New Report Criteria

Disclaimer: The NET reports in AIRData are produced from an extract of EPA's National Emission Trends (NET) database. Data for this report was extracted from the October 2001 version of the NET database. The NET is an emissions database developed by EPA for its internal use. The NET is based partially on emission data obtained from State and local agencies, but it is not a database of official State emissions data. Please contact the appropriate State agency to obtain information on a State's official emission inventory. Please contact the EPA to report errors.

Readers are cautioned not to infer a qualitative ranking order of geographic areas based on AIRData reports. Air pollution levels measured in the vicinity of a particular monitoring site may not be representative of the prevailing air quality of a county or urban area. Pollutants emitted from a particular source may have little impact on the immediate geographic area, and the amount of pollutants emitted does not indicate whether the source is complying with applicable regulations.

3. Completion of all miscellaneous assignments.
4. Regular class attendance and active participation in small group work, large group discussion, peer review workshops, and student-instructor conferences.

Attendance policy

Unexcused absences More than two unexcused absences will lower the final grade. Six unexcused absences will result in failure in the course.

Excused absences An absence may be excused for exceptional cause; serious illness, hospitalization, and a death in the family are examples of exceptional cause. The cause must be verified in writing (for example, a medical appointment card or an obituary from a newspaper).

Class participation Good class participation is characterized by appropriate questions and comments given voluntarily during small or large group discussion, peer reviews of papers, and conferences with the instructor. A helpful attitude and regular attendance are necessary for good participation in class.
