CHILD'S SAFETY

IN PARKED CAR

Many mothers like to take their children marketing with them and leave them parked in the car alone. To leave a child in a parked car is something of a risk. To park the car in such a way that the child can be by any stretch of the imagination get into trouble is little short of criminal carelessness.

If the car is parked on a slope, the wheels should be so turned that even if the car rolls it can not go far. Furthermore, it should be left in gear. The keys should be removed, and the brake so tightly jammed that a child could not move it. At all times, the car should be parked where no one can easily run into it.

FRENCH FAVOR

CLINGING VINES

Even the most modern Frenchmen let go with difficulty the idea that woman's place is in the home.

A daily newspaper recently conducted an inquiry as to whether or not men liked to marry women who worked independently. The answers showed that, on the whole, Frenchmen were holding on to the old order. The number of provisions for the working woman and the "ifs" barring her way would surprise most American and English husbands.

BABY'S APPETITE IN SUMMER

Mothers should not worry if the baby eats less in summer than he usually does in winter and the cooler months. He needs only about three-fourths as much food as in winter. Mother shouldn't try to force food upon him. He should be given plenty of cool water to drink on burning summer days.

"ONION" TEARS ARE SHED

AS CO-ED SAILS AWAY

When Laura Lee Foulds, University of California co-ed, sailed for South America this week, tears streamed from the eyes of scores of friends who came to the dock. She had presented each with a bunch of onions especially obtained for the purpose.

ROADSIDE FLOWERS

We are the roadside flowers, Straying from garden grounds; Lovers of idle hours, Breakers of ordered bounds.

If only the earth will feed us, If only the wind will be kind, We blossom for those who need us, The stragglers left behind.

And lo, the Lord of the Garden, He makes His sun to rise, And His rain to fall like pardon On our dusty paradise:

On us He has laid the duty— The task of the wandering breed— To better the world with beauty, Wherever the way may lead.

Who shall inquire of the season, Or question the wind where it blows? We blossom and ask no reason, The Lord of the Garden knows.

—Bliss Carmen.
