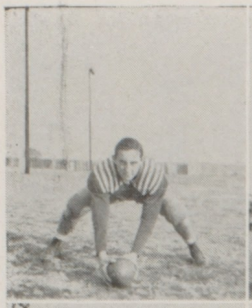

PHILIP TRISLER, End—"Phil" had the hardest luck of any of the players. Due to an operation he was out one year and every time he attempted to play he happened to get hurt. Philip was fast, a good pass receiver, a great kicker, a hard tackler, and had a fine spirit.

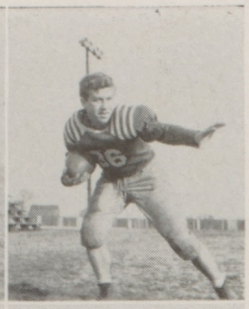

HARVEY DEAN, Guard—This boy is a big strong country boy with pep that never dies. He is a fast charger and manages to get in every play. He has one more year to wear the blue and white. Harvey has taken a lot of punishment.

S P O R T S

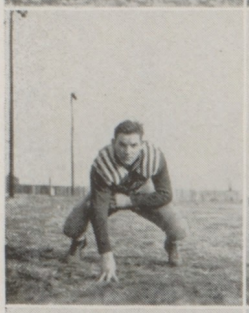

S P O R T S

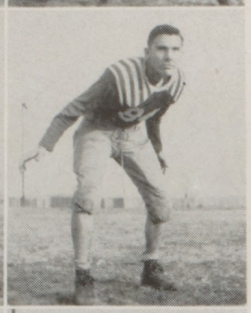

DICK MITCHELL, Center—This boy has the spirit of a great ball player. Last year his center position on offense and tackle on defense really showed what he could do. Dick has one more year to fill an important position. He was elected to the C.K.C. team of this year. It will be hard to hold Dick down during his Senior year.

WINFRED FOSTER, Guard—"Tycobb" has been an important wheel in the football machine. He is fast, an excellent blocker, and when he hits 'em they fall. Winfred has but one year left to show what he can do.

EDWIN PARKER, Tackle—This boy surely will stop his opponents next year. Edwin took Sadler's place for a while and made a hole in the line. He has two more years to gain fame.

ELMER SHARP, Guard—If every boy wanted to be a player as badly as this boy, what a team Harrodsburg would have! Last year Elmer was a sub and a dependable player. He is just a junior and next year will make some one fight for their position.

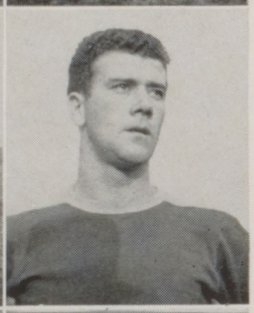

SOL POTTER, Half-Back—"Potts" was used as a guard last year. This year he was shifted to the backfield where he gave great service. Sol was one of the hardest tacklers on the team. With his weight and one year of backfield experience he should make an excellent player next season.

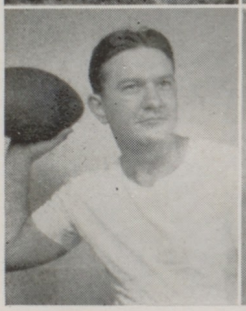

KENNETH SANDERS, Guard—Kenneth, last year, was a dependable substitute. Being only a freshman and weighing over 150 lbs., he should be a great player for H.H.S. It has already been said that Kenneth is going to leave a greater record than his brother, Elwood, and we believe he can.

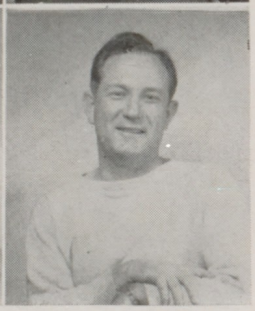

C. B. YATES, Quarter Back—This was C. B.'s first year as a regular in the backfield. Not much outstanding work can be expected from a boy in his first year, but C. B. likes the game. He is a good tackler and is really willing to learn.

BOBBY FOSTER, "Bone"—Bobby showed a genuine interest in athletics at H. H. S. by assisting the coaches with the team after playing two years on the squad.

MR. GORANFLO—Mr. Emmett Goranflo's efficient coaching for the past three years has enabled the Pioneers to produce a football team that has received recognition throughout the State. During this time Harrodsburg has had members on the All Central Kentucky Conference team and some of the members of the team have received honorable mention on the All State team.

MR. JOSEPH DENNIS—Mr. Dennis assisted Mr. Goranflo in work with the second team and in scrimmage games. He, also, organized a successful Junior High Basketball Team.

REVIEW OF THE 1938-39 BASKETBALL SEASON

The Harrodsburg High School basketball team, playing one of the hardest schedules in the history of the school, completed the season with a record of fifteen wins against six loses, including tournament play.

This has been the second consecutive year the Pioneers have been a strong contender for the C. K. C. title, finishing near the top both years. We are looking forward to a higher standing next year than we have had in the past.

SPORTS

GEORGE EDWARDS, Forward—"Dogs" was one of the best "rebound" men on the team this year. He was an excellent passer and had what it takes to be a great player. George's graduation will be a great loss to athletics in Harrodsburg. The team was handicapped in the District Tournament as George sprained his ankle the day before and was unable to play.

WILLIAM COLE, Jr., Center—Cole played basketball for H. H. S. during his senior year only. His other three years were played at Fairview High School. Because of William's "rebound" ability and excellent passing, he holds the high scoring honors for this year. We surely regret to lose this kind of center.

CHARLES WADE, Forward—"Chuck" was a very valuable man for substitution. He was a great help to the team. If "Chuck" hadn't been there to take any man's place at any time, the team would have been greatly handicapped. We surely hate to lose him. We only wish that all of our boys had as fine a spirit as "Chuck."

JUNIOR BRITTON, Guard—"Ape" is one of the coolest ball players the Harrodsburg High School has produced in many a year. He is an outstanding ball handler and a smart passer. His senior year should be a sparkling one. Junior was elected on the All-County and All-District teams this year. So Opponents beware!

THORNTON LAMKIN, Forward—"Chick" is a very impressive ball player, and a fine spirit builder. He was the best man on the team to intercept passes. Thornton has one more year to perform for H. H. S. By hard and serious work he should prove a very valuable man another year.

SOL POTTER, Guard—"Potts" is the kind of boy who puzzles the coach. At the beginning of the season it was hard to be sure who the other guard would be, but because of Sol's good shooting and ball handling he was a valuable man to Coach Sales' team in '39.

BILLY HANNA, Forward—"Boats" with his lanky form, his passing ability, and his accuracy in goal shooting should develop an outstanding ball player for Harrodsburg in the year of 1940. Billy likes the game and understands the principles of playing ball, and should make a valuable man.

BUFORD CLOYD, "Pos"—Buford is a boy whom all boys like and a very efficient manager. Much of the comfort and well being of the members of the team was due to Buford's administrations.

MR. FOREST SALE, "Aggie"—As a coach for the past two years, Mr. Sale has done an execllent job. During his first year of coaching most of the team were fourth year men. Last year he had only two of his first five left, but in spite of this he ended the season with a team of high standing. We owe all the glory to him and his boys.

FAREWELL

Since we have arrived on the highway of life, we pause to state that our journey through high school has been one of great pleasure and beneficence. We bid farewell to our classmates, fellow-students and teachers whom we have learned to love and respect and who have made our school life so interesting and profitable. We shall ever remember and honor you for the fine contributions you have made toward the development of our minds and characters. Your love and inspiration shall always be a guiding star to beckon on us to higher and nobler things, and it shall be our most earnest desire to so live that the good name and prestige of our high school will be maintained in our lives.
