

MERCER QUARTERLY COURT

Owen Davenport

Plaintiff

Vs. Rejoinder

Dennis Grey

Defendant

Comes the defendant, Dennis Grey, and without waiving any of his rights under his motion to strike but still insisting upon the same, admits that in the production of said crop of tobacco that the plaintiff at the instance and request of the defendant furnished labor in the setting out of said crop but defendant denies that the plaintiff furnished labor to the extent of $22.50 or any sum other than $4.50; admits that in the production of said crop that the plaintiff furnished labor in housing said crop but defendant denies that he furnished labor to the extent of $56.50 or any other sum other than $6.00; admits that in the production of said crop plaintiff furnished labor in stripping said crop but denies that plaintiff furnished labor in the extent of $66.00 or any other sum than $34.50; denies that during the production of said crop that in order to enable this defendant to subsist plaintiff furnished this defendant cash to the extent of $37.30 or any amount; denies that