DELIGHTFUL BANQUET CLOSES SUCCESSFUL FOOTBALL SEASON

The second annual football banquet of La Verne College was held in the dining hall of the Ladies' Dormitory Saturday evening, December 16. The splendid service and delicious menu furnished by the A. W. S. with the help of some of the academy girls under the leadership of Vessie Noll, with Mrs. Marie Brubaker as chief cook was greatly appreciated by every one of the eighty-eight persons present, including students, faculty members and business men of the town, and their wives.

President Funderburgh acted as toastmaster and did much in keeping the banquet lively and making it a success.

The tables were arranged in two groups, an "L" and a "V", the College letter men being in the "L" and the Academy men in the "V." Place cards were of football design and at each place were miniature paper favours filled with almonds and after-tea mints. The dining hall was decorated with orange and green streamers. The dinner was served in six courses, the first being cocktail, followed by soup, then came the main dinner with a liberal helping of roast pork, mashed potatoes, gravy, dressing, peas, biscuits, and olives. The fourth course consisted of fruit salad, the fifth ice cream and cake, followed by a cup of coffee.

Between courses an interesting program of speeches, songs and recitations crowded the hour. All were glad to hear the Bingo Quartet and they were as good as usual in rendering two appropriate numbers. Some of the interested business men of the town were then called upon for speeches among them being D. S. Newcomer, Oscar Railey, George Wright, H. M. Hanawalt and O. M. Moomaw, who gave our football men some very fine and appreciated compliments. Truman Funderburgh, of our Alumni, also gave us an inspiring speech.

Raymond Root, coach of the Academy team, presented his fifteen men with their letters. Those receiving the letters were: Bohn, G. Root, Gillette, Hartman, Miller, Otis Brooks, Royer, G. Kreps, Frantz, Shirk, Emmert, Hanawalt, Brooks, Blocher and Brownsberger.

Coach Arnett then presented the following college men their letter and stripe: J. Brooks, Dickey, A. Brower, Raynon, I. Brooks, Garber, Betts, Hepner, R. Root, B. Harper, Welch, Beckner, Price, Smith, Throne and Marshburn. The latter ten received two stripes representing their second year as letter men.

Both teams voted for captains for next year, Dwight Welch and Galen Root each obtaining the most votes from the College and Academy respectively.

Speeches were then given by the retiring captains, John Price and Wayne Bohn, after which the captains elect pledged their loyalty and faith to their teams and their school in next year's season.

A vote of thanks was given by all present to those who had made the banquet a success, after which all joined in singing "Guide of La Verne." All departed hoping they could attend another banquet next year following as successful a season of football as the one just passed.

LaVerne Sends Delegation to Asilomar

The big Y. M. C. A. Conference of all the colleges of California, Arizona, and Nebraska is again being held at Asilomar, during the holidays. Last year La Verne was represented for the first time. John Price and Herman Landis were our representatives.

La Verne has been given a quota of six this year, and six are planning to go. They are Levi Dickey, Chase Harper, Alva Brower, Ernest Landis, Phil Smith and Howard Beckner.

They will have the opportunity of hearing some really big men who are real Christian leaders. One of these is Fletcher Brockman, who is a Christian statesman of Asia, a man who has been in Asia for twenty-five years and is now Associate General Secretary of the entire Y. M. C. A. organization. Another is David Porter, who has been in Oxford, and is now a national secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

The La Verne representatives will also have the opportunity of meeting representatives from all of our neighboring institutions.

Academy Senior Play

The Academy Senior Play, "Daddy Long Legs" is being presented Wednesday and Thursday nights, December 20th and 21st. The play is very gripping and has a good variety of humor and pathos. President Funderburgh has said that it is one of the best ever given in La Verne College, and that the playing is remarkable for amateur performers.

The cast is composed of the following members:

Gladiola.....	Olive Deardorff

CHAPEL NOTES

A school is judged by its scholarship. Although this is not the whole of a college education, the students through it make a name for their school. Monday, December 11, Prof. H. W. Frantz, called registrar, talked to the student body on "Scholarship."

After a short devotional Tuesday, December 12, the girls were dismissed from the chapel services, and Pres. I. V. Funderburgh discussed, with the boys, some matters of importance and interest—concerning the men's dormitory.

Wednesday, December 13, the Y. M. C. A. conference of College men to be held at Asilomar December 26 to January 2, was discussed. President I. V. Funderburgh outlined the program for the conference, Prof. D. W. Lefever told of some of the speakers to be present, John Price reported of the conference last year, and Galen Root told of the conference for high schools held at San Diego during Thanksgiving vacation. The student body was favorable and expressed the opinion that representatives from the school be sent to the conference.

Mrs. Marie Brubaker on Thursday, December 14, discussed "School Spirit." She pointed out that in some instances it has been lacking very perceptibly. She gave some reasons for this and advised the remedy that each student try a little harder. It is primarily an individual matter.

Monday, December 18, Miss Vesta Sanger talked on "Teaching as a Profession." This was the first of a series on professional subjects to be featured in the chapel service. She showed how teaching ranks as a profession, not a business venture.

Dr. C. E. Arnett on Wednesday, December 20, talked on "The Athlete's Code of Ethics." He said that athletes, as well as those in other professions, needed a code of ethics, and that in after life this standard proves very valuable.

SANFORD GIVES A GREAT ADDRESS

The second number of the Music and Lecture Course occurred Thursday night, December 14, when Chester Milton Sanford lectured on "Failures of the Misfits." Mr. Sanford is a widely known educator and vocational expert and is well equipped to leave a worth while message in the minds of all who hear him. He presented the problem of the 'misfits' in various vocations.

As a striking illustration he stated that one thousand of the seven thousand members of the Dishwasher's Union in New York, held the A. B. degree, but had somehow failed in their purpose.

There are certain fundamental principles underlying the choice of a life work. The first is to analyze oneself, asking such questions as these: What are my talents, aptitudes, likes and dislikes? What do I dream of doing? In the second place, before accepting a job, one should get close to the job and analyze it, for the job will make or mar his life.

There are four methods of analysis; first, observation of the physical and mental type which gives indication of fitness; second, a study of the environment which alters type; third, discovery of the dominant interest; and fourth, scientific examination through vocational psychology tests. It is dangerous to work against the grain of one's nature. The choice of a life vocation should be made from worthy motives. Service is the most fundamental of motives.

The age from twelve to sixteen is the critical period when the youth should become interested in some kind of work. Let him get in touch with many vocations before he decides.

Authorities claim that of twelve persons, four are fitted as to type for some vocation, one of which is very pronounced, and eight are average and can enter any of several vocations.

More attention and deliberation should be given to the choice of life work—the lack of which has caused so many failures and unhappy lives.

After the most interesting lecture he talked with many of the students personally, and pointed out some of their individual characteristics and tendencies.

An attempt is being made to bring Mr. Sanford to La Verne some time in the near future and give his lecture on "You and Your Job."

The Landis family are planning to entertain their mother, Mrs. Landis, of Live Oak, during the holidays.

Several of the Merican Prayer Meeting groups are planning Christmas treats for the homes to which they go. These are always greatly enjoyed, especially by the children.

CHRISTMAS SALE SUGCESS DEPUTATION TEAM GOING NORTH

In spite of rain and unsatisfactory weather most of the time, the Christmas Sale held by the Ladies' Aid of the Church of the Brethren was a fine success.

The Bazaar opened on Wednesday, December 13 and closed the following Saturday. All kinds of articles were offered for sale, such as fancy work, cakes, pies, canned fruit, home made candy and many other things. Noon lunches were served every day. The chicken dinner on Thursday drew the record crowds, as two hundred and thirty people were served on that day.

On Saturday the big cake contest was featured, which certainly proved that the La Verne ladies know how to bake cakes.

The purpose of the sale was to raise money for the fund for the building of the Men's Dormitory of La Verne College. The results show that $544 was earned by the sale.

The College students want to thank the Ladies' Aid and the townspeople for the interest in them which prompted such a movement and certainly appreciate the hearty response to the effort made in their behalf.

THE SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS

The holiday appearance of the shop-windows and the throngs of busy people all testify to the fact that Christmas is almost here. Who does not love Christmas, with its festivities, happiness, and good fellowship? It is a time to which we look forward with the greatest pleasure and anticipation.

But in the midst of all the gayety and fun have we the real Christmas spirit? It is not that which prompts you to plan your gifts with the thought of what will come in return or that the recipient will be offended if his name is not on your list, but it is that which makes you give because you love to give and not only to your close friends but to those who are so much less fortunate. The value of Christmas gifts does not depend upon the money spent for them but upon the thought behind them.

This year the people of La Verne are planning a manifestation of the Christmas spirit which is most commendable. It is the first introduction of a Community Christmas Tree. All of us will come together to celebrate the birth of the Christ child which was the occasion for the first Christmas so many years ago. A feature of this movement which is especially fine is that help is to be given to the poor families among us. Gifts of money, food, and clothing which will make Christmas in some home more bright and happy are being offered. This gathering will be a splendid one for our town and will do much to foster the true Christmas spirit among us.

FINDING YOUR LIFE-WORK

The recent lecture by Mr. Chester M. Sanford on the "Failures of the Misfits" was one of the most helpful addresses ever given at La Verne College. As an authority he brought first-hand illustrations of the real tragedy of being in a work for which one was not suited; but, on the other hand, he showed the great joy in doing the work which one likes to do, and for which one is best adapted. The task for the individual is to find his particular place in life. This searching thought was of keen interest and vital importance to the students.

The penetrating questions were, "What shall I prepare to do?" "How may I find my life-work?" The books on vocational guidance are very helpful, but supplementing this study, the individual should seek to know God's plan for his life. As Christian students, we especially should recognize this.

J. Campbell White has said, "Expect the same guidance with reference to going into business or professional life that you would expect in going into the ministry or the mission field." If this were followed, the large percentage of misfits would be greatly reduced.

The popular vocations are already over-supplied, so that the Christian individual seriously seeks to discover the largest possible place he can serve. Study the needs of the world. Some one has said that you should choose your life-work with an open Bible and a map of the world before you.

In the light of the greatly complicated problems facing the world to-day there comes a challenge to the young men and women now in colleges preparing to take part in their solution. The leaders in industry, government and business are turning to the teachings of Christ and the church for the solution of their problems.

"The challenge which calls for the keenest mind, the strongest will, the most loving heart and the greatest sacrifice, but gives the richest rewards, is the challenge of a world-wide need for Christ." Will you seek His plan for your life? S. L. S.

FRIDAY'S COMING

My ain't life full of joy and fun
When your work is all well done
And you sit and write a poem
About Christmas and you're going home.

Nothing else comes in your head
When the time drags on so dead
Except how the folks will grin
When they see you rollin' in.

Books and papers a muddled brain,
All I think of is the train.
What's H2O? I don't know—
My I hope the train ain't slow.

French, Spanish, Adios a revoir
How the time drags on, my dear!
History, (mind, work now) Greece
and Rome
Will they know me when I get home?

They'll be there shine or rain
All to meet me at the train—
(Brain try now) Senior play
I wish tomorrow was to-day.

English now, Bacon, Lamb
Oh I'm drifting so I am
I must concentrate once more
H 2 So 4.

Shall I take a trunk or not?
Ouch but that acid's hot
Who'd tho't it'd burn like that,
Yes I'll wear my brand new hat.

Wrong stuff in, oh gee whizz!
Oh baby, look at her fizz!
Look at her spurt and look at her foam
Spoiled my dress! But I'm going home!!!

AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF A TURKEY

I am one of a flock of turkeys that came upon the scene of action early last spring. I spent the early days of my turkeyhood, following my mother about the yard, and in eating and sleeping, most young turkeys do.

As I look back over my first impressions, I remember what a queer world I thought this was. The sky was so blue and the grass so cool and green. Then too, I remember the various sounds that began so early in the morning. The quacking of the ducks, who waddled around on their short legs, and the crowing and cackling from the chicken pens.

One morning I awoke to find a great commotion around the barn yard. A strange man was seen walking around looking at the turkeys and poking their sides to see how fat they were. I did not share the general excitement as I did not know what it was all about. But the next day, when an automobile filled with crates arrived my mother explained she told me that Thanksgiving day had come. "And what is that," I asked. "It is the time of the year when the turkeys are killed to appease the enormous appetites of human beings," she said.

Soon after this I, with a number of my companions, was bundled into the crates, and were soon headed for the nearby city.

When we arrived we were taken to an open market place where we were put in coops that gave us more freedom and allowed us a better view of the strange sights. I was so bewildered by this time that I thought nothing of it when I was taken from the coop and placed in a delivery wagon and taken to the suburbs of the city.

Soon I found myself in a small pen where, during the next few days, I became great friends with a little girl who gave me all her apple cores and other dainties. Later I overheard the girls father and mother talking, and learned that, because the little girl had begged so hard, I was not to be killed for Thanksgiving but saved until Christmas. Since my mother is not here to tell me what this means, I do not know what the future holds in store for me.

SANTA TAKE NOTICE!

Dear Santa,

When you go thundering by La Verne, couldn't you manage to roll off just a few things for me? I'll stand waiting all night long, and if you don't drive too fast or make too much noise you will hear me creak. Please, Santa, listen for me this time. Last year you didn't quite hear me, but this year I know you'll hear me. Please wrap these all together.

First, I want a new coat made of good, genuine, fresh paint, some unbreakable new eye glasses for my windows—and oh, Santa, you're my only sympathizer—those boys are rough on me! They run up and down my steps and thru my halls bouncing up and down, and oh, they make me groan and have such aches, and sometimes I feel about to burst with noise, and just because I'm getting old, they take advantage of me, Santa. Don't you 'spose you could somehow make me new again?

I wish you'd wait awhile and then drop in unexpected like, cause somehow the folks who live so close to me here everyday seem to like you better than they do me. They say that they are sure glad to get away from me, when I've been so good to them, and they are leaving me alone.

It's all because of you, Old Santa Claus, if you wouldn't be stickin' your nose into my business every year, I'd have a lot more fun at the end of the year. You take all my family away that I've nourished and clothed with wisdom all thru the year, and leave the last days in every year for me to spend entirely in lonesomeness, and I'm getting tired of it.

So, Santa, can't you see that you aren't fair,—please come some other time. Listen, if you decide to come later, let me know, and I'll stand waiting to catch those things I sent for.

Jealously yours,
LA VERNE COLLEGE.

SOCIETY

C. W. ENTERTAINMENT
The Young People's Christian Workers Society of La Verne had their first social function of the year, Friday evening, December 15. Not only were most of the La Verne young people present, but in response to the invitation sent to Covina, Glendora and Pomona, twenty-five or thirty members from the C. W. Society of Glendora were present.

The evening fun started when paper sacks were tied upon the right hand of everyone and the hand shaking contest started. Everybody shook hands with everybody else and thus names were learned and acquaintances made. This handshaking continued until paper sacks were 'no-more.'

Then in order to become better acquainted and especially the boys and girls, the boys took turns in talking to every girl until each one had stuttered and sputtered and chatted with every girl present. For some this game was sort of embarrassing but then again some members gave the entertainment committee much thanks for originating such a game that proved to be of much assistance in the line they pursued.

Other games, such as the 'drinking water' contest, were played and enjoyed immensely, but the climatic game of the evening was that of naming families. Everyone was named the member of a family, either the father, mother or one of the little ones. Quite interesting were some of these families such as the Toe family with their dull son Potae-Toe; and the Lean family with the twins Mesy-Lean and Gasy-Lean; then the large Tick family and amongst their flock were the two sons Polly-Tick (otherwise Russell Grossnickle) and Hairy-Tick (namely Professor Lefever).

After all the fathers had introduced their wives and children, each mother sent one or more of her children to the grub line to wait his turn in obtaining something to eat. The first trip certainly proved to be successful for every member of each family was bountifully supplied with a plate of apple salad and chicken sandwiches. The second course consisted of hot chocolate and delicious chocolate cake.

Between courses the Bingo Quartet gave three selections which bro't a great deal of applause.

With the entertainment planned by the capable leaders of the evening and the jolly group present this certainly proved to be a most successful party in every respect. It is the desire of all La Verne students to be able to meet more often with the young people of the other nearby churches.

BRUBAKER SLUMBER PARTY

Friday night ten girls met at the home of Mrs. Marie Brubaker. The girls had a jolly good time making fudge, while Marie attended the C. W. party. They were interrupted several times by boys who enjoyed themselves thoroughly according to the amount of cake they got, which was hidden in a suit-case, and cleverly opened with a pair of scissors. When Marie arrived the fun started again. Lectures, gymnastics, and songs were greatly enjoyed by all. Delicious apples, and nuts were passed.

The hour of retiring came only too soon. Lots were cast as to who should sleep with who. Finally all was quiet and continued so until long after the sun arose. A delicious breakfast was served and enjoyed by all before the girls returned to their respective homes.

KOLLEGE KNEWS

Mr. and Mrs. William Dyck arrived in La Verne on Tuesday evening December 19. They will remain until Friday when their daughter Miss Dorothea will accompany them back to Reedley to spend the Christmas vacation.

Mrs. Rose Ebersole and small son Walter have gone to Imperial Valley to spend three weeks. While Mrs. Ebersole is away her place on the kitchen force is being filled by Miss McKenzie.

One of the recent arrivals in La Verne is Miss Velta Platt of Oakland California. Velta has come to take the position of office secretary as Miss Hilda Broad is leaving the first of the year for her new home in Fillmore.

On Sunday December 17, Misses Pauline Miller, Norma Roynon, and Messrs. Archie Brooks and Harvey Gibble went to Sage, California where they were entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brubaker. Mrs. Brubaker is a sister of Mr. Gibble.

Anyone within a block or two of the Girls Dorm on Monday evening somewhere near seven o'clock was certainly aware that something in the nature of a concert was going on within its walls. The girls under the simultaneous leadership of Martha Brubaker, Wanda Carl and Mary Gockley and Viola Neher as accompanist were making the building ring as they had a "good old-fashioned sing."

In the line of musical accomplishments the Dorm Boys deserve honorable mention. Every nite just before supper they gather themselves together at the entrance to the dining room and warble forth. Very touching and melodious selections are rendered, usually being led by Phil Smith. These concerts are greatly enjoyed by the ladies who hear them from their homes on the third floor.

If you would be in style in La Verne College, fellows, get a moustache! Black or white, little or big, it matters not. According to Dwight they will grow quite well if properly cared for. Sometimes a little blacking will improve their appearance. Try it.

On Wednesday December 13, there were many fair prisoners in the castle of the Ladies Home. Not being able to swim and no ferry boats being available it became necessary for the gallant knights (otherwise Mr. Beckner, Harvey Emley and Cecil Jordan) to convey the ladies by automobile across the rushing stream to the college over the way. Wanda might have been seen patiently walking down the middle of the street under her red umbrella waiting for the high waters to go down. Mr. Beckner finally rescued her and took her across in safety. Mary almost dreamed that she was back in Washington when she saw how it was raining. California can keep up with any of them.

Does Ora Weddle like apple pie? If you have any doubts on the subject ask him how many pieces he ate at Hemet on Sunday December 17. In case you should fail to gain the desired information, it might here be said that the number was four, or in other words, two-thirds of a pie.

Remember this it's foolish to be extravagant at Christmas, if you really want your friends to remember it, give them a cheap present.

KING LOUIS THE FOURTH'S CHAIR

Mr. and Mrs. Sutton were rich, Mrs. was odd while Mr. was a jolly, "happy go lucky" sort. Mr. Sutton was at his friends playing poker one night, (if his wife had known he would not have been there) when his friend told

ATHLETICS

COLLEGE WINS VICTORIES FROM POMONA

The College first and second squads defeated the Pomona J. C. and Pomona High school Wednesday, December 6, on the home court. It was only a practice game and many of the weak points in both sides were brought out. The second team defeated the Pomona Hi squad by a score of 14-8. It resembled a football game more than a basketball contest. There was more real basketball shown in the next game when the first team defeated the Pomona J. C., 38-5. The college team is surely going good and should make a good showing with the Conference teams this year.

ACADEMY DEFEATS COVINA

The Academy defeated Covina Hi on Tuesday by a score of 21-8. It was a good game for so early in the season and the local team surely showed up well. It was only a practice game so all the squad got a chance to show their "stuff." Bohn at center; Hartman and Root at guards and Otie and Creps, forwards surely show some teamwork and if handled right should take the league this year. Alright, Academy, "let's go."

him that he was hard up and had to sell part of his furniture. The next day when Mr. Sutton came home, Mrs. met him at the door and seemed happy as was not usual. She said she had a surprise for him and marching him into the house, showed him a chair. She said she had bought it from a relic shop for only one thousand dollars, and Louis the Fourth had had it in his home. Mr. Sutton said nothing as it was the old chair he had enjoyed sitting in so often at his friend's poker games.

POMONA AMERICAN LEGION LOSES TO LAVERNE

Tuesday, December 19 the College won two games from the Pomona American Legion. The College first team won their game 53 to 28. It was a fast game throughout, but the locals had the edge in passing and shooting. Captain Beckner and Welch were the shining lights for the home team.

Beckner shot a total of 11 field goals, while Welch followed closely with 8.

The second team game was also fast, but the shooting was not so sure. The Harper brothers starred for La Verne in that game. The final score was 19 to 10.

COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

Everything is progressing nicely in the preparations for a community Christmas celebration. It will be held in the college gymnasium Saturday evening, December 23, at 7:30.

The large Christmas tree, beautifully decorated, will bring much joy to the children. Gifts have been provided for the children by the Chamber of Commerce, city trustees, and business men.

The choral union, under the direction of Prof. Haugh, will sing several Christmas carols. The program will be as follows:

- Hymn—"Joy to the World."
- Invocation
- Hymn—"Come All, Ye Faithful."
- Reading—Ezra 1:1-6
- Anthem—"Te Deum"—Chorus.
- "Noche de Paz"—Spanish Choir.

After the distribution of gifts to all the children the audience will sing "Silent Night," closing with the benediction. Let everyone be present at this first Community Christmas program for La Verne.

CHESTER T. HARTLETT Jan. 6-7

Mr. Chester T. Hartlett, a traveling secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement for Foreign Missions, will visit La Verne College January 6-7. The secretary comes in the interest of the whole institution and not simply to visit the Student Volunteers.

These secretaries interpret the foreign mission boards and bring students into closer relation both to their denominations and to the student religious organizations in the Colleges.

Arrangements are being made whereby the students may get the most from the visit of Mr. Hartlett. He will speak in chapel on Saturday morning at 9:40 and again at 8:45 Sunday morning. The students and interested friends are heartily invited to hear him. Personal conferences can be arranged in advance.

Marguerite Dickey and Mollie Rhodes were guests at the home of Gladys Larimer, Sunday.

To Our Friends and Patrons:

'Tis Christmas Time—the season of good cheer and Santa Claus: and we want to take this opportunity of extending our heartiest greetings and to wish you a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

And, too, may we say a word of thanks for the business you have so kindly turned our way during 1922? This business has been sincerely appreciated, and we trust it has been so handled as to justify a continuance of our past pleasant relations.

But now—at this Yuletide Season—we wish you and yours a wonderfully Happy Christmas, and a 1923 filled with joy, prosperity and plenty.

Mr. Dwight Welch and Mr. John Price spent Monday afternoon in the city of Pomona doing Christmas shopping.

Dr. and Mrs. Arnett entertained at dinner last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Beckner and family.

A number of La Verne people attended the lecture at Pomona church Sunday night, which was given by Pres. Funderburgh and Mrs. Marie Brubaker. They also assisted in singing "Guide of La Verne".

Another mystery—Eva B. made a trip to the depot to get what she supposed was a Christmas present. But to her amazement she found awaiting her—a mattress. The agent told Eva that he didn't think she could "tote" it home.
