FOOTBALL MEN GUESTS AT BANQUET TONIGHT IN MILLER HALL

Speakers of Note Will Attend Convention

AFRICA, CANADA, CHINA, JAPAN AND THE PHILIPPINES TO BE REPRESENTED

Among the speakers at the Detroit Student Convention, December 28th to January 1st, are several from China, the hot spot of the Orient today. Henry Hodgkin is a British missionary, a well known Quaker who served in China with the Y. M. C. A., later under his own Friends' Foreign Mission Association, and more recently as secretary of the National Christian Council.

Francis Wei, a Cantonese by birth, the son of a family of culture, is the president of the Central China Christian University. Few men in educational work stand higher in China than he. He entered Boone School at Wuchang for its educational advantages, determined not to be influenced by the foreign missionaries. Before he finished there, however, he found beauty in the teachings of Jesus, and an answer to questions which his keen mind had been asking. He came to Harvard for post-graduate study.

Returning to China as a member of the Boone School faculty, Mr. Wei, when President Gilman left China in October, 1926, became acting president of Boone University. It was his influence that kept the students loyal when the school opened and during the trying days that followed.

Other speakers there are from many of the countries of the world, with stories equally interesting. From the Philippines comes Dr. Frank G. Laubach, a keen-minded sociologist and psychologist, who for the past twelve years has been in educational work in Manila.

Akintunde B. Dipeolu, a graduate of Talladega College and seminary, and now studying in the University of Chicago, is from Nigeria, British West Africa. He and Roy Akagi, who is a secretary of the Friendly Relations

The Day of Missions Is Not Yet Over

The Student Volunteers had an unusual treat at their Tuesday evening meeting, as they had the opportunity of listening to Mr. Harlan Smith, the traveling secretary for the Volunteers of the Church of the Brethren.

The devotions were led by Neva Snell, and Mary Messamer sang a solo, accompanied by Verda Brubaker. The rest of the hour was given over to Mr. Smith, who spoke on the value of missions.

Mr. Smith said that the missions of the past have done a greater work than many of us realize. They have gone a long way toward making this world a fit place to live in. The day of missions is not over yet, as many people have been thinking. A new day is opening. The method and work of the missionaries will have to be different from what it has been before. Mr. Smith said that the foreign countries really do appreciate missionaries, but that they are demanding more of the kind that will be willing to recognize their customs, and work with them, not for them. The responsibility for keeping missions alive in the future lies largely in America, and consequently, with the college students in America.

ARE YOU GOING TO THE SHOW?

One of the most remunerative sources of the "Orange Blossom" staff is that of the cinematograph department. Under direction of Merle Butterbaugh, a popular movie will be shown on Friday nights of every open date. This week on Friday night we will be entertained by Mary Pickford in "Little Lord Fauntleroy," by Burnett, preceded by a three-reel picture on "Scrooge," taken from Dickens' Christmas story. Come to the show for your own benefit as well as that of the Annual.

Freshmen Entertain Student Body

The Freshman Class being responsible for the student body hour on Friday, December 2d, much interest was shown by the students who were in good attendance.

When the curtain was drawn, the faculty appeared in its place on the platform, impersonated by the Freshmen.

Ed Cunningham, representing President Studebaker, introduced each member of the faculty, very cleverly represented:

Dr. W. I. T. Hoover, Clarence Brubaker; Dr. J. B. Emmert, Earl Longenecker; Prof. B. S. Haugh, Ray Ferrell; Prof. G. J. Hollenberg, Ralph Fessler; Prof. K. A. Serafin, Alexander Milles; Dr. C. E. Arnett, Ronald Bessey; Mrs. Nelle Flickinger, Esther Dickey; Miss Gladys E. Muir, Kathleen Shaffer; Mrs. Dorothy Merritt, Hazel Perry; Prof. B. L. Griffing, Joe Roynon; Prof. H. W. France, Dale Stutzman; Mrs. Laura E. Haugh, Myrtice Butterbaugh; Miss Mary Messamer, Fern Bowman; Miss Lois M. Miller, Katherine Hanawalt; Sec. H. A. Frantz, Walter Feree.

A pair of bull's horns from the zoology department was ceremoniously presented to the College from "A Friend" by the nominal secretary, H. A. Frantz, and duly received by the "president," with the remark that they could probably be used in the Chinese Want Christian Religion to Be Chinese

December 1st, Thursday, Mr. D. Harlan Smith delivered a lecture on China. He spoke of the political conditions in China as influenced by Russian sovietism.

Dr. Smith was very impressive in his talk concerning the status of the missionary in China today. He said in part that China expects the Americans to present the message of Jesus Christ to the Chinese in the Chinese atmosphere, and not influenced by western civilization. The western churches' form of worship, ceremonies and manner of dress must not influence the religion brought to the Chinese by American missionaries. The Chinese expect the Christian religion to be Chinese if they accept it.

Dr. Smith's chapel talk was well appreciated by the student body.

VARSITY CAPTAIN TO BE ELECTED FOR 1928 SQUAD

The annual post-season football banquet which always buries and eulogizes the season's gridiron accomplishments will be held tonight in the dining room of Miller Hall. Approximately fifty football men, representing both varsity and frosh teams, will be guests of honor at this banquet, which in many respects will be greatly different from any that has ever been held at LaVerne College.

Primary among the evening's program feature will be the awarding of recognition to the team that made a great effort to put LaVerne into the victorious columns of the score sheet. Regardless of the fact that the amount of points won in games are so few that materially one must of necessity class this closing football season as the poorest in LaVerne's history, honor is not lacking for the attempt to fight against seemingly impossible odds, which in itself denotes a higher type of victory.

This banquet will recognize the last season in which Dr. C. E. Arnett acts as varsity football mentor. This culminates six years of glorious achievement in which LaVerne has risen from ignominy to a respectable membership in the Southern California College Conference.

Because of the prospects for future years, due to the quality of the present Freshman class, this banquet cannot help but be of a forward-looking nature. A great deal of interest, therefore, will be centered around the election of next year's captain.

THE FELLOW MOTHER THINKS YOU ARE

While walking down a crowded street the other day

I heard a little urchin to a comrade say:

"Say, Chimmie, lemme tell youse, I'd be happy as a clam

If I only was de feller dat me mudder tinks I am.

"She tinks I am a wonder, an' she knows her little lad

Could never mix wit' nuttin' dat was ugly, mean or bad.

An' lots o' times I sit an' tink how nice 'twould be—gee-whiz!

If a feller was de feller dat his mudder tinks he is."

My friend, be yours a life of toil or undiluted joy,

You still can learn a lesson from this small, unlettered boy.

Don't aim to be an earthly saint, with eyes fixed on a star—

Just try to be the fellow that your mother thinks you are.

—Will S. Adkin.

SPEECH CLASS GIVE PLAYS

Mrs. Haugh's advanced class in speech will present three one-act comedies on the Tuesday night of December 12th, at 8 o'clock.

The proceeds of the evening's performance will go on the piano benefit being sponsored by the Apollo Club.

The plays are "Where But in America?" by Ward; "The Workhouse Ward," by Lady Gregory; "The Exchange," by Thurston.

Don't miss them. Come and have a good laugh. You will like the plays and will enjoy seeing your friends act.

Did you ever hear of the Scotchman who took the corners on two wheels to save his tires?

Volunteers Give Church Program

The Student Volunteer group of LaVerne College gave a program during the preaching hour, at the Church of the Brethren, Sunday night, December 4th.

Lorell Weiss took charge. Mary Platt led the congregation in several hymns. Following a devotional period led by Ruth Stoner, Mrs. Virgil Neher and Vera Hoover sang "Just as I Am."

Diamond Hartman was the first speaker of the evening. He spoke on "The History and Origin of the Volunteer Movement."

Dwight Welch of Azusa, who was a delegate of LaVerne College to the quadrennial convention of the Volunteers held in Indianapolis, was the second speaker. He told of this conference and its influence on his life.

As third speaker, Melvin Rothrock, president of the LaVerne College Volunteer organization, described the coming quadrennial. It is to be held in Detroit, Mich., December 28th to January 1st.

Zafon Hartman read "Opportunity." The program was concluded with a number, "I Would Be True to Thee," by the Women's Quartette, composed of Lois Rupert, Neva Snell, Mary Platt, and Crete Heiney.

The program was very helpful, creating an atmosphere of enthusiasm for sending delegates to the conference at Detroit.

Y. W. C. A. Voyage to South America

Verna Shirk, captain of the good ship Y. W. C. A., took us on a voyage to South America.

Aileen Rothrock, one of the crew, cleverly brought to us the beauty of the quaint old city, Rio de Janeiro. Lois Ruth Miller, first mate, brought his sweetheart of the Inca tribe, who gave some of the glories that she had left behind, and told us one of the sad, sweet stories in which the tribe believes. Another of the crew told us of the beauties, pleasures and cares of the Spanish maidens. Before we could catch our breath, the sweet tones of a Spanish love song drifted

Men's Debate Tryouts to Be Held Soon

LA VERNE IS NOW A REGULAR MEMBER OF CONFERENCE

The men of the College with an argumentative turn of mind are preparing for the tryouts for debate teams which will probably be chosen on Thursday, December 8th. The question which was chosen by the Men's Forensic Conference is: "Resolved, that the policy of armed intervention by the United States in the internal affairs of Latin countries should be condemned."

LaVerne College, which has until this year been an associate member of the Southern California Intercollegiate Debating Conference, is now a full-fledged member. Last year she was elected to fill the place of a withdrawing school.

The LaVerne speakers will meet the silver-tongued men of the platform from Pomona, Cal Tech, Redlands, and Whittier, sometime after the Christmas holidays.

The LaVerne College men of ambition have also scheduled debates with two schools outside the Conference, namely Southwestern University and Loyola.

Besides these there will be a big debate here on April 2d between LaVerne and the Washington State College. The question for this debate has not yet been chosen.

L. V. C. Women Lose First Debate of Season

The fact that both teams lost in the debates last Thursday night has since been a source of grief to the Women's Debating Teams. The material in the constructive speeches was well chosen and developed, and well presented, but a few seconds before the debate began it was discovered that the two teams could not agree as to the wording and interpretation of the question.

The debate was not forfeited by the LaVerne girls, as was suggested to them, but they pluckily tried to overcome the mistake. In spite of the handicap, their points were well defended. To cap the disappointment of the affirmative team, the Occidental team used the fact, to prove a point, that advertising does no good or else LaVerne College's advertising of her debate there would have brought a larger LaVerne representation out to support the debaters.

The girls are reconstructing their material and are looking forward to winning their next debate, the affirmative with Redlands, at Redlands, on December 13th, and the Whittier affirmative in LaVerne.

Prof: "What is the most common impediment to the English speech?"
Frosh: "Chewing gum."

over the waves and two Spanish beauties, Erma and Verda, appeared in their gorgeous shawls, singing in sweet maidenly modesty.

The good ship Y. W. C. A. returned to LaVerne and landed us from our reverie with a cruel jolt.

To the Editor of The Campus Times.

Dear Mr. Editor: In a certain hall on a certain occasion a meal was being served. I was supposed to take part in this meal. It happened that I was detained for a few moments before entering the hall after the rest of the participants. Upon making my entrance I found that it was time for the asking of God's blessing upon the food which we were supposed to eat. Instead of this blessing being spoken in the usual manner, it was on this particular occasion sung to a familiar strain of music. As per my custom when prayer is being made to my Heavenly Father, whether in song or spoken words, I stood still with my head bowed reverently where I happened to be standing.

As I was standing there, another person of my acquaintance came up to me while the prayer was being made and commenced to pat my face and cause a disturbance, as it seemed rather in a manner to make fun of my standing reverently. I may be mistaken in my interpretation of the purpose of his action, but nevertheless it had a tendency to arouse my righteous indignation. This particular young person (I was going to say man, but I hardly think man would be the word to use) seemed to show no reverence and did not intend for any one else to do so if he could help it.

Now this young fellow has no respect for the Almighty, I am sure, and I rather doubt his having a great deal of respect for his fellow students. I considered it an insult to myself for him to act in such a manner when in special contact with my God. It seems to me that if one has no respect for God he should at least have respect enough for his fellows to allow them to reverence their God while in the act of prayer. If he is to get along in this world in harmony with the rest of the population, he should at least allow them to worship in peace. What do you think? I do hope you will think about it.

I thank you.

Dear Mr. Letter Writer:

In answer to your letter printed above I would say that I agree with you in that this person of whom you write is neither a respecter of persons nor of God. A youth of this type will, unless he changes his ways, grow up to an unhappy manhood. Men are made happy through helping others. And a man who does not respect others will surely not help others. It is through disrespect of others that practically all of the pains of this earth are caused, for a man who respects not his fellows, cares not for them, their feelings, or their rights; a man who builds his life on such shifty sands, is bound to perish after an unhappy existence.

Sincerely,

The Editor.

KEEP YOUR HEAD!

During the last summer a great piece of international news was flashed across the Atlantic either by cable or by radio. It told of a distressing automobile accident in which there was one fatality. A goat, which had undoubtedly crashed into a good many things on its own account during its adventurous years, had the tables reverse on it with fatal results. An inventory of the goat's stomach revealed the following articles: An oil can, a spool of black thread, a couple of buttons, a key ring, one shilling and sixpence, a leather belt, a frame for a pair of glasses, a screw driver, part of an automobile tire, a golf ball, a silk shirt and a baby's rattle.

An American newspaper, commenting on the great discovery, expressed wonder that the cable did not say that the goat had swallowed a Ford, and let it go at that. This tragic story of the goat is recalled here because the condition of its stomach was a good deal like the contents of a great many minds, especially minds which have just been left to grow by chance, like a garden of weeds. Such minds have lots of interesting things in them but the things are not vitally related. They are like the contents of a waste basket. The only trouble with the contents of a waste basket is that you can't do anything with them. They don't go together to make up anything that can be used.

It is bad enough to have the things listed above in the stomach, but after all, it is even worse to have them in one's head. It was not the assorted contents of his stomach that was fatal to the goat. Having a lot of miscellaneous trash in our stomach may give us a bad pain for a while, but we get over it. But we do not get over having a headful of trash. Yet in spite of that, there is usually far less care given to what a person puts in his head than to what he puts in his stomach.

If you will go through any city early on Sunday morning, you will find on nearly every porch two things, a bottle of milk and a Sunday newspaper. You can be sure that the milk is Grade A. You can be sure that a great deal of the newspapers is Grade C, or even worse. The whole cause of first-class reading matter for the mind might very well rest on just one plea, that you treat your mind with as much respect as you do your stomach.

The conscientious choice of reading material will help to prevent a person's mind from becoming a scrambled notion counter, a sort of mental five-and-ten-cent store in which nothing over ten cents finds a place.

—May Chronister.

So I Said

By Harold S. Hoff

This column is an adventure in give and take. From the following response to a few questions which were asked last week, I judge that it is "taking." 'At's the ole fight!

In my mind the question isn't satisfactorily answered yet. If no one returns a reply to this, I'll be disappointed. So come on, you contestants, let's go. But don't hit coming out of a clinch.

CAMPUS TIMES, NOV. 29—"SOME-ONE ANSWER, PLEASE"

Here's your answer: If you don't understand the value of class attendance, why are you here? It isn't a matter of knowing the value of class attendance or of ten o'clock retiring—most of us know that. It's a matter of prompting us to do the thing we know.

Guess again.

* * * *

There are still folk in this world who, upon having one propound worthy ideals, will come back with that unkind and unwise rejoinder, "Why don't you practice what you preach?"

There are two reasons why one can't always practice what one preaches. The first is that certain material conditions may hinder; the second is that one's preaching always ought to be in advance of one's living. Regardless of how materially justifiable such criticism may be, virtually one never has any right to misconstrue motives.

* * * *

Comes again the thought: Why can't the students respect the bulletin board? Reference to the maltreatment of this means of expression is trite among the older students. For the sake of the freshmen, criticism orchestra, and that further donations would be appreciated.

The Freshman Quartet—George Berg, first tenor; Joe Hoffman, second tenor; Doyle Montz, baritone, and J. Russell Frantz, bass—gave a number. Then the special speaker, also a freshman, Harry McArthur, "champion swimmer," gave a very intellectual address on great men of the Freshman Class, making special mention of one Paul Lathrop, coach of the Freshman basketball team. His audience was roused to loud cheers for the men.

With the characteristics of Dean Hoover, Clarence Brubaker dismissed the assembly, which marched from the hall to the tune of Lohengrin's Wedding March. The farce was enjoyed by members of the faculty as much by the students.

Every year each class presents a program before the assembly. Formerly the programs have been mostly of a rally nature. New songs have been given and new yells, the best of which were to be chosen for the use of the school.

This year the programs will be varied to a great extent. The rally nature probably will not predominate. The Sophomores will present their program next Friday. We are forbidden to say more about it than that it will be good.

EDITH BLICKENSTAFF ANNOUNCES ENGAGEMENT

Edith Blickenstaff announced her engagement to Chester Peters to a group of her friends at a dinner party at her home, of which she was hostess on Saturday night, December 3d. Dortha Peters and Mary Blickenstaff served a five-course dinner to the group. The dessert course consisted of ice cream and cake. Under the plates was concealed a card in an envelope. Esther Dickey was the first to discover it. She opened it and found a card with snap shots of Edith and Chester. Below was written 1928.

It came as a complete surprise to the group and it was a few minutes before they recuperated sufficiently to congratulate her.

She received a beautiful diamond in white gold setting as a betrothal gift.

The bride-elect and her fiancé are both students of LaVerne College this semester. Miss Blickenstaff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Blickenstaff of LaVerne, is prominent in musical circles. Mr. Peters, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Peters, is of Chaelan, Washington. A definite date has not been set for the wedding.

The guests were Esther and Ruth Dickey, Cecilia and Kathleen Shaffer, Genevieve and Flossie Page, Lova Ikenberry, Kathryn Hanawalt, Josie Maust, Myrtice Butterbaugh, and Margaret Price.

students, are but two of a large number of national Christian leaders who will be present for the convention. Mr. Akagi is returning from a visit in Japan, just in time for the convention.

An outstanding speaker on race relations from the Negro point of view will be Mordecai Johnson, president of Howard University in Washington, D. C.

Richard Roberts, a pastor of the United Church in Canada, who has been much in demand at student conferences, will be present at Detroit. Other speakers include John R. Mott, of the World's Student Christian Federation; Reinhold Niebuhr, of Detroit, well known for his writings; Robert E. Speer, recently returned from travel in the Orient; Sherwood Eddy, who has given much of his time to student work in the Y. M. C. A.; Stanley High, now in America after a tour of the mission fields of Africa and Asia; Albert W. Beaven, of Rochester, and others.

PERSONALS

A number of Freshman and Sophomore women spent Sunday in Los Angeles. They visited the New First Baptist Church and were conducted through its many corridors to view its splendors. Nearly thirty women made up the party.

Ivan Edmister and Chester Peters were in Los Angeles on Sunday.

Howard Frantz spent the week-end in Los Angeles.

All students who entered LaVerne College for the first time this fall, including all Freshmen, took an intelligence test last Friday morning.

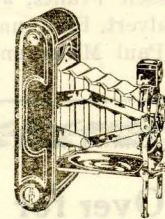

Crete Heiny, Hazel Funk, Olive Throne, Louise Huff, Marian Lewis, Alma Linebaugh, Clovie Carroll, and Neva Snell, hiked to Puddingstone Canyon on Saturday afternoon.

Mary Platt spent the week-end at her home in Hemet.

Aileen Rothrock has been confined to her home on account of illness.

Howard: "You're awful forgetful. What causes it?"

Eddie: "Well, you see, I have water on the brain. Every winter it freezes, and everything slips my mind."

Next Year's Varsity

For the first time in several years, there will be a flood of varsity material from a frosh football squad. This is due to the fact that many strong athletes were found in the class of '31 and developed by Coach Van Cleave.

In the Frosh team we find both excellent backfield and excellent line material, as has been displayed in the Frosh games. "Buck" Ferree, Harry McArthur, Chet Peters, Alfred Nicholas and Captain Weybright, have displayed qualities in the line peculiar to a brick wall, while "Pewee" Lathrop, Fred Hubble, Bob Bayhnum, "Bonnie" Bessey and "Tommy" Thomason have shone out as some of the best material that has been seen in LaVerne for some years. Pewee's backing up the line, Bayhnum's broken field running, Hubble's speed in skirting ends, and Tommy's steady game have united to make a wonderful backfield combination.

Other good material has been developed in Russell Frantz, Joe Raynon, Everett Calvert, Ed Cunningham, Wayne Allen, Paul Miller and Galen Hoff.

Frosh Are Victors in Interclass Basket Ball

SENIORS TAKE SECOND PLACE AND JUNIORS HOLD CELLAR POSITION

The Frosh Dark Horse sped through two hard and fast games to the interclass basketball championship, first galloping over the much heralded Junior quintet 29-12, and then trotting triumphantly over the Seniors, who had conquered the Sophomores 25-11. The Frosh squad, composed of "Tommy" Thomason, center and captain, and in this case coach; Weybright and Stutzman, forwards, and Nicholas and Hubble at guards, featured speed and teamwork. Each one was also a good passer and followed the ball constantly while it was in his territory.

The Seniors and Sophomores divided second honors by taking a game apiece, while the Juniors lost both games. Due to the fact that the Seniors beat the Sophomores, who in turn conquered the Juniors, the Seniors are given second place, the Sophomores third, and the Juniors the undisputed cellar position.

The interclass contests gave Coach Van Cleave an eye on the material out of which he will shape a varsity, and Coach Arnett plenty of hopes for a wonderful Frosh squad.

The outstanding upsets in the playoffs were that the Freshman and Sophomore casaba tossers both reaped a victory from the Juniors, who were last year's champs, and judging from hearing them talk beforehand, would be this year's victors.

The interclass games took place Wednesday and Thursday evenings, the Senior-Sophomore and Freshman-Junior games being played Wednesday, and the Sophomore-Junior and Freshman-Senior contests coming on Thursday.

Lineups of the Senior, Soph and Junior teams:

Seniors—Betts, center; Lehmer and Boots, forwards; R. Mahoney and Frantz, guards.

Sophomores—Leonard, center; Kindy and D. Miller, forwards; F. Mahoney and Dellenbach, guards.

Juniors—Shirk, center; Kreps and Myers, forwards; Vaniman and Hartman, guards. Substitute, Hoff.

Substitutions are not mentioned, as the lineups give those who played most.

Prof. Frantz: "Name some liquid that won't freeze."

Bright Student: "Hot water."

Chet Shirk (to passing Mexican child): "Button, button, who's got the button?"

"The laundry," replied the child.

SPORTS SNORTS

The Redlands varsity casaba tossers will go on a Christmas vacation trip, meeting several Long Beach and Hollywood hoop outfits. The Bulldogs boast a wonderful team and are sending fourteen men on this trip.

Sports news has it that the Pomona Frosh cagers look good enough for another Conference championship, as they were undefeated last year; and additional dope comes from Redlands that they have better material than ever before, including two or three captains of prep teams and many other stars of high school cage squads.

We're Showing a Fine Line of Fine Overcoats at Moderate Prices

Many stores can show you good overcoats—if you don't care how much you spend. But very men are that fortunate.

Most of us want a good overcoat at a moderate price—say $30 to $40, or perhaps even $25. There's where we shine!
