LA VERNE COLLEGE

NEXT YEAR

LaVerne College has had a very splendid school year and the outlook for 1924-25 is growing more promising every day. The students are quite enthusiastic and are laying plans to do their part to increase the number for next year. Already quite a few students have engaged their rooms.

Students from abroad are inquiring about the school and laying plans to enroll next fall. The administration of the college is planning to make the main building more attractive. Mr. Woody, the caretaker, will spend the entire summer working around the grounds and buildings. All the old students know how well he does his work and how much he adds to the beauty of the surroundings.

The endowment campaign, counting all types of assets, has now reached about $107,000.00. The constituency back of the institution has been responding in a wonderful way. A large percentage of the people are doing something.

The entire faculty for next year has been employed and all students may be assured that they will receive expert instruction. There has been a very fine spirit of co-operation this year both by students and by faculty to make LaVerne College a splendid place in which to acquire an education and we believe this atmosphere will become stronger next year.

The closing of the first year of the academy next year will eliminate a few from entering the institution but the expected increase, especially in the College Freshman class, will no doubt far exceed this number.

The management has laid plans to canvass its territory thoroughly. Leland Brubaker is to spend one month among the surrounding schools. Other field workers will canvass the churches of Arizona, California, Oregon, and Washington.

The management and faculty of LaVerne College herewith wish the students a very pleasant summer. We will be looking forward to the time of your return.

President Studebaker.

JOAN OF ARC

The last number of the Lyceum Course was given Friday evening, May 9, in the Bonita auditorium in the form of the cantata "Joan of Arc." A large chorus of 90 voices rendered this cantata in a very splendid way under the efficient direction of Professor B. S. Haugh, Mrs. Alice Doust and Miss Mildred Seymour were at the pianos.

The historical background of the story was given between sections by Mrs. Mae Miller. The feeling which the French people had toward their savior, Joan, was very impressive.

Special parts were well rendered by Miss Lucile Beckner as Joan, Mr.

A Community Need

The Modern Bank Exists because its services meet the need of the community it serves. That's why we are here.

Everybody has need for a bank these days, from the youngster just starting in business, on up to the big mercantile establishments.

All business that is done efficiently is done through the bank. We are prepared to take care of the small business and the larger one, too.

All receive the same careful attention.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK FOR ATHLETICS

With this year's athletic records and accomplishments a thing of the past, LaVerne is looking forward and planning for her greatest season in every branch of athletics for the coming school year.

The College has made a fine showing against conference teams in football and baseball as a partially admitted member of the league and next year she will be ready to do her stuff in track. With a flock of letter men back and lots of good experienced football material coming in from different high schools and from the Academy next year, Coach Arnett expects to put out an exceptionally strong team.

The schedule is already about filled up with games with conference teams and trips to Santa Barbara and San Diego are already scheduled.

There will be another coach to assist Coach Arnett next year and also one to have full charge of the Academy athletics and this added strength in the coaching line will mean much for LaVerne.

LELAND AND MARIE RETURN

The student body was glad to welcome "Dutch" and Marie Brubaker as their chapel speakers Wednesday morning. A rousing cheer accompanied their entrance. After a scripture and a few remarks by "Dutch" and prayer by Marie, they sang a duet, "Jesus the Rose of Sharon." Marie told us something of their life in Chicago. She said that Chicago is the dirtiest place she ever saw, but they learned to endure it because they loved Bethany. She told us of their Bible work and their wonderful teachers there. Bethany has two outstanding needs—First, they need full time students. So many students work while attending school, which must inevitably result in an interference with class work. Second, Bethany needs a gymnasium. The weather is bad most of the time, and there is a great temptation for students to overwork in school and incapacitate themselves for effective Christian work after they have had their training. She told of their experiences in earning the wherewithal to continue in school. They both worked at whatever they could get. "Dutch's" speciality was house cleaning. Marie testified that anyone who is willing to work can go to school at Bethany.

Leland told of his tour among the colleges of the church as secretary of the United Student Volunteers. He had a good word to say for every college. At Daleville every person in the student body was signed up for a conference with him. Blue Ridge reminded him most of L. V. with its enthusiasm in intellectual, social, religious and athletic activities. He visited Ethel Brubaker Weaver and the sights of Washington, D. C.; also historic places in Philadelphia. At Elizabethtown he held more conferences with students than at any other school. He was pleased with McPherson and Mt. Morris, and spoke especially of the friendliness of Manchester. While waiting in the hall to meet one appointment at least a dozen students stoppe to him. This he appreciated and recommended the same spirit for LaVerne.

"Dutch" says that after looking over all the schools in the Brotherhood, if he were to again choose one for his alma mater it would be LaVerne.

Howard Hoff as Philip, her supposed lover; Mr. J. C. Poole as Robert de Baudricourt, and Mr. Harvey Brubaker as Jean de Novelonpont. The harmony was beautiful thruout in both the choruses and special features.

MEMORIAL

A beautiful memorial service was held during chapel Thursday, in behalf of Miss Vesta Sanger, former student and faculty member of LaVerne College. After the Scripture reading and prayer by Dr. Hoover, an effective tribute was given by Dr. Miller.

Miss Sanger was a student at LaVerne College, graduating in the spring of 1916. She spent the year 1916-17 at U. S. C., making a high record in her courses, mathematics and education. In 1917-18 she returned to LaVerne College as a teacher of mathematics, and taught here six years. All who were in her classes and others who had the privilege of knowing Miss Sanger learned to love her. Sincerity was the keynote of her life. She was ever ready to help students not only in mathematic problems, but also in life problems.

The present year, 1923-24, was spent at Berkeley, where she made a fine record in her university work. She was elected to an honorary society and made a number of close friends. After hearing that her thesis for the master's degree was accepted, she underwent a serious operation, which caused her sudden death, May 6th.

The great joy that her friends were sharing with her in attaining her year's success was shockingly followed by a deep sorrow upon the news of her death. Why the end should come to a life seemingly just ready for a large service is beyond our finite understanding. However, she had not lived in vain, and her friends will ever remember her fine Christian character.

The students and faculty sent resolutions of sympathy to her parents. Floral pieces were also sent for the funeral.

The following poem written by Thelma Kuns expresses the sentiments of LaVerne students:

IN MEMORY OF VESTA SANGER
The greatest tribute we can bring
Is that to all you were a friend.

The only thought of your life on earth
Was to give of your best to your fellowmen.

The depth of your soul
Was as the height of the blue.
No heart was so loyal,
No soul more true
To the cause of the Master,
To the cause of LaVerne.
And somewhere our hearts,
For your presence do yearn.
What you have accomplished,
We shall never forget.
Although you are gone
Your spirit lives yet.
O noble one, we pay this tribute true
As you loved us, so we love you.

"ORANGE BLOSSOM" OUT

The "Orange Blossom" staff has done splendid work this year. Led by Mr. Byrl Harper as editor-in-chief, all the members of the staff have worked hard and have presented to the public a fine publication. It is a real review of campus life and student body activities, and every student will be proud to include it in his library.

CAMPAIGN SPEECHES

Dwight Welch acted as chairman of the student body meeting on Friday May 2. After a short devotional service, he introduced the managers who in turn introduced their candidates who are running for commissioners. Many and interesting are the "hats in the ring" this year.

A number of excellent speeches were made depicting the virtues and qualifications of the prospective commissioners. Wayne Bohn sang a clever ditty entitled "Bertram Betts"; Margery Dickey had so many good things to say about Bennie Jamison that she almost ran over time; Ora Weddle waxed eloquent as he beat the air in defense of his candidate, Wanda Carl; (Bert blushed furiously during this oration). Vessie Noll was ably supported by Viola Neher; (Miss Neher felt it was a serious occasion and she told us so!)

After Dwight introduced her as a second Jacob Funk, Pearl Whitcher made a splendid appeal for her candidate, Kathryn Harshbarger. Modena Minnich had Harvey Brubaker and Mary Blickenstaff had Cathryn Byerly for managers. Their claims were set forth in no uncertain terms.

Harvey Emley did his best to make us believe Howard Hoff should be elected while Mae Miller performed the same service for Lloyd Studebaker. Since Guy Jordan had no opposition, he threw away his speech and although he had a sore throat, he spoke a good word for Marion Roynon, who could not be present through no fault of his own.

The results of the complete election follow:

Commissioner of Debate—B. F. Jamison.

Commissioner of Finance—Marion Roynon.

Commissioner of Athletics—Bert Betts.

Commissioner of Welfare—Modena Minnich.

Commissioner of Publications—Lloyd Studebaker.

INSTALL NEW COMMISSIONERS

The final student body meeting of the school year of 1923-24, held on Friday, May 16, was of great importance and interest for several reasons. In the first place, it meant the closing of a very successful year of student body activities. Secondly, it was at this time that the newly elected commissioners took their solemn vows and were duly installed into their respective offices by President Studebaker. A third, and perhaps the greatest thing of importance to some, was the dismissal of the old commissioners and the presentation of the pins as tokens of appreciation from the student body. The commissioners have done splendid work this year and truly deserve a hearty "thank you" from the student body.

The splendid spirit of all retiring commissioners was shown in their signing and presenting to the new commission the following resolution:

"In view of the very pleasant year we have spent as commissioners of LaVerne College, and in realization of the responsibility which these offices confers on the holders, but with the

X Y Z SPECIAL

With a boom and a cheer, Mr. Howard Hoff, engineer of the good train "X Y Z," fired the engine, and opening the throttle, was off for the most successful "special" run of the year. The College auditorium was packed, on the night of May 13, and a more responsive audience could not be desired. The "Alphabetical Wonders Orchestra" furnished the music to which the wheels of the train spun swiftly around.

Everyone was agreeably surprised to find in the baggage car some unsuspected operatic talent. The depth of feeling and sincerity which marked the whole bearing of the Messrs. Bill Crowston, Harold Brownsberger, and Ora Weddle was very apparent.

Lloyd Emmert, who came riding along in the mail car, was very pleasing in his solo work. One could not help feeling that he must have practiced some to give such good productions right off that way.

Altho the reader of the evening, Miss Gladys Larimer, could afford only a day coach (sleepers are high, you know), her work was much appreciated.

The Bingo Boys were found in the dining car as usual. Is there anything more musical than that quintet? Well, not in LaVerne. Their rendition of "Way Down Upon the Swanee River" was beautiful, the harmony being exceptionally good.

Harvey Brubaker, costumed as Harry Lauder, gave the audience three of "Harry's" favorite songs. Mr. Brubaker's poise and impersonations reminded one strongly of the professional world, rather than a LaVerne amateur.

On the sleecer came the Indians, from "The Land of the Sky Blue Waters." This pantomime, with the blue lighting, was unique.

Then came the caboose with the all-star cast of the play the "Complicated What-Not." This clever little comedy was well worked out. Lloyd Studebaker as the nervous young husband was enough to give anyone the "jimmies," while Beulah Smith acted the part of the young wife so well that one is made to wonder. Ruth Van Dyke, the pleasing little heroine of the play, made an equally charming eighteen-year-old girl and forty-year-old old maid. Frankie Gillette and Ruth Wilkinson played their parts well.

Jerk!! Bump! Bang! Home again. Thanks, X Y Z. A most enjoyable evening.

Miss Vessie Noll, editor of the Campus Times, has been out of school for two weeks with the smallpox. Her case is not serious but she has been quite ill. The students miss Vessie around school very much. It is especially unfortunate to be ill at the close of the year.

CLOSE OF THE YEAR 1923-24

Another school year is near completion and the closing days are such busy ones. Faculty members and students sometimes wonder how they will be able to meet all of the varied tasks which need attention. Desires for vacation hover near and one almost wishes the rush and hurry were over.

After all the closing days are wonderful days. Altho surrounded with classes, examinations and long papers, why not remember how much satisfaction comes as a result of work well done? It is better not to lose courage but put one's best into his work.

The end of the year brings many good times also. Dinners, picnics, parties and banquets bring relaxation from the more serious duties and enrich one's life, leaving pleasant remembrances never to be forgotten. Then at this time the annual comes giving a pleasant review of the past months. The group of faculty and students seem bound by a closer tie than usual.

During the last week comes Commencement and all that clusters around that season which seems to be the crowning time of the year. There are various concerts and banquets, and friends and relatives gather to enjoy a few days with faculty and students.

However there is something akin to sadness as the time of parting draws near. After all L. V. C. has meant so much to each one and there is a realization that never again can the same group mingle as during the past year. Mistakes have been made too but one must not dwell too much upon these but rather remember the good qualities of the year spent together. The College has made advances in many lines this year. Why not remember these and look ahead? Next year should be a better year than L. V. C. has ever experienced.

To many the parting is only for a few short months, then the greeting again. Do not forget LaVerne College during your vacation. If she has enriched your life any, why not do something for her? Boost for her and encourage others to come to LaVerne with you. Do your best to make next year the best ever for the institution you love.

The note of sadness touches a deeper chord with the Seniors for their college days at L. V. C. are over. But L. V. C. will always be with them wherever they go, for pleasant associations received, friendships made and ideals implanted in hearts here can never be forgotten. Out in life they will have the opportunity to advance the cause of Christianity better because they have spent a few years here.

Really the best one can do for L. V. C. is to prepare for service while here and then in life do his best to advance Christ's Kingdom on earth.
H. F. W.

The members of the Campus Times staff wish to say that they have enjoyed the work on the school publication and wish to express their appreciation for the co-operation of the student body in this work. Then, especially do they wish to thank Mr. Ulrich Knoch and Mr. W. A. Bixler and their assistants at the Leader office in making the publication of the paper possible.
The Staff.

The school year of '23 and '24 is now drawing to a close and it is time to cast a forward look to the publications for next year. What do the students intend to make of the paper or of the annual? Will the work simply go on where it closed this year, with no improvement or new steps? Some think that they have done all that can be done to promote the interests of the school and feel like sitting back on their haunches, telling some one else to go ahead, and do as well as has been done. Our publications will improve each year only because of the increased co-operation and interest of the student body. We will profit thru the efforts of those who have taken new stands and worked out new ideas in former years.

Yet, the work must be taken up where it was left off and carried on to further perfection. If everyone does not do his part and add to what has been thus far accomplished, he is not benefiting the school, and the school will simply be set back in its progress. Of course each one feels his inefficiency to fulfill the task, but if he jumps in even when the water does look deep, he sometimes finds that he can swim far better than he thought. Your ideas are the ideas of the school and the publications need them. So let's get in and give a little more than we have to give, and we will find that our publications for next year will be a tremendous success.

"BOBITUS"
Now it came to pass that when Cilirinkem and Wandazootus had heard how Mollidus had taken her hair and utterly cut it off, as had done many maidens before her, that they trembled with a strong thot which came upon them as a thief in the night. And this powerful idea said, "Fear not, for lo all these thy friends shall greatly admire thee if thou wilt do this thing." And at that same hour did these maidens, passing by the dwelling of the Shirkees, hear the musical "snip, snip" of the shiny slick, skillful shears.

Then did the maidens' hearts leap with a new strength and with one accord they hearkened unto the voice of the shears and they ascended straightway to be clipped.

And there was no day like that before it or after it. And with peace they said unto Urbana, "Behold our hair is in thy hand: as it seemeth good and right unto thee to do unto us, do."

And so the slick, shiny, skillful shears descended, and the blades snipped at those locks, and they fell off. And great was the fall thereof.

And it came to pass that when these damsels of good repute came unto the school room that all the younger girls whose hair remained, they took it, on that day and smote it with the shears so that of the hairs upon them, few remained.

And so it came to pass that at the going down of the sun, LaVerne had the "bobitis" even as the sand that is upon the sea shore in multitude.

SLUMBER PARTY

What was all that noise in town last Tuesday night? It was only a slumber party at the Griggs home. The guests arrived at various times from 7 o'clock to 9:30. The purpose of this said party was to study but this seemed soon to be forgotten. The first thing to be done was to make the refreshments which consisted of ice cream and wafers. Some of the crowd found that the ice was very cold, especially when rubbed on faces or necks. The kitchen looked like a cyclone had struck it when the children got through. After the excitement was over, everybody settled down and actually studied for five minutes solid. This was too exciting to last very long and excitement reigned supreme again. The time from then on until the last two arrived was spent in curling and bobbing hair. Some of them came forth for the rest of the evening with hair that could not be surpassed for its curly wave. When the last two arrived, the ice cream and wafers which had certainly not been forgotten, were brought in and served in a very formal style. These were quickly disposed of and left no one in want.

The two extra guests then departed for their homes where they seemed to rest in peace. The rest of the wee ones found a place to rest their heads very early.

A very sound sleep was enjoyed during the time that was not spent otherwise. Everybody got up at a bright and early hour and got ready for the good breakfast of bacon and eggs. It is too bad that 7:40 classes exist but they seem necessary so everybody had to leave entirely too early. Those present were Inez Eshelman, Harriet Woody, Pearl Bailey, Alberta Maust, Olive Throne, Mable Griggs and Edythe Miller. Raymond Mahoney and Merle Butterbaugh were the two extra guests.

MARY ENTERTAINS

On Sunday, May 11, Mary Blickenstaff entertained the Dorm Girls at dinner. The girls enjoyed a delicious dinner, meat, peas, salad and everything when some one discovered that Mary was wearing a diamond. After keeping the girls in suspense for a while Mary confessed that it came from Woolworth's and Howard paid for it.

After the excitement was over, the girls finished their dinner, doing justice to delicious ice cream and angel food cake.

For a short time after dinner some of the girls were busy getting those present to put their autographs on the favor cups. Some looked at pictures, sang and played, thoroughly enjoying themselves.

Those present were Velta Platt, Mildred Harter, Kathryn Harshbarger, Lucy Cutler, Vestal Goetze, Edna Betts, Velma Noll, Susan Stoner, June Hershey, Wanda Carl, and Nellie Hylton.

ANNOUNCEMENTS ARE ALL THE STYLE

On Monday, May fifth, at nine o'clock, the sisters of the dormitory were mysteriously summoned to room No. 9, a vacant room downstairs. The room was decorated with ferns and lighted by two candles placed in the southeast corner. By invitation the guests were instructed to wear any desired costume, which in some cases appeared to be the most extreme cases of Parisian evening gowns.

After guessing a few riddles the guests were served with pink junket and Marguerites.

To the astonishment of all, there appeared, beneath each glass, a statement announcing the divorce of Susan Stoner from Ruth Emley. It was stated that the "busy-body" Pearl Witcher, was the cause of the separation.

SOCIETY

AN EVENING OF THRILLS

An invitation to Larimers is something not to be lightly regarded, so when the summons to a slumber party were sent forth to a fortunate group of girls it was most eagerly answered. Because of the season of the year and also because of the fact that a number of cases have already been reported several wise young maidens gathered at the appointed hour sure that this was to be no ordinary affair.

Just at the logical time Dena happened(?) to play the very familiar music commonly thought of as "Here Comes the Bride," and down the open stairway came a charming little bride in the person of little Miss Ruth Miller who was impersonating the real bride-to-be. She threw her bouquet of white roses, to each of which was attached a heart revealing the secret. No, it was not Alida but Miss Olive Deardorf and Mr. Ovid Barklow. Another interesting bit of information written below the pictures of the happy ones was: "Fall, 1924." After the laughter, exclamations, congratulations, and an occasional squeal from Cathryn B., the girls were led out to the dining room. The long table was most appropriately decorated with wedding bells and a miniature bride standing under an arch of ferns and orange blossoms was the centerpiece. A lovely three-course supper was served, during which every one was looking most diligently for clues which would lead to further romances and thrills. In the candy which appeared upon the scene as the last of all the good things many signs foretelling the future were found, such as wedding rings, thimbles, diamonds(?) and "what-not."

The calm and peaceful(?) spirit was soon broken by the stormy approach of a number of young gentlemen from the nearby city of LaVerne who were most anxious to find out what was going on. The wrong lady was at first congratulated but upon being informed of the true state of affairs Olive was given many good wishes for the future.

At this critical time all the guests of the evening were informed that it was not a slumber party at all and that they were expected to go home in the usual way. However, breaking up such a gathering is easier said than done, so the girls settled themselves upon the floor and proceeded to gain all the information possible concerning "how it feels" from such experienced ones as Cathryn, Cile, and Olive.

The chauffeurs present soon proved themselves very useful as at a rather late hour they transported all the guests back to their happy homes. Truly it was an evening which Olive Deardorf, Marguerite Dickey, Cathryn Byerly, Lucile Beckner, Kathryn Harshbarger, Lois M. Miller, Vera Hoover, Maurine Miller, Modena Minnich, Ruth Miller, Eva Brownsberger, and Alida and Gladys will not soon forget.

Y. W. BREAKFAST IN GANESHA

Whether the girls who went to Ganesha Park to prepare breakfast for the Y. W. girls were too sleepy because of the early hour or whether they thoughtlessly forgot the matches, is hard to tell. However, after some delay they borrowed matches from a nearby house.

Before breakfast was served to the hungry mob they enjoyed a short devotional out in God's open air, led by Ada Moothart. After singing a few songs they were served a three-course breakfast consisting of fruit cocktail, fried eggs, hamburger sandwiches and jaw breakers. (However we have not heard of a jaw being broken).

Rah! Rah! Eats Committee.

WHERE DID THEY GO?

On the evening of May 15, a few in number but old and young in experience (dorm girls) wandered to a dark hall where Edith Sink welcomed them. Here the family was introduced as "Mrs. String Bean" and daughter "Doris" and "Mrs. Armstrong" and daughters "Topsy" and "Ruthie." The group was entertained in many ways. As time passed, ice cream, animal cookies and apples were served.

The victims of this event were Ruth Emley, Kathryn Harshbarger, Nova Leonard, Pearl Whitcher, Vestal Goetze and Edith Sink.

THE BLUEBIRD'S MESSAGE

Friday, May 16, was a calm, clear day, but at the home of Mrs. B. S. Haugh excitement reigned supreme while the Misses Cora and Ruth Van Dyke, Eunice Kreps and Mrs. Earl Barnhart arranged flowers, ferns and bluebirds everywhere thruout the house. There were bluebirds encircling the chandelier, and streamers reaching to the dining table which represented a sea with shells upon the shore. Sailing upon the "sea of life" in a large gondola sat a bride with oar in hand awaiting the groom who in his little gondola was coming to join her. The bride's gondola, which she had deserted, was left near the shore.

About seven o'clock, signs of an approaching shower were seen. At seven-thirty Mrs. Haugh stepped outside to view the weather and upon seeing Miss Pauline Miller and Mr. Archie Brooks passing by, called to them and invited them into the house. Pauline accepted, saying "she had nothing else to do." As she entered the door the lights were turned on and a chorus of laughter, from the assembled guests, greeted her. After Pauline had recovered from her surprise she was escorted to the table, above which, within the circle of bluebirds, hung a magnificent yellow rose containing a gift from "the fairies." Then the "shower" was upon her. The fairies, Alice and Esther Kreps and Doris Welch, dressed in blue costumes, carried the mysterious packages to her from fairyland. Pauline seated in the honor chair, opened them with exclamations of surprise and joy, while the bluebirds from the curtains, pictures and everywhere sang their note of happiness. The many packages proved to be useful and beautiful articles for her home.

After the shower was over the guests were invited out to the "Wishing Well," from which all were to drink deeply. The bride-to-be preceded the party to the arbor, which was lighted with Japanese lanterns, where the fairies served heart shaped wafers decorated with the letters "P" and "A," and delicious punch dipped from the cleverly arranged "Wishing Well."

The guests returned to the house and were entertained by a piano solo by Modena Minnich and a song by Harry Lauder on the Victrola. Then the girls all went to Pauline's home where they were shown the beautiful and elaborate articles which filled her hope-chest.

After such a pleasant evening the guests departed wishing Pauline "the bluebird's wish of happiness." There were forty-eight guests invited to this happy affair.

MRS. ARNETT ENTERTAINS

Mrs. C. E. Arnett very delightfully entertained the Academy Sophomore English class at her home Friday evening, May 16.

A jolly crowd enjoyed a very pleasant evening playing games and redeeming forfeits. At the close of the evening the hostess served dainty refreshments of ice cream and wafers, and the happy guests reluctantly started home—with a warm spot in their hearts for Mrs. Arnett.

COLLEGE JUNIORS ROYALLY ENTERTAINED

The infant class of the College department took a plunge into the social whirl when they entertained the College Juniors on May 3 with a party in the auditorium.

From the time guests, hosts and hostesses arrived there was "something doing." Games fast and dizzy were in order all the way from tag (a new variety) to winkum. One feature of the evening which was the process of redeeming forfeits brought to light much unusual talent, musical and otherwise. The task of bestowing upon everyone present a compliment proved too much for one young Freshman who gave up in despair.

Next in order were the eats. Much mysterious moving about had been going on behind the screens with now and then a glimpse of Rose wearing an apron. Partners were secured and when the mystery was solved it proved to be fruit salad and crackers and apple pie a la mode. Was it good? Ask any Junior.

ACADEMY WIN LAST GAME

The Academy won their last league game of the season from Claremont, 8 to 4.

Kreps had no trouble at all in the box for LaVerne and held Claremont to three scattered hits and but two earned runs. The rest came by way of errors and bobbles in the infield. Bohn put in a good day at bat by getting three hits in four trips to the plate, and the team gathered in a total of seven hits.

Following is the season's batting average:

THE KITCHEN KABINET ORCHESTRA

The Kitchen Cabinet Orchestra is one of great renown; it has traveled extensively in the United States and also in Europe. LaVerne College had the Unique pleasure Saturday night, May 17, of being entertained by this orchestra which presented the unsurpassed musical comedy, "The Joy of Life." It was the story of a Scotch laddie, Robin Adair (played by Hazel Studebaker), who came to this country and entered one of the big colleges. At a party he was introduced to "Sweet Evelina" (Ruth Shock), of whom he grew very fond. After a while Robin had to return to Scotland but soon came back to America to claim his bride.

This story was well read by Miss Lois R. Miller. The reading was intermingled with strains of appropriate music such as "Love's Old Sweet Song," "Lovey Come Back," and "Yankee Doodle" by the Orchestra. The Misses Harriet Woody and Mina Throne rendered the duet, "Coming Thru the Rye," with rare technique on their costly instruments which consisted of an ice cream freezer handle and a phonograph horn.

With Madam Essing Lubinskie (Cecelia Shaffer) as the drum major and Madam Kitchenette (Miriam Shirk) as orchestra leader everything went off in fine shape.

This production was put on by the "Friendship Girls" Sunday School class in an effort to raise funds for the San Bernardino Mission.

The student body has placed a heavy responsibility upon the shoulders of the newly elected commissioners but feel confident that they are capable to meet this responsibility.

The new commission has met and organized, electing Mr. Jamison as chairman and Modena Minnich as secretary.

Chapel Notes

On Monday, May 5, the students had the pleasure of hearing a former teacher from McPherson and a returned missionary from Africa speak. Miss Frances Davidson has been a missionary to Africa for 25 years. She went into parts of the country where no white person had ever been. The people are scattered and the transportation is poor, but she enjoyed her work very much. One time in a recommendation a man said of them, "Missionaries are better than policemen." The work was very hard to start as there was no written language and the people would not send the children to school. She said to do something like that was not a question of duty but a great privilege and opportunity.

Dr. Miller as a member of the General Ministerial Board of the Church, spoke on Tuesday. The policy of the church has changed. Instead of calling people to the ministry the church has asked the young people to ask for acceptance. Dr. Miller wished to stimulate young men to think of the ministry as their life calling. There is a great opportunity to do work in this field. There are many hardships but in the end it will pay. The church needs men who are willing to pay the price now.

Rev. Hugh C. Gibson, General Secretary for the State for the S. S. Council, spoke on Wednesday. He also spoke on the need of leaders in religious education. He said "a call is to see a need"—and to realize one's ability to fill the need. Those who plan to go into fields of service should apply themselves to small tasks at home. Little service grows larger. Train for leadership in religious education and the place will open for you. One's preparation must be adequate. Some traits one must have to be a good leader are (1) be acquainted with the Bible; (2) know art of teaching the Bible; (3) have traits of leadership; (4) keep an open mind and (5) have a winsome personality.

Monday Rev. and Mrs. Charles, returned missionaries from the Philippines, spoke to the students. Mrs. Charles was formerly Miss Edna Nether. Mrs. Charles spoke on America's great contribution to the Philippines—the public school system. She briefly outlined the system and spoke of the eagerness of the young people to learn. These students are very much interested in Christianity. Mr. Charles briefly outlined the situation of the Philippines in regard to independence. The Philippines at present have a fairly stable government. The life of one is safer in the Islands than in the average American community.

The students enjoyed the talks of Mr. and Mrs. Charles very much.

President Studebaker spoke on Tuesday. In these closing days of school each one should do his best. In school each is forming a character that will last through life. If one begins to slight his work now he will do the same in later years. Then this summer find something to do and "do it with thy might." Each should spend his recreation hour in a wholesome way. Remember one can never get away from God and himself.

The greatest sin of the human race is doing less than one's best.

Thursday Mrs. Arnett led devotionals after which three of the first year public speaking class read to the students. "A New Lease of Life" was read by Rose Landis; "An Aspiring Dishwasher" by Gladys Larimer, and "Looking After the Baby" by Lloyd Studebaker. These were all very interesting and the students thoroughly enjoyed them.

Tuesday, the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. officers for the coming year were installed.

The entire chapel period Wednesday was devoted to the awarding of L's and pennants for athletics and debating. Twelve Academy girls received letters for indoor baseball. Six Academy boys received letters in basketball, four in track and ten in baseball. In the College department there were seven letter men in basketball and ten in baseball.

Debating pennants were given to the six girls who composed the Forensic teams, to the three men who debated for LaVerne and also to the four Academy interscholastic debaters.

COLLEGE SENIOR CLASS DAY

The College Seniors have been busy planning for their Class Day program. Class Day is one which means much to the heart of every Senior. The class of '24 hopes to give a program which will leave pleasant remembrances with them and one which the audience will enjoy. The College Seniors extend a hearty invitation to you to come and enjoy with them the evening of May 24.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

Out of the fog of papers, reports, collateral reading and the general buzz of closing weeks, one refreshing oasis gave the College Seniors a new lease of energy and an evening of the most pleasurable memories to carry with them as they leave LaVerne. This evening was the event of the Junior-Senior banquet on May 10, in the Ladies' Hall.

About 7 o'clock the Seniors with President and Mrs. Studebaker were conducted to the dining hall where blue and gold archways, green ferns, a dainty bubbling fountain (the handiwork of Chase), and a table in the form of an S, beautifully decorated with yellow flowers, ferns and blue and gold balloons, extended a greeting to them. They had no difficulty in finding their places by means of the ribbon place cards of "Senior Gold" as well as the clever favors in the form of blue books. These had interesting and quite prophetic titles with the authors' (Juniors' and Seniors') names below.

Dwight was toastmaster of the evening, so of course the banquet was extremely formal(?) Every Junior was sparkling with wit and merriment. The Seniors decided they were just beginning to know most of them. The Junior President was somewhat delayed in arriving but was properly excused by the toastmaster. An excellent program of fun was given, not to mention the fitting jokes from Dwight, the merriment afforded by the titles of the favors and the balloons and certain discrepancies of Chase as a member of the "set up" committee.

It can never be doubted that the Juniors are a musical class. Wanda and Lucile in duet and solos, a picked quartet from the Junior Glee Club composed of Ernest, Bert, Chase and Dwight and a mixed quartet of Wanda, Lucile, Dwight and Bert demonstrated that they could render anything from "Bubbles" to "The Lost Sheep in the Mountains."

Another feature of the evening's entertainment was the dramatic productions. Ada, after a little delay in beginning due probably to Dwight's remarks in introducing her, gave two very enjoyable readings. Cathryn Eyerly and Ernest stirred the imagination and sense of humor by giving a screened one act play.

Toasts were given by Ernest Landis and Mr. Fox, the class presidents. President Studebaker gave a short speech which was a good mixture of the serious and humorous.

If mirth was plentiful at the banquet, delicious eats were even more so. The blue and gold of the Seniors were found in several of the seven courses. Katie Garber, Velma Vaniman and Frances Arnold of the College Freshman class were very efficient waitresses.

The evening's entertainment was completed by singing the "Alma Mater Hymn." Surely as one person remarked nothing binds classes together so much as the Junior-Senior banquet and especially when the Seniors of '25 are entertaining those of '24.

COMMENCEMENT

The College is very fortunate in securing Prof. F. P. Woellner, Lecturer on Education, of the University of California, Southern Branch, to give the Commencement address. He is a speaker of high standing and in all probability will give the Seniors very timely advice. The address will be made on the subject, "The Democracy of Jesus."

The Commencement program follows:

Academic Procession.
Piano Duet—Misses Pauline Miller and Modena Minnich.
Invocation—Rev. Palmer, Ph. D.
Vocal Solo—Mrs. W. B. Pierson.
Address, "The Democracy of Jesus"—Prof. F. P. Wallace, M. A., Ph. D.
Presentation of Diplomas and Confering of Degrees—President Ellis M. Studebaker, M. A.
Announcements.
Benediction—Rev. Edgar Rothrock.

ALUMNI BANQUET

The annual Alumni banquet will be held in the College dining hall on the evening of May 26, at 7 o'clock. This annual affair is one in which every alumnus has a special interest, for it is then that old friends meet and new friends are made. The banquet promises to be a complete success this year. How could it be otherwise with Ernest Davis at the helm? Unless something unforeseen occurs to prevent, C. E. Davis, a former student and instructor of the College, will be in LaVerne to enjoy Commencement week. He will honor the Alumni Association by acting as toastmaster at their reunion on Monday night.

CLOSING PROGRAM GREATLY ENJOYED

A very interesting meeting of the Student Volunteers was held in the parlor of the Ladies' Dormitory, Wednesday evening, May 14. Since it had been announced that "Dutch" and Marie were to speak, a good crowd of nearly fifty students and friends were present.

After an opening song, Miss Gladys Larimer led a brief devotional. The group was fortunate in having Rev. and Mrs. Charles, missionaries on furlough from the Philippines, present. Mrs. Charles spoke of the pleasure of being engaged in mission work on the foreign field when one has a Christian home to carry with them. The home based on Christian principles has a large influence in reaching the natives of the Orient. In his talk Rev. Charles remarked that he enjoyed watching the growth and activities of the student and youth movements. He especially noticed it in China and in America upon his return.

It seemed good to hear Marie again. She spoke informally of their experience in practical work at Bethany. The work among the Chinese certainly proved interesting.

When "Dutch" was introduced, he led a discussion on "Stewardship," as a basis of associate membership. Other problems of vital interest were discussed and Leland answered them so very completely. After the discussion, everyone felt better acquainted with the true purpose and work of the Student Volunteer Movement.

An installation service for the recently elected officers was conducted by President Studebaker. Everyone was made to feel the responsibility of the work for next year. A consecration prayer was led by Professor Emmert.

Responses were made by the College Senior Volunteers, telling what the Volunteer groups had meant to them while in College.

An informal social hour was greatly enjoyed while refreshments of jello and cookies were served.

After singing the "Alma Mater," the group joined hands and closed with "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

Isaac Funk, who has been in the hospital as the result of an operation several months ago, is getting along very well. He is making up his work and will probably pass all his examinations. Rather a big undertaking for a freshman and under such unfavorable conditions. He is to be commended for his work.

Marion Roynon is again in school after a long siege of mumps. Everyone is glad to see him again at work.

Vice President—Dwight Welch.

Y. W. C. A. CABINETS OF '24 AND '25 ENTERTAINED

The "Y" President, Eve Brownsberger, and the President-elect, Ramah, entertained the other members of the two cabinets in the canyon. The hilarious group piled into cars and soon found themselves in the cooling shade of the canyon. The party, by varied trails and hardships, found themselves at the dam. The main attraction there was watching a drowning lizard swim slowly and spasmodically to safety in the forty feet of water. Group by group in the coolness of the evening the whole cabinet returned and assembled around the camp fire. Amid spasms of singing and talking the supper of wieners and buns, ice cream and wafers were enjoyed. As the shadows lengthened the party wended their way homeward, after cheering Eve and Ramah for the good time.

THE END OF SCHOOL

When we come to the end of our school year

There's a longing comes over the heart,

In just a few days we each go our ways,

In just a few days we will part.

As the weeks and months have gone by

What have we done that's worth while?

Have we done our best with vim and zest—

Have we carried our load with a smile?

In the hustle of our busy life
We often forget those who are sad,
They needed a lift—'tis such a small gift

To smile—if it makes others glad.

So let's finish our work with a smile,
Doing our best with good cheer
And as we pass on with a good-bye song,

We'll be planning to return next year.

RECEPTION AT PRESIDENT STUDEBAKER'S

President and Mrs. Studebaker are giving a reception to the College and Academy Seniors Wednesday evening, May 21, at 8:30. The Seniors are looking forward to this with much anticipation. President Studebaker said that a definite date has been arranged for a reception for the Seniors in future years, making such a reception an annual affair.

DEBATE

In reviewing the forensic activities of LaVerne College for the past year one finds every reason to feel encouraged. It seems that the school never had a brighter outlook in this activity than at present. Miss Griggs, the retiring Commissioner of Debate, has by her untiring efforts, done much to promote an interest in both debate and oratory. Miss Griggs wishes to express her appreciation for the splendid spirit of co-operation shown by the students during the past year.

Although Mr. Jamison, the new Commissioner of Debate, has not definitely outlined the policy to be pursued for the coming year, he has expressed his desire to make debating an activity second to none in LaVerne College. To this end he has definitely pledged to use all his wit and sarcasm.

APOLLO CLUB MEETING

A meeting of the Apollo Club was held at the Home of Modena Minnich Monday evening, May 12. A very interesting time was spent discussing Professor Haugh's former bashfulness. Professor Haugh's!! Can you imagine it. He says that when he played his first piano piece in public the whole keyboard became as black as night, and all he could do was to feel gently around for a few minutes, then grope his way back to his seat. (Blessed young 'un).

Then since Modena hadn't had any supper and she wanted to be sure and have the eats, refreshments of chocolate and wafers were served. A delightfully informal program was then enjoyed. After a short business session, the party adjourned.

SENIOR C. W. ENTERTAIN PASADENA YOUNG PEOPLE

On Saturday evening, May 10th, the Senior C. W. entertained the Pasadena Young People. Several "get acquainted" games were played and refreshments of ice cream and wafers were served at the close of the evening. A good time was enjoyed by all. The LaVerne students would be glad to have the Pasadena Young Folks back again and get better acquainted.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

The Academy Seniors were delightfully entertained at a banquet given by the Juniors in their honor on May 3, in the dormitory dining hall.

The guests were received in the dormitory parlor and later conducted to the banquet hall. A beautiful effect had been achieved in decorations, using a color scheme of red and white, the Senior class colors. Narrow strips of crepe had been crossed and re-crossed over the entire room, forming a fairy arbor of lattice work above the tables. There were cunning red and white doilies at each place and favor cups filled with mints and red candy hearts. Great jars of roses were placed at intervals on the table.

The delicious food was served in the following menu:

Fruit Cocktail
Soup
Chicken Peas Potatoes
Rolls

Butterfly Salad

Strawberries Cake

Excellent table service was rendered by the Freshman class.

The Seniors were entertained between courses with a splendid program. Cecelia Shaffer as toastmistress "pulled some over" on those who furnished the entertainment but each time they "got it back" on her.

There were toasts by President Studebaker, Dr. Miller, and Wayne Bohn. Prof. Haugh sang several delightful songs. Harriet Woody gave a jolly reading and Aileen Rothrock a pianologue which won the hearts of everyone.

Chester Shirk played several saxophone solos, closing the evening by expressing the sentiment of all with "A Perfect Day."

COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

President Ellis M. Studebaker, M. A. Subject: "The Man with a Vision."

BACCALAUREATE SERMON

Frederic P. Woellner, Ph. D., Lecturer on Education, University of California, Southern Branch. Subject: "The Democracy of Jesus."

C. W. OFFICERS ELECTION AND INSTALLATION

Sunday evening, May 11, the young peoples' department of the Church elected the officers for the coming year. The organization is in the form of a commission and the following officers were elected:

President or General Chairman—Howard Beckner.

Chairman of Religious Education Department—Alida Larimer.

Chairman of Welfare and Social Department—Mary Blickenstaff.

Chairman of Practical Service Department—Olive Pobst.

Chairman of Management and Finance Department—Wilbur Hoke.

Last Sunday evening the pastor installed the above officers. With such leaders, the outlook for next year is bright.

EXCHANGE

In this the last issue of the Campus Times for 1923-24 it is fitting to express the appreciation of the whole student body and faculty, as well as the staff for our exchanges. These have kept the school in touch with other schools on the Pacific Coast as well as in all parts of the United States. The "Exchange Table" in the library has been very popular all through the year. We have received much from our exchanges and we hope that other schools have received at least a portion of benefit from the Campus Times and have enjoyed it as much as we have enjoyed their papers.

The Deputation Team made its last trip last Sunday, when the young people went to Hemet. A very enjoyable day was spent. After the program was given at the church everyone except Mr. and Mrs. Jamison went with Owen Gibble to his home. After a wonderful dinner, Owen took the whole crowd for a long auto ride out through the hills to Little Lake and the Ramona Bowl. It is needless to say that the group very reluctantly left for home about five o'clock. Due to machine trouble, boatrides and numerous other trouble, half of the group didn't arrive home until—late.

ACADEMY CLASS OF '24

This class is one of the largest ever graduated from LaVerne Academy, thirty-two in number. The class has not only numbers, but it also excels in quality.

The class has had more representatives in school athletics than any other class in the Academy, and the class is proud of this record. Besides this there are other things too numerous to mention which makes the class of '24 one which will be missed. The class roll follows:

Ruth Shock, Wayne Bohn, Nova Leonard, Virgil Brook, Ruth Blocher, Glen Kreps, Ethel Dresher, Merlin Yoder, Ruth Van Dyke, Russel Frantz, Olive Shirk, Merle Butterbaugh, Olive Throne, Raymond Mahoney, Opal Studebaker, Clement Boyd, Pearl Bailey, Fred Neher, Inez Eshelman, Harold Brownsberger, Minnie Dickey, Lloyd Emmert, Annabelle Huberty, Urbin Hartman, Irene Brooks, Orville Brooks, Mable Griggs, Frank Gillette, Miriam Shirk, Galen Root, Nellie Frantz, Lois R. Miller.

ACADEMY "CLASS DAY"

"Class Day" is an event to which every class looks forward as one of the bright spots in the Senior year. This year the Academy Seniors are planning their class day with a great deal of pep and vim and it is hoped that it will be very successful.

Perhaps you are wondering just what the program is going to be—well, you come Saturday morning and see.

ACADEMY SENIORS LEAD PRAYER MEETING

Pastor Rothrock had a brilliant inspiration not so very long ago and asked each Senior class to lead one Wednesday evening prayer meeting. Last Wednesday evening was the Academy Seniors' turn. The subject discussed was "The Apostles Making Good," and a very good program was given. President Wayne Bohn as chairman led devotions. Miriam Shirk was chorister, Olive Shirk gave a reading and special music was given by two quartettes. The topics of the Apostles' lives were discussed by other members of the class.

BIG AND LITTLE SISTERS

Hardly is this true as to size, but as to help and sisterly feeling it is remarkably so. Last year the College girls each were given the name of three prospective students for L. V. C. These girls then corresponded with them, so as to break the ice somewhat. In this way new students do not feel quite so unknown when they get here.

This year the same idea is being developed. Each new girl when she arrives next year will have a big sister to meet her at the train; help her enroll, and introduce her to the other students. Don't you wish you were going to be a new student next year?

This is only one of the many good plans sponsored by the Y. W. C. A.

APPRECIATION

As Commissioner of Publications for the past year, I wish to express my appreciation and gratitude to the students who have put so much time and effort in making publications the success they have been this year.

The "Orange Blossom" staff have edited an annual this year of which they, as well as the student body, can well be proud. No one can realize the amount of work a book of its calibre represents upon the part of each member of the staff until he has made the effort himself. An appreciation is extended to each member of the staff, especially to the ones who expended so much effort in making it a financial success.

The editing and publishing of the "Campus Times" is a work which is open to a wider range of criticism than the annual and represents more extended labor. It represents an effort which deserves the gratitude of the whole student body and I wish to commend each individual member of the "Campus Times" staff, who by their individual and co-operative work contributed to the success of that publication. Especially I wish to thank the editor-in-chief for her co-operation and perseverance in making the paper a success.
