WELCOME! YEAR OF '27-'28!

BRANDT STUDIES AT U. C.

PROF. B. L. GRIFFING, NEW PROFESSOR OF MATHEMATICS

To succeed Prof. Jesse Brandt, professor of mathematics, who has taken a leave of absence to continue his studies at Berkeley, the La Verne college administration has obtained the services of B. L. Griffing.

Prof. Griffing is a graduate of Washburn college, Kansas, and later obtained his M. A. at Kansas university. He taught one year in the University of Des Moines and then went to the University of Nanking, China, where he was an instructor for one and one-half years, returning but recently.

When asked if he could tell something of the present situation in China, Mr. Griffing said that he has authentic information about the Chinese question and readily promised to write a few articles for the readers of the Campus Times, discussing the movements of the Chinese, politically, and also promises to give some incidents which happened to himself and his friends while in China. He claims that these are more exciting than Saturday Evening Post stories.

At the present time Professor Griffing is becoming noted as the advisor of the Freshman class.

STUDENT PARTY IS GREAT SUCCESS

Games and watermelon were the headlines of a student-body get-together on the athletic field, the evening of September 9. The affair was under the direction of Commissioner of Welfare Hilda Brubaker. All students, faculty members and alumni were invited.

The first attraction was the large group of freshmen who incited the sophs to attempt deeds of violence. This curtain-raiser was soon stopped due to its not having been given a place on the program, and the activities proceeded more smoothly.

Members of the commission and their assistants divided the students into groups, each group playing games on the moonlit turf. The call to eats met with a hilarious response and no time was lost in making face and watermelon meet. After the main event "Doctor" Woody, superintendent of buildings and grounds, was given several cheers in appreciation of his care for the turf on the athletic field during the summer months.

The freshmen then appeared in the final event. A team of freshman boys representing the sophs were humiliatingly defeated in an exciting and bloodthirsty football game by a team of freshmen girls who upheld the class of '31. After the cheers for the winners had died away, everyone gathered around the fire and sang old-time songs and then, presumably, said goodnight.

PROBLEMS OF HYGIENE

Professor Frantz: "Deep breathing you understand destroys microbes."

Paul Funk: "But how can we force them to breathe deeply?"

NEW ADDITION TO GYMNASIUM

LARGER TRAINING QUARTERS IS LATEST IMPROVEMENT

Addition Will House Dressing Rooms, Supply Rooms and Coaches Office

One of the most appreciated improvements on the campus is the enlarged training quarters now being added to the rear of the gymnasium.

This addition will house dressing rooms for the women, varsity, frosh, and visiting teams. There will also be a large athletic supply room. This additional space will be a great aid to Commissioner of Athletics, Mark Lehmer. It will enable him to check out athletic supplies in a more efficient manner. It will also save equipment from loss and destruction.

The coaches will be supplied with private locker and dressing rooms, as will also the visiting officials.

The present locker rooms will be remodeled into shower rooms which will give increased "cleaning" facilities.

This addition will be of the same construction as the rest of the gymnasium; being a frame, with outside stucco finish. There are stairs leading from the addition to the shower rooms and exits to the baseball and football fields.

The new rooms will probably be ready for occupancy by the end of the week, although they will not be completed.

The administration is also contemplating buying new lockers to take care of the influx of new athletes.

All of the old athletes appreciate this addition to the campus and the new students should be proud of being able to share in its use.

SERAFIAN RECEIVES DEGREE

Professor Kevork A. Serafian, modern language instructor of La Verne college, announces that during the past summer he completed all but one of his requirements for his P. H. D. degree while attending U. S. C. He has but one short paper to write, which he will do during the present school year.

Professor Serafian is becoming well known in educational circles through his many articles in the Education Magazine. The October issue of this magazine will contain an eight thousand word discussion of Rousseau's contribution to modern education and thought, written by Professor Serafian.

The La Verne foreign language teacher says that he gained his views upon this subject by studying the writings of Rousseau in his native language. Professor Serafian believes that Rousseau's work has been misinterpreted.

Professor Serafian was elected to the Phi Delta Kappa honorary society while at U. S. C.

MANY NEW FACES ON CAMPUS

NEARLY HALF OF STUDENTS ARE SEEN FOR FIRST TIME

New Students Welcomed to La Verne College by Campus Times

The Campus Times takes this opportunity to make public the welcome which has been and is being accorded the new students who have entered La Verne college as members of the classes that have already survived the innumerable trials and tribulations of a freshman's life. In an effort to make welcome the first year students, new recruits into the upper classes are often either slightly overlooked, or because of their newness are thought to be freshmen. It is the desire of the Campus Times, therefore, to extend this printed "Hello!" and recognize their position in scholastic attainment.

Of this group, the Sophomores are visited with the greater number. There are eleven of them:

Webster Albright of Mount Morris, Illinois.

Kenneth Brooks, Pomona college.

Lloyd Cunningham, absent one year from La Verne.

Richard Faircoast, Pomona college.

Margaret Ringer, Pomona college.

Hazel Rothrock, Bethany Bible school.

Lois Rupert, Reedley Junior college.

Neva Snell, Modesto Junior college.

Sylvia Snowden, Pomona college.

Lloyd Tarr, Pomona college.

Two have joined the junior class:

Isabelle McLean, Chaffey Junior college.

Myron Green, Pomona college.

The seniors have acquired five:

Hazel Funk, one year absent from La Verne.

Violet Adams, Christian college, Los Angeles.

Perry Morris, Christian college, Los Angeles.

Crite Heiny, San Jose State Teachers college.

Simeon Davis, Fresno State Teachers college.

Y. W. C. A. HAS FIRST MEETING

SCOPE AND ACTIVITIES OF ORGANIZATION IS OUTLINED

New Students Invited to Participate in Activities

The Y. W. C. A. held its first meeting last Monday. It was very well attended by both "old" and "new" students which leads us to believe Y. W. work will move forward with much enthusiasm this year.

The purpose of this first meeting was to acquaint the college women with the "Y" organization and its work. The president, Verda Brubaker heartily welcomed all the college women into the "Y." The devotions were led by Miss Muir. Nellie Frantz gave a vivid picture of the scope and activities of the organization.

A short, peppy program followed including several readings by Lois Ruth Miller and songs by the girls trio, Verda Brubaker, Erma Saladan and Hilda Brubaker.

PRES. STUDEBAKER GIVES WELCOME

ADDRESSES STUDENTS IN FIRST CHAPEL EXERCISES

President Instructs on Way to Live at School to Meet Success

The first chapel service of the year was gladly attended by the students. Following the opening song of "America," Dr. Hoover offered the invocation.

Then President Studebaker addressed the assembly, welcoming the students both "old" and "new" to the dear old halls of learning.

He pointed out that every community had the two elements of social life — both the good and that which is not so good — and that in this La Verne was no different from any other community. His advice was that we should choose the best the community had to offer and to so conduct ourselves that we would not disappoint our parents and friends.

Adding that a new problem which confronted us was that of our adjustment to our new surroundings, and this problem could only be solved for each one by himself. President Studebaker, with that kindness which he possesses, said that he hoped that each one would make this adjustment successfully and that his office was open to all students desiring his advice and help.

SENIORS PLAN SCHOOL YEAR

SENIOR CLASS MEETING

Monday evening, September 12 the senior class met in the Y. W. C. A. room to elect officers for the coming year.

After much discussion, with the president of last years' junior class, Marion Boots, president, Merle Butterbaugh was chosen to steer the seniors thru this, their last year at L. V. C.

Mr. Butterbaugh then took charge of the meeting amid cheers of the whole class and completed the task of electing the remainder of the officers. All the positions except that of secretary were closely contested for and the excitement of contest ran high all evening. The returns for the rest of the election resulted in Grayce Longenecker as vice-president, Genevieve Page, secretary and Russell Frantz as treasurer.

It was decided that hereafter there be a hostess chosen from among the girls of the class to have charge of the social part of each class meeting.

Upon the vote of the class the president was asked to appoint a committee to see about the seniors rings and pins, and a play reading committee was also planned for.

The seniors look forward to a lot of good times together this year, not only in class meetings, but in various other social ways. Already they are anticipating their big social event of the first semester when they are to be entertained by the sophomores (Freshman junior party of the spring of '27?????).

A RECORD YEAR FOR LAVERNE COLLEGE

La Verne college is steadily enlarging its student body. All classes and also the faculty show a decided increase over previous years. It is also interesting to note the ever widening territory represented.

Last Monday the enrollment by classes stood thus:

Freshmen	73
Sophomores	45
Juniors	36
Seniors	30
Specials	12

COLLEGE HAS NEW EQUIPMENT

This school year in La Verne college has ushered in many innovations in furnishings and in woodwork which many of our new scholars, if one may call Frosh scholars, know nothing of.

One of these features that is especially noticeable is the application of four little rubber mufflers or cushions on the bottom of the formerly bare legs of the chairs in the study hall. While the benefits are not noticeably apparent, any upper classman will admit that it is well that such things be done because of the multitude of careless Frosh this year. The chairs as they used to be were more noisy than a Jewish holiday. That alone is bad, but let a flock of dizzy frosh with noisy tendencies get hold of them and life would be worthless to say the least.

Another little change is the placing of the little square pimples of wood up and down the banisters. One would almost think they were placed there for a purpose. I would hardly think so, but of course they might have been intended as brakes for anyone who wished to slide down said bannisters. Remember how hard it was to stop sliding last year? Many of us wore blisters on our heels before we came to a stationary position.

I have but one suggestion to make to the faculty and that is to plane the edges of these wooden brakes or many of the young men of this institution will be forced to re-inforce the seats of their trousers with a more durable material such as sheet iron.

FROSH ACCEPT HONORS

As an added mark of distinction for being the best Frosh class La Verne has ever had, the Freshmen have been given caps of a very high grade and color.

They are little felt novelties which have just arrived and are to be donated to the freshmen for six bits apiece.

The Frosh may get their caps and pins as soon as possible, for they will need them in their daily duties about the campus.

Ivan Metzger has charge of these wonderful pieces of art and will allow any freshman to purchase one from him for the desired amount of coin.

AN EDITORIAL WELCOME

The opening of school, with the advent of the Freshmen and the return of the old students, is usually an inspiration for editorials of welcome which point out the opportunities in a college career.

Although some of the Freshmen may have some doubts about their welcome when they are compelled to tuck their napkins under their chins while eating in the dining hall, it is nevertheless true that all lovers of La Verne college sincerely welcome the newcomers.

It is also true that there are innumerable opportunities in a college course. Those four years enable one to make use of many of the richest and most valuable experiences of the race.

But, in the humble opinion of the writer, there is another matter which deserves mention as we begin a new school year. President Studebaker referred to it in his splendid opening address when he appealed for loyalty to the ideals of the institution. It is possible that we are sometimes tempted, in our eagerness to see the school grow and take its place in the front ranks of the educational realm, to shove our ideals into the background for fear that they will lower the school in the estimation of prospective students.

This is a serious mistake and should be carefully avoided. Loyalty to certain definite ideals has been responsible for all of La Verne's progress thus far. That same loyalty moves our present leaders to carry on today. Christian ideals are as surely a part of the structure of our institution as the concrete and steel are a part of the building themselves. La Verne holds to a Christian code of morals, a Christian code of honor, and a Christian code of friendship. La Verne is founded on the principle, laid down by the Great Teacher, that man does not live by bread alone. La Verne seeks to lead its students into a fuller appreciation of all worthy phases of life, and it considers the spiritual phase of life's prime essentials.

It is not to the interest of the institution to be fanatical or narrowly partisan about religion. Denominational and doctrinal lines have their uses, but let every man do his own thinking. What La Verne does insist on is a loyal adherence to the ideal of a wholesome Christian life. If any student of La Verne is inclined to treat this ideal with scorn, he has gotten himself into the wrong pew, and is seriously in need of adjustment, either in his physical proximity to La Verne or, which will be much better, his attitude toward religion.

YOUR RELATION TO LA VERNE!

As we again take up the editorial pen, we look about us for something upon which to reflect. There are many interesting things to think about but the most interesting of all seems to be what will we accomplish this year at La Verne? or, stated perhaps, in a clearer way: To what will La Verne advance this year?

From all indications La Verne college will have more than 200 students this year. It depends upon these students to make La Verne history for the year 1927-28. What you do will affect your college. If you are here for a social good time, you will develop yourself socially only. If you are here to enter sports, you will develop yourself physically. If you are here for religious development only, you will, likely, become a bigoted radical on religious lines. And if you are here to study books; to merely attend class, then go home and study, you will probably become a useless bookworm. But if you take part in all four of these lines you have a fine chance of becoming a good, useful American citizen, as well as the kind of a person L. V. C. is proud to claim.

In developing yourself in these four requisites of making a perfect human, you must take part in the activities of your school. This is not only for your own good, but for that of the school. In taking active part in school life in the four phases mentioned above, you are no longer a passive learner, but begin to learn also from experience and experience is God's greatest teacher.

If everyone one of the 200 or more students of La Verne college take an active part in these four lines of school life, La Verne college is bound to regress to heights undreamed of, but if half of these say: "Oh, I can't do 'this' or 'that,' or, perhaps 'let someone else do it,' there will be only 100 hands at the wheel and mathematically speaking, we could expect only half as much accomplished by La Verne this year.

Work, for in so doing you and your college, both gain. Shirk, and you both lose.

— DON C. MILLER.

HOW HIGH IS UP?

This little question has been bothering a number of the La Verne students and should be answered before someone defines it incorrectly.

Up is what we are under all the time. We can never reach it because the higher up we go the higher, up goes.

If we were standing under a big rock and it fell it would be up until it hit us and after that we wouldn't care whether we or it was up.

If we go down, up follows us down but if we go up we follow it. A baldheaded man comes the nearest to up all the time and of course up isn't so high in that case. If he has down on his head it is further to up of course, but from there up is generally a long ways especially if you have to walk.

Freshmen must learn that everything is up with them and way up if they don't keep superfluous down off their upper lip.

Revised Sayings

A word to the wise is useless.

A bird on the plate is worth two on the bonnet.

A miss is as good as her smile.

A guilty conscience is the mother of invention.

Customer in Italian restaurant: (gingerly tasting egg) "Hmmm. This must be one of The Lays of Ancient Rome."

First Sophomore: "What became of those other ice companies that used to be in town?"

Second Sop: "Oh, their competitors froze them out."

Lingerie Salesman: (reading account of another of the Prince of Wales tumbles) "I see. Another Prince's slip."

One can never tell. Sometimes lines like this one are wise cracks and then again they are not.

Neva Snell: Now tell the truth, Lorell. You boys like the talkative girls as well as you like the others.

Lorell: What others?

Dan: Have you commenced to write that article for the Campus Times.

Alton: Yes, I have five hundred words already.

Dan: Good! You will be able to get it in on time then.

Alton: Well, I have just taken the words from the dictionary. I'll arrange them later.

Nellie Frantz: Don how many people are there working on the Times staff?

Don: (misunderstanding) Oh, I should say about three.

FRESHMEN!

In student body meeting, a freshman arose and made speech. Among other things, he inferred that only women of the freshmen class had the privilege and distinction of being fresh women. Now we admire this youth for his trust and simple faith which he has for the feminine members of the upper classes.

Now this condition, if it existed, would be very beautiful and altogether fitting and proper. But alas! It is not so. For although our opinion may be biased and warped we are certain that any sober, honorable, and truthful judge would be forced to disagree with our simple and simple-minded Frosh lad. We speak with great conviction when we say that the upper class women are not only fresh, but greedy, scheming, faithless and possessed of no heart or conscience. This condition ought not to be — but we can't help it. Alas, 'tis all too true and what can be done is more than anyone knows.

THREE COLLEGIATE TOURISTS

Mark Lehman, Zaphon Hartman, and Don Miller announce that they had a wonderful vacation this last summer. The three fellows toured the United States in an old $75 Ford.

How one could enjoy traveling 10,000 miles in a delapidated hulk of a boat seems a mystery to those who look at the relic which carried them so far. However, the three wanderers explain that they always got to the place for which they started. To prove this they cite some of the following records: From La Verne to Hershey, Pennsylvania, a distance of 3450 miles was made in 7 days driving time, with a total cost of $75 for all three. From La Verne to New York and back a distance of 10,000 miles, in 20 days driving time, including all time spent on repairing the Ford, averaging 500 miles a day for 20 days. Driving from Portland to Live Oak, a distance of 670 miles, in one day.

The fellows left La Verne at 11 p. m., May 26, and returned the 30th of July. They traveled thru 25 states, the District of Columbia and Canada. They visited all of the Church of the Brethren colleges but Blue Ridge.

Among the many places of note they visited, are: the Colorado Grand Canyon, the Petrified Forest, the Painted Desert, Gettysburg battlefield, the Grand Caverns of Virginia and the Natural Bridge of Virginia, Washington, D. C., Atlantic City, New York City, West Point, Niagara Falls, the Black Hills, and Yellowstone Park.

While on the way to the Church of the Brethren conference at Hershey, which they attended, they had a race with numerous La Verne professors who traveled by way of train. The three report that they were always at the station to welcome the instructors.

The collegiates have somewhat different opinion of both their knowledge of geography and of the United States. The country's size, especially, impressed them. They claim that at one stage of the journey they drove for eight days and eight nights, straight, making stops only for short visits and repairs, and report that they stopped only once for sleep, when they all woke suddenly to find themselves in the ditch with the Ford suffering from a crushed rear wheel, a broken front spring, a smashed windshield, and a broken wishbone. Due to Zip Hartman's Jewish nature they were able to buy second hand parts for only $2.60 and continue the journey although they were in a sparsely inhabited portion of Wyoming. However, they admit that they drove the rest of the journey without a windshield.

IT IS NUT SO!

Prof. Hollenberg: "Joe, name three kinds of nuts."

Joe Roynon: "Chestnuts, peanuts and forget-me-nuts."

BRILLIANT REMARKS

Prof. Frantz: I found three or four bottles of mercury, but they were all empty.

Miss Muir: Queen Elizabeth was king in 1516.

REGISTRATION AT U. C.

Registration for the fall term at the University of California at Los Angeles will open Saturday and continue formally through Monday.

Advance admissions, tabulated to date by Dr. Clarence H. Robinson, university examiner and professor of education, indicate a record enrollment for the new scholastic year at the state university at Los Angeles. Thus far, the total of new admissions has been checked at better than 2,400 men and women, representing freshmen from the high schools of the city, state and nation, advanced students from the universities and colleges of California and the other 47 states and re-entries-students who attended U. C. L. A. previously, but dropped out for a semester or two.

It was estimated that the registration total, when classes upon Monday will be in excess of 6000 students. Registration will continue informally for two weeks or more thereafter, bringing the total still higher.

Freshmen will enroll Saturday and advanced students on Monday. This year, the freshmen will not be subjected to the immemorial hazing custom of the campus at U. C. L. A. as hazing has been officially abolished by the action of the student body on the recommendation of the faculty. Instead, the Freshmen will be made welcome to the campus by the rally committee, composed of a score or more of the more prominent students, and will be aided in every way in fitting themselves into their new environment.

They will however, be forced to wear frosh caps to distinguish them from the advanced students and they will also engage in a spectacular class brawl with the sophomores at a date to be announced later.

Dr. Robinson pointed out that the ratio as between new students entering the college of letters and science and those enrolling in the teachers college, again is increasing. His figures show that the ratio in favor of the college of letters and science is substantially better than two to one.

STUDENT LIFE

GIRLS HAVE BLOW-OUT

On Wednesday evening a delightful Y. W. C. A. party was held in the south court of the college grounds. Sixty girls were present. Each "old girl" brought a new girl as her "little sister" and helped her to get acquainted with all the other girls. After they had all been introduced and prizes given to the new girl who remembered the most names and faces that went with them. Edna Brubaker remembered twenty names and received a soap bubble blower, which no doubt will afford her much pleasure during her lonesome moments. A fortune teller then appeared, Katherine Rothrockski, by name, and by gazing into a clear and luminous crystal, foretold events that would happen to each little frosh during her college career.

"Y" songs were led by Verda Brubaker, and Erma Saladan sang a lyric soprano solo, "My Right Little Eye." Miriam Shirk and Hilda Brubaker said they could sing higher and proceeded to prove it. This added to the keen interest of all present.

Presently, to slack the thirsty throats of the wee frosh as well as the high and mighty upper classmen (women in this case) the call to punch came. After all had been "punched" to add to the surprises, little blue and white checkered containers appeared and with them spoons and cookies. The mystery was disclosed soon for each little container was icy cold and upon lifting the lid the most delicious ice cream was found. More songs were sung and then each "little sister" was escorted home. They hardly dared go alone because curfew had rung.

A SNAPPY ROADSTER

Lois Rupert: "That's the rumble seat."

OUR MOTOR AGE

A balky mule has four wheel brakes,
A billy goat has bumpers.
The firefly is a bright spot light,
Rabbits are puddle jumpers.
Camels have balloon-tired feet,
And carry spares of what they eat,
But still I think that nothing beats
The kangaroos with rumble seats.

THE TALE OF A TAIL

Eph's Tolstein swings a nasty tail;
She aims at anything,
And wishing it to right of left,
She hits it with a bing!

She's walloped Ephraim in the eye
At least a dozen times,
And Ephraim has decided for
To end these vicious crimes.

By putting 'twixt that tail and him
a safety guarantee.
He's going to wear a baseball mask
At milking time, you see.

JUNIORS ELECT THEIR OFFICERS

The juniors maintained their reputation for promptness and getting things accomplished on time in their election Monday noon. The following class officers were elected:

President, Glen Vaniman.
Vice-president, Aileen Rothrock.
Treasurer, Alton Kurtz.
Secretary, Doris Welch.

A. W. S. ORGANIZED MONDAY

Monday 4:30 p. m., the parlor of Miller hall was the scene of a meeting of the Associated Women Students of Miller hall. The constitution, by-laws and rules were read and officers elected. Those in charge of the various phases of dorm life are as follows:

Crete Heiny, president.
Blanche Young, secretary.
Meryle Thomason, treasurer.
Olive Throne, chairman of the flower committee.
Ruth Stone, chairman of the social committee.

Grace Looney, chairman of the devotional committee.

Grace Nay, chairman of the recreation committee.

Edna Brubaker, chairman of the finance committee.

DELLENBACH LEADS SOPHS

The Sophomore class met Tuesday noon and elected officers for the present school year. Those elected were Glenn Dellenbach, president; Onis Leonard, vice president, Eloise Shepherd, secretary, Marie Tingle, treasurer.

A PROUD SCHOLAR

Ivan Edmister (home from his first day at school): "Mother, the teacher asked a question today that no one in the room could answer but me."

Ivan: "She asked what our telephone number is."

LA VERNE LEADS IN ATTENDANCE AT CAMP

The attendance record during the recent young people's conference at the Church of the Brethren camp in the San Bernardino mountains was won by La Verne.

With attendance varying from day to day, an average of 100 persons were present at the various sessions, La Verne winning high place with a registry of 100.

Second place went to Hermosa Beach with a registered attendance of 16 persons, it was stated.

According to a resume of the week's activities, approximately 1,000 persons attended the conference. A total of 20 were baptized in Jenks lake.

Next year the church camp will be enlarged by the addition of three and one-half acres, which now are being leased by the board of religious education.

INSIDE INFORMATION

Biscuit dough is useful in many ways other than making hot bread. It has no equal for making short-cakes, or for chicken shortcake. It can be used for a crust for a meat pie or a fruit cobbler. Sweetened and spiced, with raisins added, it is transformed into tea cakes. Pinwheel buns are made by sprinkling the surface of the rolled out dough with sugar, cinamon, nuts, and raisins, and then rolling it up, to be cut across like sprinkled with more granulated sugar and baked, and are wholesome for lunch or afternoon tea.

Cabinet and Other Men Informally Introduced

The college men met in the "Y" room Monday morning for the first meeting of the Y. M. C. A. this year. The meeting was started off by several snappy songs led by Harold Hoff and Emerson Button. Everyone then told who they were and from whence they came. The program was in charge of Glen Vaniman, the first vice president. The cabinet for the coming year, composed of Chester Shirk as president; Ernie Carl as second vice president; Wayne Bohn as secretary and Milton Brownsberger as treasurer, was introduced. Chester Shirk gave a very brief account of what the "Y" plans to do the coming year. Names were taken of all new men, including frosh, who intend to join the "Y" this year. The fellows were all reminded that a trip to Jenks Lake is planned for the coming week-end.

SCHOOL ON WHEELS FAMOUS IN SOUTH

"The Booker T. Washington School on Wheels," maintained by the Tuskegee Institute, was founded by Booker T. Washington and is probably the most famous school of its kind in the country, according to the National Automobile Club.

Dr. Washington, anxious to assist his fellows, many of whom were living in miserable conditions on their farms in the South, secured financial assistance from a wealthy man in the North and sent out a wagon equipped with garden tools, dairy apparatus and farm implements. With the wagon, instructors went through the poorer regions of the South and brought education to dwellers in out of the way places. Specimens of well-bred livestock and of good crops were also shown.

This venture was a success and out of it has grown the present school which is mounted on a truck and reaches hundreds of negro farmers yearly. It travels in districts which are inaccessible by railroad and brings improved means of living to many who would otherwise never come in contact with modern methods. Arrangements for the school's coming are made in advance and it "keeps" the year around, giving an education of a practical nature.

"Schools on Wheels" are also operated in some states by the Forest Service in an effort to educate people in the methods of fire prevention. Last year these schools drew audiences of 27,000 persons and traveled 7000 miles. One truck traveled thru the state of Arkansas, and another covered the Appalachian regions and Florida. Each school carries several instructors.

Your Personality and Your Tailor

There are two personalities to every man—his own and that which he reveals through his tailor.

Both are equally important. The tailor's task is to make a good suit and yet add his creativeness to the garment.

Only a custom tailored suit can produce that harmony in a man's attire that is so necessary to be well dressed.

Our tailoring reflects character and fine workmanship. Our staff of designers and tailors always create the latest in men's fashions—and with a touch of individual tone.

Due to the fact the conference rules prohibit coaches to have official charge of football practice until Sept. 15, Coach Arnett has not yet taken charge.

Many important changes have been made in football rules, especially concerning passes; so all players and fans should study the new rules and get them straight.

Pomona high school is contributing heavily to our Freshman football prospects, both in players and in our new coach, Mr. I. H. Van Cleve.

Walter Feree, veteran tackle, comes to La Verne as a 3 letter-man. Feree's weight is 180 pounds. Fred Hubbell, end, has one letter to his credit. Hubbell tips the scales at 150 pounds.

Both men are experienced players, being members of Archie Nesbitts championship team of 1927.

GRID SEASON OPENS; BIG TURNOUT

With moleskins issued to more than twenty varsity grid aspirants, Arnett field is alive with activity. When Coach Arnett steps on the field to take charge of practice on September 15, he will find he is not lacking in experienced material, as ten lettermen from last year's varsity squad are returning along with several of last year's frosh team.

One of the toughest games of the year will probably be with Whittier in the first conference tilt. The Poets were held to a 0-0 tie by the Leopards last year and it looks as though a battle for supremacy is on deck. Whittier is expected to have a strong team again this year, although the loss of such players as Denny and other veterans will be keenly felt. George Philbrook is to fill Leo Collard's shoes as grid mentor at Whittier.

On October 15 comes probably the hardest game of the year which is with Pomona. La Verne is out to get revenge because of the 27-6 defeat of last year. This game is to decide the football champions of Pomona valley. Coach Nixon is said to be as pessimistic as ever about the prospects at Pomona, but being pessimistic is an annual affair with the Pomona mentor. The Sagehens lost seven letter men and are hardest hit at the line. There are a number of Freshmen coming up and there should be little trouble in building a strong line.

The week following the Pomona game the Leopards travel to Redlands in an attempt to win their fifth consecutive game from the Bulldogs. The grid prospects are said to be not so good at Redlands. With the loss of their most outstanding players, Ford and McGilbra, Redlands is not expected to be as strong as last year. Ashel Cunningham and C. E. Cushman have been named as coaches to fill the vacancy left by Max Houser.

After the Redlands game the Leopards go to Los Angeles in a non-conference tilt with California Christian college. Little is known about the prospects of C. C. C., but it is expected there will be a stronger team than last year.

On Thanksgiving day the Leopards journey to San Diego for a tussle with the Aztecs. This brawl should afford thrills in plenty, for the Aztecs would rather beat La Verne than any other team. Last year the game ended in a 7-7 knot. The San Diego team is said to be about as strong as last year.

The other conference teams which La Verne does not meet are Occidental, U. C. L. A., and Caltech. U. C. L. A. makes its last bid for the Southern conference championship as the Bruins enter the Pacific Coast conference in 1928. By having a large number to pick teams from, U. C. L. A. should have no trouble putting an excellent team in the race for the championship. At Oxy the vacant positions are being replaced mostly by sophomores from the championship frosh squad of last year.

California Tech, who caused more grey hairs on Old Man Dope more than anything else, no doubt is getting ready to pull a couple of upsets again this year.

With so many strong teams fighting to end the season at the top of the win column, a tight, hard fought season is anticipated.

If you saw it in The Campus Times, it is true.

MANY OLD "VETS" BACK

Judging from the quantity and quality of the candidates out for the 1927 football squad, the Leopards should romp away with even more honors than they heaped upon themselves last season, their first in the Southern California conference.

With Coach Arnett taking charge of the squad the fifteenth, (Thursday) things will begin to happen, for the first game is with the tough Santa Ana J. C.'s a week from this Saturday.

Much excellent material, including many veterans, some of last year's frosh, and a few new men, has turned out and is being worked into shape under their direction. Such stars as Captain Mark Lehmer, end; Ivan Betts, center; Wayne Bohn, half, and Chet Shirk, fullback and quarter, of last year's team are alone the subject of many conjectures; and they are backed up by many other veterans, including Orville Brooks, half; Marian Boots, who will probably be shifted from guard to half, Ernest Carl, guard, Orville Hollinger, guard, Merle Butterbaugh, guard and tackle, Howard Brownsberger, end, and Milton Brownsberger, who will probably be shifted from guard to half.

"Oney" Leonard, Harold Brubaker, Dee Dellenbaugh, Fred Mahoney, Howard Frantz and Dan Snider are all veteran frosh men who are out to go one step higher and either make the varsity or give them a good run for their position for they are "all there" when it comes to "beef" and "pep."

Others for the varsity are Raymond Mahoney, half back; Sim Davis, tackle and guard; Glen Vaniman, tackle, Jay Meyers, Urban Hartman, halfbacks, Glen Kreps, also an end, and Merlin Yoder, half.

Frosh Squad Has Stars

The Frosh football prospects are mounting higher every day for new men are coming in from everywhere, including veteran high school players from Pomona, Strathmore, Fresno, Chino, Glendora, La Verne, and many other places including several from eastern states.

Some of the best prospects are Ronald Bessie, half and quarter, from Strathmore; Joe Roynon, tackle and half, also from Strathmore; Bob Baynham, quarter; "Nick" Nicholas, center, from Chino; Orville Thomason, half from Bonita; George Porter half, from Kansas; Walter Feree, tackle and Fred Hubbell, end, both from Pomona; Vernon Weybright, quarter from Fresno Tech; Harry McArthur from Hollywood, and others, who are out for the frosh team, are Glen Harman, Ed Cunningham, Galen Hoff, Wayne Allen, Webster Albright, Russell Frantz, Paul Miller, George Berg and Everett Calvert.
