SENIOR PLAY TO BE PRESENTED MAY 26 AND 28

"THE IVORY DOOR" to be a Very Colorful Production

"THE IVORY DOOR" WRITTEN IN PROLOGUE AND THREE ACTS

Ask Student Body to Support Project

V.C.'s Leading Humorists Taking Part in Production

"The Ivory Door"—what is the significance of it? Its mystery, its charm? Be sure to come to the college auditorium May 26 or 28 to see the Seniors' production of "The Ivory Door." You will then be able to solve its mystery and charm.

"The Ivory Door," a legend in prologue and three acts, is written by the splendid author for amateurs, A. A. Milne. This play will be by far one of the most colorful productions ever staged by a graduating class.

The entire cast is being costumed by Kavanagh & Son, of the Broadway Costuming Co., Los Angeles. This company is also furnishing curtains for some of the stage sets.

Although the drama has a deep current of thought throughout, there are height sparkles of humor quite frequently. Some of the humorous scenes are between the teasingly ironical King Perivale, played by Doyle Montz, and the Lummer, played by our well-known comedian, Orville Thomas. Other laugh provoking scenes are portrayed by Everett Calvert, Bruno, the captain; George Bergs Carlo, a soldier, and Dwight DuBois as Titus, another of the king's soldiers.

Mrs. Haugh and the cast are working diligently to put this play over, so it is now up to the student body to support the project. Come on, let's be loyal to the Seniors. What say? Tickets are now on sale. Buy them from any senior. Seats are on reserve at the LaVerne Drug Store.

Officers Elected at Chi Delta Chi Luncheon

INTERESTING PLANS ARE MADE FOR NEXT YEAR

Decided to Attend "The Watched Pot" at Pasadena Com. Playhouse

Friday noon the members of Chi Delta Chi held a delightful luncheon meeting at the Chocolate Tavern. The biggest item of business was the election of officers for the coming year. The seniors of the club got together before the meeting and made nominations. The results of the election are: President, Orlin Vaniman; vice-president, George Berg; secretary and treasurer, Opal Kuns; program

PROF. BRUBAKER TELLS OF SUPERSTITIONS

Reveals Startling Facts

"You are never so near death as you are when you sneeze," was one of the startling statements made by Professor Crawford Brubaker in his chapel talk on "Superstitions," Tuesday, May 13.

He brought out the fact that almost everyone is more or less superstitious, and then told of a few of the common superstitions. There are around 144 superstitions concerning dreams. In older days, people believed dreams to come true, but today people contend that dreams go by opposites.

What is a superstition? Professor Brubaker defined it as "Acceptance of beliefs groundless in themselves, and inconsistent with the community in which we live." Some superstitions which at one time had grounds for belief, are still held on to today, although the original meaning has been lost. One of these is the superstition that he who breaks a mirror will have seven years of bad luck. In older days, people believed a shadow or reflection to be a part of the soul. A mirror, therefore, was thought to reflect the soul; and when this was broken, the soul of that person was injured.

The superstition that sneezing meant sure death, comes from an old legend that before the time of Jacob, sneezing was fatal. Jacob prayed for release from this curse—and now it is perfectly safe to sneeze if one says "God bless you" immediately after sneezing.

In reviewing the superstitions about courtship and marriage, it was discovered that Wednesday is the best day on which to get married, and Sunday is the worst.

Professor Brubaker had in his possession a rabbit's foot which brought him good luck in closing his speech before the chapel period was up.

Prior to this address, Miss Hammond, a student in Mrs. Haugh's speech department, gave a very impressive reading entitled, "The sign of the Cross," by Barrett.

Varsity Club Celebrates Ladies Night

Wives, Sweethearts and "What Not" Present

The same old story—good eats, good program, and so on. Anyway, it's the truth that counts. It may be interesting to note that President Studebaker referred to the ladies present as being wives, sweethearts, and "what not." Ask the one who owns one. Wayne

TAKING A LOOK AT OUR NEXT YEAR'S COMMISSION

Expect Great Things to be Accomplished for LaVerne College in 1931-22

Have Plans for the Future of L.V. C.

LaVerne College students may look forward to a bigger and better year, with such an able commission as will be leaders in student activities next year. All of them have demonstrated their ability many times in the various phases of student life, and have great plans for the future.

Gerald ("Jerry") Deal, a real executive, who has the interests of LaVerne College at heart, is president of the Associated Students for the school year of 1931-32. He has been a participant in sports, dramatics, Y. M. C. A. and work on the Campus Times staff; and therefore, will be a competent leader in LaVerne's progress.

Charles Manning, the famous Cyclonic, is well fitted for the position of Commissioner of Publications. He is putting out a first-class Lambda this year, and has contributed numerous original and witty articles to the Campus Times, for the enjoyment of all. He, too, has been active in student affairs and an agitator for change which will insure progress at LaVerne.

Debate—yes, Orlin Vaniman knows how, and knows how to supervise forensics. He has debated, managed debate, worked on the Lambda and Campus Times staff, and taken part in the Junior play and in "Clarence." As for originality, Orlin can't be surpassed. Listen! He disclosed this startling fact—he doesn't intend to be a school teacher. Plans for next year's debate work are well under way, and Mr. Vaniman reports very favorable prospects.

Homer Kreps, the busy business man who knows how to manage athletics, will do his share in putting LaVerne College on the map in athletics next year. He's an energetic worker, always on the alert to boost for his Alma Mater.

Esther Thomason, besides being Commissioner of Welfare, has the added responsibility of upholding "Women's Rights" of the college, since she happens to be the only woman representative on the com-

The Freshman Team Brings Debate Championship to L.V.C.

TEAM IS TO BE CONGRATULATED ON THEIR SPLENDID RECORD

Double Win over Whittier Cinches Championship

As a result of a double win over Whittier and by virtue of the fact that Redlands was defeated by Caltech, our Frosh debaters are now champions of the Frosh Debate Conference.

The Frosh debate teams are composed of Royal Glick and Aubrey Calvert, negative, and Robert Walker and Fred Butterbaugh, affirmative.

Frosh debaters, we, the student body, salute and congratulate you upon your marvelous record for the past season. We are proud and glad you are one of us.

The Whittier debaters were no push-over, but both hard-fought battles, and kept our boys busy knocking their arguments down and preserving their own. Both teams won by virtue of their clearness of issues and relating the various facts to the issue.

These Frosh have had valuable experience this year and all four of them will be strong contenders for position on the varsity squad next year. The varsity will sorely miss Everett Calvert and Ed Cunningham, both four-year men, and these Frosh are going to have big shoes to fill; but by hard work under our excellent debate coach, they can be whipped into shape as they all have great possibilities. Frosh, your frosh debate is over; on to the varsity and victory for LaVerne.

Y. W. Girls Hear "Life Itself" Discussed by Rev. Brubaker

Living a Life is no Easy Job

"Life Itself" was the topic of Rev. Leland Brubaker's address to the Y girls Monday morning. Although Rev. Brubaker said that this was his first address to a group of girls, he did the subject justice, as he always does.

When something is your own, it's original, according to Rev. Brubaker. You must think your tasks over. Perhaps students in college think they are the only ones that have tasks but they aren't. There is a task outside of school. This task is living a life itself. When you live a life it's something of your own.

Living a life is no easy job; it's a hard job. All worth while things come through hard work, so don't be afraid to put hard work into your tasks.

There are a few that are not willing to work hard, but there are more who do work hard.

Some, perhaps, think that an artist has an easy work, but he hasn't. He has a hard job. So it is in everything in life. You can't be what you want to be unless you work. Don't be afraid to put work into it.

In life you should give of your very best. You should have right thinking. Perhaps you think that no one knows what you think. Your actions will tell, even if they can't read your thoughts. "What a man thinketh, that he is." You must think true and noble thoughts and think them deeply. We should have right relationships. It is a hard job choosing real friendships. It means more than words to have ideal friendships. If your friends don't inspire you to the highest, it is hard to live as you should. You should have a true relationship with God.

On Sunday was Mother's Day. Why did we revere it so? Because we had a right relationship with mother. It is the task to fulfill God's purpose in our lives. The bodies are like unto a holy temple in which we live. It is a sacred right, that right of motherhood and fatherhood. Why is a mother sacred? She is entrusted with care of children and molding their lives.

We are told by a physician that the state spends twice as much on wild life as upon child life. Parents will probably find this a very puzzling distinction.

Present Green and Orange Sweaters to Athletes

The associated student body meeting of Friday, May 15, given over to the awarding awards to those who have won them during the school year.

Jerry Deal, president, announced that Charles Manning was chosen by the commission as next year's Campus Times editor, and Harry Thomas, business manager. The Lambda editor is Kenneth Deardorff, and the business manager to be chosen soon. The editor of the Handbook is Mildred Smith and business manager, Homer Kreps. Kenneth Deardorff will still be in charge of the Student Store next semester. There has been an honor commission appointed for next year that shall consist of "Bert" Jones, Mildred Smith, Max Forney, Frances Nix, and "Red" Montgomery.

The graduate manager, D. Glick, awarded last year's commission with pins. These were D. Stutzman, president; Myrtice Butterbaugh, Welfare; Verna Miral Publicity; Chalmer Faw, Debate; Vernon Weybright, Athletics; Ralph Fesler, Finance; Camille Times Editor, Everett Calvert, manager, Joe Roynon.

The Lambda editor, "Chu" Manning, and business manager, Leslie DeHart, were also given pins. Kenneth Deardorff awarded a pin for his honorable work in the Student Store.

The athletic awards were: Frosh basketball: A. Calvert, Swihart, George Weybright, B. Anderson, C. Brooks, R. Montgomery and D. Stutzman, presented with numerals.

PERSONAL OPINION ON SOCIAL AND OTHER CHANGES TO BE MADE

At irregular intervals throughout the past year, the writer has pushed a general movement for some social changes. Many students have asked how these can be brought about and just what they are. As a result, a few changes affecting our social life and several other things the writer believes should be done or added around the campus are listed below:

1. The equipping of an attractive social hall similar to President Studebaker's reception room (but larger) with reading lamps, a piano, a few magazines, the Los Angeles Times, and possibly a radio, for the use of both men and women students. A less luxuriously furnished but attractive room would be a good start toward a solution of certain library and social problems.
2. The holding of a meeting in the form of a luncheon or similar affair of all student leaders not less than once every six weeks, under the leadership of President Jerry Deal and the Commission. This would lead to greater cooperation among student leaders, fewer conflicts in meetings of various organizations, and a closer feeling of unity among various leaders. Deal is already laying plans for such meetings, for which he is to be complimented.
3. A special day set aside by the college as a combination exhibition and reception day for high school and junior college students and any others interested in LaVerne. Special tournaments of various kinds could be planned and the visitors shown a real good time. Redlands, Occidental, and several other colleges put on successful programs of this kind each year.
4. The furnishing of funds from some source to fix up the stage and move the present dressing rooms elsewhere.
5. The staging of a combined freshman and sophomore play, or two separate ones, during the first semester, to uncover new talent and give the lower classmen an opportunity to strut their stuff and get acquainted.
6. The library open not less than from 7:30 a. m. to 9:30 p. m. each school day and for several hours on Saturday.
7. Both a lower and upper division journalism course, the first during the first semester each year, and the latter the second semester.
8. The editor of the Campus Times made a member of the commission or the commissioner of publications asked to fill the position if he is capable.
9. Trophies furnished for the most valuable man in each sport each year as well as in forensic activities.
10. The substitution of the Table of Awards for the Article on Awards in the Constitution to avoid the present duplication, any possible conflicts, and to subject the table of awards to the same requirements for amendments as the constitution.
11. The procuring of a student press and fonts of type for headlines for work on our publications so that only the inotype work would have to be hired done.
12. A regular class formed for the Choral Union and their work with credit for its members.
13. The elimination of the present childish compulsory

Paul Funk: "I asked her if I could see her home."
Ruthe Bishop: "And what did she say?"

Paul F.: "Said she would send me a picture of it."

Dr. Hoover: "How are you getting along since your wife went away?"

Mr. Woody: "I've reached the height of efficiency. I can put my socks on from either end now."

Myrtice B.: "I can tell you the score of the game before it starts."

Eddie "Bru": "What is it?"

Myrtice: "Nothing to nothing—before it starts."

"Red" Weybright: "Are you chewing gum?"

Edith Eisan: "No, I'm Edith Eisan."

Waiter: "Are you Hungary?"

Broker: "Yes, Siam."

Waiter: "Den Russia to the table and I'll Fiji."

Broker: "O. K. Sweden by coffee and Denmark my bill."

Mrs. Merritt: "Name some author or known for his vocabulary."

George Weybright: "Webster."

Miss Muir: "Were you copying Rays' paper?"

"Red" Montgomery: "No, I was seeing if he copied mine right."

Why worry about life? No one gets out of it alive.

Mildred Adams (at the book counter): "Have you Lamb's Tales?"

Kenny Deardorff: "This is a book store, not a meat market."

Just before the fight:
"Oh, give me something to remember you by," said Hoy Deeter to George Berg."

Ike Funk rattled into the Charter Oak garage in a very old, cheap car, and inquired what the rates were:

"I'll have to ask you a five spot in advance," said the garage man.

"My gosh," exclaimed Ike, "a five spot in advance! But I'll come for the car in the morning."

"Ah," said the garage man, "that's just it—will you come?"

Education is the act of transferring knowledge from the teachers' notebook to that of the pupil without entering the mind of either.

Willie Long: "Oh, I am so miserable; Ralph's been out all evening and I haven't the faintest idea where he is."

Vi Smith: "Don't worry, Willie—you'd probably be twice as miserable if you did know."

Welfare Worker (an insane asylum) "And how did you get here, my poor man?"

Inmate: "It was a difference of opinion, lady. I said the world was crazy and the world said I was crazy, and the majority won."

class attendance at least in the junior and senior classes. Pomona has done this with good results.

14. The publishing of a combination humor and literary magazine by the Associated Students, "at least" once or twice each semester. ("The Leopard" as a suggestion for its name.)

Now some of the above changes necessitate the expenditure of some money, which is not available; so for those changes or additions which need funds it is hoped that this editorial will be an incentive to students or any other readers to raise said funds or perhaps make a little donation of two.

PERSONAL OPINION

Since we have been invited to give our personal opinions, I wish to add my bit, as a few suggestions along social reforms. We are not so sure "social reforms" is the right term, but anyway some changes could be made which would help us all.

For the first thing, our conduct in the class room is everything which it should not be for efficient college work. We spend too much time getting down to business and the worst part is, we never come to real order. People, we don't even show common courtesy to our professors when we sit in a class or in chapel and talk with the one beside us. Besides that, the people around us can not hear above our continued stage whispers. Come on, let us get together in better class room spirit. We paid our good money for that time; let us be sure to make the most efficient use of it.

This same may also apply to the Library. Let us now resolve that our library shall from now on be a room for STUDY and when we have to visit or transact business we will go elsewhere. These people who sit in the library and talk out loud—well, we don't want them in there.

Another change: Why can't our school proper represent our student body instead of just a few. Our students are doing many worth while and interesting things all the time and very few know of it—while every week the news columns contain about three to five little notes about the same five or ten people. Come on—let it represent the COLLEGE.

Personal opinion column welcomes your comments.

Frosh, tell us what's wrong and right with LaVerne, in the Personal Opinion column!

Mrs. Hollinger: "Didn't I tell you to notice when the soup boiled over."

Zula Hollinger: "I did. It was half past ten."

Prof. Sarafian's youngest son: "But how did daddy find out you didn't really take a bath?"

Prof. Sarafian's oldest son: "I forgot to wet the soap."

Albert Gnagy: "Aren't you ever afraid you'll lose control of your car?"

Kenny Heckman: "Constantly; I'm two installments behind already."

Ride and the girls ride with you, Walk and you walk alone,

For the girls of these days Are set in their ways,

And want a man with a car of his own."

Lee Eisan: "Last night when I got home my wife had my chair drawn up before the fire, my slippers ready for me to put on, my pipe filled, and—"

Dale Glick: "How did you like her new hat?"

"I'm stork mad," said the father of fifteen children.

ATTENTION! SENIORS ON PARADE

Girls, this handsome red-headed man must be Vernon Weybright, who comes from Fresno, Calif. Be careful, he is Mildred Smith's boy friend.

Last year Vernon was president of the Junior class, while this year he has served as president of the Y. M. C. A., and as an efficient commissioner of athletics.

"Red" has shown outstanding ability in athletics during his college career. He has been a three-year letterman in football, baseball and basketball, and a one year letterman in tennis. He was chosen on the all-conference basket ball team during his sophomore and Junior years, as well as being captain in his junior year.

Next year, possibly, we will find "Red" attending Pomona College, working for a Secondary Credential and a master's degree.

Yes, we all know viola Smith, who lives in LaVerne. She is a good sport and a friend to all.

Next year "Vi" is planning to make a tour over the United States. Say, but she is a lucky girl!

After this escapade has terminated, she is contemplating settling down, and teaching school.

Educational Possibility of Talkies Vast

College Lecture "Pictures"

The possibilities of the talking picture as an educational feature are so vast that we fail to see how we can escape drastic changes within the next decade or two. We talk much these days about the value of the inspiring lecture; we deplore the enforced retirement of our greatest professors; we hear of adult education and home courses. All these considerations will be directly and fundamentally affected by the talking firm.

When Gutenberg invented the printing press in the middle of the fifteenth century, people found it was no longer necessary to flock to the sources of knowledge for their share of the fruits. Successors of Abelard, teaching at the University of Paris, were forced to recognize book-learning, and teaching became largely a matter of personality, lecturing a matter of rhetoric, for the facts were everywhere becoming available. Today, though we consider our universities as a collection of books, we are unable to deny that the man who teaches, who brings the printed word to life, is worth traveling many thousands of miles to find.

Will not all that be considerably changed hereafter? Who can tell the effect of this innovation on the work of a university professor, with less demand on his classroom work and more time for scholarly research? Given a week with a microphone before college opens, and he has completed his lectures for the term. Further, should they meet with success, they can be given in every classroom in the world; lodged in every well-stocked library; and repeated year after year, until new facts or altered conclusions shall substitute another voice. The future opens on one huge lecture hall, in which

Present Day Relation Alumnus to His College

The object or ambition of an alumnus in the college is a torious football team. If the football team fails to win, some gets the axe. No one knows better than the coach. His depends upon it. As long as can turn out championship team his path is hearts and roses. Let him slip for one season, and matter what his past record been, or the reasons for the current downfall, he looks for another job. The recent resignation of "Nibs" Price as football and basketball coach at Berkeley is an ample of this juvenile tendency of college alumni. A hard season poor material resulted in the famous ignominious defeat at hands of Southern California; after the metropolitan papers carefully explained what wrong with the Berkeley team general and Coach Price in particular, the alumni began looking the blood. It is strange that undergraduates, who should be most interested, could see nothing to get excited about, while alumni turned into raving maniacs.

Besides various scandals resulting from the subsidizing of football players, and the comical attitude toward the coaches, players, there have been other problems raised by the overemphasis upon the financial and other aspects of the game. A player on the Southern California team was recently dropped from university because he was using assumed name in order to avoid the rule which bars from the team men who have played at another college. Again, Reed College reports that it may confine its entirely to intramural sports, cause in order to support a team which has to incur traveling medical expenses the commercial attendant upon intercollegiate activities is a necessary corollary.

Purdue University has been forced to drop baseball and track as intercollegiate minor sports, cause the expected returns from football, which were used to support these non-paying sports, failed to materialize. Sol Metzger, writer, coach, captain, says that the assumption that victorious teams bring fortune and students to a college is false. He cites Notre Dame, Centre, Duke, the University of Chicago, and Lehigh as examples of college not particularly affected by the success or failure of their football teams. In order to move the stigma of the "racket" from football, Metzger suggests the return to student coaches less publicity.

LIFE DRAMA --TRUE

He: "Did you hear that Harry Thomas made his announcement last night."

She: No!

He: "Yes. That he would be the next to announce his engagement."

Edith Eisan: "Lee went to church this morning."

Mrs. Glick: "Our Sunday party didn't come, either."

Prof. Brubaker: (in Shakespeare) "What was Antony's tragic fault?"

Ione Longenecker: "He got in power of a woman."

Esther Dickey: "What must do to have beautiful hands."

Eddie Brubaker: "Nothing."

STUDENT SOCIAL LIFE

LUMNI NOOS
The engagement of Miss Vivian Jones, a Glendora school teacher, and Ernest Landis, was announced at a bridge party given by Rose Landis Dickey and Florence Landis Glick at the home of the latter Tuesday evening, May 12. The secret was discovered under a rose on the place cards.
Members of the alumni present included Dorothy and Guy Jordan, Beulah and Harvey Brubaker, of El Monte; Alvin and Vessie Marshburn of Orange, and the hostesses of the evening.
Miss Jones is a graduate of Fresno State Teachers College and her former home was in Clovis. Mr. Landis teaches manual training and physical education in the Puente schools. The wedding will take place at Clovis in June.
Miss Myrtice Butterbaugh and Harvey Brubaker sang solos at this affair.
Miss Aileen Rothrock is planning to teach in the school system in Temple next year. Her sister, Cathryn, has taught here the past two years. Aileen has spent the past two years teaching in San Bernardino schools.
Mr. and Mrs. Chase Harper of San Pedro spent a couple of days in LaVerne the latter part of the week helping his mother and grandmother arrange for the funeral services of his grandfather, T. C. Dunbar, who died Thursday noon. Mr. and Mrs. Byrl Harper of Huntington Beach came up for the funeral services.

FACULTY NOTES
Coach Eisan spoke at a "Y" meeting at Puente Monday evening, May 18. He will be the speaker at the Chino Y. M. C. A. tonight.
Prof. Lenhardt recently attended the German play, "Jedermann," at U. C. L. A. She was accompanied by Edith Coffman.
Prof. Muir entertained Mrs. Porter and Mrs. Hoke at her home in Pasadena over the week-end.
Prof. Brubaker attended the Southern California Intercollegiate Public Speaking Conference at Redlands Friday, May 15. This meeting was followed by an interpretive reading contest, in which we were represented by Eleanor Shepp, who accompanied Prof. Brubaker.
Coach Eisan will give a party at his home Wednesday evening, May 20, in honor of all Senior varsity men.

Mr. Fountaindrink Suggests Unemployment Solution
Observes the Problem in Los Angeles
A solution of the unemployment situation has at last been discovered by Dr. Fountaindrink of Los Angeles.
This famous discovery came about as a result of an afternoon's leisure time spent in the Pacific Electric depot in Los Angeles, watching the ceaseless ever-thirsty line of men, women and children filing past the drinking fountain. There seemed to be a great variety of interesting poses.
First there comes a tall, lanky man who must needs bend double in order to secure a drink. Next, a flapperish young lady struts up and very daintily takes a little sip of water. Then a tiny child comes who has to stand on tiptoe to quench her thirst, after eating a big bag of candy. Now all eyes of spectators are turned toward the fat gentleman who seems to have difficulty in bending far enough to reach the fountain. In succession, next is a finicky little old lady who lets the fountain run for several minutes before drinking, in order that any excess germs may be drowned.
After many hours of careful observance, Mr. Fountaindrink came to the conclusion that the proper pose for men is one foot back, hold tie down with right hand, and turn faucet with left hand. Some seemed to have a hard time attending to all of these functions at once, and therefore, Mr. Fountaindrink became aware of the opportunity of a new position for some of the unemployed. At each fountain the city, someone may be employed to hold back the necktie, and another to turn the faucet. In this way, a

CO-EDS CELEBRATE ANNUAL HI-JINKS
Report Jolly Time
Any one passing LaVerne College gymnasium last Tuesday night, May 13, would not have been in doubt as to the good times the occupants of the gym were having. These were none other than the "fair" co-eds of the college, who were celebrating their annual Hi-Jinks.
Anyone there would have been amused by Tiny, the waitress, alias Mildred Adams, and her better half, Evelyn Holmes. They would have in their turn roared at the boxing match staged by Sock'em Dozy and Swat'em Dizzy, the well-known girls about school, "Dora" and "Mae."
Readings were given by "Willie" and Grace. The rest of the program was varied, being made up of stunts and readings.
Last but not least came the eats, which consisted of a good old-time meal of ice cream and home made cakes.
The party was in charge of the social committee under the able leadership of Frances Nix.

REGISTRATION
Preliminary registration was concluded Tuesday, May 12, during chapel period. Dr. Frantz made a few words of explanation, and then the three classes (the Seniors are exempted from this process) registered in different rooms under the supervision of their advisors. President Studebaker advised and arranged programs for the Juniors.
The purpose of this registration is to give some idea how many textbooks to order in the various departments and to furnish a rough estimate of the size the school will be next year.

Choral Union Meeting Held
The Choral Union held a meeting Wednesday to practice for Baccalaureate services to be held for the graduating Seniors.
This group will meet again before school closes and decide on next year's program. It will organize again, and give some very good presentations.
"Well, I'll be dammed," said the creek as the fat lady fell off the bridge.

ONE FLUNK, TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS
Grapevine telegraph brings news of the proposal on the part of one of our large universities to require students to pay a fee of twenty-five dollars for every course in which they flunk. Whether this proposal embodies a good idea or not, it is certain that it presents a remarkable one.
The motive is obvious. Too many students do not take their education seriously because they do not think of it in terms of dollars and cents. Make them pay for poor scholastic work and they will have a tangible reason for not letting their studies lapse. Undoubtedly the plan would decrease the number of students who regularly fail one or more courses.
There would be another by product of this proposal, if it is carried out. Students worried about the necessity of paying twenty-five dollars for flunking would feel obligated to perfect new and better means of cribbing until that venerable art would attain to heights unprecedented in the history of education.—The Daily Northwestern.

Campus Times Staff in Last Huddle of Year
Special Mention Made Of Heads of Departments
Staff members of the Campus Times met for their last meeting of the year Wednesday, May 13. The accomplishments of the year were reviewed and special mention was made of those departments and heads of departments which have been most diligent and punctual in their work; particularly of Edith Roberts, editor of Campus Chuckles; of "Chuck" Manning, author of Cynical Comments, and of Florence Snider, news editor.
Next year's work was discussed and members were asked to state their choice of the field or department in which they wish to work.

Caltech Holds Annual Open House Day
DISPLAY NEW ATTRACTIONS
April the 17th and 18th were set aside by the student of the California Institute of Technology for their annual exhibit days. All college students and their friends were cordially invited to inspect the Pasadena institution between the hours of 1:00 p. m. and 10:30 p. m. on Friday, April 17, and from 9:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m. on Saturday, April 18.
The attractions this year were more numerous than ever before. One of the new features was the million dollar group of new living houses which are nearing completion and show the latest in college dormitories. Besides these and other new buildings, there were many attractions of a more mechanical nature.

Varsity Club Ladies Night Celebrated

 hn, the popular president of the club, reigned as toastmaster, and the side sang in an improvised quartet, and don't kid yourself, they could sing.

The speaker of the evening, Rev. J. J. Pomeroy, gave an interesting talk on the game of life and how to play it.

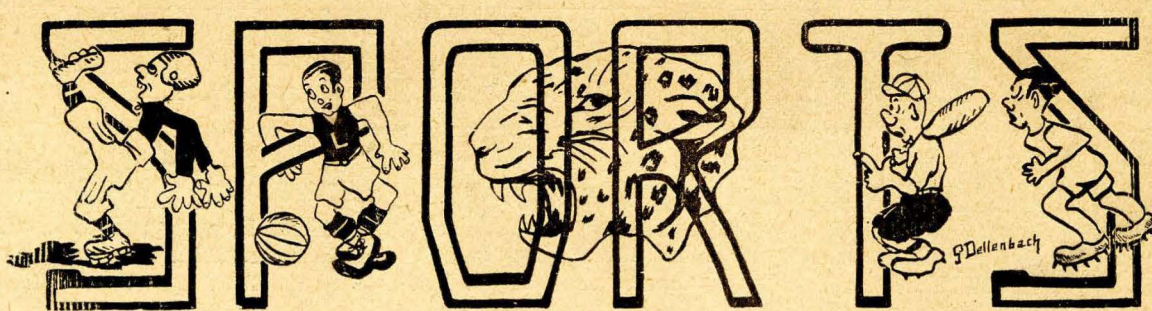

Short talks were given by Ernie Earl, Mrs. Hilda (Brubaker) Boots, Bert Betts, Coach Eisan and President Studebaker. During a short business session various problems were discussed ending in the election of a new board of directors, namely: Levi Dickey, Marion Royman, Orville Thomason, Homer Kreps, John Price, Mark Lehmer, and Truman Funderburgh.

Taking A Look at Our New Commission

 mission. But students may rest assured that no one will be slighted in the social life of the campus, with Esther as social leader.

"A little man with a big job" is Leslie DeHart, Commissioner of Finance. He has proven his ability as a business manager of the Lambda this year. He knows how to get money and how to spend it most wisely, and will be a valuable commissioner.

These commissioners are, LaVerne boosters, and with student co-operation, great things may be accomplished for LaVerne in 1931-32.

Junior Class Possesses Athletes of Good Quality

Jones is the All-Round Athlete of this Class

JUNIORS BIG ASSET TO SCHOOL

Although the Junior class does not have such a large representation in the field of sports, what they lack in quantity is replaced by quality.

In football this year the third year class was represented by Jones and Adams at ends, with Ferree and Deal played consistently was also called back from end to do most of the punting for the team. The worth of Adams was also shown in that he is captained, and was given honorable mention in all-conference rating. Ferree and Deal play consistently good games at their tackle positions throughout the season.

When it comes to basketball, the Juniors are well represented. Jones chairman, Frances Bishop; membership chairman, Eleanor Shepp. Speeches were in order both from the outgoing and incoming officers as well as from Mrs. Haugh, the club's advisor.

It was decided that the club would attend the play, "The Watched Pot," at Pasadena Community Playhouse Wednesday evening, May 20th.

This will close the club's activities for the school year of 1930-31. During the year the club was organized and presented two plays. The first was a one-act play, "The Nine Who Were Mother," which was put on as a Christmas program. The next and biggest undertaking was the four-act play, "Clarence," by Booth Tarkington, which was put on for the Lambda benefit. In this way the club made a vital contribution to the school. Aside from public appearance, the club was always busy and active, as is seen by its numerous breakfast meetings and other socials.

The club has taken in seven new members, selected from the undergraduates, so as to assure the club's existence for years to come.

During the year the Chi Delta Chi has been the most active of the many newly-organized clubs and by merits of its contributions to the school deserves to be ranked among the school's leading organizations.

Plans are now under way for a better club next year, not only a better club but one that enters more actively into student body activities. The club is trying to interest students in the big and growing field of drama, and the opportunities offered as well as presenting good clean, wholesome entertainment to the community and college. The club is truly an altruistic organization as the members give their time and efforts to producing plays so as to help equip the stage and raise money for the student body.

The members are willing to do their best and we ask the co-operation of the rest of the student body in ticket sales to help us carry out our program for the coming year.

Students Receive Awards

 Varsity baseball: resented with letters: O. Thomason, V. Weybright, J. Deal, L. DeHart, O. Vaniman, who was the senior manager; F. Hubbell, M. Howell, R. Welty, "Buck" Ferree, R. Bessey, B. Jones, and M. Forney.

Frosh athletics: Those presented with both sweaters and numerals: C. Brooks, H. Deeter, A. Calvert, R. Fluck, R. Montgomery, B. Anderson, M. Noll, E. Swihart, C. Aeschbacher, Kelly, Replogle.

Coach Lee Eisan presented the varsity awards for football. These were sweaters. Those receiving them were: I. Funk, B. Jones, A. Nicolas, W. Ferree, V. Weybright, D. Montz, M. Smith, F. Hubbell, H. Adams, M. Forney, O. Leonard, J. Deal, and R. Fesler, manager. Alfred Nicolas has been chosen this year's all-conference guard.

Prof. Brubaker presented those on the three L. V. C. debate teams.

Women's varsity debaters who received pins were: Virginia Stern, 2 years; Arnelia Brubaker, 2 years; Mary Hollinger, 1 year; Virginia Scarisbrick, 1 year; Opel Kuns, 2 years, and Eleanor Shepp.

and Deal were the guards on the second string, while Welty subbed at center and forward. These fellows will all be back and rarin' to go, and should replace the "Five Horsemen" to some extent, if not completely.

When it comes to track, most of it has been said by other writers. It will be some time before that "One-Man Track Team" is forgotten. This year in inter-class track, Jones won the meet with the one-point assistance of Bessey in the discus. Bert won first in the high jump, broad jump, javelin, 100 and 220 yard dashes, both hurdles, and the 440, with fairly good marks in all events. He also entered the all-conference meet and just missed placing in both hurdles through lack of training. Next year Bert will have a team to back him, so he ought to do things. Adams is also a track man and should take part next year.

Baseball is also represented in the majority by Juniors. With Bessey, DeHart and Welty in the infield, and Jones, Ferree and Deal in the outfield, the team next year should at least be an experienced one. Although this year has been disastrous, when talking of scores, Coach Glick will have a good foundation for a good team in the season of '32.

Jones seems to be in the limelight again when it comes to swimming. He was a sprint swimmer in high school and junior college. This year LaVerne is to be represented in the all-conference meet. Maley is entered in the distances and Bert in the sprints.

In looking back over the year's sports we find that the Juniors have taken part and have been quite an asset to the school. However as they become Seniors we expect bigger and better things from them. Don't disappoint us, fellows.

Jones Takes Honors at Conf. Swim Meet

To Schedule Regular Swim Meets Next Year

Bert Jones, stellar Leopard athlete, again took honors for himself and LaVerne in the conference swimming meet at Occidental Saturday. He took second in the 50 yard dash in the fast time of 26.3, and a third in the 100 yard free style event for a total of five points.

Several conference records were broken at the meet. Len Johnson of Oxy slashed a few seconds from the 100 yard breast stroke and Ward of Pomona made a new record in the 100 yard free style.

Friday, Jones and E. Calvert entered the Southern California Intercollegiate Breakwater Swim at Cabrillo Beach, San Pedro. The swim was over a mile course with medals offered for all who finished. Jones took 17th and Calvert came in 39th, with a total entry list of fifty-five. The LaVerne men report that the water was cold and that many of the swimmers were bothered with chills and cramps. Buster Crabbe of U. S. C. won the swim in close to 25 minutes, while Jones' time was approximately 40 minutes, and Calvert's 1 hr. 5 min. Jones performances in these two meets indicate that Eisan will have a real man around whom he may build a classy team for next year. With the number of frosh now interested and several juniors also, including "Hobbs" Adams, a regular schedule of dual meets will, no doubt, be held next year.

This team took second place in the conference.

Men's varsity team, that tied for second place in the conference, consists of Everett Calvert, 4 years; Ed Cunningham, 4 years; Chalmer Faw, 2 years (also varsity manager); Orlin Vaniman, 2 years (frosh manager); Harry Thomas 1 year.

The Frosh team that won the conference and received pins are Royal Glick (also varsity extempo); Aubrey Calvert, Robert Walker, Fred Butterbaugh.

Kay Crist received an award for the woman's varsity extempo debate.

The basket ball awards were: V. Weybright, letter; O. Thomason, letter, and F. Hubbell, letter.

Those of last year's basket ball team are: D. Stutzman, A. Nicolas, M. Forney, B. Jones, J. Deael, who received sweaters and letters.

Fred Mahoney, the basket ball team manager, received a sweater. The tennis awards of sweaters were received by P. Funk and E. Calvert, and those of letters were I. Funk and Charles Snell.

Those of the track team who received awards were: C. Brooks, numeral; F. Saylor, sweater; E. Swihart, numeral; R. Montgomery, numeral, and A. Calvert, numeral.

Homer Kreps, the Junior manager, and next year's Senior football manager, received a sweater.

Orlin Vaniman is next year's baseball manager.

Leslie DeHart is Junior manager for baseball, and next year's senior manager.

Those presented with "life passes" and blankets are: O. Leonard, O. Thomason, F. Hubbell, and V. Weybright.

Casey-Boyes Shoe Company Pomona sells a very high grade shoes, being able to suit both masculine and feminine tastes. Mr. Casey and Mr. Boyes have pleasing personalities which have them many friends and customers.

Frashers carry a complete line stationery and letter material which answer the most fastidious needs. They are truly public servants, being anxious to help whenever the opportunity is presented. Mrs. Frasher will be remembered in L. V. C. as the friend who showed pictures of the desert at the W. C. A. meeting a couple of weeks ago.

Sievers deal in ladies' clothing and have a complete line of up-to-the-minute feminine apparel. In connection with their regular store they have a thrift shop where values of high quality can be obtained.

John P. Evans handles everything in the men's line except shoes. He is always glad to help college fellows come around and look it over.

Let the Vogue Cleaners clean your flannels and your sport coats. They are newcomers to town, but are fast proving their value to the community.

When LaVerne College students think of a place where they "eat, drink and be merry," think of the Chocolate Tavern.

If you want a safe place for your money (outside of Mr. Yoder's pocket) try the first National Bank. Mr. Boly, the cashier, is glad to serve you.

The Hub, an establishment owned by James D. Ewart, can supply the men with all kinds of clothing, anything from socks to hats.

When it comes to "going places" the means of conveyance has to do with how far and where can go. John R. Huie, Fard Davis in LaVerne, says he can solve any problem.

This is not a complete list of every business firm which has been advertised in the Campus Times. It does include the most loyal and steady of them. Again we say we surely thank you for your cooperation.
