P R E F A C E

No genealogy is complete and perhaps none entirely accurate. There is always need for more facts and more accurate interpretation of known facts. While the objective of this book is to assemble a large "family Bible", it will lack the authenticity of a contemporary writing and should be used only with some caution as an aid to further research.

The format of this volume eliminates confusing numerical codes and, instead, makes a compact visual display of many individuals in relation to each other. In each section, the lead name in capitals is the surname of all who follow in that section, except where a female line changes name the new name is shown in the names of all children.

This material has been assembled from a wide variety of sources. Where known, court records are relied upon as authentic and probably correct. Much of the remainder is from old manuscripts, some published, some unpublished, all believed by someone to be true but sometimes disputed by someone else.

Several types of controversy are fairly common. A famous Genealogist estimated 1735 for the Birth of Joseph Gill, to allow for a 1755 land grant in his name and in his area. A wider view reveals four cousins of the same name, at least two of them old enough to acquire land in 1755.

The departure of Hukey Williams from Brunswick County Virginia in 1765 is recorded in colorful detail by Gregg in his "History of Hancock County Illinois" (1880). Four researchers working independently from four widely separated places tried for a decade to authenticate the Gregg story, but failed to find any record of it anywhere else. And Gregg misspelled "Poythress", "Knibb" and "Royal". The account herein is structured from existing court records.

Some errors have been so often repeated they are almost respectable from age. There are many reports that Jemima Alexander married John Sharpe, killed 1759 in the Indian Wars. This is repeated even by Alfred H Sharp in his extensive handwritten (unpublished) genealogy (1908). Jemima and daughter Sarah lie side by side in the oldest Sugaw Creek Cemetary in Charlotte under a stone which clearly calls their husband and father James. The only known court record says James.

Some New England Genealogists, in their learned debates about the ancestry of Roger Williams of Rhode Island, refer to "Roger Williams of Virginia" with characteristics drawn from several of that name who came to Virginia in early time. These are entertaining but not source material in Virginia.

Everywhere are found others nearby who could or might be relatives of the families herein, but what is unknown cannot be stated. Yet, all the uncatalogued Westcotts in New Jersey in the 1700's must surely belong to the one family.

There are no eulogies in this book, partly because some of the most deserving would get least credit. Many were pioneers and farmers, but every respectable profession and occupation is represented. Some were wealthy, prominent, famous or powerful. Many lived quiet, honest, useful lives without grabbing for more than a fair share of worldly goods, without fencing more land than they could farm, without taking more food than they could eat, without seeking more fame than they could earn, and without hoarding more gold than they could ever use.

There is no copyright on this book. Strangers will have no interest, and those interested are rightful heirs and owners of all knowledge about their families. Most of the contents have been freely given by someone, to be freely taken by others. This publication is a non-profit effort, the Editor's gift to many unseen and unknown relatives everywhere. The price per copy is only an invitation to assume a small portion of a larger deficit.

To all who find themselves related to others in this book, the Editor sends greeting and best wishes for long, peaceful and successful life.

T H O M A S S H A R P Family

- THOMAS SHARP came in 1712 to "Sharp's Industry" in Cecil Co Md & Chester Co Penna on Big Elk Creek. The family originated in Scotland, might have come by way of Northern Ireland, and the name is written Sharp or Sharpe according to personal preference. There were many Sharp families in Md, Del, NJ & Penna, some perhaps related. "Sharp's Industry" was close to "New Munster", home of Alexanders & Wallaces, and Thomas' wife Isabella could have been a Wallace; this is uncertain. His Will probated 12/7/1749 Cecil Co Md.

+ + Sarah b. 11/18/1744, m. Richard Brown Jr

+ + Hukey b. 12/12/1740. His name is written this way in the original North Farnham Parish Register (Richmond Co Va) although it could be a nickname for Huckman or something of the sort. There is no known family precedent for Hukey or Huckman. About 1758 or 1759 he went to live with his uncle Hugh Williams at St Andrews Parish, Brunswick Co Va, in the neighborhood of Jones, Wynne, and other Southside families. In 1761 Sarah Jones, dau of Lewelling Jones & Catherine Wynne, had a baby which she named John Williams; there is no existing Court or Parish record of marriage or bastardy, only the Will of Hugh Williams 1780 gives a small bequest to John son of Hukey. By 1764 both Hukey and Lewelling Jones had become involved in multiple lawsuits with other parties over commercial transactions, and in 1765 Lewelling moved to Granville Co NC and Hukey simply disappeared.

GILL, from the Icelandic root 'gil', means ravine or a narrow valley with a small stream. In the county of Cumberland, which borders on Scotland and the Solway Firth, is found the earliest record of the name Gill. "Gillsland" in Cumberland was owned by a Saxon family named Gill, and the representative at the time of the Conquest in 1066 was Bueth Gill who was cruelly murdered by the Normans and his lands confiscated. Some of the family fled to Scotland.

RICHARD WESTCOTT (WAISTECOATE, WESTCOTE, WESCOTE, WESCOAT, WESTCOT, &c) b. 1588 in Great Torrington, Devonshire, England. Family is West Saxon, "ancient and honorable in Devonshire since 1170". Lord Littleton, the founder of English Jurisprudence, was born a Westcott but changed his name to inherit his mother's estate and title. Richard m. 1611 Mary Parsons, dau of the Rev Hugh Parsons, a firebrand Puritan preacher in Great Torrington, called a "hotbed of Puritanism".

son William lived for a time at Fairfield Conn, then moved to Virginia son Daniel went to New Hampshire son Richard b. 1612 Great Torrington, Devon, d. 3/11/1649-50 Fairfield Connecticut. 1635 he went to Salem Mass, 1636 to Wethersfield Conn, 1637 served in the Pequot War, then moved to Fairfield Conn. m. Joanna b. 1612, sister of Mrs Robert Sanford of Hartford Conn.

(Stukeley Westcott b. 1592 in Devonshire, went with Roger Williams to Rhode Island,) (founded the town of Warwick. His descendants have been extensively catalogued, and)
 (they firmly disclaim any relationship to Richard Westcott.)

DANIEL WESTCOTT and his wife Elizabeth, in 1756 were listed as members, and he a leader, of the Old Stone Church (Fairfield Presbyterian) when its parish register was begun. In 1760 it records "Elizabeth wife of Daniel Westcott" but there is no further mention of Daniel. By elimination we infer he could have been a son of Samuel b. 1674 of Daniel & Abigail, who died intestate leaving no record of his children.

DANIEL WESTCOTT JR and his wife Elizabeth on 5/4/1766 were received into membership in the Old Stone Church. This Elizabeth born between 1740 & 1750, was still living 1830 Hamilton Co Ohio. Daniel Jr d. intestate 11/12/1789 Fairfield NJ. His children below shared his estate.
