LAYMEN TOLD OF MISSION LABORS AMONG SAVAGES

Dr. Washburn Gives Interesting Vision Of Belgian Congo Natives And Their Need Of Help.

WORK OF MEN AND WOMEN AT MISSIONARY CENTERS

Winning Savages To Christianity Thru 25 Years Sketched By Speaker From Experience.

One hundred thirty-five laymen and ministers from the churches of Harrodsburg and Mercer county heard Dr. H. M. Washburn, missionary who has served over twenty-five years in the Belgian Congo, Africa tell some of his experiences when they attended the Men's Mission Dinner sponsored by the Laymen's League of America at the United Presbyterian church Tuesday night.

Mr. Fred Michel, of Chicago, national secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, also gave a short talk explaining the movement. The Laymen's Missionary Movement does not intend to set up any sort of organization in the local churches but has as its main purpose the stimulation of interest in missions by means of the observance in all the churches of Men's Mission Sunday on Nov. 15 and also by means of meetings and banquets like the one held Tuesday night, Mr. Michel said. It was voted by the men present to observe the Sunday and to have another such banquet next year.

The program, presided over by Dr. C. B. VanArsdale, included, besides the two talks and invocation by Glave Vivion; a prayer by E. H. Davis; group songs led by Prof. J. K. Powell; a quartette composed of Reverends Bowen, Carpenter, Ellers and Tomlin of the churches here; and a benediction by C. E. Rankin. The women of the church furnished the very sumptuous dinner which, judged by the volume consumed, must have been very much enjoyed.

Dr. Washburn, who was reared in Kentucky and graduated from Berea college, first told of the history of the beginning of the mission work in Africa over a half century ago. He related many of the experiences of the first missionaries who made their way into the interior of the Dark Continent.

As his talk progressed, Dr. Washburn told about the work that he and other present day missionaries are doing and intermingled many of his own interesting and harrowing experiences. He told of the terrible conditions that exist in the interior of Africa today and many of the things they were doing to change them. "Those are the conditions under which we are working," he said, "but they are changing—changing under the cross of Jesus Christ which is the only thing that can change them."

Dr. Washburn concluded by saying that the missionaries in the field were doing all that they possibly could. The responsibility for the redemption of Africa lies with the people of other countries—America and the European states. If these people pass up their responsibility the missionaries will keep right on but they cannot do nearly so much as if they are adequately supported.

PUSHING PLANS FOR A BIG FAIR

Special Fares Secured For Home Comers; Fine Lighting System Engaged; Stalls For Horses Taken.

Everything will be ready for the annual Fair and Horse-Show July 27 to 31. No change in management or stockholders has been made. The recent friendly court action was necessary only to perfect the title after the expiration of the old charter.

Rates have been secured on railroads and bus lines, President VanArsdale said, and more homecomers have written they will be here for the week than ever before. Prizes will be given to both men and women coming the longest distance.

Already several reservations have been made at hotels and for stalls for horses. Hundreds of personal requests to show there will be sent to horsemen throughout the country, with catalogues following later. About 1500 catalogues will be distributed to exhibitors, together with 1000 beautiful posters and advertisements in about 20 central Kentucky county newspapers. All this is part of the annual publicity for the fair.

More merchants and business people are reserving display space on the fair grounds this year than ever before; also more local people are advertising in the catalogue.

The fairgrounds lighting system will be equal to any show grounds in the country.

Insect pests in this country do approximately $2,000,000,000 worth of damage each year.

Governor Entertains At Herrington Lake

Gov. A. B. Chandler entertained a party of friends last week at the State Game and Fish Commission camp on Herrington Lake near Kennedy's Bridge. During the time the following were guests: John Kirtley, speaker of the House, Sen. Leo King, Sen. Clarence Nichols, Frankfort; Marion Howard, executive marshal, Prof. Paul Greer, William Stewart, Dr. Berry, Versailles; Hon. John Cammick, James Hammond, Hon. J. Dan Talbot, Howard Henderson, Walter Mulbry, Adm. Gen. Lee McLain, and M. E. Walker, of the Game and Fish Commission.

LARGE CROWD AT SOFTBALL FETE

Mayor Throws First Ball, Rev. Tomlin Dedicates New Lights At Athletic Field.

Approximately 750 enthusiastic spectators gathered to witness the first games of night softball played in Harrodsburg last Thursday night. Mayor H. T. Adams threw in the first ball and started off what many think will be a very successful season. Rev. G. R. Tomlin of the Methodist church here made a short dedicatory address as the newly installed lighting system was used at the athletic field for the first time. Twelve 1500 watt lights that surrounded the field made it almost like day. Rev. Tomlin said that he hoped and believed that night softball would produce an opportunity that has long been lacking in this community for wholesome, healthful entertainment in an atmosphere which is made the best by the fact that the league is sponsored by churches.

Judging from the cheering and from the comments of those who attended, the games were very much enjoyed. The grandstand which had been repaired for the games proved insufficient to hold all the people who flocked there.

In the first game the Presbyterians defeated the Methodists by a 24 to 12 score. The game was very closely played in all except the fourth inning at which time the Presbyterians broke loose to bring in eighteen runs. Several errors by the Methodists added to the heavy hitting of the Presbyterians accounted for this one inning run away.

In the second game the Christian church team scored consistently to lead the Baptists by 16 to 12 at the end. A last inning rally by the losers threatened to change the results but it was cut short after eight runs had been scored.

Two games are scheduled for tonight at 7:30. At that time the Baptists and Methodists will play the first game. The Christians and Presbyterians will meet in the second game. Games are planned for Tuesday and Friday nights for the rest of the summer although no definite schedule has been arranged as yet.

Mercer Prize Winners At Onward Kentucky Exposition

Mercer county exhibitors fared well at the Onward Kentucky Exposition held in Frankfort June 5, 6 and 7, and not only captured the prize for the best county exhibit in the state, but a number of individual prizes were won by persons who had articles on display. The entire Exposition filled three floors of the corridors of the large Capitol building, and the exhibits in quantity, quality and variety far exceeded even the expectations of the promoters. Numerous sales were made and orders taken by many of the exhibitors.

The Onward Kentucky movement confidently foresaw the time when there would be a nation-wide demand for products such as were shown at the exposition.

Interest displayed in the exhibits and the fact that buyers and executives of large Eastern department houses milled through with wonder and amazement at the scene that was laid before them pointed toward the success of the project.

From such latent talents of Kentuckians, the Onward Kentucky movement hopes to form a centralized agency through which products such as were displayed by hundreds of Kentuckians may find a ready market.

Mr. James L. Isenberg, originator of the movement, was profuse in his praise of the exhibits. It was all made possible, he said, by the cooperation of local civic workers who were more interested, in community development than personal gain.

"Our committee feels justified, from the results of two days' labors here, in going ahead and pushing plans for the formation of the company to advertise these products to the outside world and of local industrial foundations to supervise the work of the local people," he said.

Mercer county's exhibit contained handsome furniture, quilts, embroidery, hand-made novelties, food products and many other items of a salable nature. Mrs. Donald Edwards and her committee were faithful to their trust, and not only arranged an artistic display, but every article was brought back home without loss of even the smallest entry.

Mercer tied with Daviess county for the first state prize for county display and was awarded $70, half of the premium money.

Mercer also won the grand sweepstakes state prize of $25 for best cookery arts. These prizes are in the hands of the county committee which will decide what public disposition to make of the $75.

Mrs. G. R. Tomlin won the fourth prize for the most ingenious article shown in the whole exposition. Her entry was a cleverly made turkey with a black walnut body.

Among the winners of the Capital City prizes given by the Frankfort Chamber of Commerce were the following Mercer exhibitors:

Mrs. L. M. VanArsdale, knitted dress; Mrs. R. P. Curry, stick horse; Mrs. Joe Isham, plaited twine rug; Mrs. J. B. Robards, Rose of Sharon quilt; Mrs. W. E. Gabhart, embroidered luncheon set, also monogram bed set.

Mercer winners of prizes offered by the Lafayette Hotel, Lexington, for the best food products in the entire Exposition: L. C. Rogers, sausage; Mrs. Fred Terhune, strawberry preserves; Mrs. James Isham, salt rising bread; Mrs. L. H. Smalley, angel food cake.

The Citizens Bank and Trust Company, Burgin, State Bank and Trust Company, Mercer County National Bank, Harrodsburg, and the Mercer Chamber of Commerce offered the prizes for best entries in the Mercer County display. These county awards were made in Frankfort by the following judges: Miss Ella Kemper, Miss Virginia Saunders and Miss Mary Louise Griffin.

Winners adjudged as having the best in various lines in the Mercer County display:

Mrs. Vernon Cloyd, hooked rug; Mrs. Mildred Harrison, crochet work; Mrs. G. M. Ballard, woven rug and ham; Mrs. Fred Terhune, canned products, also fruit cake; Earl Terhune, handcraft; Mrs. J. B. WILL CELEBRATE CITY'S FOUNDING

Historical Society To Observe 162nd Anniversary Tuesday With Informal Program.

There will be no statewide celebration of the 162nd birthday of Harrodsburg on June 16. However, this important event in the history of Kentucky's oldest permanent settlement will not pass unnoticed. The Harrodsburg Historical Society will celebrate the anniversary next Tuesday at a meeting to be held at the home of its president, Dr. C. B. VanArsdale, and Mrs. VanArsdale, on Herrington Lake.

Each member is asked to bring some anecdote or interesting event concerning early Harrodsburg. These are to be mostly events unrecorded in history, but handed down from one generation to another. These stories of pioneer times will make the informal program.

President VanArsdale and Mrs. VanArsdale invite members of the society to go as early as they like to enjoy swimming and the lake. The picnic supper furnished by the members will be served about 6:30 in the evening and the program will follow.

Since Harrodsburg was about 50 years old, the anniversaries of its founding have been celebrated by its citizens. The first one was statewide and lasted two days, with a big gathering of people, speaking and feasting. Subsequent celebrations have been mainly among small groups, although there were a number of large gatherings at various times through the century and a half.

The statewide celebrations have been continuous since the 149th anniversary while the Pioneer Memorial State Park plans were unfolding. This is the first year since 1923 that the observance of the anniversary has been limited to a local organization.

NEWS LEFT OUT

Much live news and many social items and two deaths were crowded out of the paper this week, owing to extra advertising coming in, and the fact that some of the news was too late to be handled. The Herald appreciates the contribution of items, but to insure their appearance in the paper they should be sent promptly.

LAYMAN'S MEET

Laymen's Day will be observed at the Methodist church Sunday morning at 10:45. Several laymen of the church will give short talks.

HIGH SCHOOL CLOSES TERM

Dr. Raymond A. Kent Makes Address To Large Class Of 1936 Graduates.

Commencement exercises for fifty-one graduates of the Harrodsburg high school was the last of the series of brilliant events that brought to a close a most successful school year. Dr. Raymond A. Kent, president of the University of Louisville, was the graduation speaker.

"The Future From The Mirror of the Past" was Dr. Kent's topic as he told the graduates about the many problems that faced them, that they should analyze these problems in the light of the experiences of past civilizations and then attack them with all the intelligence and enthusiasm which is characteristic of youth. The speaker closed by wishing the graduates much success as they tackled these problems of which he spoke.

After the processional, the program opened with the invocation by Rev. G. R. Tomlin. Solos were given by Mrs. Charles N. Riker, Mrs. Erroll Draffen and Mrs. Gore Moberley. Mrs. J. Hal Grimes played the marches and accompaniments. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. T. Hassell Bowen.

A crowd which filled the school auditorium and many of which had to be turned away came to see the graduation. Remarkable records of attendance and scholarship in both the high school and the graded school were read by Profs. J. K. Powell and J. H. Parker before the honors and diplomas were given out by Mr. Parker.

The clothing was very attractive and well displayed by the models. The Woman's Club is sponsoring NYA work in this community. Miss Smith explained that Mercer county's quota of young people employed was 45, but beginning next Monday the quota will be increased to 75.
