New Era Banquet Realized $11,531

Last Thursday evening the gym was made over into a banquet hall which was a scene of gay festivity. The walls were hung with green palm branches, and strings of acacia sprigs and pepper leaves were hung on criss-crossed wires from one end of the hall to the other. Four gilded cages of canaries which were musically inclined were

Stud. Volunteer Play Proves Successful

"Robert and Mary," a three-act missionary play, was presented on Wednesday evening, February 5, by the Student Volunteers to the largest assemblage of the Bible Institute. It was given as a prelude to the lecture by Dr. Kurtz, and was very successful from the standpoint of the purpose for which it has been prepared.

It is the true story of Robert Moffat, who answered a call to the

Kaylor Donates Sales From Indian Treasures

The Student Volunteers wish to express their gratitude to Rev. John I. Kaylor of Bakersfield for his cooperation in their project for raising $400. During the Bible Institute a sum of $32.21 was cleared from the sale of souvenirs from India which Mr. Kaylor had purchased there just previous to his return for furlough last spring.

An auction sale conducted by Edgar Rothrock after the Y. W. cafeteria supper in the gymnasium last week helped in the disposal of most of the goods—brassware, woodwork, and cloth of various uses. Very beautiful draperies, scarfs, and other pieces showed the painstaking and exquisite handwork which the native women do. At Bob's store on Saturday the remaining goods were on sale.

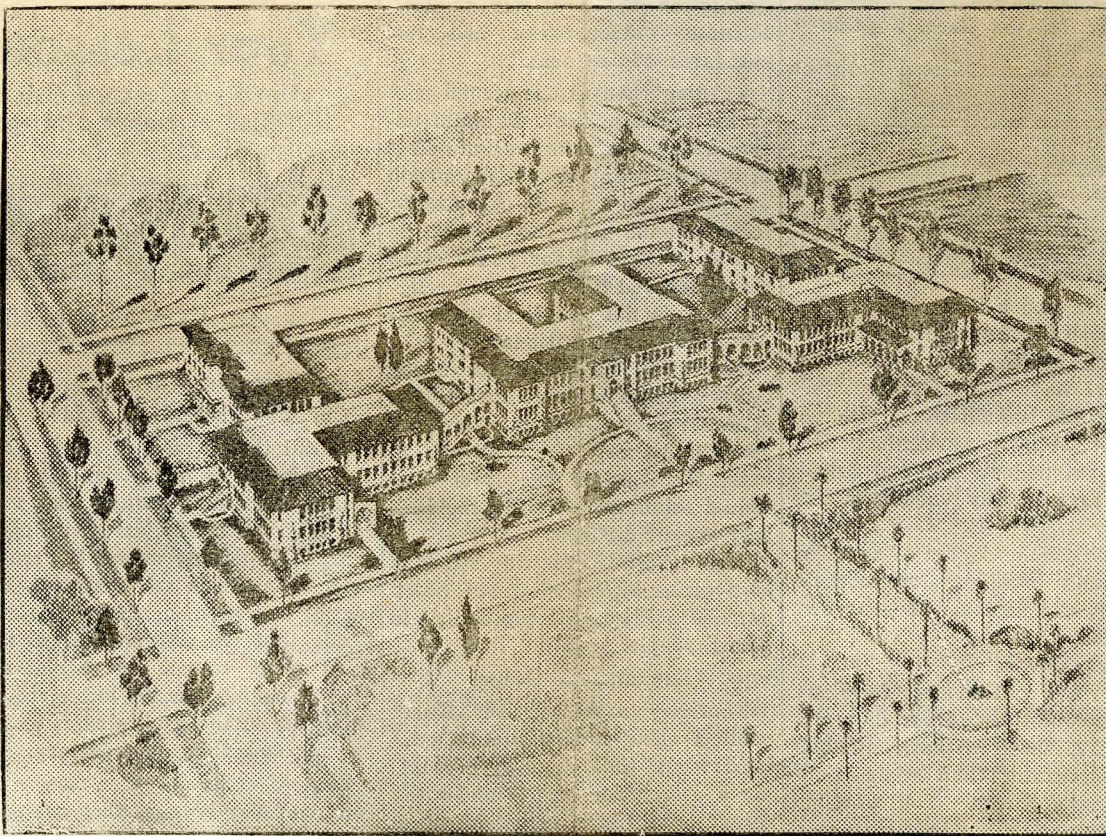

Mr. Kaylor was a student of LaVerne College during the year of 1919-20. His wife is an alumna who graduated in 1920 as Ina Marshburn.

Large Crowd Attends Y.W.C.A. Cafeteria

The Y. W. C. A. cafeteria supper held in the gymnasium building of the college was a great success. A large crowd was served, the size being due to the Bible Institute. This is an annual affair each year during the Bible Institute week. The money raised goes to the "Y" girls to help them in their work.

Articles made in India by the students in the mission schools were auctioned off. The money raised is to go to the Student Volunteer Band, to help them raise their $400 project this year. Many unique articles were auctioned off. A large group was bidding on the articles.

Both the Student Volunteers and the Y. W. C. A. group are organizations worth helping. The spirit of help was shown by the crowd attending the supper. Around 350 people were served and between forty and fifty dollars cleared on the supper.

TRUSTEES ACT ON BUILDING PROGRAM

Three sessions of the trustees of the college were held during the Bible term. A report of their business, always of interest to the students, follows:

Next year's faculty will remain substantially the same. As is known, Miss Muir is now abroad on a year's leave of absence for study. In the event of her return, Professor Jamison will not be on the faculty.

The building program was discussed and ultimate plans are shown in the accompanying cut. On the present campus L-shaped buildings will be put on the northwest and northeast corners. These will be used as a science hall and a library. The men's dormitory will stand to the southwest opposite Miller Hall. On the block to the north, now vacant, will be constructed buildings on the east and west ends with the center landscaped. The college grounds will thus front on Fourth street, which will in the near future be the main boulevard instead of Third street. Next year the planting of trees will mark the beginning of improvement on the block across Third street.

Another matter of importance concerns the endowment of a bed in Pomona Hospital at the sum of $25,000 instead of building an infirmary and dispensary in direct connection with the college. This, of course, is looking far into the future, but represents an advanced step over present college administration where local dispensaries are to be found.

The personnel of the executive board was chosen as follows: J. B. Emmert, president; J. A. Smeltzer or Sacramento, secretary; E. R. Blickenstaff of LaVerne, treasurer.

Mr. Handy of Pomona Y. Talks to Y.M.C.A.

Monday morning the Y. M. C. A. again met after a few weeks of inactivity. The attendance was not large, due to the wonderful weather, the bleakness of the "Y" room since most of the fancy furniture has been appropriated and not returned, and to the drop in interest caused by not having met for several weeks.

The speaker, Mr. Handy, from the Pomona Y. M. C. A., greeted those present with unabated enthusiasm, and gave a short, very much worth-while, and to the point talk on the value of the "Y" in a person's life. Mr. Handy, who is a young man and out of college only a couple of years, talked from personal experience. He told of the value of meeting such men as Hugh Landrum, C. O. Simpson, and other men of their caliber, at Y. M. conferences such as Asilomar, and how at these conferences one really learns to know the men in darkness and in light. He also spoke of the value of the "Y" as a tie-over from school life to business and occupational life, and how it gives a home to the traveler in every land.

At the close of his talk he presented a need for the services of four men of LaVerne College to assist in the recently organized "Y" work in Pomona elementary schools. It is hoped that the challenge will be met, and it was appreciated that Mr. Handy presented it to the group.

Varsity Club Meets New Members Friday

On Friday evening the Varsity Club met its new members with smiles and outstretched arms. With lowered blinds and subdued voices they proceeded to welcome them and instate them in the group. Several orators were found to be budding geniuses and the way the club responded to the humor was simply appalling.

After the initiation, the new members having become a bit warmer toward the club, in spots, at least, everybody repaired to the Lincoln school cafeteria and became involved in a gastronomical marathon, digestion being aided by jokes from each member, Dr. Studebaker included.

Bertram Betts made a very snappy and lively toastmaster.

The speaker of the evening was Dr. Williams, secretary of the Pomona Y. M. C. A. He spoke of the value of athletics and the relation of sportsmanship and clean-mindedness to good athletics.

Music was furnished by a combination of the Clarion Four and the Aeolian Quartette. Wayne Bohn and Harvey Brubaker sang "Jim Green."

There was a motion made that the club have a guest night and invite the new coach, Lee Eisan, to meet with the club.

To the girls of Lincoln school, to Miss Long and Mr. Long, much gratitude is owed for their splendid service.

Institute Closes With Five Main Talks

The annual Bible Institute which is held in Founders Hall was brought to a close Thursday evening, Feb. 6, with the New Era Banquet and an address by Dr. D. W. Kurtz of Long Beach.

Rev. Rufus Bowman of Illinois was the main speaker of the Institute and gave splendid addresses, having the 10:25 period every day which was attended by the students of the college.

Visitation Evangelism

At 9:30 Wednesday morning "Visitation Evangelism" with all of its pros and cons was thoroughly discussed by Rev. H. B. Heisey. He stated that there are two types of evangelism in use at present: mass evangelism, which would include the big revival meetings, and visitation evangelism, but which individuals make personal visits on other individuals in the interest of their salvation.

Mass evangelism has been criticized by some as being impractical because of its emotional influence which makes a convert unstable and because of its being contrary to Bible teachings. The latter is absolutely false. Everyone knows the stories of Christ's teaching the multitudes which he fed with physical nourishment as well as spiritual food. The former criticism is true to some extent, but mass evangelism is better than none at all.

This same weakness is found in lay evangelism. Oftentimes when personal workers go to homes and ask people to state their desire to become a Christian by signing their names, such people comply thru a fear or a shame to refuse, even though their soul is not behind their declaration.

Although these weaknesses are present in lay and mass evangelism, neither method can be thrown out. A new plan is being introduced by which the two are combined, and it has been used with surprising success. A two-weeks campaign is started, during the first week of which lay evangelism is practiced. The second week is a period of mass evangelism. Those who have been interested by the lay workers can come and learn more about the big problems which confront one who desires to become a Christian.

Not only does personal evangelism

AN APPRECIATION

Professor and Mrs. Haugh wish to express their sincerest appreciation to the cast of "David and Goliath" and all the helpers for the loyal support manifested during the most taxing labor of four months' rehearsals.

This production was by far the most strenuous and ambitious undertaking ever attempted by Professors Haugh since in the teaching profession, and they feel very grateful to each one who helped bring their dream to a beautiful reality. They also wish to thank the cast for the flowers presented and the accompanying note.

To those alumni who sent letters of interest before and letters of commendation since this production they express deep felt thanks.

They gratefully acknowledge the presence and enthusiastic approval of the community in this original effort.

The February sun sends stronger beams and a little deeper glow across everything. There is no hint of ice or smudge and the days of late have been mild and sunny. Warmed by the sun and by hot gingerbread and occasional oyster stews, I have felt able to regard even Dr. Hoover with smiling tolerance and the belief that he may not be as bad as he looks. Yesterday, influenced by a particularly fine effect of sun and blue sky, I could have grinned at him and asked: "Well, Bill, old whiskers, are you going to send any valentines this year?"

He would have most likely answered with some degree of sarcasm, "My dear young lady, for one so presumably intelligent as yourself, you fail lamentably in tracing the thought and customs of your own time. Young people no longer send valentines."

And I say, "But you are not young, Dr. Hoover."

Then I hear him answer, "At least I'm not continuously frivolous. I do not confront the serious and changing conditions of our day with any mistaken jocosity. As for valentines, these pathetic symbols belong to a period of more ceremonial sentimentality than exists in our own vivid time and among our free-mannered youth. You wouldn't expect a boy who had been to a petting party the night before to send the girl he had been necking a large lacy heart the next morning! If she doesn't know what he thinks, he isn't going to send her a valentine to tell her—and, besides, he may be going to another party the next night with a different girl."

He surprises me. Now, where does he derive this information concerning the decay of valentines and the rise of "petting parties?" It seems to me that the sending of valentines was a pretty custom and one worth preserving. I knew that St. Valentine had been clubbed to death and beheaded many centuries ago, but I didn't know that he had now, in our time, been definitely set aside as a patron saint of young love and timid affection. According to some opinion, St. Valentine has been replaced by St. Pet, so to speak.

Putting all imaginary conversations between the dean and myself aside, I will prove that the old custom is not absolutely gone. The little custom that the Y. W. has of sending appreciation notes to its fellow members and friends on Valentine day is a pretty one and one which is most lasting in the hearts of each girl.

It is impossible to be with and to show our appreciation to every girl in school all the time, so at this time we can make our little "gladders" reach everyone and thus tighten friendship's claim and help drive away the little black clouds.

ism inspire the worker and reward him with spiritual gain, but it also provides a means of reaching a greater number of people.

What Makes Life Worth Living

This was the question which was discussed by Rev. Bowman on Wednesday morning. He informed his audience that Harry Lauder maintains that there are four attainable elements in life that make it worth while, namely: home, work, your neighbor, and God.

In considering these four things separately, we find that the home is important because it is the setting of the most sacred and the most pleasant experiences that one has. It is a beautiful reality in life.

Since man was created to work, work naturally has a prominent place in his life. The Bible commends those who are diligent in their labor. Edison says that the power to achieve and create is the outstanding incentive in life.

No man lives to himself alone and consequently some of the pleasures he gets from life come from his communion and association with his neighbor. According to the parable of the Good Samaritan, there are three attitudes which one can hold toward his neighbor. By that of the robber the neighbor is considered a victim of exploitation; by that of the priest and the Levite, he is a nuisance to be avoided, and by that of the good Samaritan he is a fellow man to be loved and cared for.

There are few people who do not believe in God and make Him a part of their lives. There are three reasons why men should believe in God: first, because He is revealed in the universe; second, because He is met in religious experience, and, third, because He has been revealed in Jesus Christ.

The whole thing that makes life worth living is a trusting belief in God out of which other values grow.

The concluding talk in the series Rev. Bowman has been giving during the chapel period was delivered Thursday morning on the subject, "Does It Pay to Be Religious?"

This is a question which young people often ask, and Rev. Bowman answered it by presenting the view that being religious means following Jesus Christ.

Another question raised was "What do we mean by 'pay'?" In the Old Testament are many instances where material rewards are promised for being religious, however, Jesus said that it does not always pay in a material way. The fact remains, however, that it pays in riches of character, life abundant, power, love and wealth of soul. It pays in personal happiness and increased capacity for service, and, finally, it pays in life everlasting.

The address was preceded by a congregational song led by Bro. Crist and several announcements by Rev. Walker, who presided at the service.

Responsibility of Youth

"The responsibility of youth in establishing the kingdom of Christ and the responsibility of the church in training young people" was the theme of the address which Rev. Bowman gave to the Bible Institute assembly Tuesday morning.

In the first part of the talk the speaker pictured the discouraging state of home life in our country today, challenging young people with the task of building it up to the standards of a Christian nation. He further set before the rising generation the problems of lawlessness, extravagance and low standards of business.

Turning then to the second part of his message, Rev. Bowman declared that the church should first of all give young people the gospel of Jesus Christ and an opportunity to serve him. It is the duty of the church to provide for youth clean recreation and to give them a religion that is not fanatical or intolerant, but wholly rational.

In closing Rev. Bowman urged the young people to go back to the churches that stand so in need of youth and accept the challenge to build them up to the level they should attain even though the task may appear difficult.

This inspirational talk was one of a series by Mr. Bowman which has been directed especially to young people.

Law and the Gospel

Thursday afternoon Dr. Kurtz made a clear comparison between the law and the gospel by presenting a description of life under the second-mile plan alongside of a picture of life under the old Jewish law. Under the second-mile plan love is the controlling factor in life. One who accepts this method as a guide in life must exercise the redemptive attitude.

Law, on the other hand, was determined by duty, work, and will. The law is negative, having "Thou shalt not" as the predominant theme thruout. For instance, "Thou shalt not" was the pervading influence in the 44,000 Jewish laws. While the Jews condemned the act, Jesus went to the motive of the act, the mind. His teaching was, don't even think evil.

Jesus did not come to destroy the law, but to fulfill it, and He did the latter by rising above the law.

The Mastership of Christ

One of the most highly appreciated addresses of the institute season was that presented by Rev. Louis H. Evans on "The Mastership of Christ." He spoke of the rich young ruler's coming to Christ in search of something better than his wealth and position. This young man was probably a typical example of the youth of today. He was clean morally, and he had kept the Commandments, but still he felt that he lacked something. He was exceedingly disappointed in Christ's suggestion to sell what he had and give to the poor, for he knew that his wealth meant position and power, and he feared being mastered. His yearning for better things was a result of his having nothing to follow, but he did not realize it.

The young people of today experience the same yearning and seek to satisfy it thru what the young women call "new freedom" and what the young men call "personal liberty." What they need is the mastery which results from following an infallible guide. A prominent bishop says that the thing which America needs today is a master, and he names Christ as the most preferable guide from the standpoint of success. The intellect and morals are fine while kept within the confines of mastery, but if there is no control, immorality dominates.

Christ's imperialistic power over the disciples in persuading them to follow Him was marvelous, and one wonders from whence it came. This power undoubtedly lay in His complete mastery which He exercised on their thinking, posses-

Christ's mastery is evident in material things as well as spiritual things. If the scientific research concerning things does not co-incide with Biblical teachings, there is something wrong. We must keep open minds and desire to be taught instead of assuming the attitude that we will not accept by faith what cannot be explained thru reasoning, for the latter stand leaves us in the dark always looking for something satisfactory.

Three-fourths of the men are failures today because they are not doing the job that God wants them to do. They should be like Carey, the cobbler, who had a sign on his shop, "Cobbler by the grace of God." He said that his business was working for God, and that he cobbled shoes only to earn his bread and butter. In conclusion: Christ asks for sovereignty over our souls in order to make us free. We shall be free when we are bound, and we shall be master when He is master of our all.

The scene of the play changed several times from the living room of the Smith home at Dukinfield, England, to a Boer homestead in South Africa.

"My Heart's in the Highlands" was sung by Anna Emmert between the first and second acts, as a part of the play.

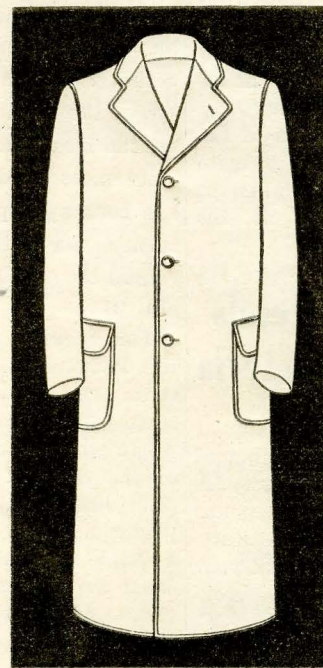

Doyle Montz, a member of the advanced drama class, coached this play for a class project.

In the last issue of the paper it was said that Avery Dunning is the father of a baby girl named Marian, but it is a boy named Myron.

QUARTET GIVES CONCERT

The Sunshine Quartette gave its first full concert in the Belvedere Church of the Brethren in Los Angeles Sunday night, February 9. The audience was very attentive and appreciative, and the girls consider their first program a success.

The work of this organization is similar to that of the Aeolian quartette, as it is the women's quartet of the college. The girls plan to give full concerts this semester and during the summer. Don Miller is manager and is booking dates for them.

The personnel of the quartet is Anna Emmert, first soprano; Mary Platt, second soprano; Flossie Page first alto; Myrtice Butterbaugh, second alto. They were organized last year under the direction of Prof. B. S. Haugh and were featured in different programs, but they did not give a full concert until this semester.

Their program consists of vocal solos and duets, instrumental numbers and quartets.

STUDENT SOCIAL LIFE

Faculty News

President Studebaker will leave Friday for Chicago where he will attend a meeting of the Board of Directors of Bethany Bible School. He expects to be gone about two weeks.

Professor Sarafian is directing a seminar in "Comparative Education" this semester at Pomona College. The students are in the graduate department.

Professor Haugh accompanied the Women's Glee Club to San Bernardino Sunday evening where a program was given in the Church of the Brethren.

Professor Jamison recently attended a meeting of the Phi Delta Kappa society in Los Angeles at which District Attorney Buron Fitts gave an unusually interesting and informational lecture on Law Enforcement.

Prof. Cullen spoke Friday night at LaVerne Heights school on "The Product of the Public Schools." A banquet by the P. T. A. was the occasion of the meeting. Last night he attended an educational meeting on activity work at Rosemead School.

Professor Travis heard Lawrence Tibbetts' concert at Bridges Hall Saturday night.

Miss Lenhardt attended a Spanish lecture on literature Friday night at Los Angeles City Library. She states that next Wednesday night at 8 p. m. in the President's parlors at U. S. C. the Alliance Francaise is sponsoring an interesting program to which language students are especially invited. The Countess D'Tocqueville and the Frenche consul, M. Didot, will speak.

"Tommy" Awards Football Letters

A very interesting student body meeting which displayed much school spirit was held last Friday, February 7. The stage was decorated with L. V. C. emblems, by Commission of Finance Glen Harmon and his helpers. The students were told that the emblems, pillows, pennants, caps and streamers are for sale.

The program for the meeting was as follows:

Two piano duets, "Czardas" and "The Rough Riders," Edna Brubaker and Esther Thomason.

Solo, "Foolish Questions," and an encore number, "Lindy Lou," Marvin Bolinger.

The very interesting procedure of awarding football letters was next in order. Since Mr. Van Cleave could not be present and Dale Stutzman, Commissioner of Athletics, was too bashful, Orville Thomason had the honor of reading the names while Edna Brubaker and Esther Dickey awarded the letters.

Those receiving the letters and one stripe were:

Gerald Deal, Harry Pobst, John Kindy, Doyle Montz, Isaac Funk, Everett Calvert, Joe Roynon, Alfred Nicolas, Roland Brownsberger, and Glen Dellenbach.

Those who received a letter and 2 stripes were Vernon Weybright, Ronald Bessey, Orville Thomason, Stanley Weddle and Fred Hubbell.

Galen Root received a letter and 3 stripes, Walter Feree, a letter, and Ralph Fesler, manager, received a letter which has a small "M" on it.

The meeting closed with some yells led by the cheer leaders and the Alma Mater hymn.

Announcement has been received of the marriage of Dallas Throne, a former student of LaVerne College, to Helen Thomson of Pomona, which took place Monday, Feb. 3, at the home of the bride in Pomona.

Gibble-Saladin Wed

The wedding bells rang out for two former LaVerne students when Erma Saladin of Los Angeles and Owen Gibbel of Hemet were united in marriage at the Church of the Brethren in Pasadena, February 9. The ceremony took place at four o'clock.

After the ceremony the ushers directed the guests to the annex of the church where the reception was given. Coffee, chocolate cake and the bride's and groom's cake, and blanched nuts were served.

The bride and groom left for Hemet, where they will make their home.

MEN BEGIN DEBATING SCHEDULE TONIGHT

Debate season for the men opens tonight in Founders Hall when the affirmative team of the college meets the team from Pacific University, Oregon, on the question, "Resolved, That all nations should adopt a plan of complete disarmament, excepting such forces as are needed for police purposes."

The question is timely, and promises to be of much interest. Robert Oliver and William Ladd are experienced debaters representing Pacific University, and Everett Calvert and Chalmer Faw of LaVerne are working in a manner to give them a stiff contest.

The first conference debate will be held on Thursday evening, Feb. 13, when the negative team of the college, Ed Cunningham and Orlin Vaniman, will meet Pomona College at Claremont. The conference subject for debate is, "Resolved, That all nations should immediately and completely disarm."

Good interest was shown in the women's debates, and it is expected that even more interest will be manifested in these approaching contests. LaVerne met with success in the women's debates and she is expecting similar honors for the rest of the year.

Y. W. C. A. PROJECT

At the regular Y. W. C. A. meeting Monday morning, plans for assisting in the organization of a Girl Reserves Club for high school and grammar school girls were brought before the group. Mrs. J. L. Miller, Mrs. Blickenstaff and Mrs. C. P. Shaffer are the organizers for the group and the club management is to be under the direction of Mrs. Lapp and Mrs. Earl Brubaker. Classes in home-making, hiking, art, and nursing will be offered the girls, with members of the college Y. W. C. A. in charge. This is a very worth-while project and will be a splendid field for some active work on the part of all concerned, and is creating a great deal of interest.

In concluding the program of the morning, Mary Platt led in the singing of folk songs.

Alumni Notes

Chester Shirk is representing LaVerne College in fine shape at Stanford University. He ranked second in a class of 65 in Educational Psychology last semester and was one of four in a class of 35 who got a 100 in a tests and measurements course. He is also doing some brilliant basket ball playing.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Yoder of Hemet attended church services in LaVerne Sunday morning and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Brandt.

Rev. and Mrs. Ora Weddle and little daughter attended the Bible Institute and visited friends in LaVerne last week. He is pastor of the Church of the Brethren in San Bernardino.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Dickey and Ernest Landis visited Hermosa Beach Sunday.

Mrs. Ina Marshburn Kaylor is receiving medical treatment in the Loma Linda sanitarium this week. Her father's brother is one of the most respected physicians of this institution.

Mrs. Merle Fike Wine of Empire and Miss Bertha Fike of Bakersfield served as pianists at various sessions of the Bible Institute.

Glenn Vaniman of Long Beach spent the week-end in LaVerne.

Mr. and Mrs. Byrl Harper and little daughter of Huntington Park and Mr. and Mrs. Chase Harper of San Pedro spent the week-end with their mother, Mrs. Bertha Harper.

Rev. John Coffman of Laton renewed acquaintances in LaVerne while attending the Bible Institute. His wife, Roxie Snell Coffman, remained at home to keep their son in school. John is pastor of the Laton Church of the Brethren.

A letter from Dr. J. W. Fox to Dr. F. M. Shirk states that he is hard at work on the language in India.

Mrs. Grace (Forney) Kindy and her husband, Virgil Kindy, were visitors in LaVerne over the weekend.

Harvey Brubaker sang over KNX Monday from two to three o'clock at Warner Brothers in Hollywood.

Edna Amberson spent the weekend in Bakersfield with friends.

The Lambda staff is announcing that it will present the great Shakespearean picture, "Othello," in the college auditorium Tuesday evening, February 18, at 7:30. As an added attraction, a short prologue will be given by Wilbur Evans, national Atwater Kent radio contest champion. Mr. Evans is a baritone and one of the Chicago Light Opera Company's leading singers.

"Othello" is one of Shakespeare's best plays and its popularity is being greatly multiplied by its production as a motion picture. The cast is made up altogether of great European stage actors and was filmed in Germany. The cast is headed by the great German dramatic actor, Emil Jannings, who takes the title role. He is ably supported by the almost equally great Werner Kraus and Ica Lenkeffy. Kraus plays the part of Iago, one of the most treacherous villains to appear in the theater, while the beautiful heroine, Desdemona, is portrayed by Mme. Lenkeffy, one of Europe's prettiest actresses.

All students of dramatics and literature can hardly afford to miss this picture. It has had a wonderful run in New York's big theaters and everywhere it is noted as one of the most stirring productions ever presented to the public.

Glenna Betz entertained at a chicken dinner Sunday. Mildred Smith, Ethel Drescher, Dale Stutzman and Vernon Weybright were the guests.

Leopard Claw Engi- neers, Score 55-25

With an attack that overwhelmed their opposition completely, the LaVerne cagers copped the largest score of the year with a 55-25 victory from the Caltech basketeers last Saturday at Pasadena. The Engineers never threatened taking the lead thruout the entire game, except near the middle of the first half, when they came within two points of tying the score. The count was 28-16 at the end of the initial period.

The second half was a scoring jamboree on the part of the Leopard outfit and continued to chalk up points to the end. The Tech quintet offered little in the way of a defensive and allowed many set-up shots. The second string played the last five minutes and had no trouble stopping the attack.

High point honors went to Captain Weybright who copped 19, Stutzman took 14, Thomason made 11, and Hubbell scored 6. Pratt was high scorer for Tech with 9 points.

The guards did not get a chance to show their stuff so much in this tilt, but were always in the thick of the fray when it was necessary. The lineup:

LaVerne (55)	Caltech (25)
Weybright (19) F	(5) Horn
Deal (2) F	(1) Dickerman
Stutzman (14) F	(9) Pratt
Kindy (2) F	(3) McLaughlin
Thomason (11) C	(2) Oaks
Welty C
Hubbell (6) G	(2) Berhardi
Heiser G	(3) Cogen
Nicolas G
Thomas (1) G

pleted their series of matches with Pomona J. C. on Monday afternoon with no losses of any singles or doubles tournaments. The Funk brothers won the doubles match from Harvey and Smith, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4. In singles Calvert tied 6-4, 7-9, 10-10. Weybright tied Maust 5-7, 6-3 and Gnagy won from Walker 6-0, 6-4.

The complete schedule for the racqueteers will be published soon and a tough one it will be. It will include Pomona, Redlands, Loyola, Oxy and many others.

hung amongst the greenery. The tables were prettily decorated with ivy and acacia blooms which twined around green and orange candles.

The banquet proper began with the pronunciation of the invocation by S. G. Lehmer. Following the saxophone ensemble by the Aeolian Quartette, President Studebaker made an appreciation speech in recognition of the cooperation of those who prepared the food and of those who served it. He introduced Mr. Hollinger from McFarland, the toastmaster of the evening, and ceded his place to him.

Mr. Hollinger assumed his position with the introduction of those members of the board of trustees who were present. Special mention was made of Mrs. Welty from the Northern District, who is the first and only woman on the board.

The toastmaster expressed the gratitude of the entire group in an appreciation announcement for the donation of figs by Mr. Showalter

Leopards Win Another Close Game, 33-32

Accomplishing an almost unheard of feat, the local hoopsters went down to Cal-Christian last Wednesday and barely nosed them out by a 33-32 count. This was the first time in four years the Panthers have been beaten on their own court, which seems to lend the miraculous aspect to the game.

The Panthers got off to an early lead and held it till the last minute, and it was toward the end that the Leopards were able to find themselves. The size of the court handicapped them greatly because of its petite-ness. Team work and the usual passing attack was impossible. Shots from mid-court were not uncommon. Personal fouls were far too numerous, fifteen of the twenty-five called on LaVerne. This is the most made this year in a single game.

It certainly is a good thing the Panthers didn't have two players who could shoot like Tower, forward, who made 24 of his team's total of 32. Thomason was LaVerne's high scorer with 12 digits.

The line-up:

LaVerne (33)	Cal-Christian (32)
Weybright (7) F	(24) Tower
Stutzman (4) F	(4) Newberry
Kindy (4) F
Thomason (12) C	(3) Usrey
Hubbell (5) G	(1) Dorland
Nicolas (1) G	(9) Koplin

of Figarden and for the donation and installation of the loud speakers by the local radio man, Virgil Neher.

The Aeolian Quartette presented two vocal numbers, the first of which was the ever popular "Mulligan Musketeers," the second being a negro spiritual.

Dr. Kurtz, who was the main speaker of the evening, spoke on the Christian College. He said that the first colleges of the United States were Christian colleges and that of the 8 per cent of the men in Who's Who are college graduates, 70 per cent of whom are from the small Christian colleges. The principal purpose of the Christian college should be to capture the social, economic, and educational leadership for the future.

Our democracy is the fruit of Christian ideals. Citizenship is dependent upon intelligence, high morality and unselfish public spirit. Only Christ's gospel can accomplish such fundamentals to permanent democracy.

The church has its place in the world today because it can out-live, out-think, and out-die the pagan world. It must keep its place thru the functioning of the Christian College. Real men are made by ideals and personality such as may be found in the personnel of a Christian college. Such things as high scholastic degree and a big name do not serve in the formation of character. He said in clos-

LaVerne vs. San Diego Friday and Saturday

Two conference games are billed for Friday and Saturday with the San Diego State melon tossers furnishing the competition for the Leopards in the local basketorium.

This two-game series may not seem as important, as the Aztecs could barely beat Caltech by three points, but earlier in the season they held Pomona to a close game. A loss for LaVerne would mean a lower place than second in the standings. Ordinarily the Staters have been in the habit of taking one of the games, but they will have to play a super-excellent brand of basketball to do it.

These tilts end the conference season with the exception of the Pomona game, which will be played March 1. Next week the Leopards play a two-game series at Santa Barbara State on Friday and Saturday.

Frosh Basket Ball

The frosh have three games booked for this week. Tuesday evening they play Pomona J. C. and Friday the yearlings meet Claremont High in a preliminary to the Varsity-San Diego struggle. In the Saturday evening preliminary the pea-greeners play Chino High.

Last week both frosh games were called off.

CONFERENCE NOTES

Redlands advanced a game nearer the conference cage championship by winning from Whittier by a score of 30-14. The undefeated record of Pomona was spoiled by Oxy last Saturday night when the Tigers made a brilliant last minute rally to win by a 41-32 score. In the other conference game LaVerne triumphed over Caltech 55-25.

Next Saturday Redlands and Pomona mix at Claremont. This was supposed to have been the deciding game of the season, but since the decisive victory of Oxy over the Sagehens Redlands is favored to cop the victory without a superfluous amount of difficulty. The other games this week are San Diego at LaVerne on Friday and Saturday, and Oxy at Whittier.

ing that the churches must unite in putting over a program of Christ, in order that Christian Colleges may capture the leadership of the future.

Of the four banquets of this kind which have been given, this one seemed to be the most successful. The feeling of loyalty which prevailed alike in services of giving and receiving, was evident at all times. Because of this attitude the deficit was greatly lowered, $7,801 being raised during the campaign and $3,730 on the evening of the banquet. With such wonderful backing LaVerne College is bound to be one Christian College which will make its contribution to the world in good leaders.
