Marriage

The marriage of Miss Evelyn Sloan, of Lexington, and Mr. E. E. Shehan, of Harrodsburg, was solemnized Saturday night, January 18, 1935, by Rev. G. Whitcomb Eilers, pastor of the Baptist church, at his home in this city. They were accompanied by Miss Ina Lee Johnson, Miss Jane Tichenor, Mr. Basil Tichenor and Mr. William Beckham, Jr. The bride is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Sloan, of Lexington. Mr. Shehan is a son of Mrs. J. P. Board, of Harrodsburg. He was graduated from the Harrodsburg high school and also attended Transylvania College, Lexington. He now has a position with a business house in that city.

Enjoyable Party

Mr. Hansford Teater entertained a group of friends at a very enjoyable party Friday night at the home of his grandfather, Mr. E. W. Burton, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Burton, near Harrodsburg. Those who enjoyed Mr. Teater's hospitality were, Misses Eileen Toombs, Beatrice Smithers, Thelma Toombs, Bernice Smithers, Danville; Misses Juel Chilton Grace Burns, Mary H. Sanford, Ida Rose Sanford, Alma Wheeler, Gladys Watts, Hazel Wyalty, Blanche Lawson, Vivian Brown, Harrodsburg; Messrs. Roy Hamilton, Tommy Hamilton, Felix Bryan, Lisle Woolridge, Donald Robinson, William Weissinger, James Toombs, Danville; Mr. Pete Golins, Frankfort; Mr. Gene Matherly, Springfield; Mr. Edwin Elliott, Stanley Lawson, A. D. Reynolds, Samuel Teater, Horace Reed, Horace Royalty, Lewis Chilton, Oran Cecil Teater, Merrill Durr, Edwin Durr and Ralph Dean, Harrodsburg.

Birthday Party

A number of friends gathered at the home of Mr. Robert J. Dean Wednesday to celebrate his birthday with a surprise party. Those present were Misses Eva and Ruth Peavler, Miss Letta Long, Miss Elizabeth Alford, Miss "Loia" B. Sims, Misses DeEtte and Louise Sims, Miss Ellen Gardner, Misses Gladys and Alice Votaw, Miss Nannie Bell Reed, Messrs Raymond Adkinson, Leon Long, Cecil and Clyde Sims, Arlie and Arnold Carter, Lawrence Votaw, J. L. Roberts, and William Ruffman.

Miss Grace Burns, Bohon, spent the week end with Miss Juel Chilton, near Harrodsburg.

Mrs. Mattie Spalding entertained with a family dinner Sunday Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Spalding and children, Marie and James, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Clark, all of Lexington, and Mr. Z. W. Clark.

Betty Jane Spalding, the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Spalding, is improving from an illness.

Mrs. Z. W. Clark is recovering from an illness of some days.

Police Told To Nab Those With 1935 Tags

With the deadline for purchasing automobile license plates already over a week past, the sale of 1935 tags in Mercer county is still lower than last year's total, it was revealed early yesterday morning.

Last year there were 2,892 passenger car tags sold but at the end of the day yesterday County Clerk Garnett Dean announced that 2,126 tags had been sold so far this year. Owing to the extremely cold weather and icy roads few people could get into town to buy tags this week. Harrodsburg police have been notified to arrest any and every person seen driving a car without 1935 license plates. Police Judge Alpha Patterson declared that he would not be lenient with any such offenders brought before him. The minimum fine for this offense in the city of Harrodsburg is $10 and costs, or a total of $13. A set of passenger car plates costs $7.70, less than the fine which would be incurred by not purchasing tags on time.

PROSPERITY JUDGED BY GARBAGE CAN

Henry A. Nelson, Superintendent of Public Works, Racine, Wis., is quoted in a recent Associated Press dispatch, as saying that, according to his own business barometer, prosperity is returning. He watches the type of garbage hauled to the city incinerators.

"The appearance of more melon rinds, sweet corn cobs and the wastings of more food than in the tough times is a good indication that good times are coming back," he said, according to the report.

MISCELLANEOUS

THE COON HUNT
I went down on Chaplin river to raise a cow from "Milk Fever" and after two hours the cow got up and we had to go through another man's place, and as we got near John's house, we heard someone talking. So my man stopped, and there was three men and the three dogs had treed a coon, and it was now night and the boys got John out with a ladder and the coon was out on the end of a large limb. John put the ladder up, and climbed the ladder with saw, in hand, and turns his back to the coon and begins to saw and I goes to the car and gets in. It was not long until I saw the saw fly and John's feet flew out from under the limb and down he came on the ground and two dogs grabbed the coon and one grabbed John. He was hurt badly.

Cave House Loses $60 In a Hold-Up

Loss of about $60 in a hold-up at the Cave House gasoline station Monday evening, was reported to Sheriff Oscar Sanders Tuesday morning by John Kurtz, who was in charge of the place at the time. Kurtz said that three men in a car stopped in front of the station, and while one remained at the wheel with the engine running, the other two men forced their way through the door and covered him with a pistol. He was made to hand over the money in the cash register, a counter drawer and also about $39 which he had in his pocket. The slot machine was broken and the nickles removed by the men, who carried off with them two pin machines, Kurtz said.

The raid was sometime between 7 and 9 o'clock in the evening, Kurtz stating that he could not tell the exact time. As the men left they pulled out the fuse of the electric system, leaving the place in darkness. The car headed toward Harrodsburg. Sheriff Oscar Sanders assigned the case to Deputy Robert Cull, who went to the Cave House, which is on the Lexington road near Brooklyn Bridge, but he developed no clues. The Cave House is owned by George Chinn, Jr., who is now in Frankfort serving as sergeant at arms of the Kentucky Senate.

HUNGARY REWARDS A BRAVE PUPPY

A Hungarian sheep dog faced up to an excited bull in a village in Hungary the other day. It was only a puppy—hardly six months' old, and resembling a ball of shaggy wool rather than a dog—but it succeeded in protecting several children towards whom the bull was charging by driving the creature, with remarkable courage and skill, into a stable.

As a reward for this good deed, the Government has exempted the young dog from the dog tax for its entire life.

truck skidding off the road near McAfee, held up 18 cars and trucks for hours. The Harrodsburg car could not get through the blockade to proceed home and the local men kept the engine of the car running to obtain as much warmth as possible. Finally their gasoline was exhausted and after five hours in the biting cold they were so nearly frozen they had to be helped from the car and taken into a home near McAfee to be revived before they could continue to Harrodsburg.

EARS FROZEN ON SHORT ORDER

A. L. Gibson suffered frost bitten ears Wednesday evening after only a brief exposure. He left the Blue Front and walked to the Catholic church corner, where a friend in a car picked him up. But in that short distance his ears suffered to such an extent that he will have to doctor them for some days.

RESIDENCE PIPES FREE

The city hall was swamped with emergency calls Thursday morning as scores of citizens with frozen water pipes, tanks and stove reservoirs pleaded for help after a sub-zero night. Four crews of men were put on by City Manager Gregory. The kitchens of several residences were flooded before the damage could be repaired.

ROAD SCRAPER USED ON SNOW COVERED ROADS

Many calls have come from various sections of the county to Judge Charles T. Corn, asking aid to make the roads passable. As the county has no snow cleaning outfit, it is impossible to do all the work necessary. Judge Corn said. The road scraper is being used by a crew under County Engineer J. A. Fraser. He is reaching as many points as possible, and the men have been at work constantly every day since early Monday morning.

COUNTY SCHOOLS CLOSED BY DANGEROUS ROADS

Owing to the extremely cold weather and the roads being covered with snow and ice, the county schools were dismissed Monday and Tuesday. An effort was made to open them Wednesday morning, but the school buses were unable to make their trips, and parents who had cars feared to take them on the roads and as the weather turned cold and snowy again, it was decided by the school heads to dismiss all county schools until Monday, January 27.

A bus load of pupils from the McAfee school slipped off the road Wednesday, and it was several hours before the children could be rescued. Several are reported to have suffered frostbitten feet and fingers.

CAR, TRUCK COLLISION

Miss Lucille Royalty, of Mercer county, was treated late Saturday night for several facial cuts and an injured knee which she suffered when the car in which she and several companions were riding collided with a truck on the Bohon pike. No other injuries were suffered. Nathan Dean was reported to be the driver of the truck.

BUS SKIDS FROM ROAD

A south bound bus, scheduled to leave Lexington at 10:50 Saturday night, got off the road a few miles out of Harrodsburg in passing a car which had been left on the road by the driver when the gas supply had given out and was held there for several hours until a large wrecker could be sent out from Lexington. Several Harrodsburg people who were on the bus caught rides to Harrodsburg while the other passengers remained with the bus until help came. The bus continued on its trip afterwards.

SNOW IS TRUCKED FROM MAIN STREET

Inmates of the jail were put to work Monday shoveling snow off of the streets and loading it into city trucks to be hauled away in order to make traffic of vehicles and pedestrians less hazardous, and permit access of cars to the curb.

CITY SCHOOL CLOSE UNTIL MONDAY, JAN. 27

After struggling from Monday until Wednesday to keep the Harrodsburg schools open, Superintendent W. W. Ensminger closed them Wednesday morning until Monday. This is examination week, and as so many of the pupils were absent, it was decided to let the others take a vacation so that tests could be taken by all the children, without the teachers having to go over the examinations a second time.

Thirty children due to return to their homes on the school bus driven by William Champion, had to remain in Harrodsburg Wednesday night. Mr. Champion carries three loads of pupils numbering 120. He got through with two loads, but starting just before dark with the third load he encountered a drift in which a bus was stalled on the Lexington road near the Dalton Brown farm. He was informed that 20 cars were being held up, so he brought his load of children back to Harrodsburg. They were given supper at a restaurant and lodging secured for them in various homes in the city.

INTERESTING HISTORY BY GEORGE CHINN, JR.

Interesting history is revealed in the article in this issue by George Chinn, Jr., entitled "Settlements in Old Virginia and The Holston Valley." Many Mercer county pioneers came from that section and their descendants still live here.

Mr. Chinn is making quite a reputation as an author. He has completed a book on old firearms, which is now running serially in each issue of the Sunday Lexington Herald. His articles make entertaining as well as enlightening reading about pioneer guns and other weapons.

SEVEN-YEAR TERMS GIVEN CHICKEN THIEVES

Clarence Beckley, Ben McQuess and Taft Carey, charged with chicken stealing, each received seven-year penitentiary sentences in the Circuit Court at Eminence Wednesday. These three headed a group which was held responsible for the theft of 1,000 fowls, valued at $1,000, stolen in Henry county during the past month. It was alleged. On the same charges, Leonard Ward and Charles Ford received one year each. Cecil Shannon and Robert Chambers, heard on three counts, as were the first three defendants, were given two years each.

ROOF COLOR INDICATES WHO LIVES IN HOUSE

In China the use to which a building is put is not indicated by its design but the color of the tiles used for the roof. Green indicates an official place, yellow a commercial place and brown a place where people live.
