

MERCER QUARTERLY COURT-

ALBERT LAWSON-

PLFF-

VS-

PETITION-

TILDEN CLARK-

DFT-

The plaintiff, Albert Lawson, states that on or about the 5th day of May, 1922, he traded and exchanged with the defendant, Tilden Clark, a black mare 6 years of age for a sorrel horse about 4 years of age-- he delivered the black mare to the said Clark and received in exchange therefore a soreel horse- He says that at the time of the trade and exchange as aforesaid and as an inducement to him made by the defendant, Clark, the said Clark stated and represented to him that the said sorrel horse was sound and a good worker and that he believed said statement and representation and relied thereon in making said trade and would not have traded and exchanged said horses but for his belief in and reliance on said statement and representation. He says that said representation and statement was false and fraudulent and untrue and so known to the defendant at the time it was so made to him. He says that said horse is not sound and is not a good worker and practically worthless to this plaintiff and that by reason of said false and fraudulent representations and statements and the trade made by reason thereof he is damaged in the sum of $55.00. He says, however, that by reason of said false and fraudulent statements and representations the title to the said black mare did not pass to the said Tilden Clark, but remains and is in this plaintiff and he desires an order of delivery therefor.

Wherefore plaintiff prays for a judgment against the defendant for a delivery of said horse to this plaintiff and that if this can not be done then he prays for a judgment for the value of said horse which is $55.00. He prays for all the costs of this action-
