Miss Gans Wins W. C. T. U. Oratorical

The annual W. C. T. U. Oratorical contest was held during chapel period Thursday. Previous try-outs had eliminated the speakers to the four best. They were Alexander Mallides, Dortha Gans, Hazel Rothrock and William Eikenberry.

The first oration by Alexander Mellides was on world peace. He effectively brought out that the world wants peace, but at the same time is doing everything to promote war. The reason for this is that people do not have faith in one another. Peace pacts and conferences can do little toward peace. Only by Christianizing ideas, nationalism, and patriotism can permanent world peace be established.

The second speaker, Dortha Gans, spoke on "The Menace of Narcotics." She first defined the term "narcotics," and gave some figures showing the large number of people using drugs, most of whom are in the United States. There are many attempts toward control of this great menace, but all are quite helpless. The two types of addicts, to totally, bad and better type, were described. The speaker urged the audience to know the truth for thereby comes control of drugs. She closed with the quotation, "You shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free."

Hazel Rothrock, the third speaker, gave her address on "Hooverizing Prohibition." She opened her speech by telling how great is the disobedience to this law. There is hard fighting going on by both sides, each struggling to win. The speaker urged the assembly not to be duped by the cry of the wets, "It can't be done." She closed her

New Volume Donated to College Library

A new book, "Mediterranean Picture Lands," by Miss Emmeline Abbey Dunn, has been presented to the library by the author's sister, Miss Mary Dunn. The author, lately deceased, was an outstanding artist in New York City. Her book is filled with fine water color sketches of the lands she wrote about. The manuscript was found among other effects after her death, and it was decided to publish the book, as the text was prepared, so as to reflect the artist-author's impressions of sights and conditions in the Near East, and other "Mare Nostrum" border lands.

Quoting "An Explanation" in the front of the book, "The book is to read as of 1903 in considering passing phases. But the descriptions—and who but an artist could have written them?—are very largely of scenes and customs that outlast armies and governments. . . The book is not a 'travel' book in the usual sense. . . Just as the illustrations are sketches in color, so the chapters are sketches in black and white, with words instead of lines as the medium of expression."

Mediterranean Picture Lands is, indeed, a valuable addition to the library and a source of interest for anyone who cares to read it.

Professor Cullen Addresses Chapel

Professor Cullen was the speaker at the Tuesday morning chapel service. His subject was "Possibilities of the development of Social Genius." Russell Frantz gave a saxophone solo.

The first requirement towards social genius is an outstanding personality. The speaker gave a personal experience with a man of outstanding personality as an example of this. An outstanding experience in life is a promotion toward social genius. As an illustration, Mr. Cullen told about an experience at the Boy Scout Jamboree in Liverpool, where there were 5000,000 Boy Scouts from all over the world. The third requirement was illustrated by a story of a man who received, one after another, terrible personal losses, but as a result he decided to live entirely for the betterment of humanity.

In conclusion, Mr. Cullen advised the assembly to follow an outstanding personality, to get an outstanding experience, and live humanity, if necessary, even though terrible blows come.

Oxy Dep. Challenges In Friendship Program

A fine program of music and challenging missionary appeal was brought to the Student Volunteer group by a dozen Student Volunteers from Occidental College last Friday evening. The meeting was held in the parlor of Miller Hall and light refreshments of punch and wafers were enjoyed at the close.

Everett Calvert introduced Fred Barnhill, the chairman, and president of the Southern California Union. He gave a short response to the welcome extended them and, following a mixed quartet number, "Moment by Moment," introduced the other visitors.

A solo, "Voices in God's Creation," sweetly sung by Peggy Hunter, preceded an interesting talk by Miss Carolyn Raul, whose father holds a high official position in a mission seminary at Nanking, China, and who has spent most of her life there. Miss Raul gave some of her own impressions of the great supreme need of a living religion there—one thru which people can learn to live; not merely one to be studied and taught as other things are.

Miss Hunter and Miss Babcock sang a duet, "Living for Jesus," after which Mr. Barnhill spoke, using as his theme "The Great Commission." (Continued on Page Three)

Seniors at Work on Coming Production

The date for the presentation of the senior play, "Turn to the Right," has been announced as Friday evening, May 2. The cast is cooperating in a fine manner by having many rehearsals in order to present the play at this early date.

Seats have not been put on reserve, but "it won't be long now," so save your half dollars and be assured of seeing a good play to start the month of May off right.

FROSH QUARTET

The Freshman quartet is presenting a complete secular program in chapel Thursday morning. At this time the boys will announce their new name. The public needs only this announcement and a hearty welcome for it already is acquainted with the quartet and its ability. This program will be a sample of the one planned for the summer tour. You are welcome to come to chapel session Thursday morning at 1025.

Mothers and Daughters Banquet Tuesday

Mothers and Daughters of LaVerne enjoyed a good time of friendship and fun at the annual Mothers' and Daughters' banquet held in Miller Hall, Tuesday, April 8th.

With Mrs. Walker as main speaker, and Harriet Butterbaugh as toastmistress, the banquet was one to be long remembered. The subject on which Mrs. Walker talked was, "The American Woman and Her Home." She brought out the fact of how conditions have changed today, and woman is entering many spheres in the business, political and social world and achieving marvelous work along those lines. And yet, where the American woman may have the greatest influence is in the founding of a real Christian home. Children love and respect a real mother and today there are far too few women who realize their opportunity.

Exch. Program Given Whittier Student Body

Friday at 11:30 several LaVerne students gave the exchange program at the Whittier College chapel. The program which was announced by Orville Thomason, president of LaVerne student body, was rendered by the orchestra, the Apollo Four, and Elizabeth Masterson, reader.

The orchestra, composed of Prof. Ralph Travis, piano; LaVonne Putnam, violin; Edith Coffman, clarinet; Charles Manning, baritone; Doyle Montz, drums; Russell Frantz and Elbert Ebersole, saxophones, and Daniel Stover, cornet, played for their first number, "Love Come Back to Me." The second orchestral number was "Love Me," with Doyle Montz singing the chorus as a baritone solo. The Apollo Four, Marvin Bolinger, first tenor; Albert Gnagy, second tenor; Vernon Heckmon, baritone, and Daniel Stover, bass, sang as their first number "Moonlight on the Lake," and "Yoho, My Lass." As an encore they sang "Happy Days." Elizabeth Masterson read a monologue, "A Visit to the Art Gallery." Marvin Bolinger sang as a tenor solo, "Foolish Questions." The Apollo Four sang, at their second appearance, "The Owl and the Pussy Cat." The program came to an end with the quartet's final encore, "The Gospel Train."

The entire group was entertained at lunch at one of the Whittier cafes. The LaVerne students greatly appreciated the hospitality and courtesy shown by the Whittier student body.

Y. Holds Stag Dinner for Prospective Studies

Probably one of the finest contributions to student life which the Y. M. C. A. has offered for a long while was in the form of a stag banquet held in Miller Hall on Saturday evening with sixty men present. These men were members of the College Y and their guests, which included many prominent high school seniors and junior college men.

The banquet was called to order at 7:30 o'clock and a number of songs were sung, led by "Happy" (Continued on Page Three)

Sunshine Quartet Plan Trip to San Joaquin

The Sunshine Quartet is planning a week's trip to San Joaquin Valley in the near future, if dates can be satisfactorily arranged. It is not definitely decided as yet, but the manager, Don Miller, is booking dates, and he is planning to arrange a full program for them. They already have evening programs arranged for churches and are working for school programs now.

Among the churches in which the quartet has given programs so far this year are San Bernardino, Hemet, Belvedere, Santa Ana, San Dimas, M. E., LaVerne First Brethren, and Cucamonga.

The following is part of a write-up taken from a Cucamonga newspaper:

"One of the outstanding musical programs yet given here was that of Sunday evening at the Community Church, when the Sunshine Quartet of young women from LaVerne College, the Misses Anna Emmert, Mary Platt, Flossie Page and Myrtice Butterbaugh, rendered a program of sacred songs, old southern melodies and negro spirituals, and a number of special features, which was unexcelled in its pleasing technique and rare quality of tone and expression, the entire repertoire being enjoyed by the large audience present. The spirituals were sung with gusto and spirit, while the beautiful 'The Night Has a Thousand Eyes,' was a blend of harmony.

Besides church programs, the quartet has sung at dinners, banquets and school programs.

Teacher Training Dept Given Commendation

From the State Department of Education at Sacramento there recently came an encouraging report concerning the teacher training situation of our college. The visit of Miss Ruth Eakin, assistant chief of the Division of Teacher Training and Certification, occasioned the communications sent to President Studebaker.

Miss Eakin expressed appreciation to Mr. Cullen for the good work he is doing in the LaVerne grammar school and said that she particularly felt the practice teaching situation to be immensely improved. A letter from Mrs. Evelyn Clement, chief of the division, mentioned Miss Eakin's enthusiastic report and made special reference to the desirable advances in the setting up of activity programs (Continued on Page Three)

Miss Muir Writes Again from Scotland

Students and friends of LaVerne will again be glad to get news of Miss Muir. Mrs. Porter of Miller Hall received last week a letter dated March 23rd in which Miss Muir mentioned having suffered from a rather prolonged siege of influenza. At the time of writing she said, however, "I feel now as though I have a new lease on life and time to do the many things that have been piling up this last month."

Some most interesting pictures of Miss Muir and Edinburgh University life may be seen from these extracts. "This is Sunday, and we are all sitting round the fireplace. Mother is reading English History. She spends most of the time reading, sometimes studying my books and sometimes reviewing Burns or Scott, who seem to have a fresh appeal over here. Father has been quite well all winter except for a few days when he, too, had something like the 'flu.' We felt quite relieved to find him recovering so easily. One gets rather panicky when he thinks of anything serious happening so far away from our friends. The people are very friendly, though. The lady who owns this house is one of the kindest of landladies. She is always running in to see if we are all right and often has something with which to surprise us: a bowl of broth, a pudding, or a jar of marmalade. She is a veritable Samaritan."

"The other day we had a holiday. I inquired the reason and was told it was 'to go home and get more meal.' It seems in the olden days the Scottish students of the University came to school carrying their rations with them—a bag of oatmeal. They could not bring enough to last the year thru, so in (Continued on Page Three)

Women's Glee Clubs to Enter Contest Soon

Preparation is steadily being made by the Women's Glee Club to gain some recognition in the glee club contest which is to be held at U. C. L. A. and in which several ladies' glee clubs from the various colleges of Southern California are to participate. The girls are showing a marked interest in this project and consequently a great deal of improvement as well. Professor Haugh says that conditions indicate that a favorable place in the final standings may be expected.

There are three songs which are being practiced for the contest, one of which was selected by the contest committee. The other two are "Come Down, Laughing Streamlet," and "Guide of LaVerne," which has been rearranged to suit ladies' voices.

LaVerne College has ranked quite prominently in basket ball and forensics this year, and there is every reason to believe that she will be just as successful in this contest.

Besides their work on these contest numbers, the girls are learning several new selections for regular glee club programs. The manager states that he has them booked for three programs to be given in the near future.

EASTER

Easter is the festival of the Christian church which celebrates the resurrection of Jesus Christ. From early times Easter has been a day of special importance and solemnity among Christians. Roman Catholics begin their observance of the sacred festival on the preceding morning with the mass of Holy Saturday. Among both Catholics and Protestants music and flowers are inseparably connected with Easter services. Although Easter has been observed for centuries the exact day for commemorating the Resurrection has been a matter of no little controversy, a dispute having arisen on this point between the Eastern and Western churches in the second century. The rule in general use is that Easter Day is always the first Sunday after the paschal full moon; that is, the full moon which happens first after the 21st of March. Easter can never occur before the 22nd day of March, nor after the 25th of April. In 1761 and 1818 Easter fell on March 22; in 1943 it will fall on the 25th of April. Easter closes forty days of Lent.

No more significant, spontaneous or universally attractive festival has ever been instituted than that which celebrates the return of spring, the budding of leaves and flowers lifting their faces once more towards the sunlight, after the frosts and storms of winter. The swelling seeds and changing tints of green give promise of the coming harvests the songs of birds and the humming of bees reminds us of the rising tide of life that surrounds us and thru countless channels is rushing onward with the pulse of recurring years. In all this stir of creative energy, this bursting of winter's fetters and the renewal of life's struggle for undisputed secret joy. So when it is winter in your life, snowbound and icebound, frozen up and frozen in, pull out the full organ stop of your soul and let the music out, for there's a spring coming.

A NEW BEGINNING

Every day is a new beginning,

Every morn is the world made new.

Ye who are weary of sorrow and sinning,

Here is a beautiful hope for you—

A hope for me and a hope for you.

All the past things are past and over,

The tasks are done and the tears are shed;

Yesterday's errors let yesterday cover,

Yesterday's wounds which smarted and bled

Are healed with the healing which night has shed.

Yesterday now is a part of forever,

Bound up in a sheaf which God holds tight

With glad days and sad days, and bad days which never

Shall visit us more with their bloom and blight,

And fullness of sunshine, or sorrowful night.

Let them go, since we cannot relieve them,

Cannot undo and cannot atone;

God in His mercy receive, forgive them,

Only the new days are our own,—

Today is ours, and today alone.

Here are the skies all burnished brightly,

Here is the spent earth, all reborn;

Here are the tired limbs, springing lightly

To face the sun and to share with the morn

In the chrisom of dew and the cool of morn

Every day is a fresh beginning;

Listen, my soul, to the glad refrain,

And spite of old sorrow and older sinning,

And puzzles forecasted and possible pain,

Take heart with the day and begin again

—Susan Coolidge.

FROSH GIRLS ENTER-

TAIN BIG SISTERS

The freshman girls entertained their "big sisters" Monday evening in the college gym and at a bon fire. As each girl came to the door of the gym a slip of paper bearing the name of some song was pinned on her back. Then, when everyone had arrived, the girls shook hands with each other each singing her song, and the result was a gay chorus of disharmony.

Following this, sides were chosen for an Easter egg race. Next came a kiddie car race in which the girls skooted across the floor on kiddie cars endeavoring to win the race.

The victors were awarded a nest of Easter eggs.

A volley ball game was held after this race, with the big sisters on one side and the little sisters on the other. The score was very close, but the little sisters were at the big end of it.

After all this exercise, hunger was apparent in the face of every one present, so they went outside to a bonfire and had a weiner bake before going home.

Alice Butner, Dalsie Wymer and Dorothy Page were in charge of the entertainment and Grace Gockley was in charge of the refreshments.

Last Caterwaulin' of Katapununs

Sisters of the club, formerly known as Katapunun, and some associate members met at the home of Sister Miriam Murray, 2225 Fourth street on Saturday evening for a private session which extended thru the entire night.

There were several outstanding occurrences which made the evening a memorable one. The first one was Sister Rothrock's astounding confession, and soon after that was the Katapunun parade which started on Fourth and E streets and directed itself southward on E to Third, where it made a quarter-wheel and proceeded to the Chocolate Tavern, arriving barely in time to give it the "once over" and to order ice cream cones. The hospitable treatment of the tavern keepers brought them some warm friends in the Katapununs. The return trip was made in double-quick time.

Even though they did reach home safely they could not get into the house for the door was locked and the key would not fit. At last some resourceful Kat discovered that a screen on a front window was unhooked and speedy entrance was made.

They were no sooner settled than there came a mysterious noise from outside the door and upon investigating they found a box with explicit instructions, "Do not open until 12:17% a. m." When the hour arrived, the Kats breathlessly opened the box to find inside a couple of layers of all night suckers" which were wrapped in "laugh producers," and both the wrappers and the suckers fulfilled their alleged capacities, for the Kats re- tired with much laughter and bulging jaws after having to throw Mary Platt in the bathtub for snitching covers.

Morning found the sleepers none the worse for their nights' escapades. Great appetites were evidenced in the rapid disappearance of the good breakfast of fruit, toast, and cocoa which was prepared by Sister Murray.

Associate members present were Pearl Niswander, Marie Pobst, Fern Bowman, Grace Brubaker, Lois Rupert and Elizabeth Master-son. The charter members present were Dortha Gans, Hazel Rothrock, Ellen Edmister, May Chronister, Mary Platt, Florence Snider and Miriam Murray, the hostess.

Faculty News

President Studebaker is attending from Monday to Thursday a convention of high school principals at the Grant Hotel in San Diego. While there he is also attending a meeting on certification standards and a session of the Western Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Last Thursday Dr. Studebaker spoke to the Bonita high school assembly in the morning and to the senior class in the afternoon.

President Studebaker is preaching twice each Sunday at the Pasadena Church of the Brethren during this month. Pastors from the surrounding churches speak each Thursday night. Last Sunday Dr. and Mrs. Studebaker and Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Rothrock, parents of Mrs. Studebaker, were dinner guests at the John Gibbel home in Pasadena.

Professor Brubaker was critic judge of a debate Friday night between Redlands University and the College of Puget Sound in Washington. The debate was held at Redlands.

Dr. Emmert returned yesterday from his trip to Elgin, Illinois. He reports a heavier agenda of business than usual for the General

Brubaker, who insisted on wearing his hat in the house.

Dee Dellenbach, Y president, presided. Dean Hoover gave the invocation, after which Dee introduced the toastmaster, who was none other than Ben Hepner from Covina, one of LaVerne's illustrious alumni. Then the fun began. Jokes rained thick and fast and the men could hardly find time to eat their cocktail. Every college man introduced himself to the group, and also his guest. This proved very interesting. The men are still wondering what bush league gave Mr. Yoder his brilliant title of a "four lettered baseball man."

Short, snappy speeches were given by Mr. Handy, boys' work secretary of the Pomona city "Y," "Red" Weybright, Dale Stutzman, Fred Hubbel and the "address" of the evening was given by Prof. Brandt of the Physics department. This proved to be a model after dinner address—six minutes in length.

The ladies' Sunshine Quartet rendered a group of numbers which was greatly appreciated by the men. Happy Brubaker, with his hat still on (what there was left of it) in his tightwad style rendered a much appreciated group of Scotch songs. Then Happy and Dan Stover rendered two musical (???) numbers as duets with Dan accompanying at the same time. These were rendered in a peculiar, comical fashion, and the group let them finish their songs without throwing a biscuit. The toastmaster said he thought their song was "The Flower (flour) Song" from Pillsbury, and that was probably what it was.

At any rate the men certainly enjoyed the evening, to which everyone contributed to make it a success.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris Moore of Wasco entertained her father and sister, Dr. J. P. Dickey and Miss Miriam Dickey, over the week-end.

Mrs. Crawford Speaks to Y.W.C.A. Monday

Y. W. C. A. members enjoyed a World Education program Monday morning with Mrs. C. E. Crawford as speaker. Mrs. Crawford was born in Mexico and worked with Mexican people in that country, and is now assisting in the Pomona project for improvement of living conditions for the Mexicans living in Pomona and vicinity. Her talk was based on the program now being carried out in Pomona.

"We may think there is great gulf between the Mexican young people and ourselves, but there really isn't such a difference as we sometimes imagine," Mrs. Crawford said. "They are jolly and have high ideals like we do, but are often driven to poor living conditions because of lack of money and large families to be supported by the small wages of the husband."

With such conditions facing them the young people turn to low type dances and boxing matches for entertainment. Pomona is trying to lift the Mexican to a higher plane of enjoyment by providing an excellent playground with equipment. A beautiful church has been erected which is well attended also. "Welfare work is not enough," Mrs. Crawford emphasized. "It must be linked up with the work of the church to be effective in the lives of people."

She told of the splendid Easter program in which the Mexican young people of LaVerne, and also Pomona, are co-operating, and also plans for a large and effective Daily Vacation Bible School to be held in Pomona this summer, as in previous years.

In keeping with the spirit of the program, Evelyn Deardorff and Geneva Suttle sang a duet, "Re-mona."

Dorm Women Have Birthday Party Thurs

On Thursday night, the dormitory women held an informal party at the Chocolate Tavern to celebrate its opening. This was a birthday party in honor of Iva Livingston.

Little place cards of futuristic chickens were on the table. And upon closer inspection the writing was seen. This writing proved to be a little verse with I. L. and G. R. underneath. The girls at once caught on to the fact that the birthday party was an announcement party. Miss Livingston had already told a few of the girls about her engagement to George Robinson. Miss Livingston is from Modesto and Mr. Robinson from Brentwood California.

The program consisted of refreshments, piano solos by Ruth Gibbel and Neva Snell; readings by Dorothy Soper, and a stunt by Eleanore Shepp. A few games were played during part of the evening in one of the rooms of Miller Hall after leaving the Chocolate Tavern.

The boys tried to share in the fun of the evening and the girls were very "tactful" in their revenge. The girls wish to remind the boys of that old dictum, "A woman always has the last word."

Note.—Boys, please remember this.

and in the supervision of the work. "The spirit of the supervising teachers, she reports, is good, since they are vitally interested in the success of their student teachers and feel a definite responsibility for them. It is very satisfactory to have a report of this kind from LaVerne, as I have watched the the middle of the term they were granted leave to go home to get more meal. The thing has become a tradition, hence our holiday.

"I used the day to good advantage working on my term paper. This time I have the subject, 'English Public Opinion on the American Revolution.' I like it very much. I am working with some of the London newspapers of 1775-1776. It seems so queer to be reading of the things of that exciting period happened 'yesterday' or 'tomorrow.' One will read of the 'departure yesterday of Dr. Franklin,' or that 'it is rumored there have been hostilities between our troops and the colonists.' Maybe the same paper will give an account of a brilliant 'levee' at St. James—and the execution of a dozen prisoners at Tyburn. I almost feel as if I have been living in a different age and can hardly believe all these folks have been dead and buried these many years! Sometimes I feel I shall be at least two hundred years older when I return to LaVerne. I fear one cannot remain long among the yellowed newspapers without being permanently affected. Perhaps a few weeks in Geneva will bring me back to the 20th century. There everything seems prophetic rather than venerable.

"We really are not fully decided as to the summer's plans. I will work here, on my paper, until the last of April. Then we are going to embark on a Mediterranean cruise. June we will spend in Italy, then go on north to Switzerland. I had intended to spend the rest of the summer there, but Dr. Williams (my history professor is rather encouraging me to come back to London. He wants me to keep on with my paper and thinks I would find some very valuable material in the British Museum Library. He has been so very kind to me that I wish I could do something worth while with the paper. But I want to go back to Geneva too, at least for a short time.

"Several weeks ago Edinburgh had a Rugby match with Glasgow. I should have liked to go to the game but couldn't. A short time before that the Scots played Wales. All the Welch folks wore leeks and daffodils and the Scots thistles tied with plaid ribbon. Really, though, I think the university students take athletics very sedately. I haven't heard of any bonfires or rallies or pajamarinos. The most evident excitement around here occurred after the final examinations. Some of the boys in this house (most of them are Dutch from South Africa) went on a spree. They sang and howled most of the night, evidently an overdose of something. It made one think of the stories of 'Tom and Gown' rows of the Middle Ages. The next morning one big fellow appeared at our door to apologize for the rumpus. On the whole, the fellows appear to be quite a decent lot, and one wonders, sometimes, that there is not more rowdiness when he considers the fact that 'Scotch' is almost as abundant as water.

"By this time you are probably discussing the 'Annual' and 'Ditch Day' and baseball, and I suppose the faculty are hard at work on the new catalogue."

One can imagine the welcome which will attend Miss Muir's return to the faculty next September.

development of the teacher training program with considerable interest."

Mrs. Clement expressed regret to President Studebaker at being unable to visit our college this year and said that she hopes to schedule a visit early next year.

Oxy Completely Lick Leopard Racqueteers

In the hardest match of the season the varsity netters went down to defeat before the onslaughts of Oxy racqueteers on the local courts last Friday afternoon by a score of 9-0. Only two sets were taken by LaVerne, one in singles by Ike Funk, and another in doubles by Ike and Calvert.

The best competition of the entire match was in first singles. Robinson of Oxy finally took the last two sets after Funk had won the initial set. The scores were 7-9, 6-2, 6-1.

Calvert lost to M. Hanson, 6-0, 6-0. Paul Funk was nosed out by Powers, 6-0, 6-1. Patchen won over Gnagy 6-3, 6-3. Bristol copped from Weybright 6-3, 6-1.

In doubles Ike Funk and Calvert lost to Hanson and Powers 6-4, 5-7, 6-1, and Paul Funk and Gnagy were beaten by a count of 6-3, 6-2.

Another conference game is scheduled for this week at Redlands and will probably be played Thursday. The team is confident of taking this match and hope to get back to a .500 in the standings.

LaVerne Hopes to Gain Win Column

After a short lay-off from conference games, the Leopard horsehiders will attempt to get into the win column at the expense of the Redlands nine next Saturday on the Bulldog diamond.

The locals have been improving rapidly and will take the field next Saturday in better condition than at Oxy two weeks ago. With intensive batting practice the bill for every afternoon practice session, along with snappy infield workouts and plenty of base running, the squad should give a much better account of themselves in this tilt.

Little is known about the strength of the Bulldog horsehide outfit, but it is considered one of their best in recent seasons. For the past two years LaVerne has had no difficulty in taking baseball games from Redlands and in both games the Leopards went on a batting spree. If this holds good this time LaVerne will cop handily.

Thomason is ready to start on the mound for the Leopards, with Welty ready to relieve if necessary. Weybright has been improving right along behind the plate. The infield, composed of Thomas at the initial sack, Heiser at the keystone base, Kindy at short and Deugherty at third, has already shown up to be a very sweet fielding combination. Deal, Hubbell and Ferree will hold down the outfield.

FROSH TRACK

The frosh track team will be entered in the all-conference meet next Friday afternoon at Claremont. Forney, Ebersole, Wilson, Howell and Eshelman will compete.

In the triangle meet at Whittier last Saturday the local yearlings took 8 points. Forney won the shot put and Ebersole copped second in the discus.

The pea-greeners wind up their track season with the meet next Friday.

Leopards Beaten by Covina Colts, 3-4

On Monday afternoon the Leopard horsehiders lost to the Covina Hi nine by a score of 4-3. The game only lasted seven innings and only a few hits were clouted. The main reason for LaVerne's inability to put more runs across was not getting men in home after they got on base. Five men were left on third base when the third out was made.

The locals still showed up well in the field, but not so much with the willow. Thomason knocked the longest hit of the day with a three-bagger. All the LaVerne runs were scored in the last inning.

Last Thursday afternoon the locals won from Chaffey Hi by a score of 8-2.

MISS GANS WINS

talk with, "Give prohibition its chance; the wets have had theirs."

The last oration, by William Eikenberry, was on the present crime wave. He told how cleverly the criminals are organized and how greatly crime is increasing. After defining the term criminal, the speaker gave a solution for overcoming crime, the solution is by education, for only by education can crime and the be dealt with effectively.

First place was awarded to Miss Gans, second to Hiss Rothrock, third to Mr. Mallides, and fourth to Mr. Eikenberry. Hiss Annie Banister, President E. M. Studebaker and I. D. Yoder were the judges.

mission," and the motto of the Student Volunteer movement: The Evangelization of the World in This Generation. He reviewed briefly the beginnings of the movement, its development and present status, stressing the idea that we must interest others in assisting in this great task, but that that is not sufficient. We must ourselves do our utmost.

The scope of activities and vocational needs is as large in the missionary field as in any other. One need not sacrifice his natural gifts in order to serve as such.

Incapacity of the available forces due to lack of funds and the diversion of many into similar work with other organizations is one of the greatest handicaps to the work of missions. Faith, prayer, and trust in the all-sufficient Christ must prevail.

Another quartet number, "Day Is Dying in the West," then prayer led by Mr. Barnhill and the singing of "Taps" by three girls as a response concluded the program.

Before dispersing, both the Oxy and the LaVerne groups sang their Alma Maters. All felt the joint meeting well worth while, and look forward to another such occasion.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS HOLD BANQUET TUESDAY

ities for helping to build a better nation by making better homes.

The program for the banquet was as follows:

Welcome to Mothers—Esther Dickey.

Mothers' Welcome—Mrs. Butterbaugh.

Response—Martha Baer.

Violin Solo—LaVonne Putnam.

Duet—Mary Platt and Evelyn Deardorff.

Reading—Elizabeth Masterson.

Solo—Edna Amberson, "Your Mother and My Mother."

Address—Mrs. Walker, "The American Woman and Her Home."

After the program, with lighted candles, mothers and daughters all sang together, "Follow the Gleam."

The meal was delicious and was prepared by Mrs. Hoke; decorations were beautiful and very clever—the work of Mildred Smith and Frances Bishop—menus, favors, and table bouquets being made like butterflies. While expressing appreciation of all who helped in making the banquet a success, the dish-washing crew also deserves "honorable mention."

The Mothers' and Daughters' Banquet is an annual event for the Y. W. C. A. and is long looked forward to with anticipation each year by the mothers of LaVerne.
