Homographs

Homographs are words spelled alike, but from different sources, and, usually, of different meanings, such as "bark," the outer covering of a tree; "bark," the cry of a dog, and "bark," a kind of boat.

SCIENCE PROVES MANY VEGETABLES CONTAIN VITAMIN "C"

Professor D. K. Tressler of the N. Y. State Agricultural Experiment Station made news for amateur gardeners recently when he said his experiments proved that many vegetables contained as much as, if not more, vitamin C than the citrus fruits.

"Peppers, horseradish, parsley, turnip greens and spinach are more powerful sources of this vitamin than is orange juice," he said. "Cabbage, cress, peas, parsnips and turnips have about the same amount of this vitamin as does orange juice." The speaker pointed out that it is "contrary to the general belief, the cooking of vegetables in an open kettle does not destroy a large portion of vitamin C." Little loss is found from this method of cooking, he said.

HURRAH!

It develops that the oldest war on which our government is still giving pensions is that of 1812. Hurrah! The Revolution is paid for.—Atlanta Constitution.

PIONEER PARK NOTES

(H. C. Wood, Curator)

Japan and Italy want peace. And Germany, too, how grand! But wait—you see these countries there; Want a piece of other folk's land.

Among recent gifts to the Harrodsburg Historical Society is a quaint old tin tallow candle lantern given by Mrs. Margaret Carr Lester, and a flax hackle from Philip Carr. In early days a great deal of flax and hemp was raised by the pioneer families of the state.

Mr. Frederic F. McClellan, wife and son, of Muncie, Ind., visited the Fort on Friday. Mr. McClellan's mother and father were married by the father of Mrs. Edmund Ball, the Rev. Crosey, a Universalist minister. Mrs. Ball gave the pretty brick chapel which covers and protects the Lincoln marriage cabin in the park.

Sunday which was a genuine spring day, brought a larger number of visitors than usual, to see the various attractions of Pioneer Memorial Park.

The unusual cold weather of the past winter has left its effect on the beautiful hedge around the flagstone terrace at the Park. The carefully trimmed hedge was a thing of joy, but it will have to be cut partly down on account of the dead wood left by the heavy freezes it sustained. It will take a year or more for the hedge to regain its beauty. The other shrubbery in the Park did not seem to be damaged.

FEDERAL JAIL FOR KENTUCKY
Prison Director Sanford Bates Wednesday told the House appropriations committee at Washington the new Federal jail, planned for Kentucky, should be located in the eastern part of the state, because the commitment of prisoners in that area is one of the largest in the nation.

Mr. Bates told the committee that 86 of the 124 prisons inspected by the U. S. Bureau of Prisons were found to be unfit to hold Federal prisoners.

$1,000,000 IS FLOOD DAMAGE IN STATE

Unaffected by the light rains in the upper valley of the Ohio river, the crest continued to fall this week. A two foot drop with the next 24 hours was seen April 1. Meanwhile scores of persons are being inoculated against typhoid fever. Damage in the area of Kentucky's largest city is estimated to be near a million dollars.

The average American man, woman or child consumes each year more than 1,000 pounds of vegetable food and nearly 600 pounds of animal food.
