DEBATERS CALL RECRUITS

The College debating squad has been hard at work the last week in getting material for their debate.

They have been very ably assisted by seven of the girls who are showing their school spirit although they know they have no chance to debate. The following visited the Pomona library and put in nearly four hours of work Wednesday evening, Mary Gockley, Elva Gillette, Hazel Minnich, Ruth Boose, Susan Stoner, Ada Winslow and Martha Brubaker. John Rhodes is manager for the team.

Redlands has asked for a debate on March 18, so that instead of two, we will have three debates on our school schedule.

And now let all the college students show their school spirit and everyone help the boys to win these debates and put L. V. C. on the map.

BIBLE INSTITUTE BEST EVER HELD HERE

POWERFUL SPEAKERS HOLD AUDIENCES

The Bible Institute held from Feb. 6th to 13th is acknowledged to have been one of the best ever held here. The sessions were well attended beginning with the first lecture on Monday morning. In the evenings the auditorium was packed. The sentiment of the motto, "Immanuel—God With Us" was carried through every lecture and pervaded the very atmosphere.

The Institute this year was especially marked by the prominence and ability of its speakers. Every speaker seemed to be inspired and spoke with earnestness and power. The subjects were well chosen, and every speech contained something to think about more than once.

ELDER JACOB FUNK

The first lecture of the Institute was given by Jacob Funk, pastor of the Pomona church, on "The Pastor and the Church." He said that the greatest need in the world today is for consecrated, know-how pastors. The pastor must be as efficient in his line of work as a doctor in his. Above all things, the pastor must be sure that he is called by God and then work at the job.

The church must get back of the pastor. Anyone can throw bricks, but it takes some real consecrated effort to steadily uphold a pastor in earnest prayer.

Elder Funk spoke on Friday morning on "Democracy and Education." The subject was broad, and sweeping statements were made. The lecture was delivered in a masterful way and left the hearer in a thoughtful mood. His concluding statement was, "We must have Democracy, but we must have with our democracy Religious Education." The problem is how to give the right kind of education. We have today too many educated bad men. An ignorant bad man will steal a ride on a railroad, but an educated bad man will steal the railroad. We have idealized democracy, but democracy is not sufficient. We have crowded God off the map. Religious education is left out of our public schools, but it should not be left out of our national life. Any nation without God is bound to fall.

It is left to the home and the denominational schools to teach religious education. We are laying down on the job and we must stop it. Our denominational schools must give to our future leaders the Truth, and they can only get that through the Bible.

On Sunday evening Pastor Funk preached at the church on the subject, "The All-Seeing Eye of God."

EPHESIANS, BY TROSTLE

Elder W. E. Trostle, of Pasadena, gave four addresses, "Studies in Ephesians." The doctrines taught are the believers standing and state in Christ. The purpose of God in himself to do for us and what God made his people to be in Christ, were clearly set forth by the use of a chart outline of the entire book.

HECKMAN

ON THE CHRISTIAN CONSCIENCE
J. Hugh Heckman, of Bethany Bible School, who is at La Verne for his health, gave two lectures on "The Christian Conscience."

He treated it from the standpoint of operation of the conscience, rather than a definition of it. Every human being has sufficient light to make them responsible. Conscience is a companion of moral knowledge. The Christian conscience develops as our knowledge of God increases. The ideal of the Christian conscience is the condition of moral man brought under the power of Christ. Christ is the ideal of our Christian life; His character is the goal and His ministry is the model for action. The Christian conscience functions in proportion as God's will is discerned. The more one knows of Christ, the more responsibility one has.

There has been a gradual growth of conscience since the time of Abraham. People have become enlightened as to the will of God. The conscience of the Christian church has progressed. It thinks in larger terms than it did fifty years ago. God has never left the people without an ideal and the Christian conscience will continue to grow in the future.

On Thursday morning, Prof. Heckman gave a lecture on the Christian Attitude. The fundamental element of Christ's invitation is "Come." Then the answer of man's heart to this appeal is the sublime expression of religious action. The response to Jesus' supreme invitation is the highest concept of attitude toward Christ. It means faith beyond man's power to measure which is the fundamental attitude. There are degrees of faith. The supreme degree is that of living inner experience with God. This means intellectual assent and external conformity with the inner living experience. Paul is the most striking example of this attitude in placing Christ as his all in all.

ELDER A. O. BRUBAKER

A. O. Brubaker, pastor of the Raisin church, spoke on "The Sufficiency of Jesus to Meet the Present Needs." He gave a forceful address.

ELDER J. S. ZIMMERMAN

On Sunday morning, the 6th, J. S. Zimmerman, pastor of the Long Beach church, preached on the subject, "The Narrow Way." He told very vividly of how the Narrow Way becomes wider as it is traversed and finally becomes the only free life, while the Broad Way becomes narrower the longer it is traversed until the man traveling that way becomes absolutely bound by result of his own freedom and excesses.

On Monday afternoon Pastor Zimmerman told of "The Changeless Christ." Tuesday afternoon he spoke on "The Strength of Jesus." On Wednesday on "Poise." Jesus, he said, was perfectly balanced. We are not symmetrical as he was—we must look to Him as our example. We become like Him we behold. As we bring Him down to earth as a man in His humanity He can affect us. A virtue over-developed becomes a vice. Jesus had no virtue over-developed. Because of His perfection, men of first, fourth, tenth and twentieth centuries alike have found in Him their ideal.

ELDER G. F. CEMBERLEN

Geo. F. Chamberlen, pastor of the Covina church, spoke on the unheeded words of Christ. His message emphasized especially the word of Christ as authoritative and enduring—there is no repeal or substituting of God's word. Divorce, personal and class hatred and wars, are rampant in the world because Christ's words are unheeded. We have not fully believed the potency of God's plans for the solving of the world's problems. We need to get back to the Old Book—to the whole Book. The closing of his address was a sweeping appeal for more heed to Christ's words.

Rev. Chamberlen also gave an address, "Men Wanted."

ELDER S. F. SANGER

Elder S. F. Sanger gave on Tuesday morning "An Epitome of the History of the Church of the Brethren."

ELDER M. S. FRANTZ

"Personal Evangelism" is the sharing of Christ with others. It is not forced, but must be felt. In Christ's life time he had a great many personal conferences with people of all classes. Pastor Frantz said that there was too much dependence upon revivals and professional evangelists today. Every Christian should get in the game as the early Christians did. What if the speed of the automobile were coupled with the old horse-back enthusiasm in spreading the gospel? The Godly life is the greatest argument for Christianity.

Sunday morning, Feb 13, Elder Frantz preached on "The Summum Bonum."

ELDER J. HARMAN STOVER

The text of Pastor Stover's address Sunday night the 6th, was "I will look to the hills." He traced briefly the development of the commercial and industrial world in wonderful discoveries and inventions. He then brought out his climax. In the meantime the religious world has been standing still. We have worked so long to free the spirit that material gain has become the end instead of the means to an end.

On Tuesday evening Rev. Stover gave an address on the return of Jews. Nineteen out of twenty scriptures about the Jews are future—their day is yet to come. The fulfillment of God's covenant does not depend upon man's faithfulness or failure.

"CHRIST AND THE HOME"

President S. J. Miller

Pres. S. J. Miller, in his talk Friday evening on Christ and the Home, brought us many high ideals and good thoughts. He told of the wonderful influence of the Christian home to society, to a nation and to the world. He again said that the home should not just be a shelter and a place to get food and clothing, but should be the fundamental place to get religious training. Jesus favored the Christian home as well as the church. "One great work of the college today," continued Dr. Miller, "is to teach the art of home-making, not how to build a house and furnish it, to sew and cook; but to teach how to make a home in Jesus Christ."

3 INTERSCHOLASTIC YEARLY TRACK EV'S

Has La Verne a track team? Sure, and a good one too, as usual. Oh, yes, we lost a number of our last year's stars, but we still have plenty left that are hitting the path faster than last year, already; but the new men—watch them shine.

With the aid and efficient coaching of Mr. Douglas, the man who is directing the "big show" for the "skeeter weights," real championship form is already in sight, as the results of the inter-class meet show. Our relay men are beginning to get in line for that first big event on the track calendar, the Annual Relay Carnival, which is to be held at Pasadena on the 19th. La Verne expects to have entries in all class three events, and they are in to win.

The first big track and field meet, in which all events will be run, is the Valley League Meet, to be held at Puente, on the 5th of March. La Verne has won this, the past two years, and should turn the trick again!

Certainly, there will be a Gala Day meet this year. The U. S. B. C. has decided that it shall occur March 12th, at Alhambra. It seems that La Verne has inspired a great deal of fear in our neighboring schools, by reason of her previous showing in track and her fine prospects this year.

Boys, they are all watching for you, they are all expecting great things of you, so show your pep! Let's go!

C.W. OUTLINES NEW POLICY

Prof. I. V. Funderburgh has just returned from a trip to Elgin, Illinois where he attended two meetings.

The Regional Directors of the Forward Movement discussed methods and plans for organizing and pushing the work of the church during the coming year.

The second meeting was that of the Christian Workers board. At this meeting a new policy was outlined for the Christian Workers of the Brotherhood. Of the two lines of activity, it was decided to center efforts on the young people's activities.

Part of the work of the Board was the arranging for a Summer Conference for the young people. Possibly there will be such a conference at Huntington Beach this summer.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to the Senior Class and to the group of boys who so kindly remembered us in our time of grief. The beautiful floral pieces were very much appreciated.

FOOTBALL

Football is the great American game. Today it is the major sport of practically every high school and college in the country. It is rivalled only by professional baseball as a drawer of crowds and a maker of fans.

Why has football achieved this position of honor? Because as a clean, red-blooded game, it is best expressive of the spirit of American youth. It develops that wonderful harmony of mind and body so much admired by the Greeks. It is not a game for the man with brains alone. It is not a game for the man with only brawn. Rather it requires both, plus the training necessary to use them efficiently together.

The greatest thing in football is team work. Team work is the foundation upon which society and government is builded. Football goes to one extreme and develops the star. It goes to the other extreme and makes that star a self-denying cog in the machine-as-a-whole. By uniting these two extremes, football tends to provide a leadership truly representative of American ideals.

If La Verne College adopts football, is there any danger of its taking complete precedence over the more scholarly pursuits? If football should do this, it would be in violation of the spirit of the game itself. Football stands for team work—for co-operation. It is typical of the game of life. The physical, the intellectual, and the spiritual each count as necessary factors in the whole. Football demonstrates the value of the trained and ready mind—the clean living, healthy body—and the loyal, self-sacrificing spirit.

La Verne College needs football because it is a red-blooded game capable of arousing the loyalty and support of every student. She needs football in order to develop strong-bodied, clean-living, and quick-thinking leaders for future service in the big game of life. La Verne College needs football in order to be an American college.

SCHOOL SPIRIT

School spirit is best displayed in an act requiring hard work and the sacrifice of personal pleasure for the advancement of the school, but in which act there is likely to be no recognition.

A bus load of college girls went to Pomona Library the other day and for several hours they waded through volumes of dry-as-bone debate material for the men's debate. They had no chance in the world of making the team. And if you think they did it just for fun, try taking thorough notes on parts of several volumes of the Congressional Record.

Talk about school spirit! We have some of the genuine, 24 carat stuff right among us.

COMMISSION NOTES

Songs

A wave of school spirit, which has been in the germ for many weeks, materialized last week at a regular Student Body period, when such questions as a school song, a school seal and a school pennant were discussed. The students leaving an institution will remember a school song after many other remembrances have failed, and La Verne College certainly needs a distinctly college song. Two songs were presented, one by the College Juniors and one by the College Seniors and Sophomores, but no definite action has yet been taken, for we feel that this question should receive due consideration. However, it will not be long until the students of La Verne College will have a song that they may well be proud of.

Pennants

The matter of pennants was left to a committee to investigate. They will be made in the school colors, orange and green, and be designed as a college pennant, not a La Verne pennant.

Seal

Several students have long been at work on the College seal, and the Board have given their approval of adopting a College seal. These things will add a great deal to the spirit of loyalty and enthusiasm in our College, and when we are far from school and school friends, we can recall the days we spent here by the remembrances we have of our College.

Student Benefit

The Commission are thinking seriously and planning on giving a Student Benefit program sometime in the near future when the days are not so full as they have been the last few weeks. All you students who have brilliant ideas stored in some corner of your brain, dig them out and give them to one of the commissioners.

A few days ago a rather bashful young woman went into a store carrying chickens. She inquired the price of chickens, and at the same time put three on the counter. The clerk didn't know the chicken's feet were tied, and asked if they would lay there. She bit her handkerchief and said, "No, sir, they are roosters."

The New Superintendent (his first visit to this particular school)—Well, children, what shall I talk to you about?

Kid (on the front row)—About five minutes.

GUIDE OF LA VERNE

Waltz-Song

Words and Music by R. Root and T. Funderburgh

How oft have you gazed at the mountains

That lie in the clear distant view
All clothed in their beauty and grandeur,

Set out by the vast sky of blue;
Ang gazing, you stopped in your wonder

To fasten your eyes on a place
Where, seemingly carved on the ridge side,

There glistened an "L" lettered space.

Chorus:—

Guide of La Verne, you shall ever bring glory

To all who learn to revere and adore thee.

Our "L" is a symbol of freedom,
Of loyalty, faith and of love—

On! On! Upward with might toward the light

Above!

When out in life's struggle we've drifted

And gloomy days come thick and fast,

A memory that lingers will brighten
The burden and toil of each task.

Then high like the "L" on the mountain,

An ideal of Truth and of Right,
Will ever lead onward to vict'ry

And help us to win in the fight.

Presented by Juniors

In the midst of a fruitful valley,
Apart from the rest of the world,

Surrounded by grandeur of mountains
Is our college banner unfurled.

Hail to thee, dear Alma Mater!

Our praises we sing unto thee,
And express our true love and devotion

To our college, our dear L. V. C.

So fair in the realm of the orange
Does our loved Alma Mater stand,

Amid scenes of a rich, varied beauty
In the heart of the sunshine land;

And near to the "L" on the mountain,
Our own emblem of true loyalty,

And of all the noble ideals
That belong to our dear L. V. C

We enjoy the life of our college,
We hold it in highest esteem,

We are proud of the athletic spirit,
In upholding the orange and green.

Let us all be imbued with high purpose

To work hard for our dear L. V. C.

For the fame, the honor, and glory
Of our college, our dear L. V. C.

As the years slowly pass with their burdens,

And we students have wandered afar,
From the well trodden paths of the campus

To attend to the tasks of the hour;
May the aim of our fair Alma Mater

Still a guide, a spur, and a goal be,
May our lives be enriched and enobled

By our mem'ries of dear L. V. C.

Lift up your heads, oh ye boys,
and jingle your coin, ye women fearing crowd;

For another leap year has gone out,
and ye are still free—"tis luck, no doubt."

SOCIETY

BETHANY GIRLS GIVE SURPRISE

Who says May wasn't surprised? Last Thursday evening, Feb. 3, the Bethany Girls turned their regular business and social meeting into a surprise on May Whipple. This was done through the kindness of Mrs. Reintjes, who opened her home to the girls and helped plan the surprise. The girls met at Vera Hoover's and went together from there to Mrs. Reintjes home, where May lives during the school year. May was taken completely unawares, and it was some time before the noise and excitement subsided. After a short business session, May was again surprised by a shower of handkerchiefs—handkerchiefs of every size, shape or color, in all, about twenty-five. As soon as these were duly examined, Mrs. Reintjes served dainty refreshments of cocoa and marshmallows, fruit salad and cookies.

ALTRUISTIC'S

Mrs. Mabel Brubaker's home Thursday evening, February 3rd, was the scene of an unusual action. A bevy of girls, almost the entire membership of the Altruistic Girls Sunday School class met to elect new officers. The new class president is Elva Gillette. Marie Woody was requested to sing and thus show her fitness for her office as chorister, which she did by rendering a very appropriate selection. A near future outing is being planned for the class. Among other important business, the class decided to take a Twenty-five Dollar share in the support of the school work in India. A social time was enjoyed for the remainder of the evening. Twenty-three delicious apples were hidden about the rooms. Twenty-six girls being present, the three failing to find one, were compelled to eat theirs dangling on ends of strings. Other refreshments were served in a unique way. Each girl took a slip of paper from a dish as it was passed, the paper contained the names of two mystical dishes, one of which each one must choose. Forming in line, the girls passed the sideboard, where they received the articles chosen. Some of the dishes were "Infant's Delight" (condensed milk), "A Never-Failing Dessert" (tooth-picks), "Chinese Cheer" (tea), "A Desert Product" (sandwich), "Concentrated Odors" (onion). After the mirth had somewhat subsided, the social committee served cocoa and cake.

Girls! Attention!

You will welcome this "bit o' news." You can give your dresses an elegant finish at a very small cost. The changeable blue, green, bronze and all of the regular 75c iridescent cut beads are now only 45 cents a bunch at Frasher's, and what could be daintier than a bead trimming! You are sure to find just the shades to harmonize with your new dresses or to give that old one a fresh look.

MISS EVELYN TROSTLE

Just Returned From Armenia

The two largest audiences of the Institute week were those of the "Pill Bottle," and Miss Evelyn Trostle as she spoke during the chapel period on Wednesday morning. Some of the students sat on the stage to hear her. Miss Trostle began her address with an appreciation to Pres. Miller, under whom she was formerly a student. She spoke briefly of the charm of the east, the cradle of civilization. It is no longer westward ho! but—eastward ho!

Miss Trostle's work in the east while there in relief work, was the superintendency of four schools containing altogether 900 pupils, and the mothering of 400 orphan children. The immediate purpose of the Near East Relief is to care for physical needs. During one winter 500,000 people were cared for. Of the 200,000 Armenian girls kidnaped by the Turks 15,000 have been rescued. There are on the field 500 American workers. But one million people will starve this winter if America doesn't save them. The Turks and Armenians say "When we go to Heaven we go to America."

The protestant Armenians control a great deal of the wealth of the country and the Turks have a massacre every so often and live off the loot until they have lived it up, then have another massacre. During the war two million Armenians have been killed because they would not become Mohammedan.

For centuries Armenia has been a wedge between great nations, but its people have continued their faith and customs in spite of persecution, firm in the hope that some day they will, under God's goodness, have a country of their own. Life there is very primitive. Marash, the city in which Miss Trostle worked, is a city of 70,000 inhabitants 150 miles from a railroad. Everything is taken in on camels' backs. A year ago the evening that the orphanage was having its Christmas celebration, the Turks began a seige on the city which lasted for 21 days. The French were in possession of the city, but after 21 days left. Of the Armenians in the city, 10,000 were massacred, 12,000 left. Every one of the older girls of the orphanage and college carried with her a vial of poison to be used in case the Turks attacked. Miss Trostle's only protection was her little silk American flag.

The remaining Armenians are living in houses right around the American college. They have said to Miss Trostle, "Go and tell the Americans." "Does it pay?" she asked, and then asked again, "Who has given me the sweet to eat, And given my brother dust to eat?"

PROF. I. V. FUNDERBURGH

Social Teachings of Jesus

In four lectures, Prof. Funderburgh gave some of the social teachings of Jesus. Jesus placed a very high estimate on man and personality and He yearned for companionship. He mingled freely with all men. He accepted an invitation from a Pharisee and a Publican alike. He believed that every man was a child of God and His brother. He stood for social individuals completely socialized by the fullest development of the individual man.

Jesus never allows questions of His authority to bother Him. He assumes all authority. Jesus is the heart of His own teaching. He does not have to go back to tradition to verify His teaching.

One half of Jesus teaching or gospel, is social—the other half deals with man's relations to God.

He did not deal with the economic problem directly, but He did teach that a super-abundance of wealth endangers an individual because it stands between him and his highest self, it becomes the chief interest in his life. But Jesus says, "seek first the kingdom of God."

We are His stewards and He requires recognition of this. It is then more important that some portion be set apart for God than what portion.

ELDER J. M. BOAZ

Another of the good lectures, "The Spirit of Jesus" by J. M. Boaz, was given Thursday at the chapel period. The speaker repeated the familiar verse in the Psalms, "Create in me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me." The right spirit as he defined it, was a moral and re-

L. V. MINSTREL FOR STUNT NIGHT
 The different schools in the league are planning the evening programs for Gala Day and the Valley League track meets which will take place soon. Each school will give a stunt and since there are eight schools in the league, the program will be varied. The Committee from La Verne have been attempting to get their stunts ready, but due to the great number of lectures during this last week, we have been too busy to accomplish much. It is the present plan to have the negro minstrel and the boys quartette for our part of the program.
 March 5 is the date for the Valley League Meet, but Gala Day has not yet been definitely set. Students, reserve these dates and show your loyalty to your school by attending these meets.

SPORTS

NORWALK DEFEATS LA VERNE INDOOR GIRLS

On Friday, the 11th, the girls played the hardest game of the season. Norwalk as yet has not been defeated and it was with hard work that they defeated La Verne with a score of 9 to 6. The two teams were about evenly matched, and from the first it was a question as to what the outcome would be. Both teams showed some nervousness at first, but they soon settled down to work. La Verne held up the larger end of the score for about half the game when Norwalk gained a lead of three points, which they held for the rest of the game.

After the game a light lunch, consisting of chocolate, nut sandwiches, apple salad, jello and cookies was served in the library, which had been arranged with tables decorated with violets. The teams marched in together, lead by the two pitchers. They were entertained by a small orchestra composed of some of the students, during the time the lunch was served and between the courses.

INDOOR GIRLS WIN FROM DOWNEY

On Feb. 4th, the girls played their fourth League game with Downey, and won 15 to 8.

The game started with much enthusiasm and in the first inning Downey scored two runs, but La Verne started scoring also at the start, and soon got a lead over their opponents and kept it for the rest of the game.

Several good plays were made by the La Verne players, such as spectacular catches in the outfield and also handling grounders errorless. The girls have improved very much in base running, too.

SKETEERS AGAIN VICTORIOUS

The Skeeter Weights once more brought home the bacon when they defeated Alhambra for the second time to the tune of 28 to 24. The game was played on Alhambra's court, and was a hard fought one from the start. The score stood 3-all, 5-all, 8-all and 10-all at different stages of the game and at the end of the first half there was a 12-all tie, so it is easy to see that it was not tiddle-de-winks or croquet that the Alhambra boys were playing. Alhambra led most of the second half, and La Verne won the game by making a couple of lucky shots during the last five minutes. The story would have been different if Fundy had not been out of his usual form, and to cap the climax, he sprained his ankle near the end of the game. Thomas is out of the squad now on account of ailments, and the combination with Beckner at center was tried for the first time.

La Verne now leads, having lost but one game. A quintette at Whittier hoodooed our boys and beat them 19 to 40. The return game with this team will be played next Thursday evening, Feb. 17. The team needs your support, so come and see them teach the Whittier Crescents that we have a comeback that is not a thing to be trifled with.

 W. I. T. HOOVER

Dr. Hoover gave two masterful addresses. On Thursday afternoon he spoke on the Origin and Purpose of the American college. After his address, $2,000 was raised in cash and pledges to go toward defraying expenses of the college.

GUIDANCE—R. H. MILLER

On Friday afternoon R. H. Miller, pastor of the La Verne church, gave a lecture on God's guidance.

E. R. YUNDT

"The Layman in the Activities of the Church" was very ably treated by E. R. Yundt of Pomona, on Saturday afternoon.

REV. & MRS. ERNEST VANIMAN

The Vaniman's, returned missionaries from China, spoke of missions in China on Saturday afternoon.

"PILL BOTTLE"

The missionary play, "The Pill Bottle" played by the Student Volunteers on Saturday evening, was a fitting close to the week of inspiration.

THE MUSIC

On Sunday evening Prof. and Mrs. B. S. Haugh sang a very beautiful duet at the church.

Marie Woody and Leland Brubaker sang on Tuesday evening, "It Was For Me."

On Friday evening a male quartette from the Pomona church rendered a pleasing selection, and Prof. Haugh rendered a solo, which was very much appreciated.

KOLLEGE KNEWS

The new semester brought us several new students as well as taking a few from our ranks. Those who left school are Mazel Crites, Virginia Goodman, Orville Brooks, Roosevelt Hartman, Paul Kellar and Claude Fagg. Although they will all be greatly missed, L. V. C. is glad to welcome the new ones, among whom are Howard Bosler, Manchester College; Paul Yearout, Chico, Calif.; Frank Gillette, Los Angeles; George King, Vancouver, Washington.

News was received last Sunday, a week, of the death of Mr. Henry

Bomberger, of Pasadena, the father of David Bomberger. The entire school unites in extending the sincerest sympathy to the family and friends of Mr. Bomberger. David accompanied his mother to Pennsylvania, where they have taken the body for interment. He will be out of school perhaps a month.

Among the visitors at the Bible Normal, there were the familiar faces of several old students, Mabel and Esther Funk, '16, of Charter Oak, Maude Brubaker, '17, of Covina, Mrs. Jake Bowser, of Fresno, formerly Miss Flossie Mishler, Mrs. Ida Gible, a former matron of L. V. C., and Mr. and Mrs. John Coffman, '18 and '19.

Miss Bessie Hershberger, '18, of Macdoel, is spending several weeks in La Verne visiting old college acquaintances. It seems natural to see Bessie Mae in the college halls again.

Miss Naomi Harshbarger has been very ill for several days. Scarlet fever has developed into smallpox, which does not make a comfortable combination. However, she is much better now, although still ill. The Misses Estella Landis, Nina Garst and Beulah Noll were fellow sufferers for a week, as they were quarantined and closely confined to their rooms. To the imprisoned girls their quarters shrank smaller every day until freedom is now greatly appreciated. All of the dormitory girls have been vaccinated except two, who are now quarantined.

Prof. I. V. Funderburgh and family made a trip to San Francisco last Monday to bid farewell to the Blickenstaffs, who sailed for India Feb. 8.
