THE SENIOR CLASS PLAY IS GRAND SUCCESS

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

"Rose o' Plymouth Town," given by the Academy Senior class was much enjoyed. The characters were chosen and were the result of hard and efficient drilling on the part of the coach, Mrs. B. S. Haugh.

Rose, the leading character, was exceedingly well played by Evelyn Miller. Miss Evelyn showed considerable art in capturing the hearts of the opposite sex.

Captain and Mrs. Standish were played by Claude Carl and Fern Stitzer. Mr. Carl's superfluous height was well adapted to the part of the much worried captain in the frontier life. Miss Fern was especially appreciated as she sat at the spinning wheel and sang the love song in clear sweet tones.

"Aunt Resolute" with her rheumatics and old age was well presented by Minnie Rhodes, and created considerable amusement by her fear of guns and "sich things."

Miriam Chillingsley, as portrayed by Alida Larimer, showed a shy maiden longing for the affection of man.

Garret Foster was a hard part, and was well played by Byrl Harper. Byrl had a great liking for corn and other "stolen fruit."

John Margeson was the part taken by Alva Lentz. Mr. Lentz showed a mastery of this interesting character.

Carl Jones, who took the part of Phillipe de la Noye, brother of Rose, was quite interesting. Carl learned much of the art of love making.

The costumes and setting were attractive and appropriate, and the Seniors may feel happy over their work.

The music furnished by the band was enjoyed and much appreciated.

MAGICIAN IS COMING

Evening of Enchantment to be furnished by Dr. Williams

La Verne students will be treated to a rare opportunity on the evening of April 9th, when Dr. R. D. Williams, professor of psychology at Pomona College, will render a unique magical entertainment in the College Auditorium. Dr. Williams is one of the most popular of Pomona's professors, and his genial good nature will add much to the enchantment of the evening. His talents are many, for aside from his sterner duties of educating the youth of the land, he has developed the art of wielding the mystical wand of the magician. He spent considerable time with the U. S. Army of the Occupation in Germany entertaining the soldiers with his sleight of hand performances and magical tricks. The program he renders now is an outgrowth of his work with the A. E. F.

The entertainment will be strictly modern in every sense of the word. Dr. Williams informs us that he has secured the latest illusional and magical effects to be found this side of Kansas City, and these will be presented as the most modern development of the magician's art.

Dr. Williams recently gave a two-evening entertainment at Claremont, as a part of the Pomona College Music and Lecture Course, and the event was pronounced a big success. The Student Life had this to say in regard to the program: "The program will be truly unusual from the fact that the combination of magician and psychologist are rarely found together. Dr. Williams, as a student of both psychology and philosophy, has succeeded in weaving psychology and magic together to make a very unique entertainment. His illusions and tricks being based upon psychological principles, he is able to present a program modernized by the scientific achievements of the day, thus possessing educational as well as entertaining value."

* * * * *

The Senior Cast and Class wish to express their appreciation; to Mrs. Haugh, for her excellent coaching, without which the success of the play would have been impossible; and to the Band for its inspiration; and to the Students and Faculty, who responded and gave us their hearty support.

MEDALS AND CUPS

The medals and cups won by the La Verne boys at the last Valley League track meet were presented in chapel the following Tuesday. The way in which the medals were handed out made it appear that they must have grown on trees around the campus, but this was not the case, for every one was won by an L. V. C. boy.

They were won by much steady, consistent work and practice, and each one represented conscientious effort on the part of one of the athletes. Each one of the boys was requested to wear his medals won in the track meet Tuesday afternoon, and Lentz, A. Brooks, and several others were barely visible because of them.

Our five cups were on display at Kenyon's Drug Store all last week, and one would be speaking in very mild terms if he should say that they drew considerable attention.

Who says now that La Verne isn't on the map?

L. V. C. IS TO DEBATE WITH U. OF R.

The College annual debate with the University of Redlands will be scheduled for the last of April or the first of May. The question for debate has not yet been decided upon. Three rousing questions were submitted by the College Department of U. of R. for debate.

1. Resolved that the English Cabinet form of government should be adopted in the United States.

2. Resolved that organized labor in the United States should have the right of collective bargaining.

3. Resolved that the history of trade unions for the past twenty years shows a tendency detrimental to the best interests of the United States.

The College will be represented by two teams, a women's team and a men's team. The women's team will remain here, debating the affirmative while the men's team will go to Redlands, debating the negative side.

The teams have not been chosen as yet, but as soon as the question is settled, they will be decided upon immediately.

Now students, back up the College Debating Teams as you do your track teams. If you do, this will be a rousing success.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S NIGHT

Thursday, March 25th, was a day that will long be remembered by the Church of the Brethren at La Verne. Bro. Frantz, who is conducting a series of meetings, had previously announced that it was to be Young People's Evening, and a very pressing invitation was given to all to be present. The entire west half of the church was crowded with young people. The old folks were welcome, but the evening belonged to the young people, who came filled with vigor, hopes and ambitions for the future. After the song service and opening prayer, the Intermediate quartet sang "Have Thine Own Way, Lord."

Bro. Frantz has a pleasing way, which has won the confidence of all, and as we listened to his message on "Christ's Philosophy of Life" and to the heart to heart talk which he gave us out of his own experiences, many were the resolves to let the difficulties which come to all, be but stepping stones to a richer and truer life of usefulness.

As he closed, he asked that all Student Volunteers present should stand. More than thirty responded. He then extended the invitation to any who were willing to dedicate their lives unreservedly to Christian service. As he gave the call, "The Master is here and calleth for thee," it indeed seemed as though the Master Himself were present asking for young lives who were willing to be used in any way He would direct. One after another responded until twenty-six had offered themselves on the altar of service. The invitation was then given to any who had not yet accepted Christ. Two more young people responded. To many it marks a new period in preparation for their life's work.

Mrs. Michael has been unable to do the cooking the past week. Miss Bessie Hixson, from Colorado, is now assisting her. We are sincerely hoping Mrs. Michael continues to improve.

LAVERNE COPS FIRST BASE BALL GAME

LA VERNE VS. COVINA SCORE 1-0

Tuesday evening, March 23, the first baseball game of the season was played at La Verne with Covina. It was a fast game, ending with the score of 1 to 0 in La Verne Academy's favor. Despite the fact that it was the first game few errors were made on either side.

The game was almost a pitcher's battle, with Welch having the edge in the fight. Only three hits were gathered by our team, while Covina went home hitless and scoreless.

One of our best men, Carl Jones, was injured in the game on account of a collision with the center fielder. Several ribs were broken, and Mr. Jones will be out of the game for several weeks. It is hoped he will be back for the most of the season. It is a big loss to the team at present, but coach Vaughn expects to patch up short until Jones can be back in the game.

The boys seemed to have stepped on the old pepper stick the way they are practicing. It takes a hard rain to stop them. The college team furnishes rivalry, and the team looks good to give Norwalk a hard run for the pennant this year.

Altho not permanently, the team is lined up as follows: Davis, Catcher; Welch, Pitcher; W. Root and Webster, first; Landis, second; Lentz, short; Orville Brooks, third; J. Brooks, left field; A. Brooks and Otis Brooks, center field; Hartman and Harper, right field.

Play the game boys, we're all behind you. You have made a good start, so keep it up and bring home the goods!

L. V. C. BAND IS GROWING

For some months a number of the young men of La Verne College have been working together, seeking to organize a brass band. They were fortunate in having as one of the students of the College T. J. Funderburgh, who was one of the players during the war of the famous Great Lakes Military Band, under the leadership of John Philip Sousa, the great band master.

Some of the young men had instruments of their own, while the City of La Verne owns a number of instruments which were not in use at

LOYAL PATRON MAKES GIFT

Large Donation is Made to Building Fund

Samuel Beeghly, of Iowa, has given the college a 40 acre farm, which is located at Raisin City, California, for only $2,000 cash. J. P. Dickey made a trip to Raisin and found the land better than was expected and worth much more than $2,000. Several of the loyal friends of the college have agreed to guarantee $3,000 for the land, which will mean at least $1,000 for the building fund. The land is now on sale.

We wish to thank Mr. Beeghly for his generosity and interest in L. V. C. which he has manifested. The students will be interested to know that Mr. Beeghly is the grandfather of Bernice Beeghly, who recently returned to her home in Nevada.

Miss Hollinger and Mrs. Ellis entertained Miss McKnight Tuesday evening at the Dormitory. Miss McKnight was formerly an English student of Mrs. Ellis and a biology student of Miss Hollinger in one of the eastern schools.

Much wonder and consternation was caused among the students at the Dormitory Sunday, when, lo and behold! large dishes of green cucumber pickles issued forth from the kitchen. The students seemed to be especially fond of these pickles. Just ask Otis Brooks for further information.

NOTICE TO PUBLIC

To whom it may concern:—On Saturday, March 20, 1920, after the Senior Play, there was taken from the stage of the College auditorium one bag of English walnuts and hazelnuts, one kettle of beans.

Please return within five days, for the nuts were borrowed and the owner would like to have the same at once, or a detective will be sent out to investigate.

SUNSET

The rain has ceased! And far above in the heavens,

The dark, black storm clouds float at peace,

Wafted along by the cool, fresh breezes of evening.

The breezes whispering on, among the swaying treetops,

Sing a sleepy tune; the lullaby song of the forest.

Far out on the western horizon, the clouds are torn asunder;

Split by golden shafts of light, that flare with wondrous splendor

Against the blackened sky, that hangs o'er the angry ocean.

Golden and red the colors blend, with beauty supremely exquisite,

Throwing a radiant light of joy and peace o'er the world about them.

Such was the indescribable sunset, As seen from the Ladies' Dorm

On the twenty-fourth of March Year, nineteen hundred and twenty.

Evangelistic Services in Progress

M. S. Frantz, of Lindsay, is now preaching nightly at the Church of the Brethren. The meetings are increasing in attendance and interest. Special numbers of music are being given each night by the young people.

Some of the topics are: "Christ's Philosophy of Life," "The Relation of Time to Eternity," "Two Sides of the Gospel," "The Church," and "The New Birth."

This week the topics will be in keeping with the Passion Week, leading up to Friday night with the subject, "The Wayside Cross."

Several of the College students attended the Lyceum course at Pomona.

THE ATHLETICS OF STUDY

Crack! The gun for the last lap has been fired. We're on the home stretch. Where are we going to place? From last September to the end of the first quarter, from the first quarter to the end of the first semester, from the first semester until this, the beginning of the last quarter, our school year has been filled with joyous, happy times. There has been one continual round of receptions, parties, picnics, basket ball games, track meets. Haven't we enjoyed them all, though? Haven't we planned our receptions for weeks ahead and practiced and looked forward to our games and meets? In all, it has been a good year for good times. Has it been as good a year for the real thing we are here for, our mental development? Have we won as many A's as we have medals?

After the first quarter was over, after the cards were out, I wonder how many of us made a firm resolve to get more A's in the next quarter? But somewhere in the middle of the following quarter we begin to slack up, we begin to let pleasure and outside work creep in. We begin to let our lessons slide with a little whispered excuse, "I'll study tomorrow's and today's both tomorrow." And instead of keeping our promise, we let tomorrow's go in much the same way as today's.

We got this way for a few weeks and then with a start we realize it is time for examinations, and we still have yesterday's lessons to get. Then that examination week is just a nightmare and our cards, coming close to it, show us wherein we have failed. We are ashamed of our cards. Our teachers and friends lose respect for us and again we resolve, "This quarter shall be better."

Will it? Are we going to sprint up or are we going to lag behind, some dropping out before they finish, some disqualified for their next year because of F's? Are we going to touch the tape along with the best? There are a few who will at the finish receive as their reward a medal. Are you going to be one? Which man on the track or baseball team do we most admire? The one who goes to practice faithfully night after night, or the one who believes he can do enough anyway, so why should he practice? And that student who goes to class day after day with a faithfully prepared lesson is the one among our classmates who will touch the string first and win the A medals. That is the student whom the students admire, the teachers and the world admire. Are you one of these now? Do you want to be one? Let's all go in for faithful work and our teachers will gladly hand out the A medals.

WHO'S GOT THE GOODS,

What class in La Verne Academy is the star class, the prop of the school and the inexhaustible pep of the whole Student Body? Ask anyone, whose brain has developed above the stage of Freshman intelligence and unless prejudice or jealousy enter into the answer it will invariably be, "Look on the works of ye Academy Junior Class."

La Verne would not have made a very large showing in track had it not been for the Juniors. Our boys made a record for themselves in both the Gala Day and the Valley meets. Who won the relay at the Gala Day meet? La Verne, of course, and three of the boys on that relay team were Juniors.

The Junior class furnished one-half of the men, that composed the winning track team of the Valley meet, and over one-half of the points made by La Verne were made by Juniors. In fact the Juniors themselves made enough points to easily have taken third place in the meet and would have walloped Bonita High 32 to 18. The boys placed in over half of the events and took nearly one third of the gold medals of the meet.

Besides taking interclass basket ball and track, and supporting the school so much in the big meets, we are showing up in baseball just as strong. Five of our men look good to play on the team this year. What would the school do without the Juniors? Think!

A SAM OF LIFE

1. O Mush, thou art from beginning unto end. Yea, even from year unto year thou art Mush. And there is none other breakfast food beside thee.

2. I will extol thee, O Mush; I will eat thee forever. One generation shall praise thee to another and declare thy mighty filling powers.

3. The eyes of all look upon thee, and in due season thou comest in portion to them all.

4. My mouth shall speak thy praise continually, for thou fillest out the empty place and feedest me for almost nothing.

5. Let all the students praise thee, for they shall dwell in thy presence forever. Continually shall they behold thee. In the morning, after the evening, shall it be.

6. With singing, with instruments of music, with spoons and bowls, and with the smacking of lips let thy praise be heard in all the dormitories of earth.

In the "Juniata Echo" we read that Miss Esther Funk is captain of the girls debating team of Juniata college which is to debate Grove City college.

Esther also took the second prize of fifteen dollars in the college oratorical contest on the subject, "The Cigarette and the Nation." There were seven contestants.

Our Esther carries off the honors wherever she is.

The Campus Times

The Campus Times gives the best of school news,

A good paper that all students should choose.

It tells about athletics, the races run, The cups we receive, the medals won. It gives us good editorials and jokes And brings us poems about things and folks.

It tells how to study, when to recite, About the social events—everything quite.

I like the Campus Times, so give it its dues

The paper which gives us the latest school news.

JOINT DEVOTIONALS

On Friday evening Mar. 18, joint devotional was conducted by Elsie Colbert. A very enjoyable time was spent discussing old hymns and singing them. The history of "Jesus, Lover of my Soul," "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus," "Throw Out the Life Line," were given and then the songs sung. Nothing is more interesting than studying the history of sacred music, and a great deal more time should be spent on this study.

WHO'S WHO?

(In this column, we will endeavor, in each issue, to give a short synopsis of the prominent characters connected with this institution of learning.)

David Welty-Lefever

Just eighteen years, nine months and seventeen days ago, there arrived on this planet, the exact location being Epharata, Penn., a lusty, strong-lunged boy, whom his parents named David Welty, whose surname was Lefever.

Although he did not have, in that early day, the advantages we have now, and started out in life a bare-foot boy, yet in many ways he showed a remarkable precocity. He finished the grammar school when a lad of twelve years and entered high school at Pasadena, from which he graduated with high honors in 1917. The same year he entered La Verne College and now enjoys the distinction of being a Junior.

He was recently elected Commissioner of Publications which high and worthy office he is filling with extraordinary skill. He is especially interested in physical sciences and now holds the position of assistant chemistry teacher. He is also an orator of no mean ability and always wins great applause when appearing on the platform. He attributes his success as a public speaker to his innate fondness for Irish potatoes.

Finally, in the language of the immortal "Bud,"—"He is lite hared with a brane like an elefant's.

Hannah Marie Woody

'Twas a rare day in June, 1899, in Bolten, Kansas, when Hannah Marie Woody first saw the light of day. Unless she has wonderfully changed, she was a merry, rollicking, happy-go-lucky girl with great physical vitality.

She has been a student in La Verne College for many years and is now a College Junior. She has successfully held many offices and now is commissioner of Student Welfare, enjoying the distinction of being the only girl in the august Body of Commissioners. As to how she looks after the welfare of the students, we refer you to L. S. Brubaker.

In regard to her personality, she is often dogmatic and usually speaks with a firm inflexible and almost authoritative tone. She has a way of her own for doing everything. She is artistic and musical, and admires elegant and harmonious surroundings. She is very practical and possesses a great deal of what the world would call "common sense." She is very frank in expressing her opinions.

Judging from the hard, black pieces of something found in the kitchen one Monday morning, we dormitory girls have come to the conclusion that the boys, at least some of them, are excellent candy makers.

SOCIETY

An informal gathering was held at the home of John Price, Saturday evening, March 20. Skating was the main feature of the evening. Many pieces were played on the victrola, which brightened the spirits of all. The refreshments consisted of ice cream, wafers and marshmallows. The ice cream was delicious, except for one thing—Johnny spilled the salt in it. All detected the unusual seasoning but two girls who evidently relished the delicious dish. Katie Smith probably ate it for "politeness sake," but no one seems to know why Maurine Miller did.

Pastor and Mrs. R. H. Miller entertained the Misses Beulah Noll, Naomi Harshbarger, Ina Marshburn and the Messrs. Ernest Root, David Bomberger, and J. I. Kaylor at a delicious dinner on Tuesday, March 16.

Miss Beulah Noll celebrated her birthday, March 21st, by having a special table in the dining hall for Hazel Brubaker, Estella Landis, Loleta Noll, Naomi Harshbarger, Ernest Root, David Bomberger and Herman Landis. Miss Noll served her guests with delicious peaches and cake sent to her by her parents.

Estella Landis, Beulah Noll, Loleta Noll, Ernest Landis, Ernest Root and Herman Landis were entertained by Mrs. J. L. Miller at a six o'clock chicken dinner Saturday evening, Mar. 20th.

On the evening of St. Patrick's day, Miss Hollinger entertained the Senior class at a five o'clock dinner in the college dining hall. The table centerpiece was a bouquet of shamrocks, which was well in keeping with the day. Miss Hollinger thoughtfully furnished angel-food cake, which was appreciated very gratefully.

The guests outside of the Senior class, were Mrs. Haugh, director of the Senior play, and John Hilton, who helped in making the scenery for the play.

After having given three rousing cheers for Miss Hollinger, Mrs. Haugh and the class, the party broke up, each Senior admitting that he had a very jolly hour.

On the evening of March 17, Mrs. S. J. Miller gave a six o'clock dinner in honor of Miss Pauline's twenty-first birthday. A special feature of the dinner, aside from the delicious chicken, was a real St. Patrick's cake with green icing. The guests were Miss Hazel Minnich, Truman Funderburgh, and Herman Landis.

Miss Catheryn Byerly entertained at her home Sunday the Misses Lucile Beckner, Maurine Miller, Martha Brubaker and Modena Minnich. The girls had the house to themselves and acted as only five-girls can act. The afternoon was spent in an extemporaneous two act scene with three small boys who thought it their bounden duty to entertain the aforesaid girls.

NEWS NOTES

Dr. S. J. Miller has just returned from a trip north. He reports that the churches are giving liberally to the Forward Movement Fund and expect to "go over the top."

Mr. and Mrs. Carl, and daughter Iva, spent Saturday and Sunday here in La Verne. They attended the Senior play Saturday night, and were guests at the Miller home Sunday.

Miss Marian Kennish, a former L. V. C. student, spent the week end with Miss Hollinger.

Carl Jones is confined to his bed because of serious injuries which he received during a Base Ball game between La Verne College and Covina High School. We hope that Carl will soon be ready to take his place on the team again.

As many of the students as are able to arrange their studies have been attending the revival meetings at the Church of the Brethren.

Misses Bessie Hershberger, Maude Brubaker and Mr. Frank Leslie attended "Turn to the Right" in the city Saturday night.

Miss Marjorie Thomas was a visitor at the Dorm Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. George Shively has been walking with crutches lately because of a sprained foot. Anyone seeing him Saturday night would have mistaken him for a professional crutch walker. Poor George. He is now at his home in Long Beach recuperating.

Do not miss the new column "Who's Who" started in this issue. It is a great column with a great purpose.

REV. FRANTZ SPEAKS

Bro. M. S. Frantz, the Lindsay evangelist, now holding meetings in the Church of the Brethren in La Verne, talked to the College students Tuesday morning in chapel.

The main theme of his talk was that we are now making ourselves what we will be in the future. We must be fitting ourselves with our environment so that we will be able to work successfully with our fellowmen.

Any individual who has a definite aim in life will be a success in whatever walk of life he enters. This is a day of specialization. We cannot do forty things and do them well. We must work steadily toward our aim and not become "back wash." We must realize that nothing cheap is worth while and we get just exactly what we pay for.

We must prepare to be something worth while, for the world has no use for excuse makers. Then let us be "up and doing" for "what we are to be, we are becoming now."

The teachers rooming in the Dormitory are showing their "pep" by arising from their downy beds in the wee hours of the morning and taking early walks before breakfast.

Mrs. Irene Frothingham, Bessie Mae, and Maude Harriet motored to Pomona Monday, amid torrents of rain.

Mrs. Garver spent Sunday afternoon and Monday with her brother, Mr. Davenport, at Hermosa Beach. Mr. Davenport and family spent the winter in California and are now returning to the east.

Hall-Bashore Wedding

Miss Zella Bashore was married to Mr. A. L. Hall, of Pomona on Wednesday, March 24. The bride was formerly a student of La Verne College. She graduated from the department of Expression last year. The young couple are now residing in Pomona. We extend hearty congratulations.

STUDENT VOLUNTEER

Interest in the Student Volunteer Band still increases. Last Sunday, Mar. 28, was a high-water mark in the history of the Band. The Library was crowded to the limit, the attendance reaching a climax of 114. No doubt it will soon be necessary to have the place of meeting changed to the auditorium. Pastor Frantz gave a most interesting and impressive talk on the subject of "The Mind of Christ."

The Band now has an active membership of 35 and 16 associate members. At a recent business meeting it was decided to use the Sunday morning offering to buy mission books and magazines to be placed in the College Library. The order has been sent for part of these publications, and they will be placed in the magazine rack as soon as they are received. Look for them and read the first number.

The Band is fortunate in having two members who expect to attend the Annual Conference of the Church of the Brethren this year, and they will represent the Band. Some posters are to be provided for display there, and a committee are working on these now.

At a quarter till five on Easter morning the Mission Band will meet at the College and go over the town singing. Anyone wishing to be welcomed to come and help sing.

Saturday night, April 17, has been the date selected for the medical missionary play, "The Pill Bottle." This promises to be something well worth your attention. Do not fail to see it.

Tennis Racket

'Tis high time all ye tennis aspirants were donning your tennis togs and getting out to practice. All three courts are in good shape and with the beginning of the fourth quarter we intend to make tennis a part of our athletic activities, instead of a past-time in L. V. C.

Whether you think you are a "shark" or not, get out and practice. Steady practice might bring you out as an expert. In a week or so, a tournament will be held between the College and Academy. Some time in May will be held the annual inter-scholastic championship tournament of our league. In the meantime, we will hold practice games with other high schools. Come out and help us make a "crack" team this year!

PROF. SAVORY SPEAKS

On Tuesday evening, March 16, Prof. G. W. Savory, vocational guidance and personal efficiency expert, spoke at the men's devotional.

"Have Dominion," was his central theme. He compared the tendencies of man to a menagerie of wild animals that the individual must tame and train. He stressed the idea of absolute concentration in study. A regular definite schedule for the day was strongly recommended.

We should refuse to identify ourselves with any mere whim or tendency of our nature. Single out these things and have the mastery over them. Be master of self.

Have that Picture Framed now

You'll have to wait some time before you can even equal and certainly can never excel the opportunity that Frashers are now offering you to have your picture framing done at a saving.

Frasher's, at 112 E. Second St., Pomona, in their new store between the State Bank building and the White House Groceteria, are giving a big discount on all framed pictures and frames made to order, until April 1st. Only two weeks more, remember. Don't pass this up.

Base Ball Schedule

In the League meeting held recently at Puente S. C. McIntosh was elected manager of baseball. It was also decided to play two games per week in order to finish the season in time to play the championship games with the other leagues.

The following is the schedule of games of our league.

L. V. C. BAND

Concluded from First Page

this time. The use of these instruments was cheerfully granted the boys several months ago, and since then, there has been constant and persistent practicing.

At the class play last Thursday evening, the band gave its first public performance, giving music which was highly spoken of by all present. Some six or eight numbers were given, and all showed considerable skill in consideration of the short time the boys have had to practice.

The following are the members of the band with the instruments they play:

- R. E. Netzley Solo Cornet
- R. Schrock Solo Cornet
- A. Stineberger First Cornet
- J. Brubaker Second Cornet
- E. Root Saxophone
- E. Schrock Baritone
- P. Schrock Trombone
- H. Emley Alto Horn
- T. J. Funderburgh Tuba
- J. Brooks Drummer
- P. Webster Drummer
- Prof. B. S. Haugh Leader
- T. J. Funderburgh Asst. Leader and Instructor.

Any bandmen in La Verne who wish to play with this organization will be welcomed. Communicate with the business manager, Ralph Netzley.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. W. I. T. Hoover entertained a number of young people at a dinner given Thursday evening, in honor of their daughter Vera's birthday. The table was artistically decorated in yellow and white, and yellow butterfly place cards directed the guests to their respective places.

Mrs. Hoover and her daughter-in-law served the delicious three course dinner. John Price especially enjoyed an enormous quantity of buns. The most notable feature of the dinner was a large white birthday cake, upon which burned eighteen candles. Vera succeeded in blowing out all but three of the candles. After the honored guest had opened her presents, the girls and boys departed wishing her many more happy birthdays.

Those present were the Misses Maurine Miller, Modena Minnich, Martha Brubaker, Lucile Beckner, Olive Deardorf, Cathryn Byerly, and the Messrs. John Price, Dwight Welch, John Brooks, Raymond Root, Ernest Landis, Howard Beckner and Marion Roynon.

ALETHELLONIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

"What has happened to the Alethellonian Literary Society?" we hear from every side of the campus. But nothing is wrong with her, she has just as strong a constitution as she ever had, and besides she has pep to spare.

With our new officers earnestly at work, we are taking steps forward which will bear fruit in the years to come, and we shall long be remembered by the future Alethellonians.

Perhaps you do not know that we have had so much literary spirit that during the last two weeks when the track meets interfered with our Saturday evening programs, we met in the Expression room on Monday evening and there the wonderful abilities and talents of the Alethellonian members were portrayed as never before.

You say that you hear nothing of the College Literary Society any more. Well, we are far from being dead, although we do not say very much. But you must remember that "still water runs deepest," and "It is the empty wagon that makes the most noise."

EASTER VACATION

All of our students are eagerly looking forward to the Easter vacation, April 6 and 7. Already spring is calling and trips to the mountains, hills and beaches are being planned. Others are thinking what a good opportunity this will be to get some of the collateral reading and papers out of the way. At any rate, teachers and students alike are glad for this last breathing place before the home run is completed.
