THIS YEAR'S FACULTY FORCE INCREASED

New Pastor Is Introduced to College Students at Reception

Five New Teachers to Direct Classes

Five new teachers are on the college faculty this year. Professor Hol-sil P. Allen is a visiting lecturer in the department of education. He is on the regular staff of that department in the graduate school of Claremont Colleges and has had wide experience as a teacher and administrator in the San Bernardino public schools and elsewhere. Tests and measurements is the course he will teach here.

Professor Martha Lena Lenhardt, associate professor of modern languages, recently received her Master of Arts degree from the University of Michigan. For five years she taught at Morningside College in Sioux City, Iowa, and for two years at Ellsworth College in Cedar Falls. Miss Lenhardt was born in Switzerland, speaks French as her native tongue, and converses fluently in German. She is teaching the first and second years of French, first and third years of German, and the first year of Spanish. About sixty-five students are included in these classes.

Professor Benjamin F. Jamison, an alumnus of LaVerne College, is associate professor of history, having charge of this department during the absence of Miss Muir. He is teaching fifteen hours of history and has approximately eighty-five students. Professor Jamison taught during the past school year and summer at McPherson College, McPherson, Kansas, and has also had several years experience in the public schools of Southern California. He has done graduate work both at Pomona College and the University of Southern California, having obtained his Master of Arts degree at the latter institution.

Professor Ralph R. Travis, pipe organ, and theoretical music, received his B. A. degree in 1927 from Jamestown College, Jamestown, North Dakota, having majored in music. The past two years he has spent in New York City, where he attended the Institute of Musical Arts of the Juillard Foundation and studied organ from Gaston Dethier and piano from George Boyle. He also taught privately there. The past summer he was acting head of the department of music at Jamestown College during the vacation of the regular professor. For five years he was pipe organist in two of the leading churches of Jamestown, North Dakota. He comes to us highly recommended as a young man who takes an outstanding interest in community and church affairs. He is an excellent concert pianist and pipe organist.

Miss Vera Hoover, director of physical education for women, is well known to LaVerne alumni and students as one who is always interested in college activities. A graduate of LaVerne College, Miss Hoover has had special training in physical education at the University of Southern California. She has had teaching experience in this field also. Most of the girls have enrolled for twice-a-week classes and are looking forward enthusiastically to a good year. Plans

President Addresses First Chapel Service

The first chapel assembly of the beginning school year, 1929-30, was held Thursday morning at the regular chapel hour. In addition to the students there were a number of visiting townspeople present. The attention of the audience was gained by Vera Hoover playing a beautiful piano solo, "Melody," a composition of Charles Wakefield Cadman. Following this, Professor Haugh led the assembly in singing "America" and "Just As I Am, Thine Own to Be." Prayer was offered by President Studebaker and followed by a short address on "The Significance of College Life."

President Studebaker stated that the beginning college year presents a new situation not only to new students but also to the old ones, due to the changes in the student body. New friendships will be made and due caution and consideration should be exercised in forming each one. Not because there is the wrong type of people here, but in view of the relationships which may follow. Make good friends and do not live to yourself. Seek the friendship of your teachers and be free to take your problems to your professors.

Do not neglect to make use of the educational tools which are at hand, especially the library and the science laboratories.

President Studebaker said that his greatest concern in a college education is the ideals of the student because the attitude which he assumes is a result of them.

It is the hope of those who help to maintain this institution that since it is principally a Christian institution and depends upon this fact for its existence, it may serve in instilling high ideals in the hearts of its members.

President Studebaker's best advice to all students pertained to the maintenance of health by following sensible and regular habits of eating, sleeping, playing and working. He also suggested that a time for meditation be observed in which one can think of the deeper things of life and commune with the infinite, thereby keeping one's ideal's high.

The speaker's final statement was an offer of assistance to any who should desire it at any time, and an assurance to all students, old and new, that as their friend and advisor he considers it always a privilege to be of any assistance possible in helping them make the most of their college life.

Friendship's Cost

Friendship is to be purchased only by friendship. A man may have authority over others, but he can never have their hearts but by giving his own.—Thomas Wilson.

"It never was true that one man is as good as another."

are being made to purchase some much needed equipment and to improve in a real way the health efficiency of the college women.

HELLO!

With a smile and a Chinese hand-clasp that's warm and hearty is the manner in which the commission, thru the Campus Times, welcomes the new students into LaVerne; and with a "glad to see you back" spirit the old students of yester-years are greeted as they enter the well-known halls and classrooms again.

New students: Perhaps you would like to know that LaVerne College has always been noted for, and is noted for the fine "spirit" which exists in her halls and classrooms and on her athletic fields. May this fine spirit continue throughout the coming year and even grow finer as the days and weeks slip by.

Freshmen (and ladies, too), you are now a part of this good old institution called L. V. C. for short. We have every reason to believe you worthy of this institution of higher learning and we are sure that this institution is worthy of you. May there conditions continue to be mutual, and may LaVerne College be better because you are here.

May I again say to all the new students, make yourself at home, enjoy your work as well as your play, learn to love the colors orange and green, and what they stand for, and don't forget to ask the sophomores for advice.

More than these, remember the password, "HELLO" accompanied by a "SMILE."

Naomi Whipple: "Did you make the football team?"

Dan Stover: "No, they already had one."

Y. M. Discuss Plans for Coming Year

The first meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held Monday morning with practically every man in school attending.

To start the meeting President "Dee" Dellenbach proceeded to request the frosh to sit on the floor in the usual custom. After several songs by the group, led by Doyle Montz, the "Y" president introduced the cabinet for the coming year, which is composed of Ralph Fesler, first vice-president; Vernon Weybright, second vice-president; Stanley Weddle, treasurer; Whitcomb Overholtzer, secretary, and Prof. Ray Cullen, faculty advisor. "Dee" outlined some of the plans for the coming year and urged the co-operation of all the fellows to put them across.

Prof. Cullen then told of the new problems the "Y" was facing and urged that the organization become a greater factor in college life. The meeting was brought to a close after several more songs.

Registration

Registration records to date show a total of 68 new students enrolled for work in LaVerne College this semester. They come from widely separated areas, having varying ambitions and capacities which will be a means of helping LaVerne to become a better institution. Others are expected to enroll this week.

Freshmen

The list of freshmen follows:
Adams, Alfred, Sunland, Calif.
Amplayo, Camilo, San Dimas.
Ardinger, Gwendolyn, Inglewood.

Rev. Galen Walker to Succeed Rothrock

The pastorate of the Church of the Church of the Brethren which was recently vacated by Rev. Edgar Rothrock has been filled by Rev. Galen K. Walker, formerly of Johnstown, Pennsylvania. Rev. Walker, with his family, arrived in LaVerne the latter part of August and Sunday, September 8, 1929, saw his formal installation in the new position.

The installation of the new pastor is of real interest to the students, due to the close relationship between the church activities and the life of the college.

Rev. Rothrock played an important part in college activities as pastor of the college church and ex-officio member of the faculty. With the memory of his fellowship in our activities in our minds we look forward with anticipation toward his successor in office.

Pastor Walker was introduced to the students at the Faculty reception last Wednesday evening. They are indeed fortunate in having another pastor deeply interested in young people and their problems.

"Tommy" Introduces New Commission

The first student body meeting of the year was held Friday, Sept. 13, at 10:25. After a few introductory remarks, President Orville Thomason introduced the new Commission, which consists of Commissioner of Welfare Margeret Price, Commissioner of Forensics Ed Cunningham, Commissioner of Athletics Dale Stutzman; Commissioner of Publications Marie Tingle, and Commissioner of Finance Glenn Harmon.

A baritone horn solo, "In the Garden of Tomorrow," played by Charles Manning, accompanied by Esther Thomason, was the next number on the program.

Ed Cunningham gave a short talk on the "traditions" of the school, mentioning those centered about the "L," and our Alma Mater Hymn in particular.

Dale Stutzman also gave a short talk on our honor system, or honor spirit as it is now called. This information was for the benefit of the new students, and as a reminder to the old ones.

The Sunshine Quartet gave two selections, "Indian Dawn," accompanied by Professor Travis, and "Just Smile."

"Red" Weybright led the assembly in several college yells, and the program closed with the singing of old college songs which were led by Mina Throne.

Virginia Stern: "I saw Dan yesterday and we had the loveliest confidential chat together."

Margaret Hendrick: "No wonder he wouldn't speak to me today."

Idle brains far outnumber idle hands.

THE SCHOOL OF LIFE

We are all of us continually being ordered back to school. Year by year, back we have to go to the classrooms of life, to the lessons of experience, to the new teachings of street and market-place. Learners we are so long as we are doers. So long as it is a pleasant thing for the eyes to behold the sun, so long must we endure to learn, to review old mistakes, to turn back to school with our fellows.

The achieving, discovering and creating mind of man presses on. And we have to follow. To be true to ourselves, to be part of our day and world, we must not lag behind, must not lay down our mental arms and watch the struggle from the rear or from the sidelines. Where the white and winning banner of the mind of man flies, there we belong. There youth belongs and there youth naturally, surely crowds. We will keep to new fellowships as we gain new knowledge, and will be going back to school, even with gray hairs and bifocals!

We must remember that God created man—and man made the machine. Our world, our creation, is first of all a human one. And our relation to our fellows is first of all a human one. It is not a relation of steel, of scale, of kilowatt.

And as time goes on the creating mind of man, learning more and more to work in harmony with the Infinite Purpose, will rise progressively to greater heights of spiritual attainment as it advances in mental development and material achievement.

YOU NEVER CAN TELL

The following poem will perhaps be of interest to LaVerne students. It was composed by Betty Ramsey, a member of last year's freshman class and was printed in a Student's Anthology entitled "First the Blade." It was later published in the Literary Digest.

Wings

Silver wings shining
Deep in the sky,
Silver wires singing
As winds whip by.

Three motors throbbing
Exultant and strong,
Propellers repeating
The triumphal song.

Onward still beating
Past every sea,
Outward still winging
Fearless and free.

Wings of the morning
Proud wings and strong
Out of the dawning
Fling back your song!

No business has ever yet run itself and paid a profit.

The right angle to approach a difficult proposition is the try-angle.

He who cannot smile should not keep a shop.—Chinese proverb.

Elbert Ebersole: "Is it correct to say that you water a horse when he is thirsty?"

Mrs. Merritt: "Certainly."

Elbert: "I suppose, then, you'd milk a cat."

THE SCHOOL OF SCHOOLS

Another school year has commenced, and a few days of dizzy bustle has given over to the real grind of college life. The freshmen are beginning to realize what it is all about, but it will be some time yet before they will cease to be of amusing interest to upperclassmen. From experience we know some of their expectations as to studies, athletics and general spirit. When expectations are high among such a group more ground is covered toward the completion of those expectations.

The vast maze of studies and academic work is difficult and must have attention, but it is not the horrible nightmare pictured by students who have "passed on." No midnight sessions are necessary, and only a reasonable amount of devotion and time. The most successful students mix the dose with pleasure by taking sufficient time out.

The general atmosphere and spirit of the whole school affects in the greatest degree its success in all activities and development. A cheerful cooperation and loyal attitude on the part of each, blended with that of all, will make L. V. C. what it ought to be.

Eagerly are the new faces welcomed among the old, for there lies our new ideas and from them the break in what may seem monotony. We hope that as the season wears on the lower classmen will come to realize that in them lies the great future of LaVerne. Although the school is itself a mold in a sense of the word, it can be dented, creased and misshapened by the knocks and dents of criticism from the inside.

It is constructive criticism that moves the mountains.

It is good nature that helps others to work together.

It is YOU who make L. V. C.

Y. W. GET ACQUAINTED

The Y. W. started off with a bang Monday morning. After a short business meeting, Mina Throne was elected to take Gladys Ikenberry's place as song leader. The vice-president, Virginia Dull, introduced the members of the cabinet, who were costumed to depict their different offices. Myrtice Butterbaugh, president, and Virginia Dull each gave interesting and constructive talks. The meeting closed by singing the Y song, "Follow tre Gleam."

Dean Hoover: "What are you doing out in the hall after the bell has rung?"

Marie Tingle: "Boo! Hoo! Teacher shut the door and I can't reach the door knob."

Glen Harmon: "What do you say we get married, Florence?"

Florence Brubaker: "Fine! Who'll have us?"

Florence Brubaker to Pres. Studebaker: "I've had enough of the bitter things of life, now I want some of the sweet. (Now what did she mean by that?)

"Fill her up," said the absent-minded motorist to the waiter, as he seated himself in the restaurant with his sweetie.

Student Talent Enjoyed by Public

A most enjoyable program was given at the college Friday evening, September 13. This was the first of several to be given this year, sponsored by the annual.

Old and new students of the college took part in the following program.

"Lucky in Love," and the "Pagan Love Song," orchestra; LaVonne Putnam, violin; Russell Frantz and Doyle Montz, saxophones; Esther Thomason, piano.

Scotch impersonation solos, Harvey Brubaker, accompanied by Daniel Stover.

Il Trovatore, piano solo, by Esther Thomason.

Moonbeam, soprano solo, by Daisy Johnson; Esther Thomason at the piano.

"The Punishment of Robert," reading by Dortha Gans.

Somewhere a Voice Is Calling," and "That Wild Rose," trumpet solos by Ralph Shrock.

"A Brown Bird Singing," vocal solo by Mina Throne, accompanied by Mary Throne.

"The Milliner's Bill," reading by Katherine Hanawalt.

"Indian Dawn," Sunshine Quartet.

Personals

Students of LaVerne are glad to welcome back Paul and Isaac Funk of Covina after a semester's absence.

Roland Williams has enrolled as a junior in LaVerne College. He is a former student of Chaffey Junior College in Ontario.

Miss Viola Smith has returned from her summer home in Nebraska and has enrolled in the college as a junior.

Miss Nina Throne, a delegate to Asilomar from LaVerne College, returned Wednesday morning after spending the summer there.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Yoder entertained at dinner Neva Snell, Vesta Bowers, Alma Limbaugh, Mrs. Hoke, Harriet Hoke, Mrs. Porter, Miss Lenhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Yoder and Martha Baer.

Glenn Vaniman was a Sunday visitor in LaVerne Sunday, coming out from Los Angeles, where he is working on his master's degree at U. S. C.

Virginia Dull entertained Bernice Dorman of Pasadena at her home in Fullerton.

Miss Willie Long spent Saturday in Pasadena shopping and spent Saturday and Sunday in Covina.

Margaret Hendrick and Stanley Weddle visited relatives of Miss Hendricks in Santa Ana Sunday.

George Berg went to Anaheim after some tomatoes. Dodge 'em, frosh!

A group of L. V. C. students attended the Pomona Valley Symphony orchestra concert at the Greek theater in Pomona Sunday.

Prof. Travis, Russell Frantz and Don Miller say that they are three saps who saw "The Sap" in Los Angeles Saturday.

Frosh Receive Black Eyes at Roughhouse

The Y. M. C. A. of the college began their year of activity last Tuesday evening, Sept. 10, by holding one of the roughest and finest roughhouses in the college gymnasium that has ever been sponsored by the organization.

About fifty men were present for the occasion and all were there for the specific purpose of having a good time and "have a good time they did."

Mr. MacDonald and Dwight Welch, to two San Gabriel Valley Y. M. C. A. secretaries from Azusa, were on hand to lead the activities of the evening.

The first sport entered into was a rousing game of volley ball. Then a couple of "dizzy" games were played, using broom handles as the center of attraction.

Six freshmen were then taught under very able upper class instructors, how to thread a needle with but one eye. This was one of the roughest affairs of the evening, as all but one of the freshmen received a black eye in the contest.

Numerous other contests and games were enjoyed by the men, including a milk sucking contest by six husky freshmen using real hygeia bottles and nipples; a miniature basketball game, using frosh as the balls, in which one missed the basket, but fortunately hit the backstop, which was the floor; and a lively game of blanket tag, in which Joe Roynon proved to be an excellent goat.

Refreshments of Chino cider and doughnuts were indulged in by all the group and when the men were all filled to capacity the meeting adjourned, all hoping for many such activities included in the Y program.

Class Elections

A senior class meeting was called last Thursday noon and an election of officers was held. This was the first meeting of the year and precedes the series which are to follow to carry on the numerous class activities and business.

The seniors have chosen a fine executive head in Roland Brownberger, who in cooperation with Stanley Weddle, new vice president, will wind up a good college life with "bravado."

Whitcomb Overholtzer will pull the purse strings and Eleanor Maryott will spill the ink on the record.

SOPH OFFICERS ELECTED

President—John Kindy.
Vice-President—LaVonne Putnam.
Secretary—Mildred Smith.
Treasurer—Bob Welty.

JUNIOR OFFICERS ELECTED

STUDENT SOCIAL LIFE

SUMMER WEDDINGS

Miss Mary Blickenstaff and David Brubaker were married at the home of the bride's parents early in June. Ceremony performed by President E. M. Studebaker.

Miss Harriet Woody to Merle Butterbaugh in Bridgdes Hall. Ceremony performed by Rev. Leland Brubaker.

Miss Lois Miller and Harry Yochem in Little Church of the Flowers, Glendale. Ceremony performed by Dr. W. I. T. Hoover.

Miss Olive Shirk and Wayne Bohn at the home of the bride. Ceremony performed by Rev. Edgar Rothrock.

Miss Hazel Minnich and Herman Landis at the home of Roy Minnich, Ontario. Ceremony performed by Rev. A. O. Brubaker.

Miss Dortha Dyck and Gilbert Betts in the Stanford Memorial church in Palo Alto. President E. M. Studebaker officiated.

Miss Doris Welch and Merlin Yoder at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kreps, LaVerne. Rev. Edgar Rothrock officiating.

Miss Ruth Emely and Gorman Rensberger in the Patio at the Congregational church in Pomona. Rev. Edgar Rothrock performed the ceremony.

Miss Ruth Wilkinson and Mark Lehmer at the Lehmer home in Los Angeles. Ceremony performed by Rev. Lehmer.

Miss Grace Longenecker and Walter Gilbert were married in the Pasadena Church of the Brethren. Dr. J. Z. Gilbert performed the ceremony.

Miss Eleanor Houdyshel and Virgil Brooks, former L. V. C. students, were married in the Little Church of the Flowers at Forest Lawn in Glendale by Rev. Edgar Rothrock.

Margaret Combs, a member of the senior class, was quietly married in Santa Ana, to Clement Kelly of LaVerne. They are now making their home in Pomona. Mrs. Kelly is a teacher in the Lincoln grammar school and will continue teaching there.

Founders Hall Patio Scene of Y. W. Social

Founders Hall patio was the setting for the Y. W. C. A. party Tuesday evening. The patio was beautifully decorated with gladioli of different shades.

This marked the beginning of a new term and many new acquaintances were made between the old L. V. girls and the new girls. Each new girl was accompanied by her "big sister" and the party began by each new girl learning as many new names as possible.

LaVonne Putnam, social chairman of the Y. W. C. A., was in general charge. She led the group in various get-acquainted games. Myrtice Butterbaugh, president of the Y, gave a welcoming speech, and led the group in some peppy songs.

After a delightful social hour refreshments of ice cream and cookies were served.

Faculty Entertain Students at Soiree

Prominent among smart social functions of the past week was the delightfully arranged reception at which the faculty members and wives presided as hosts and hostesses Wednesday evening to the students of LaVerne. In the receiving line were President and Mrs. Studebaker, Dr. and Mrs. W. I. T. Hoover, Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Miller, Prof. and Mrs. Merritt, Prof. and Mrs. Ray Cullen, Dr. and Mrs. Harper Frantz, Dr. J. B. Emmert, Rev. and Mrs. Galen Walker, Prof. Ben. Jamieson, Prof. and Mrs. Crawford Brubaker, Prof. and Mrs. B. S. Haugh, Prof. Ralph Travis, Miss Martha Lena Lenhardt, Dr. K. Sarafian and Miss Vera Hoover.

The patio in Founders Hall was chosen for the event. Decorations were carried out in Japanese fashion and flowers of pastel shades.

After a social hour a short program was given by the old students. Orville

Alumni

Mr. and Mrs. George Call (formerly Katie Smith) were dinner guests at the Price home on Lincoln avenue Sunday.

Members of the Alumni who attended Miss Swope's summer session were Kathryn and Aileen Rothrock, Ruth Price, Ruth Stoner Brooks, Olive Shirk Bohn, Verna Shirk, Elva Shirk Brooks, Verda Brubaker, Hazel Studebaker, Edythe Miller and Olive Throne.

John Price, alumnus of LaVerne College, attended Pomona College summer session, where he is taking work for his master's degree.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Dickey spent the summer at Camp LaVerne in the San Bernardino mountains. Levi Dickey was manager of the camp and reports a large attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kurtz announce the birth of twin girls, born September. They are named Beverly June and Betty Jane. Mr. and Mrs. Kurtz are living in Oceanside where he is teaching.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Roynon are the proud parents of another baby girl. The little girl has been named Bernice Margaret.

Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Yoder of Azusa were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Welch Friday evening. They both teach in Azusa.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase Harper of San Pedro were dinner guests of his mother, Mrs. Bertha Harper, Sunday. Also Mr. and Mrs. Byrl Harper and daughter, Donnola, of Huntington Park.

Miss Miriam Shirk and brother, Chester, have gone on an automobile trip to visit their sister, Mrs. Stanley Kiem, in Idaho. They will also visit Mr. Urbin Hartman in Oakland.

Levi Dickey, who so efficiently managed LaVerne Camp the past two seasons, and was superintendent of the boys' camp, was elected a member of the Board of Religious Education in the district meeting of Southern California and Arizona a few weeks ago.

Harvey Brubaker directed the Church of the Brethren choir in LaVerne and the congregational singing during the summer. He was also musical director of the summer conventions of the district of Southern California and Arizona held in Long Beach a few weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. William Everhardt are living in Azusa this year and Miss Gladys Larimer has her home with them while teaching in the Azusa schools. Mrs. Everhardt (Mary Messimer) is teaching there also.

J. M. Roynon is again principal of the Lincoln school in LaVerne. Miss Ruth Price is social chairman of the faculty. Miss Genevieve Page teaches fourth grade and is departmental art teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Beckner have moved to Monrovia, where he is teaching in the high school.

Mrs. George King (Maurine Miller) entertained a group of the future students of LaVerne College and their mothers in honor of her little daughter, Barbara Jean's first birthday Friday afternoon. The house was beautifully decorated in white and yellow. Dainty refreshments were served. Present were Billy Crowe and his mother, Mrs. Roy Crowe; Billy Beckner and his mother, Mrs. H. B. Beckner, of Monrovia; Janet King and her mother, Mrs. Wm. King, of Alhambra; Glenn Shrock and his mother, Mrs. Pery Schrock; John David Price and his mother, Mrs. John Price; Nadine Hepner and her mother, Mrs. Ben Hepner, of Covina; Hazel and Donald Brooks and their mother, Mrs. Archie Brooks, and little Miss Barbara Jean's grandmothers, Mrs. S. J. Miller and Mrs. George King, Sr.

Thomason, president of the student body, gave the new students a hearty welcome and hello. Miss LaVonne Putnam, accompanied by Esther Thomason, played a violin solo. President Studebaker gave a short talk and the program concluded with a saxophone quartet by George Berg, Orville Thomason, Doyle Montz and Russell Frantz.

DIALOGUES
by Bill O'Fare

OUR prominent architects no longer include a kitchen in drawing plans for LaVerne homes. "When LaVerne folks get such fine meals as those served at Wright's, a kitchen is not necessary," says Bill O'Fare.

Students Splash in Ganesha Plunge

A large number of students participated in the swimming party at Ganesha park plunge Thursday evening. Vernon Weybright and Esther Dickey were the committee in charge, and they were skillful in putting over a program that was thrilling to every swimmer as well as to all the cheering bystanders.

"Red" found it difficult to quiet the plunge enough to announce the first relay race. Nearly every one took part with more than human enthusiasm. The number "1" group received a box of mints as first prize. The second contest was a "crazy diving stunt" in which Vernon Heckman proved himself to be the most ridiculous diver and a celluloid fish was awarded him.

The third item of amusement created the greatest excitement. In the attempts of three persons from the two opposing sides to swim across the plunge, dress in the old clothes lying in a heap on the other side, and swim back dressed. It seemed the cheering, laughing crowd would never be themselves again. Catherine Crist was the happy winner of the prize. Charles Manning was awarded the prize in a similar contest for the men.

A swimmers' race the length of the plunge, first for the women, then for the men, was next on the program. Ruth Dickey won, Martha Baer coming second, and "Kay" Crist third, all of whom were awarded prizes. The boys swam like motor boats and it was an honorable tribute to Roland Brownsberger to win the first prize.

The party was a great success and everyone was loathe to leave at closing time.

Air Tight

Deeter was taking his setting-up exercises in front of a service station one morning.

"Why do you take your deep breathing exercises here?" asked a friend.

"Just look at that sign," answered Deeter, pointing to a sign that read, "Free Air."

Some Stretch

Prof. Brandt: Why are the summer days longer than the winter days?

—: Because the heat expands them.

Save the Irish

Clarence B: What is Scotland Yard?

Ed C.: Two feet eleven inches.

Even the Index

Rastus: Moses, does you file your finger nails?

Mose: No, suh! Ah jes' cuts 'em and throws 'em away.

He was acknowledged sheik of his social set, and it piqued him that the young woman whom he had just met seemed indifferent to his lordly condescension.

"Pardon me," he said at last, "but your face appears familiar. Didn't I go with you at one time?"

"You did," she replied, smiling invitingly to somebody else in a far corner of the room, "and one time was enough."

H2O

Prof. Frantz: What is the formula for water?

Jerry Deal: I, J, K, L, M, N.

Prof.: What!

Jerry: I, J, K, L, M.

Prof.: That's not what I said.

Jerry: Didn't you say H to O?

Mourice Shirk: "I've heard of an 'Ash Wednesday,' a 'Good Friday,' but what in thunder is a nut sundae?"

Frosh Coach Is Selected

There are some new Leopard Kittens on the gridiron again this year. What they are going to do in football this season is practically unknown. However, some of them were prominent players on their high school squads, and there is no reason why they should not make a name for themselves this season.

A coach has been chosen for the freshmen athletics. He is the well-known Rex Whittemore. Mr. Whittemore has had considerable experience and is sure to produce a good football squad this season if all get in and work with a true LaVerne spirit.

LEOPARD'S WHISKERS DEE DELLENBACH

Lopard Whiskers is now entering upon its second year and I hope it will be bigger, and probably everyone else hopes it will be better, than ever.

I might say at the start that my policy will be the same as last year—a column that I shall try to make worth while but not one that will make any effort to please everyone—in other words, I believe in freedom of the press, but at the same time I shall try to avoid destructive criticism.

An article in a certain paper has come to my notice recently—an article dealing with the signs that prognosticate the coming end of the world at an early date. It really seems a pity that space should be given to such tommyrot when it could be used to help make the world better. What do I care if the world ends tomorrow as long as I am doing my best to make it better today?

The Green Army is here again—some 800,000 Frosh are registering in the colleges of the United States this year. This alone should keep any single Frosh from being egotistic. Imagine being one Green Specimen in a collection of some 800,000.

I wonder how many flies we have per student this fall. I sometimes feel that I am getting more than my share. I wonder if we pay for the use of them in our incidental fees or if they are just tossed in for good measure. It is horribly fascinating to see a pair of flies doing an obstacle race over the illustrious pate of some of our overworked professors. If flies could talk, I wonder what they would say in regard to their preference to a seat on the "dome of knowledge" of some professor or on the "empty belfry" of we students.

Now is the time to begin boosting for our College—if its worth going to it is worth boosting. The LaVerne College of our dreams is the LaVerne College that can only come by your effort and my effort to make it such.

I wonder if the Sophomores are going to make it necessary for Juniors and Seniors to enforce Frosh Rules.

The interest shown in Student Body last Friday speaks well for a successful year and all that remains is for us to get busy and help the best commission we have ever had to make us the best college we have ever had.

Thought for Today

Nothing which is learned in youth is really so valuable as the power and the habit of self-restraint, self-sacrifice, of energetic, continuous and concentrated effort.—W. E. H. Lecky.

Prof. Brubaker: Ed Ohanesian, you give the class a sentence using the words "can" and "may" correctly.

Ed: May I use the can opener?

Ruth Dickey was thoroughly angry at her swimming teacher. "The fresh thing!" she exclaimed. "After I won the race he came to me and said: 'My dear, you kept up your end magnificently.'"

Varsity Outlook for Coming Season

Here at the beginning of another school year, all eyes are turned toward the world's greatest sport—football. There is great attention in the direction of LaVerne's little world of football.

The questions at present in the minds of L. V. C. students are, what will the varsity do this year and who will make up the squad? The loss of a few of last year's lettermen will be greatly felt; nevertheless, there are several lettermen back this season together with a number of the best of last year's freshman squad and incoming upper-classmen.

This gives every indication of a good season in football, provided every able bodied fellow turns out with the idea of putting LaVerne on top this year. She has already won recognition among her larger rivals in the conference as a clean, hard-fighting squad.

Ground must not be lost that is dearly won. Come on, one and all, and "fight for the orange and the green!"

WHAT LAST YEAR'S MEMBERS DID DURING THE SUMMER

Everett Calvert worked on Emerson's dairy ranch. He calls it the "poor boy's farm," at Oakley.

Vernon Weybright worked for a month in San Francisco fixing typewriters, and one month working in a sawmill.

Stanley Weddle spent about two months in Imperial Valley. He was banished by the heat, so went to Washington, where he worked on a wheat ranch.

Fred Hubble spent his summer working on an orange ranch in Pomona.

Clarence Brubaker worked on a wheat ranch in Canada.

Ronald Bessey delivered ice in Redondo and Hermosa Beach.

Roland Brownsberger worked on an orange ranch near LaVerne.

Orville Thomason sang in the Aeolian Quartette which toured the Pacific coast this summer. Russell Frantz was also a member of this quartet.

Galen Root worked in a mechanic's shop in Pomona. He bought the Orange Blossom Cafe and has been engaged there for some time.

Egyptians Had Glass

Glass has been found in Egyptian tombs dating back to 1400 years B. C. This glass has almost the same chemical composition as modern glass.

Gladys Frey: Joe, what do you think of the community drive?

Joe Roynon: Oh, I know a much better place to park than that.

Red Weybright: "I should think you'd be afraid to wear your watch."

Mary Throne: "Why?"

Red: "Why, the hands might tickle you."

Professor Brubaker: You are not educated until some of these gaps are filled.

Joe Roynon "Yes, I have one I'll fill at noon."

Prof. Jamison: "Why don't you answer me?"

Ed Ohanesian: "I did shake my head."

Prof.: "Well, do you expect me to hear it rattle way up here?"

Martha Baer: "Oh, look at the pretty green snake!"

Arnelia Brubaker: "Put it down. It might be as dangerous as a ripe one."

More efforts, more results.
