VARSITY CAGERS NOSE OUT OXY TIGERS, 32-31

Tigers Lead at Half; Leo Brought on the Scene and Situation Changes

THOMASON IS STAR OF GAME

The battling Leopards of LaVerne College passed their way to close 32-31 basket ball victory over Occidental Friday night in a high Southern California conference tilt. The contest was played at the Glendale high school gymnasium, before a large crowd.

By virtue of their victory the Leopards are now in third position in the conference standings, ranked behind San Diego and Redlands, who lost three contests.

Coach Lee Eisan's outfit played a fast passing attack kept in the lead at the top. Oxy attempted to stop the Green scoring threat with a man-for-man defensive. The Leopards came out after their men, but by playing fast ball they managed to cut down the number of shots at the basket.

Headed by Orville Thomason, center, the Leopards played strong defensive ball, although they wasted many chances to score. Thomason was the outstanding Green for man, and he won high-scoring honors of the evening with 15 points.

Thomason and Dimter were the scoring threats in this period, but they staged a merry battle for individual honors. The Tiger skipper garnered 14 points during the first half.

The score was tied at 20-all after 15 minutes had been played in the second half. LaVerne, then took the advantage, on baskets by Thomason and Dimter. The playing time was faster. In eight minutes the count was knotted again, 27-all. Eight minutes remained to play, but it was still anybody's ball game. Blee, a substitute, sank a shot to bring Occidental a point behind LaVerne. Field goals by Stutzman of the Leopards, and Hunt of Oxy, soon after sent the score to 30-28 favoring Oxy. Thomason shot a field goal, put LaVerne ahead with four minutes remaining.

For nearly three minutes play continued fast, but no scores were made. Then Snell sunk a foul shot—what eventually became the winning basket of the game.

As the timer raised his pistol, Thomason shot a Tiger substitute—scored a field goal, making the score 32-31. He was given a free throw just as the gun barked. He missed.

It was a game to test the stamina of both teams and play was high throughout. Nineteen free throws were given, LaVerne making six out of ten, and Oxy scoring out of nine. Thomason was the man to leave the tilt via the back route. He made his fourth shot in the closing minutes of the game.

Eisan opened the fracas with

Times Staff Holds Meeting

Making Efforts to Get the Paper Out on Time

The Campus Times staff held a meeting in the Campus Times room Wednesday, Feb. 25, at 10:25. The main discussion centered about ways and means for getting the paper out on time.

The advertisers object to putting their ads in the paper because they cannot be sure just when the paper will appear, and they are apt to lose a great deal of money. Campus Times also loses money by being late, because the merchants will not put in their ads.

The editor, Everett Calvert, suggested that we make the Campus Times a bi-weekly paper. He said he spent two days of hard work on work was late. Two many objections were raised to put over this idea of a bi-weekly. There will be no question about the paper's appearance on a given day. The advertisers and readers will be pleased, and the news will be new, instead of several days old.

Wednesday, March 4, at 10:25 the staff will have another meeting. Everyone please be there, as these meetings are important.

Debaters Defeat Whittier

SEVERAL CONFABS THIS WEEK

This week's debating activities bring us a record of another conference debate won by LaVerne. Thursday night, Feb. 26, LaVerne's crack affirmative team composed of Chalmer Faw and Everett Calvert journeyed to Whittier, where they administered a two to one beating to the Whittier pair.

This marks the third conference debate to be won by a LaVerne team and brings us a mid-season conference standing of five hundred per cent.

The affirmative team has won two out of three contests, while the negative team, Vaniman and Cunningham, has been forced to drop two of their three contests.

Two conference matches remain on the schedule. The affirmative team meets Caltech's negative team at LaVerne Tuesday evening, March 3, and the LaVerne negative team finishes the argument with Whittier at LaVerne Wednesday evening, March 4.

Both teams are now debating in their best form and should win both of this week's contests; however, the judges must be convinced of that fact before it is at all certain.

CALENDAR

Tuesday—Men's debate, L. V. C. affirmative vs. Caltech negative, here, 8:00 p. m.

Wednesday—Junior class party at the big Rollerdom, Culver City. Student Volunteer meeting.

Thursday—Men's debate, L. V. C. negative vs. Whittier affirmative, here, 7:30 p. m.

Friday—Everyone come to student meeting and see the Sophs do their stuff!

Saturday—Basket ball AT POMONA. Last game of the season. Everyone show your beaming face at the Pomona College gym Saturday night.

Sunday—Apollos at Orange Presbyterian church, 7:30 p. m.

Monday—Y. M. C. A. Roughhouse in the gym. Breaking of limbs will not be tolerated. Orchestra practice 7:30 p. m. every Monday night.

Drama Class to Give Plays

READY FOR PRESENTATION BY MAR. 11

Three One-act Plays to Make Up Evening Program

By March 11 the Advanced Dramatics class will have ready for public presentation three one-act plays of varied and entertaining natures. A small entrance fee will be charged which will go toward the purchase of stage equipment.

"He," which is being directed by Elizabeth Masterson, is a story of the sea written by Eugene O'Neill. The cost is as follows:

Capt. Keeney.....Doyle Montz
Mrs. Keeney.....Frances Bishop
Mr. Slocum, the mate, George Berg
The Steward.....Glenn Harmon
Ben, the cabin boy, Orlin Vaniman
Joe, the harpooner (to be supplied).

Stage and costume management are in the hands of George Berg and Fern Bowman.

Orlin Vaniman and Opal Kuns are directing "Hunger," a morality play the theme of which is contained in the words of the maxim, "It is better to hunger than to know the disillusionment of satisfaction." The personnel of the cast includes the following:

The Beggar.....Glen Harmon
The Poet.....George Berg
The Man.....Doyle Montz
The Girl.....Constance Horning
The Satisfied One, Ed Cunningham

The last of the plays, "The Terrible Woman," written by Wilbur Daniel Steele, is a story of the eternal triangle in which the most capable woman wins.

It is under the direction of Kay Crist and Ardeth Horning. The cast has been chosen as follows:

Mrs. Martha Hume, Gladys Ikenberry
Mary Longbow, Constance Horning
Christopher Hume.....Jerry Deal
Talbot Hume.....(to be supplied)

Some of LaVerne's best dramatic talent is to be displayed in these productions, so don't miss them.

This week also holds in store two non-conference debates. Calvert and Faw, affirmative, meet Pasadena College, negative, at LaVerne tonight at 8 p. m. in Founders Hall, while DeHart and Vaniman, negative for LaVerne, meet Pasadena College in Pasadena. Both of these will be non-decision and promise to be interesting.

Last week was a bad one for debates—two scheduled debates literally "blew up." The debate an-

Emmert Talks in Chapel

"Fellowship with Jesus" Subject of Address

Thursday morning Dr. Emmert told the chapel-goers of what friendship with Jesus should consist.

In the first place, there should be mutual self-revelation and trust. Among your college friends there are only one or two with whom you can be really intimate, or to whom you can reveal yourself. This feeling of confidence is a result of a gradually growing trust that matures in mutual self-revelation. Christ revealed himself to his disciples. In the Bible God endeavors to reveal himself to us.

Mutual self surrender is the second requirement of friendship with Jesus. Sometimes one friend is willing to give and give to another while the recipient is satisfied to do nothing but take. Such a situation makes a one-sided friendship. Jesus is a friend who gave his all and in return He asks us to leave everything material and follow Him. He said that if a man loved his money, his father, his mother, or anything else, he could not be his disciple.

The third requirement is having some community of interests. We have to understand the ways of God in order to enter into a friendship with Him. His friends must be our friends.

If we look at our connection with God as a friendship based upon these three requirements, it will seem more real to us.

Orchestra Elects Officers

PROGRAM TO BE GIVEN EVEN SOON

The college orchestra, at its regular rehearsal Monday night, elected the following officers:

Howard Green, director; Tad Davis, secretary-treasurer; George Berg, librarian; Robert Walker, string director; Dan Stover, brass director; Ellsworth Replogle, publicity manager; Aubrey Calvert and Kenneth Heckman, field managers; and Frances Bishop, social chairman.

An announcement was made that the orchestra will rehearse every Monday evening at 7:30 p. m.

The orchestra is working intently in preparation for a program to be given in the near future. Also

Returned Mission- ary Speaks

Mr. Lorbeer Tells of Prob- lems in India

During last Tuesday's chapel period Lloyd Lorbeer, a graduate of Pomona College and for fourteen years a missionary in India, told the chapel audience of several of the problems which have to be contended with by a missionary in India.

The first of these was the problem of the outcast. This is largely a matter of custom and can be changed only gradually. Among the educated classes this custom is being rejected, but the uneducated classes hold to it tenaciously; and since the illiteracy rate is set at 92 per cent, it does not seem as if caste will be abolished soon.

To introduce new conveniences into the industrial processes in India is the hardest task of all. For instance, in trying to improve agricultural methods by bringing in new and better implements, the aversion of people not only has to be overcome, but also the natural environment.

In dealing with the problem of conversion there are two types that have to be considered, horizontal and vertical. The former refers to mass conversion, while the latter tends to move people upward or Christward. In vertical conversion the emphasis is placed on Christ. This seems to be the more stable of the two types.

The evil of denominationalism amongst the missionaries is a great stumbling block in abolishing the caste system, for it tends to perpetuate caste in the various religions established.

As long as Ghandi is the political leader nationalism will be based upon religious principles, because he makes religion a part of his political platform but there are some who are becoming impatient with Ghandi's efforts to win by love and faith.

The final problem is making the Christian community a unity with other religious communities instead of making a new caste of it.

Forensic Club is En- tertained

New Members Initiated

A most delightful party was given by Neva Snell at her home in San Bernardino for the Forensic Club on Thursday evening, Feb. 25. The main business of the evening was the initiation of new members. The following are now full-fledged members: Royal Glick, Mary Hollinger, Eleanor Shepp, and Virginia Scarisbrick. The remainder of the evening was spent in playing rook. High score for men was won by Prof. Brubaker, while high score for women went to Kay Crist. Virginia Scarisbrick collected the booby prize. Lovely refreshments were served.

groups are practicing feature numbers to be included in the program.

Campus Times Program Give

STUDS. ENJOY PERIOD OF ENTERTAINMENT

After several announcements the editor of the Campus Times, Everett Calvert, was introduced and an entertaining program followed in the Associated Students meeting Friday, Feb. 27.

The first scene opened with Fr. Mahoney studying at a small table, supposed to be studying! Jerry Deal came in, then, and looking over his mail, found a Campus Times. It was great fun listening to the reports of events and alumni notes from the "future."

After several minutes they came across a program that was read and acted.

1. Solo, "You Loved Me Still the Same," by Frances Berg, accompanied by Elizabeth Lehman.

2. A pantomime, accompanied on piano by Elizabeth Lehman: Ruth Bishop—the flapper girl. Ed Ohanesian, "petting" boy. Plot—After school a little girl and boy were walking home. The boy offered to take her home and she accepted. The car stopped and he started a necking party. Of course she became furious—and he got slapped! Then because all the tires went flat she "roller skated" home.

3. A sextet, composed of Orville Thomason, Ed Ohanesian, "Chuck" Manning, Doyle Montz, George Berg, and Everett Calvert. They sang—but how they sang! of no interest! One by one as the harmony wavered, they were taken out and shot, until at last "Tommy" had to shoot himself.

4. Solo, "To Whom It May Concern," and "I Surrender, Dear," by Gladys Ikenberry. She was accompanied byelda Scheller.

Mr. Calvert adjourned the meeting by requesting the students to go to their 11:05 classes.

There were several announcements:

1. The varsity basket ball team plays the Occidental team at Glendale high school gym at 8 p. m. Feb. 27.

2. The girls of L. V. C. have joined the Pacific Basket Ball League. The team played its first game, the Y. W. C. A. Cubs of Pomona, Thursday night and won 28-10. Let's support the girls' team. Just ask "Nick."

3. "Red" Weybright announced the "Roughhouse" that is to be held in the gym March 9.

4. A green plaid blanket was lost at the beach at the picnic. Will the person who "picked it up" return it to Elbert Ebersole.

5. The Lambda staff is sponsoring a contest to be held here next week. A basket ball queen is to be chosen. She must be the girl who most represents LaVerne College.

Monday the classes will choose one girl from each class.

Tuesday—The names will be posted on the bulletin board.

Wednesday and Thursday the students will vote for the best girl. Each vote will cost one cent, so come and vote as often as you can.

CAMPUS TIMES PLATFORM

1. The abolition of the present grade system and a system of satisfactory and unsatisfactory put in its place.
2. The substitution of honesty, the honor spirit, and later an honor system for present unfair grade-seeking tactics.
3. The building of a suitable trophy case in which to display "Leo" and intercollegiate awards.

Let's Do Something About These Things!

Last week, it was announced in a box on the front page that some social changes suggested by our leaders would be revealed here; so here goes.

After "Dad" Elliott's visit to LaVerne a short time ago, nearly twenty-five student leaders met in the Campus Times room on a Thursday afternoon to see if something couldn't be done for our social status. Some of the following subjects were suggested and discussed:

1. An understanding between the students and faculty on the subject of cards.
2. More co-operation among club leaders in arranging dates for their meetings.
3. The usurping of the Wednesday 10:25 period by the Choral Union when the period was originally left vacant for a mens' glee club and class and club meetings.

Those were three of the main topics of discussion at the meeting.

Then a week or so ago a meeting of several leaders of so-called secret organizations was arranged and their organizations discussed. Two of these organizations, like the Y. B. girls, will probably either lay their constitutions on the table and come into campus social life as clubs or else students should wake up and find some more severe way of solving this problem.

The above briefly sums up a few of the vital causes of the social stagnation which now grips the college.

The writer suggests that student leaders—which includes club presidents, the commission, and graduate managers—stop coasting along and do something. Nothing can possibly be accomplished by sitting around and lamenting out the conditions now prevalent.

1. If fraternities and sororities are evils on our campus their members should co-operate with other students in changing the situation. On the other hand, if campus life and the future existence of the college depends on these organizations, let's incorporate them in campus life.
2. If there are more important student functions than the Choral Union which should meet Wednesday at 10:25, let's have the Choral Union change its time of meeting.

Send or hand in your opinions, suggestions, and solutions Friday noon, and a tentative platform for a solution of these problems will be published next week. (Put your articles in the Campus Times Box in the student lobby or the editor's desk in the Campus Times room.)

Campus Chuckles

George Weybright: "Is a chicken big enough to eat when it is three weeks old?"

Dayton Stutzman: "Why, of course not."

George: "Well, how does it live, then?"

Elwyn Boly: "Do you make life-sized enlargements of all pictures?"

EIGHT RULES TO SOLVE MATRIMONY PROBLEMS

1. Marry someone you love.
2. Pick a mate with a personality to match your own.
3. Avoid trial marriages—you can't get married on probation.
4. Stick to monogamy. One mate is plenty.
5. Have no faith in "emotional vacation" theories.
6. Learn the art of living together.
7. Marry between the ages of 22 and 30.

—By Dr. Hornell Hart, Bryn

Last issue had a headline about Caltech giving the Leopard supporters a scare. I do not know about my garters gettin' scared, but I sho' war nervous a time or two.

Fair Solicitor: "Will you help the Working Girls' Home?"

Fred Mahoney: "Sure, where are they?"

Not so hot, said the man, as he froze to death.

Miss Lenhardt: "How would you ask for water in Paris?"

"Red" Montgomery: "Who would want water in Paris?"

Fred Hubbell: "Whoever he is, there is a dirty sneak crook on this squad. In the past week I've lost a pair of Caltech shoes, an Oxy sweater shirt, a pair of San Diego pants, and a couple of Santa Barbara towels."

Max Forney: "I want to die with my boots on."

Elizabeth Lehman: "Why?"

Max Forney: "So I won't hurt my toe when I kick the bucket."

Lorena Michael: "I'm stuck on this chemistry problem."

I DOUBT IT

When two red lips are turned to your own,

With no one to gossip about it,

Do you pray for endurance to leave them alone?

Maybe you do, but I doubt it.

When a dear little hand you're permitted to hold,

With a velvety softness about it,

Do you think you would drop it as if it were cold?

Maybe you would, but I doubt it.

When a dear little head is close to your own,

With little ringlets about it,

Do you look at your hand and say you must go?

Maybe you do, but I doubt it.

When a dear little waist is in reach of your arms,

With a wonderful roundness about it,

Do you argue the point whether it's right or wrong?

Maybe you do, but I doubt it.

ATTENTION! SENIORS ON PARADE

Anna Emmert lives in LaVerne, and is the daughter of one of our "profs." She is a likeable girl and possesses a winsome smile.

She is a member of the Sunshine Quartet, Chi Delta Chi, and the Choral Union.

Anna had the feminine lead in "David and Goliath," and was excellent in her role.

Next year Anna is expecting to attend graduate school. Where? She is undecided as yet. Anna has ambitions to become a public school music teacher. We are certain you will make a great success, and we wish you a heap of luck.

Ruth Gibbell—yes, she is a senior this year and her home town is way over in Hemet, Calif. Ruth is a happy, jolly girl and is always a good sport. Her motto may be, "Away sorrow, care will kill a cat." Who knows!

She is a member of the Chi Delta Chi, and her chief interest is dramatics. Last year she was a member of the Junior play cast, while recently she was cast in a one-act play, "Thursday Evening," sponsored by Chi Delta Chi, which was a huge success.

After graduation, Ruth can probably be found out on the road, scouting for a school teaching position. One consolation, "Gibb," is that you won't be alone. Certainly success will find its road to you, and happiness, too.

Paul Funk is "Ikies" brother, and he too lives in Charter Oak, Calif. He is a quiet, serious-minded fellow who manages to get along.

While interviewing Paul the other day, he informed me that he has ambitions to become an educated farmer—a bachelor, too. So far so good—but we are wondering what he is going to do with his school teacher friend. "Time reveals all," so suppose we will wait. Remember, Paul, girls like bachelors. Careful!

He is a member of the Varsity Club, manager of the tennis team, and his interest rests in the field of science. Watch your step, Paul. We are for you.

Mr. Hamilton: "Was that a knock at the door?"

Viola Smith: "No, it was only an idea of mine trying to get out."

Ruth Rothrock: "I just adore dark men."

Ray Wilkerson: "You ought to have a good time in Africa, then."

Cy Nical Comments

The first thing we know we will have the Mexicans pasturing their cows, goats, and little kids on our front lawn. Mein jammer, that lawn hasn't been mowed for so long that Rip Van Winkle would feel comfortable taking a nap on it. Another thing, some of the fellows can't hunt for four leaf clovers because they can't dig down to where they grow. What has the student gardener done—taken a vacation or just left the country?

Of all the disconcerting things, the mirror in the boys' bookroom takes the cake. It has been broken for about a month, but no steps have been taken to remedy it. There are so many different pieces which are at so many different angles that when you look in one piece to comb your hair you are likely to gouge yourself in the ear or scratch the back of your neck. It reminds me of playing tiddler-winks in a bathtub. You never know where you are going to hit next.

What a contrast! Beach day everyone was so full of pep that he didn't know what to do. All could run, swim, or fall down, and think nothing of it. On Tuesday, the following day, I almost believed we had a bunch of old people going to school. Every time some of them started to sit they had a painful reminder that they had been to the beach. Aren't humans odd? We kick because we can't have lots of fun, and then make all sorts of faces when we have to pay for having it.

This is a personal opinion, so the more you disagree with it, the less I care. I do not believe we should have so much compulsory stuff in the curriculum. We as students take these courses with the wrong attitude, because we feel that we have to take them. Many times they are not made as interesting as they might be, and we get the wrong conception of the subject. I think that most of the compulsory courses should be made elective and taught in an interesting way, and I believe there would be a larger attendance and more good derived by the student.

We have an excellent looking letter rack but as far as I can see it is used only for dunks and D notices. What is that rack good for if we as students do not use it. We worry because we can't reach certain people about important matters, yet it would be simple if we would take advantage of the letter rack. All we have to do is use it and watch it.

I have said it before, but I am going to say it again. What is the reason the constituency is so callous to the condition of the stage? They stress a lot of old books and let the means of putting what they teach into practice go to thunder. Of all the positively hopeless, useless, and inadequate stages, we have the best. Why can't the stage be included in some of these annual appropriations? Remember, this is college and not kindergarten.

Heh! Heh! All cupid has to do around this school is stand flat-footed and cover his eyes and then throw an arrow, and it will be sure to hit a couple of lovesick Frosh. I never saw such an epidemic of porch-sitters as we are having. I almost believe an endurance contest is being staged, but when I look the second time I see that the porch sitters are usually two Frosh all wrapped up—I mean interested—in each other.

Some of our fellows who always have an excuse ready, like Ed might be able to solve the problem of how we fellows are going to look collegiate in the style which were displayed here a few days ago and how we are going to make the purse conform to the idea. I suppose that is a social logical question and should be referred to Prof. Cullen. It is by me; if Prof. Cullen can figure a way out of it I will appreciate

When it comes to playing volleyball, I think Red Weybright and Coach Eisan both missed their callings. I never heard two fellows make more noise and say less and yet crab at the other in a game than they did at the beach. I think they would both make good caddies in miniature golf courses.

Of all the silly, foolish, and asinine actions and attitudes that may be, one of them is possessed by all but four or five of the Freshman class. The one which needs guidance in the choosing of a vocation most, are laughed, winked at each other, their crass ignorance, and chapel last Thursday, seeming proud of themselves for escaping a very valuable chance to whether their choice of a vocation corresponded with their likes, dislikes in recreations, sports, subjects, etc. This goes for some of the minded sophs and upper classmen too. Learn to evaluate your opportunities!

A suggestion to the Seniors. You are so anxious to do something for posterity, why don't you donate a secluded bench somewhere for the Frosh. Some of the people would be relieved of the staring glances which they have to endure, and it might not go over so bad with some of the seniors. The way, make it on hinges, so won't sit right unless a nickel is dropped in the slot, and then put on a time clock and kick 'em after fifteen minutes. The seeds might go towards women's athletics.

I noticed in the last issue Leo has been frightening stenogs. I imagine that he continues to do so because the phy case will probably be coming about as fast as some of the equipment that is needed on the stage. Scaring the stenogs doesn't create any spirit, and wasn't dedicated to such a purpose. Let's get him out where we can hear him.

The Alumnus And His College

When President Hopkins told the American Alumni Council that the alumni body of a college is the college, he put into words an idea that has been lying unexpressed in the minds of nearly all Dartmouth men. It is rather a magnificent thought to one who is a member of a college community to feel that the college at hand is but the symbol of the interest and concern of thousands of alumni scattered over the earth. It thrills one to think that a piece of news bringing information of new achievement, progress, or deed well done will quicken the hearts of all the graduates, and it makes one realize as well the pain and chagrin that comes to these hearts when the news of something unfavorable is reported. The success or non-success of athletic teams brings only ripples of pleasure or disappointment; serious letters begin to pour in to college officials only when alumni believe that changes in policy or administration are concerned. And while the college is the alma mater to its undergraduates it stands perhaps in the position of a favorite child to the alumni, and each alumnus who concerns himself with an expression of opinion regards the college as a thing distinctly his own. The sum total of this individual feeling of ownership marks the college as a symbol upon which is focused the attention and regard of all the alumni.

And in saying that the college is the alumni, one quickly disposes of a number of trite phrases such as, "if it wasn't for the alumni we could do this or that," or "the alumni are a great nuisance," or "the alumni care only for football tickets." One need only edit an alumni publication and read the letters which come to the office, letters which do not find their way into the "letter column" because of requests on the part of the writers. These letters for the most part show the greatest concern in the really vital things of college—the curriculum, the health of the students, the maintenance of worthy traditions—and the tone of all letters is the tone of an anxious father solicitous for the welfare of a child.—Dartmouth Alumni Magazine.

GRADES FOR PROFS.?

WITE BEA GOOD IDEA

In the last issue of the Yellow Crab there appeared a satire in which the position of the professor and the students in the classroom was reversed. The professor was forced to listen to old jokes, long dissertations on dry subjects, and was subjected to withering cross examinations by the students.

The only thing needed to make the reversal complete was for the students to grade the professor. Audacious as this idea may seem at first, perhaps the grading of professors by students would not be such a bad practice.

Just as each professor at the end of the term turns in a grade on every student in his classes, so could each student turn in a grade on each of the professors under whom he has taken work during the semester. Not all of the grades would be exactly fair, but can it be said that all the grades received by students from the professors are exactly fair? Most students are fair minded enough to grade their professors on a fair basis and not let their prejudices enter into their decision to any great extent.—The DePauw.

STUDENT SOCIAL LIFE

Faculty Notes

Professor Travis traveled with the boys to the basket ball game at San Diego, and spent the week-end in Newport.

It has been the privilege of a number of our faculty to attend the operas in Los Angeles. Prof. and Mrs. Brubaker attended Die Walkure, Tuesday night; Prof. Travis saw Il Pagliacci Wednesday night; Mr. and Mrs. Haugh and Prof. Travis attended Aida Friday night.

Prof. Brubaker was a judge at a debate between Citrus Junior College and Glendale Junior College Wednesday afternoon, February 25. He was critic judge at a debate between Citrus High School and Alhambra High School, at Citrus.

Mr. and Mrs. Eisan report a keen time at San Diego and Tia Juana Saturday, February 21.

Vacations of Doubtful Value

Parties and Good Times Necessitate Convalescing Period

There's a quaint belief that vacations were meant for recreation, rest, relaxation. Yet the average longshoreman, hod-carrier, or miner would instantly strike if he were asked to do anywhere near the amount of work that the party-hound does in the course of an evening when he thinks he's out getting fun. This fact alone will refute all statements to the effect that the American has no sense of humor. He can't feel that he's enjoying himself unless he works himself into such a state of utter exhaustion that he can't climb up from under the table. He doesn't reach the supreme heights of pleasure until he has made himself completely insensible to all stimuli whatsoever.

Meanwhile colleges have assumed a complementary function. Instead of being educational factories they have become places of convalescence and recuperation. If properly used they can furnish good pre-season training.—The Dartmouth.

Die Luft ist kühl und es dunkelt,
Und ruhig flieszt der Rhein;
Der Gipfel des Berges funkelt
Im abendsonnenschein.

De schönste jungfrau sitzt,
Dort oben wunderbar,
Ihr goldnes Geschmeide blitzet,
Sie kämmt ihr goldenes Haar.

Sie kämmt es mit goldenen Kamme,
Und singt ein lied dabei,
Das hat eine wundsame,
Gewaltige melodei.

Den Schiffer im kleinen Schiffe
Ergreift es mit wildem weh,
Er schaut nicht die Felsenriffe,
Er schaut nur hinauf in die Höh.

Ich glaube, die wellen verschlingen
Am Ende Schiffer und Kahn;
Und das hat mit ihrem Singen
Die Lorelei getan.

—Heine

Seniors Hold Class Meeting

Commencement Speaker is Subject of Discussion

The Seniors held another of their regular class meetings Tuesday evening, Feb. 24, in the Women's "Y" room.

This meeting was very short, being called to select a speaker for commencement exercises in June of this year.

Caps and gowns were also discussed. Gowns will be procured from the choir of the Church of the Brethren, and caps will be rented from another source.

Homer Kreps: "How far can you count, Jerry?"

Jerry Deal: "One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, jack, queen, king."

Miss Mina Shirk of San Bernardino spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Shirk. She reports a very pleasant surprise party tendered her by her friends at Victorville a week ago when she made them a week-end visit.

Mrs. Kathryn Harshbarger Root is the supply teacher in the grade schools in Calipatria and other nearby places this winter. Her husband, Ernest Root, teaches in the high school in Calipatria.

Frank Ebersole is building a home for a friend in Coachella.

Miss Mineva Neher plans to sail from China in a few weeks on her first furlough as a missionary. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Neher and will spend some time in LaVerne.

Herman Landis will be business manager of Camp LaVerne again this year and his wife, Hazel Minnich Landis, will be camp nurse this year. Herman reports that the camp will be occupied practically all summer.

Dwight Welch and his wife, Viola Neher Welch, and Howard Beckner and his wife, Cathryn Byerly Beckner, all of Monrovia, spent Sunday in LaVerne.

Miss Eunice Kreps, Virgil Neher and his wife, Olive Stayer Neher, Harvey Brubaker and his wife, Beulah Smith Brubaker, Galen Root and his wife, Minnie Dickey Root, and Galen Smith were in the group of people who attended the celebration in Red Rock Canyon Monday, Feb. 23. This celebrated the opening of a complete road between Lancaster and Lone Pine.

Lois Martha Miller Yochem directed the music at the Imperial Co. Fair Saturday evening, Feb. 21, it being Brawley evening. Her 50-piece orchestra, her junior girls' glee club, her senior girls' glee club, boys glee club and ukelele club all participated. A huge platform had been erected in one of the large tents. Mrs. Yochem is supervisor of music in the four Brawley schools and two nearby ones.

Everyone was delighted to see Lois Ruth Miller Dixon and her husband, Harold Dixon, of Kingsburg in LaVerne recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Funderburg spent Monday in Palm Canyon.

FOREIGN STUDENTS!

They all have their admirable qualities, these children of foreign birth, but the Chinese stand out in my mind above all the rest. How homesick he must often be, ten thousand miles from home and amid a civilization wholly different from his own. But he seldom if ever shows this feeling. What a struggle he must have with our language, so different from his own, but I have sometimes listened with my head down to a Chinese student speaking and I could scarcely detect either a faulty idiom or a foreign accent. Whatever he undertakes he does well. He never omits a courtesy or fails to acknowledge a favor shown him. He adjusts himself almost immediately to our customs and adopts our conventions. I have almost never known him to violate any of the tenets of our so-called Christian civilization. He respects even if he does not believe in our laws. He sets for us an example of high intellectual and moral ideals which we might well follow.—The Daily Illini.

LAVERNE TRACK

In the days gone by, LaVerne used to have some good track teams, but during the last few years our track team has been nil. But like other sports, LaVerne is staging a comeback in track. We have quite a few good track men. Most of this number are Frosh and they will be eligible for varsity competition next year.

There is always a group that never go out for sports. They always say, "I'm too busy."

If some of these "I'm too busy's" would come out for track, not only would this increase the number out for track, but it would encourage the ones already out there.

For. Language Club in Business Meeting

PROGRESSIVE PARTY PLANNED

Called together by the president, George Berg, the Foreign Language club held a meeting at 3:45 Thursday afternoon, Feb. 26.

Several items of interest were discussed, among them being the project of securing special speakers to address the students on world interest problems and internationalism. Several possibilities were mentioned and the group is trying to make arrangements for them.

Another item of interest was a discussion of the form of social to be had by the group in the near future, and a progressive national party was agreed upon, to be given Tuesday, Mar. 31. Mary Ellen Lauver was appointed chairman of the committee of arrangements with Lucile Forney and Jay Fyock as assistants. Details of the menu and decorations are being worked out with reference to national tastes and customs.

The last social gathering of the club was in the nature of a breakfast at Ganesha Park. Every member is advised to keep the date in mind in order to enjoy another good time and even a better one.

The Foreign Language Club was organized the first semester, '30-'31, and has made its place on the campus with a membership of about twenty-five students. Its activities include projects for the benefit of the whole student body in the shape of arranging several chapel programs.

La Verne Leopards Meet Pomona Sagehens Saturday Night

OLD GRUDGE BATTLE PROMISES TO BE CLOSE CONTEST

SPORTLIGHTS

With another game under our belt, I am sure we all feel better. Especially a game that is so hard to win—if Friday's game wasn't a tough one I have lost my conception of difficulties. The whole thing just goes to show that we have a team that can come up from behind and win. I have heard it said that the rivalry between LaVerne and Oxy is getting keener every year. I don't mind if it does, but I hope the games don't get any closer; it's too hard on the nerves of the coach.

What is the difference between a four-leaf clover and "Leo?" I guess it depends a lot on the way you look at it, but it seems to me that "Leo" helped a lot in pulling Friday's game out of the "lost" column. You know athletes are among the most superstitious people in the world and it helps a lot if they can have four leaf clover, rabbit's foot or leopard in their hip pocket. At least we can say that "Leo" has never witnessed his team go down in defeat, and it is altogether possible that he may never have to suffer that humiliation. Wouldn't it be sad to see "Leo" going home with his tail between his legs? Well, he will never do that. You can kill a leopard but he is never whipped.

It is almost time to begin to think about baseball again. Several prospective pitchers have been warming up during the past week and they don't look so bad, either. It looks like we are going to have a team worth supporting this year. Let's watch them, anyway.

Volunteers Enjoy Musical Program

Miss Weber of Throne's Entertains S. V.'s.

A novel and interesting program was enjoyed by the Student Volunteer Band Wednesday, Feb. 25, when they met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ebersole.

Music was the main part of the program rendered by Miss Weber of Throne's Business College at Pomona, on a xylophone. Miss Weber played religious and semi-classical music during the hour, performing with from two to four hammers at once.

Grace Brubaker conducted the meeting and led in devotions. Short talks were given by Marie Pobst and Joseph Pratt, and a trio was sung by Grace Gockley, Geneva Suttle, and Beulah Eikenberry.

The hostess, Mrs. Ebersole, served delicious refreshments to the group, and Miss Weber entertained the students with more musical selections which were much appreciated.

Sagehens Are Now at Their Best; Both Teams Defeated Oxy By One Point

The LaVerne Leopards meet the Sagehens in what promises to be one of the best battles of the season. The Sagehens have been loafing along during the better part of the season, but they seem to have caught their stride at last. The first proof of their ability was demonstrated two weeks ago when they succeeded in defeating Oxy by a 28-29 score. The Leopards turned the same trick on Oxy the following week by a 31 to 32 score.

Pomona again displayed their colors by defeating the Santa Barbara Roadrunners last Saturday by a 44 to 34 score. This last feat was better than LaVerne did in their encounter with Santa Barbara.

Therefore we might say that these two quintets are rated on a par. Both teams are closing the season with this game and without a doubt they will hold nothing in reserve. Pomona and LaVerne have played several games into the second over-time period, it is altogether possible that this game may end in like manner. At least we can say that Pomona is at her best and LaVerne is in A1 shape so the game framers will get a lot of thrills from the first whistle to the final gun.

RACKETEERS TRIP COSSACKS

Pomona J.C. Loses to L.V. Varsity by 6-3 Score

Ike Funk and his varsity racquet wielders defeated Pomona Junior College in a practice match last Wednesday. Ike played first singles and after a hard driving, slashing set he was forced to drop his match to Malone 6-0, 6-4.

Calvert won his second singles match from Dunston, 7-5, 6-2, and from all indications will probably rank high in the conference matches.

Paul Funk forced Middleton to outplay himself, or as sport writers say, "play over his head," but Paul broke several strings in his racquet and this caused him to lose, 10-8, 6-3, after a hard struggle in the third singles contest.

Fluck, a freshman, was last year's star on El Monte high school tennis squad and his first match playing with LaVerne, he won from Smith 6-1, 5-7, 6-4. Fluck has all the possibilities of a good player and he is hoped to win many scheduled matches for LaVerne.

The Funk brothers decided to get the Cossack goat in the first doubles, so they took Middleton and Malone to camp 6-3, 5-7, 6-3.

Calvert and Gnagy paired together in the second doubles and won their match, 7-5, 6-3 with ease.

Miller of the Cossacks won from Gnagy in the fifth singles, 6-1, 6-3.

BASE BALL SEASON ON DECK

Five Lettermen Back; Men are Enthusiastic

Dale Glick to Coach Diamond Artists

Soon the abbreviated costume of basket ball will be done up in moth balls and the boys will be seen cavorting around on the diamond. From this you may infer that the baseball season is almost here. Contrary to articles in most papers, there is a great deal of spirit circulating through the LaVerne campus for a baseball team this year. The athletes themselves are particularly enthusiastic over the coming season.

Coach Dale Glick will have charge of the baseball squad this year and if he is as good a coach as he is a player, LaVerne is in for a good year. When Dale was in LaVerne College, he was one of the best horsehide pounders and fly chasers in the Southern Conference. He was captain his last season.

LaVerne lost only a few pill-chasers from last year's squad. Those returning from the squad of last year are Thomason, Weybright, Hubbell, Deal and Thomas. In addition to this nucleus, Forney and Howell will be up from the Frosh of last year. "Hobbs" Adams, a Jaysee transfer, is a corking good first baseman, and Ronald Bessey, who was out of school last year and can either play behind the bat or at the short-stop berth. With this start, Glick is confident of putting a strong team on the field.

LEOPARDS TRIP OXY

Capt. Stutzman and Weybright, forwards; Thomason, center, and Fred Hubbell and Al Nicolas, guards. In about the middle of the first period he sent Snell into the tilt, with Weybright taking Hubbell's guard. This combination worked better than the first.

Weybright played a good floor game, but he was off his shooting form. He failed to connect once out of many stabs at the basket. Nicolas turned in strong performance, and Thomason looked good at the pivot position.

Capt. Dimter and Elliott were the outstanding Oxy men. Elliott is the best floor man in the conference. He covers the entire court with amazing speed, and he seldom tires.

The line-ups:

LaVerne 32		Occidental 31
Weybright	RF	Dimter (14)
Stutzman (8)	LF	Margadant (5)
Thomason (15)	C	Noble (2)
Hubbell	RG	Elliott (3)
Nicolas	LG	Gustovitch (2)

Substitutes: For LaVerne: Snell (9), Forney. For Occidental, Main (1), Blee (1), Hunt (2), and Hyatt (1).

AFF. DEBATE TEAM WINS

nounced last Tuesday with Woodbury College was called off by Woodbury, and the debate Friday night with the co-eds from Oregon State Normal, Monmouth, Oregon, revealed the greatest boner in LaVerne debate history. Whose fault it was is still undetermined, but when the debate started, it was discovered that both teams were debating the negative side of the question. That doesn't make much of a debate, so both teams picked up their dolls and went home.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

When the first speaker was announced from Oregon Normal last Friday night, the surprised chairman and audience found that both were negative teams on the platform!
