LEOPARD ATHLETIC FUTURE THREATENED

First Social Event For Seniors Tonight

Senior plans to have a party at Snow Crest have been changed because of their failure to get the cabin they had expected to secure. According to present arrangements the party, which is to consist of a buffet supper followed by a period of entertainment, is to be held at the home of one of the members of the class, Catharine Miller, who lives in Pomona.

Seniors are to meet in front of Miller Hall at 6:30 Friday evening so that transportation to Pomona may be provided for everyone. The dinner is being arranged and prepared by the Foods committee on which are Marjorie Miller, Bill Crawford, and chairman Frances Clark. The committee will be assisted by the girls of the class.

College Bureau Of Employment Asks For Aid

"The sucess of the LaVerne College Employment Bureau," according to Garland Mendenhall, '40, manager of the project, "depends upon the cooperation of the townspeople in calling upon the students whenever there is an opportunity. Knowing that the students realize the full need of their earnest endeavor while on the job, the managers of the bureau are confident that it will be a success as for student cooperation."

Since it was first organized, the bureau has shown an increased enrollment, and many calls for work have been for boys, though it is hoped that future calls will be for girls as well. Every type of work is done by these students, from taking care of children at night, to manual labor.

Definite office hours have been established as follows: daily from 7 to 9 in the morning and from 4 to 6 in the evening. On Saturday and Sunday evenings they can be reached from 7 to 8 at Miller Hall.

For the daily calls, phone La Verne 2351 and ask for the Student Employment Service, or on Saturday and Sunday call in the evenings LaVerne 1231.

The originators of this bureau feel that the establishment will aid the college in making social contacts and that it will benefit both the college and the residents of the town as the bureau develops.

POMONA CHURCH OF BRETHREN VIEWS FILMS

Last Sunday evening Bud Henzie and Cole Williams showed the motion pictures that they took on their summer bicycle tour of Europe to a large crowd at the Pomona Church of the Brethren.

The colored films, with Henzie and Cole's accompanying comment, have had a popular reception in showings before the college, church and civil organizations over Pomona valley. The pictures depict interesting activities of the people in such war-menaced countries as Czechoslovakia, Germany, and France, some of the World War battlefields, and headquarters of many of the European peace agencies.

Annual Frosh Court Huge Success

The Frosh shook in their shoes in ace of dire threats as last Friday night the seniors stepped off their lofty pedestals and exhibited to good advantage the nimble antics of their noble minds. The "spare the child and spoil the rod" attitude of the seniors was displayed vigorously by the stout paddles in the hands of Dwight "Truck" Hanawalt and Bruce "Morning Star" Reeves.

Student body president Hal Michael for the while abandoned his fatherly air and with red protruding nose, Turkish style toga, and portside wig, fired out vehemently the various ways in which the frosh had drifted astray.

The jury was composed of Bob Deal, Bud Henzie, Glenn Price, Ingwer Ketelsen, Gladden Boaz, and Archie Reeves as miniature replicas of the supreme bench. In most cases they were well instructed and thus the law was not delayed and none did escape. Three members of the jury did dare to relax their hold on the helm of justice and were swept overboard by a firey blast from judge and jurors with able assistance from the crowd.

The bailiff, Bill Crawford, with inverted mop as headdress and spotted tux, efficiently declared that truth would prevail on the head of the spotted leopard.

After the frosh were convicted and tried, the meeting was adjourned, after which the frosh had a party to celebrate the fact that sometimes even obeyed orders will get you, in the End.

College Team Demands Continuance Of Schedule Despite Tempe Loss

Arizona State Teachers College Causes Near Upset By Cancellation of Game; Team Seeking to Restore College Athletic Spirit Beginning Tomorrow Night

The athletic future at LaVerne is at this moment tottering precariously in the balance, the athletic standing of the Leopards now being at rock bottom. All the students know that for the past several years the college has been slipping lower in the field of sports. Sports have now degenerated to the point where there is but a meager existence of the former prowress. It was due to this factor that Arizona State Teachers College at Tempe, Arizona, cancelled their game early this week. This cancellation leaves LaVerne with but one more game for the rest of the season, but others tentatively unsigned for.

Reitz Calls Meeting

Manley Reitz, head football coach, on Tuesday of this week called a special meeting of all the athletes out for football in order to obtain a concensus of opinion regarding the situation of athletics at the institution. In a poll conducted at the meeting the men clearly showed their attitude which revealed that out of a total of 29 votes cast, 25 were in favor of going ahead and practicing in order to make the Cal-Tech game a success. In fast to make it a game that would be long remembered by the alumni, students and friends of the college.

Other Sports Threatened

Not only is the future of football at stake, but also basketball, baseball, and track. The entire sports program is balancing between existence and oblivion. Steps must be taken and taken immediately if the college is to save one of the basic parts of its student life.

If we can get a determined spirit and new blood into the college we can and will win. This new spirit has already been evidenced in the person of our new, dynamic president of the college, Mr. C. Ernest Davis.

Pinza Greeted By Record Turnout

Tuesday evening students of La Verne college attended the first of the Claremont Colleges Artist Course concerts to hear Ezio Pinza, noted Italian basso of the Metropolitan Opera company.

Singing before a capacity audience in Bridges auditorium, Pinza offered a rich and varied program, and displayed a splendid voice and some of the dramatic ability that has made him a favorite of both opera and concert audiences. Fritz Kitzinger gave him an exceptionally fine accompaniment at the piano.

Entering into each song himself, the artist had no difficulty in drawing his listeners with him. They reacted especially to his interpretation of Verdi's aria "Il Lacerato Spirito," and to the powerful "Nebbie" by Respighi. The selection "Trouble" offered excellent opportunity for the delicate shadings and subtle pianissimos of which Pinza is capable.

Responding to a half a dozen encore demands, Pinza sang Handel's "Largo" from "Xerxes," "Caro Mio Ben" by Giordano, "La Foligio Rosa" by Tosti, and the "Serenade" from Gounod's 'Faust.'

The LIBRARY—

"Quiet, Some Are Students!"

That is the sign that should hang above the entrance to the college library. Some of the students seem to think that the library is a social hall and not a place to prepare their lessons for the coming day. This noisy atmosphere, it seems, is most evident among the lower classmen, who have in their short stay in La Verne yet to appreciate the value and worth of our fine library. In the future let's give those who want to study a break and carry on our conversations autside its walls.

LET'S CLICK—

Have you noticed how everyone is just bubbling over with vim, vigor, and good cheer? You have-not? What a coincidence! So haven't we. Whay, we can't even inviegle a nice respectable citizen into playing a game of tit-tat-toe —and when we say 'Hello" to a fellow student, he gives us a wall-eyed stare and goes back into his trance. We've tried everything, Carter's Little Liver Pills, etc., but school spirit continues to threaten to reach an inverted zenith. Even the zealous sophomores are losing their "umph." Now what we want to know is, what's the matter?

Don't tell us it's an en masse case of under-active thyroid! (After all, there's a time and place for everything— except a freshman). And just because we're out of the conference is no reason for complaining. (Just think of how many less games we're losingg.) And anyway, what's a conference in our young lives? How many people owe their success to being in a conference? Why, look at the Czechs. What good did a conference do them? Furthermore—but to get back to the subject, why don't we all stop telling each other how bored we are and start trying to make things click? H.W.

HEADLINERS . . . . by Carl Kuhn

JOAN OF ARC . . . .

THE GREATEST OF ALL French Heroines was a girl in her teens, Joan of Arc! Donning male attire and arming herself with sword and banner, she led the French army against the English. After having seen the Dauphin of France crowned king, Joan consented to remain at the head of the army, but her success soon turned to failure. In a battle with the Burgundian forces in Compiene, she was defeated and taken prisoner. At the English headquarters in Rouen she was brought to trial and condemned to be burned at the stake. One of the charges of which she was found guilty was that she preferred to wear mannish apparel! . . . .

IN 1891 ELSIE DE WOLFE made her theatrical debut. In 1905 she deserted the stage for interior decorating, writing a book on the subject in 1913, and for her heroism during the World War she received the French "Legion of Honor." As the wife of Sir Charles Mendl, of the British Embassy, she has been a leader in fashions and in 1935, at the age of 70, Lady Mendl was declared by Parisian designers, the "Best Dressed Woman in the World!"

WHAT PRANKS FATE PLAYS! At a critical moment, Empress Eugenie, owner of the most beautiful gowns in all Paris, lacked a riding dress! Eugenie, on hearing of the defeat of Napoleon III by the Prussians, planned on donning a black riding habit and, with the Legion of Honor Cross pinned on her bosom, riding through the streets of Paris, proclaiming to the Legislature its dissolution. But fate had other plans, for of the 360 dresses in her wardrobe the needed one was missing! According to Thiers, "the lack of a petticoat brought about the expulsion of a dynasty . . . . for had the woman . . . . ridden out among the multitude . . . . the history of the people would have been written in les lucid colors." . . . .

Arthur Durward Sponsors Campus Times Today

Ex-Mayor Durward, who retired just last spring after serving as mayor of LaVerne for nineteen years, has consented to sponsor the second regular edition of the Campus Times for this year.

Born in Scotland in 1870, he moved to Virginia fifteen months later, then to Black Hawk, Colorado and eventually to Boulder where he attended the University of Colorado to get his B.S. degree and his Phi Beta Kappa key. Following this he spent four years in Harvard, receiving degrees as Bachelor of Engineering and Bachelor of Arts.

Durward taught at several schools and was for some time vice principal of Pomona high school and for thirteen years principal at Bonita Union high school. He has been prominent in various organizations, has been director and past president of the local Chamber of Commerce and also of the LaVerne Lions club, and is a member of the board of trustees of LaVerne College.

LaVerne students appreciate the support he is giving them and the school in sponsoring this issue of the paper.

WITHIN THESE

WALLS

It's time for us all to know our "Prexy" on friendlier terms. Facts don't encourage real knowledge so this will be an informal presentation.

First of all, it should be known that he used to be red-headed. (This led to his being nick-named "Sage" in college.) It might also explain his determination, love of schedules, and promptness.

He hails from Tennessee, but is a graduate of LaVerne. While here he played baseball; but that's not all! Our president also worked on the staff of this very newspaper! He was the author of a column called "Sam's Letter." The words in this were often misspelled —one in particular being that of a professor, "Miss Mewer!" But to go on from here— It is rumored that he even suggested the name "Campus Times," for this paper. We hope he's still proud of the choice, too.

Today he hasn't gotten too dignified to enjoy life, for he has a betraying twinkle in his eyes. At home he is known as 'Poppy-Wops' and at camps as 'Pop-eye.'

All in all, by the above summary we can see that our prexy is a real man and a good scout, and that we like him just the way he is for what he is.

FULLERTON J. C. PLAYS HOST TO LEOPARDS SATURDAY

DOPE

After chasing around for days on end, Graduate Manager Jimmy Thornton and Mr. Manley Reitz, D.A. (Director of Athletics) have finally secured a football game for tomorrow night at Fullerton Junior College. Let's everyone get to the scene of action in any monner, shape, or form. Everyone of us should be there to root for OUR team. They have a tough row to hoe, and a little pep and spirit, mixed up with YOUR SUPPORT will go a long way towards a La Verne victory tomorrow night at 8:15. Fullerton is only a short distance from LaVerne. . . HOW ABOUT IT STUDENTS . . FACULTY. . .ARE WE GOING TO LET THE TEAM DOWN WHEN THEY NEED US MOST?

Although the Frosh footballers lost to the Sherman Institute at Riverside last week, there is some cause for rejoicing. Quite a few youngsters were uncovered that will aid the varsity cause for the next three years. Best among the backs was little Loren Gregory, who hails from Wenatchee, Washington. He was a demon, both on offense and defense. Loren also showed that he was a smart, hard and shifty ball carrier. "Steamroller" Burkhart from Bonita showed that he is a handy man to have around to play guard. 'Hook" Jim Bradley also demonstrated that he can play a lot of tackle when he gets off the ground. Another boy who made good was "Skeet" Fischer, who played the other tackle and looked good. Terry DeBeal and Leland Newcomer exhibited a fine brand of end play and should turn out to be better than average wingmen in the future.

Now that Pomona College has beaten the highly touted San Diego State gridders, people are beginning to figure out what we have been saying all along, and that is . . . that our football team is okay. All the boys needed were a few games and a little more work under their belts before they faced a powerful team like Pomona. Team, we're for you. . . Let's take the sting out of the Hornets.

LaVerne Tangles With Strong J.C. Gridders; Hornets Favored to Win

Right upon the heels of the announcement that the Tempe football game had been called off, came a most welcome notice that Graduate Manager James J. Thornton had completed arrangements for a game with Fullerton Junior College, to be played tomorrow night at Fullerton. The kick-off is slated for 8:15 p.m.

LaVerne's football spirit had sagged to a new low before the news was issued, but the old "ginger" came up immediately.

Hornets Tough

Now the Leopards have something to shoot at, for the Hornets from Fullerton are very tough hombres. At this time they are leading the Junior College Conference with two wins and no defeats. On their last start the Jaysee team trimmed our neighbors, Pomona J.C., by the score of 19-13

Fullerton has a well balanced team, having speed and power to spare.

The Leopards should be able to match these Hornet assets with their new found passing attack. With Ferrell, Scafani, and Cottle slinging them to Fischer, Fox, Kettlesen and Archie Reeves, the Orange and Green can, and will, score points.

Leopard Aerials Proven

In the Pomona game LaVerne exhibited a daring and spectacular areial offense that threatened to break up the ball game more than once.

Yet the Leopards have more to offer than just tossing the pigskin around the chalk marked field. The Leopard line of Ketelsen and Fischer at the ends; Mendenhall and Bradley, tackles; Wayne Hanawalt and Deal, guards; and "Ironhorse" Hanawalt at center, make a formidable offensive wall, as well as a better than average defensive unit with "Ironhorse" Hanawalt and Captain Scafani backing it up in good fashion.

Reserves Stronger

Reserve strength has improved to such a point that Coach Paul Hertz can substitute freely, and at will, without weakening the team too much. Ray Burkhart and Bruce Reeves are just as good as the guards who will probably start the contest. George Royer and W. Fischer made good tackle reserves: as do Archie Reeves and Terry DuBeal at the end positions. Lowell Brandt, understudy to Hanawalt, at center, is a very tough customer to move out of the way.

Although the starting backfield will probably be composed of Captain Scafani at quarterback; Ferrell and Fox, left and right halfbacks, respectively; and Johnny Landis at fullback; Coach Hertz realizes that he can't keep backs like Cottle, Carl Smith, Gregory, Marvott and Dick Landis on the bench very long. They are capable of playing a good brand of football.

Surprise Move

A surprise move was made by Coach Hertz when he moved "Powerhouse" Bob Fischer from fullback to right end early in the week. Fischer shows a remarkable aptitude for catching passes and with his supply of speed he may go to town, when on the receiving end of one of Ferrell's passes.

Hard work has been the general order these past few days and the boys will benefit from it and come through with a game which will please everyone.

REITZ HOME SCENE OF VARSITY DINNER

Last Wednesday night the Varsity held their first big meeting and party at the home of faculty advisor Manley Reitz.

Before getting down to business a light tamale dinner was partaken of by fourteen hungry lettermen and coaches Paul Hertz and Franny Crites, who were the guests of honor.

It was suggested by President Bill Crawford that some sort of pin be selected as the club insignia.

After the business meeting came the games and all the fun was enjoyed by everyone who attended.

PLANS LAID FOR SCHEDULE REVISION FOR COLLEGE

Despite the fact that the biggest football trip of the year was cancelled by Tempe, the Leopards still have games left to play.

Tomorrow night is the clash with Fullerton Junior College, at Fullerton. Next week-end there is an open date which may be filled. If it isn't, there will be a game between two picked teams, probably the Frosh, intersperced with some varsity men, against the Varsity.

On November 4th there is a possible contest against Redlands, on the Bulldog's home field. The "Big Game" of the year will come on Armistice Day, when the Leopards tangle with the Cal-Tech Engineers, in what promises to be a real battle.

BASKETBALL TAKES LEAD IN WOMENS' SPORTS

With basketball taking the lead in the order of women's sports this year, the W.A.A. promises to have a lively year with plenty of rivalry between the upper and lower classmen. According to turn-outs so far, the lower classmen are favored to have a slight edge on the juniors and seniors, in spite of the fact that Fuzz Meacham, Flash Fischer, and Hit-em-hard Holmes are with the upper standbys, Vaniman, C. Millar, and Jackson. The outstanding frosh of last year, Leonard, Bowser and Newcomer, have acquired a number of strong players from the incoming girls and show signs of giving the uppers a little trouble in the playoff which is scheduled for the Wednesday after the next practice.

Besides basketball, four more sports, including hockey, speed ball, volley ball, and softball, are on the schedule for the year. In addition to the regular Wednesday practices, Mrs. Merritt plans to arrange some games with other schools. Ten LaVerne girls have been invited to the playday at Pomona College tomorrow, where they may each participate in a maximum of three sports.

Dorm Dames DOINGS

We all enjoyed the musical tea sponsored by the Y.W.C.A. Our own Professor Reed gave a very interesting talk regarding the life of Ezio Pinza, the great Italian singer.

What's the big idea, Purity, of carrying a pillow around with you everywhere you go? Could it be the effect of Frost Court, perhaps? Well, we've got to admit that you took it like a good sport, but too, we must also say that the punishment of some frosh was badly neglected.

Wanda Brubaker caused a great disturbance the other night on the sleeping porch, when she jumped out of bed and screamed, "Oh, there is a porcupine in my bed!" Upon investigation it was found to be only some prickery chestnut hulls. There seems to be no limit to one's imagination.

There are rumors these days which concern the founding of a Knitter's Club. What won't these dizzy dames do next?

The cellar rats are inconsolable over the loss of their hero, Jim Bradley. Yet they wish him happiness in his travels in the upper regions.

We forgot to mention that Purity is going in for selling gasoline, so states the sign in front of the dorm.

In signing off, we say—
Can You Imagine—
P—retty Mary Lou
R—eally hurrying
U—ntil she
N—early gets to chapel
E—arly?
S—hucks, no!

Rumor— watchman for street light in front of dorm. Penalty, be obliged to take up temporary residence in the new City Hall jug —if it's finished by then.

POLITICS

Two candidates for senator
Went out to play some golf;
One candidate was shooting par,
The other one was off.

On teeing from the seventh hole,
The first man drove one fine;
The second, though, misplaced his goal
And drove way out of line.

He found his ball down in the rough;
He moved it, undetected:
No need to go on with this stuff—
He was the one elected.

DAVIS LEADS TUESDAY CHAPEL SERVICE

Tuesday's chapel service was conducted by President Davis, who introduced the Rev. Donald Carter of the First Brethren church, to lead devotions, and to invite students to the evangelical prophetic message illustrating the prophetic truth of God's word hrough pictures of the war in China, which made up the program at the First Brethren church last night.

President Davis, by using the example of Abraham Lincoln's life, explained that at present we are aiming to receive an adequate preparation to know our whole universe, the material as well as the spiritual aspects that make it up, in order to realize our ambitions.

"Now is the time to make an adequate preparation so that we may develop the potential abilities and capacities to live more fully, completely, and abundantly," he stated.

In our preparation for living, he suggested, we must know that life cnsists in correspondence with our environment, the material and the spiritual world. We need to know the whole round of our social environment, but most of all we need to know our spiritual environment and adjust ourselves to it. Thus we come to college to know these processes, and when we leave college, we are ready to dedicate ourselves to life.

DR. DARST OF POMONA TO ADDRESS Y.W.

Foothills of San Dimas canyon will echo with the activities of the college Y.W.C.A. over this weekend, with approximately twenty-five girls attending the annual conference retreat which begins at one o'clock Saturday afternoon and continues until Sunday afternoon.

A full and varied program is scheduled for Saturday afternoon, with recreation period including a baseball game in San Dimas park and various group activities. Dr. Darst of Pomona will speak to the group and conduct a discussion of personal problems later in the afternoon.

In the evening there will be a weiner roast and a bonfire, followed by a program featuring local talent. The big event of the evening will be a stunt contest in which groups of from two to four members will participate. A prize is to be given to the performers of the stunt that receives the loudest applause.

On Sunday a morning watch will be conducted at seven o'clock, and Mrs. Velasco will give an inspirational talk on Christian living at nine, after which opportunity will be given for discussion. Good food, splendid fellowship, and real spiritual growth will be available to every girl.

The first musical tea of the year, sponsored by the Y.W.C.A. was held Monday afternoon from 4:30 to 5:30 in the lobby of the girls dormitory.

Professor Reed gave an informal talk on the life of Enzio Pinza, the famous Artist Course guest On speaking of the operatic basso, he stressed the great voice qualities of the singer. After th talk tea was served.

Those in charge of the tea were Ada Faye McCune, Nondus Stump, Pauline Stump, Edith Fessler, Altonetta Waas and Marie Johnson.

LaVerne Crites is in charge of the games and entertainment that will follow the supper. He has made plans for a stunt program to show off the accomplishments of the senior class. Each student is being asked to either prepare a stunt to give or to pay a fine of twenty-five cents. At present the class is going on funds left over from the Junior-Senior banquet.

Officers of the graduating class were elected after chapel recently. Those elected were: president, Dayton Dickey; vice president, Kay Maley; secretary, Nondus Stump; and treasurer, Jim Thornton.

LAMBDA CONTRACT SIGNED BY BOB KURTZ, '40

Bob Kurtz, business manager of the Lambda, has just signed a contract with the Photo Engravers Inc. for the printing, engraving and layout of the publication of the college annual. This company bid in open competition with the Pomona Progress Bulletin, and due to the fact that he offered a lower price than was offered for last year's annual, his offer was accepted. The contract includes professional aid and supervision.

Marie Sarafian, editor-in-chief of the Lambda, and Geraldine Massey, associate editor, have already started making plans for the publication and have been picking a competent and interested staff to work with them.

The Social WHIRL

Though Frosh Court is now a thing of the past, frosh courting is not—at least they are holding their own, so to speak, in one way or another. And if ye olde upperclassmen are finding colege life a wee bit dull, you might lower your horn rims and take a lesson from the frosh.

Juniors. The Junior class, with its usual punctuality, finally found the time and ambition to hold a class meeting and elect officers about a month later than the other classes. Rumor has it that they might even have a party before the year is over. Such animated activity on the part of the class of '40 is really unprecedented.

Songleader. With reports of Norma's withdrawal from the position of co-songleader, come suggestions that Martha Dickey, in view of the surprising talents she displayed last Friday night, try out for the position.

Artist Course. The artist course is a humanitarian endeavor to make students culture conscious, but seems to have dissolved into something less—with some students not knowing whether Pinza is a famous basso or a bassoon player. The performance last Tuesday night merited a larger attendance than it had from the LaVerne students. One would think that more fellows would take advantage of the opportunity for an inexpensive date.

Book Review. Bill Crawford made his debut last week as a book reviewer in the Modern Novel class. Hardy may have been a cynic, but Bill's interpretation of one of his books made him out a gag-writer. The class was kept in stitches, but whether Prof. Smyth appreciated it all is doubtful.
