

Telegraph

UNDERGROUND

MARCH 91

Telegraph Underground tries real hard (sometimes) to be an authentic reflection of this 'cutting edge'(?)/post-post-submodern (sounds like a cereal), chaotic-cultural-collage we find ourselves in (or not, depending upon your personal existential state).

It's about blurred sex-roles and squewed perceptions, sheer subversive pleasure and meaningful meaninglessness, street-culture-radical-remix and providing the 'little things' that make your life ever so interesting (chuckle, chuckle). It's about people coming together (and stealing each others' clothes).

©1991 TELEGRAPH
UNDERGROUND. ALL RIGHTS
RESERVED. WORLDWIDE.

fight fear

and greed

in yourself

work with the

smash the state

with love

enemy

not hate!

within -

Reprinted courtesy of Dirt.

Bacchanalian Party People
Debora Iyall © 1990.
Dirt.