'The Bachelor's Club' Staged by Y. M. C. A. Friday Nite

Coach Eisan Cremates Sam McGee in Preliminary to Main Event

Large Crowd Turns Out for Y. M. Program

By Chuck

The Y. M. C. A. program of March 20 was more than successful. The program was begun by a reading given by Coach Eisan, "The Cremation of Sam McGee." He was encored and read "Asleep at the Switch." Following the readings several members of the Y. M. C. A. staged a one-act play, "The Bachelor's Club," by Merriman.

The characters were: Bachelors: Watson, D. Stutzman; Gaywood, F. Mahoney; Beach, O. Vaniman; Abbott, J. Roynon; Jones, C. Snell; Foster, G. Weybright. The prospective members were: Swift, B. Jones; Brown, M. Forney. The suicidal expert was Tiptoe, K. Dearborn. The hen-pecked husbands were: Pinkham, R. Fesler; Penney, Deal; Thomas, G. Dellenback; Lewis, Ed Cunningham.

The scene opened on the bachelor apartments of Watson, the exalted member of the Royal Order of Bachelors. The two candidates were brought in and after due ceremony the initiation began. As a final step in the initiation Brown and Swift had to crawl through a sack. One was started from each end and course they met in the center. The ensuing struggle they agreed to play as if they had killed each other. They were taken out of the sack and laid on cots and seemed to be very much dead.

The doctor was summoned but before he arrived the initiators came to and gave the initiators the laugh. Suddenly a queer creature appeared who claimed to be the doctor, but Watson ordered him out of his rooms as an intruder. At this the newcomer, Tiptoe, produced two dangerous looking revolvers and ordered all the bachelors to get to their mending. After a long and varied discourse on everything but matrimony, Tiptoe came around the subject and disclosed that he was a special blessing to the hen-pecked husbands and intended to get them out of their misery. At this juncture the hen-pecked husbands arrived. Tiptoe, amid much lamentation and weeping, had each tell his tale of woe. Finally he decided to put the poor creatures out of their misery by shooting them, and then decided not to. The in-laws bachelors resented such cruelty as allowing these poor creatures to exist and overpowered Tiptoe. After taking away his guns they found they were not loaded. Enraged, they called Tiptoe a fraud. At the two candidates, the hen-pecked husbands, and Tiptoe calmed the storm and told them that they were members already of a bachelor's club in the neighboring town of Charter Oak and that they had played a joke on them. They knew exactly what to expect and had rehearsed the part for a week.

DR. WIEAND ADDRESSES CHAPEL

Value of the Bible is Presented to Students

"He himself hath said, 'I will not fail thee nor in any way forsake thee'; we may say, 'I will not fear.'" These are the words from the Bible which were presented to the chapel audience last Tuesday when Dr. Wieand, president of Bethany Biblical Seminary, showed the value of the Bible and Bible reading as a guiding force in the world by stating the testimonies of world-known statesmen, philosophers, and educators, who have been influenced by this force.

Among these testimonies were those of Immanuel Kant: "The existence of the Bible, as a book for the people, is the greatest benefit which the human race has ever experienced. Every attempt to be-

Recent developments on the campus would seem to indicate that we are entertaining some aspirants for the holy orders. Until now the priesthood has been a little out of our line, but we may be able to rise to the occasion. If haircuts are any indication, something new and different has taken place about college. "Bozo," "Little Cal," and "Uncle George" have certainly done it now. Maybe they are just being "exhibit A" for Miss Muir's medieval history class. How much do you get for it boys? There ought to be a reason somewhere.

Gladstone: "If I am asked what is the remedy for the sorrows of the heart, what a man should chiefly look to in his progress through life as the power that is to sustain him manfully to confront his afflictions, I must point to something, which in a well known hymn is called 'The Old, Old Story,' told in an old, old book, and taught with an old, old teaching which is the greatest and best gift ever given to mankind."

Bacon: "There was never found in any age of the world either religion or law that did so highly exalt the public good as the Bible."

Andrew Jackson: "That Book, sir, is the rock on which our republic rests."

Abraham Lincoln: "In regard to the great Book, I have only to say

Former LV Athlete on All-Kansas Team

Posey Jamison, who attended LaVerne College his freshman year, has been selected as an all-conference basket ball guard. His former mates and friends congratulate him and know that the honor is well-deserved.

Following is an excerpt from a prominent Kansas paper:

Posey Jamison, junior at McPherson, has been selected by Leslie E. Edmonds, eminent sports writer and sports critic, as guard on the mythical all-Kansas conference team for 1931.

In selecting Jamison Mr. Edmonds stated: "Jamison is a high scorer, but he can defend also, as many an opponent can testify who has watched him break up a shot already on the way to the basket. Because of his timing and space appreciation he is unusually good retrieving about the basket. One would pay less than the tribute due Jamison were he to omit to chronicle that the former is as fine a sportsman as ever a coach or an official had to handle."

Jamison is a graduate of the Quinter, Kan., high school and played one year at LaVerne College, LaVerne California, before coming to McPherson. In the Kansas conference Jamison has made a total of 52 points, playing a guard's position all of the time.

that it is the best gift which God has given to man."

Ulysses S. Grant: "Hold fast to the Bible as the sheet-anchor of your liberties; write its precepts in your hearts and practice them in your lives."

Theodore Roosevelt: "To every man who faces life with real desire to do his part in everything, I appeal for a study of the Bible. No man can afford to be ignorant of the Bible."

Robert Speer: "It is economy in making the Bible available for men. The last place to economize is in our gifts to spread over America and the whole world the Gospel and the Book which contains it."

Sherwood Eddy: "I have found the one invaluable habit of my life to be to keep the morning watch of Bible study and prayer every morning. No one thing in my life has been so invaluable as centering it upon this devotion time in the morning."

President Hoover: "There is no other book so various as the Bible, nor one so full of concentrated wisdom. Whether it be of law, business, morals, or that vision which leads the imagination in the creation of constructive enterprises for the happiness of mankind, he who seeks for guidance in any of these

Interesting Program is Presented

A short skit, as an introduction to the comedy, "The Bachelor Club," to be presented March 20, was the first number on the program in the Associated Student meeting Friday, March. The skit was the initiation of a few members into the club, and needless to say, it aroused the great interest of the student body.

Ardith Horning gave a reading, "By Rule of the Contrary," which was the second number, and was the second number, and an enjoyable one.

Bob Walker, "on the violin," and Elizabeth Lehman "on the piano," played "Fantasie" from Faust, and as an encore "Valse Bluette." Both of these numbers were played remarkably well, considering the position of those participating.

Immediately following, the lights went out, one by one, until the stage and chapel were in semi-darkness. Blue lights lent the weird effect desired. This was the setting for the reading, "The Shooting of Dan McGrew" by Orlin Vaniman.

Soon things were bright and cheery again, for Marvin Bolinger was singing "Only a Rose." He was accompanied by Esther Thomason. Many a girl's heart beat more rapidly as Marvin gazed over the audience and smiled his winning smile.

The announcements included a request that all foreign language students sign up for the progressive dinner Tuesday evening.

Students, the book store has been very lenient with you, but it desires your co-operation. Come on, pay your bills and be able to smile again. Please see "Kenny" Deardorff.

The men are requested to remember that next week-end is the time for the Y. M. C. A. retreat. Plan for a good time with "the gang."

Dale congratulated all the students for their splendid co-operation and help "clean-up day," and for the splendid track meet. Yet a little more co-operation is needed and those who "slacked" last Wednesday are urged to submit themselves for their share of work as soon as possible.

In his closing remarks, Dr. Wieand said: "If you will start the habit of reading the Bible and praying every day, then I am sure that I have rendered you the greatest possible service."

Dr. Frantz Speak to Students

"Spirit of Science" Subject of Chapel Lecture

"Spirit of Science" Subject of Chapel Lecture

Dr. Harper Frantz, head of the chemistry department of LaVerne College, talked in chapel Thursday concerning "The Spirit of Science." The spirit of science is the spirit of truth which can exist only where there is open-mindedness as an accompaniment.

Galileo and Farraday discovered new truths which were contrary to previously established beliefs. Therefore, people did not wish to accept them, explaining their theories only through abstract thinking. According to Frederick the Great "the greatest and noblest pleasure men can have in this world is to discover new truth, and the next is to shake off all prejudices."

In regard to the fallacy that science stands in opposition to religion,

FROSH EDITION NEXT WEEK

There will be no edition of the Campus Times next week until Wednesday, when the annual Frosh Edition will come out.

Miss Virginia Scarisbrick, a freshman girl of no mean ability, will edit the coming SPECIAL and Ellsworth Replogle, one of the three friars, monks, or "what have you" now running loose around the campus, will finance the undertaking.

These leaders have chosen very capable staffs and an excellent, clever, and freakish edition is forthcoming.

ion, it may be said that there is a likeness between the two in that the search for new truth contains such a reverence and beauty as that which is found in religion.

In order to appreciate science, we must get the facts. The attitude of unwillingness to search for facts has given rise to superstition. It is not only necessary to get the facts but also to organize them, for science cannot progress without organization of facts. You may meet many discouraging obstacles in obtaining facts; but keep on with the principal idea; get the facts.

Spring House Cleaning Strikes College

ASSOCIATED STUDENT CHASE DIRT

Wednesday, March 18, was aside as "clean-up" day for LaVerne College. And did things get cleaned up? And how! Ask the professors and President Studebaker. As for the windows, even one spends the entire period real looking through them, not at them. Almost all the students reported 8:00 o'clock, the girls to Myrtle Butterbaugh, the fellows to Coach Eisan, for assignments. With the rakes, hoes, shovels, soap, rags, mops, wheelbarrows and "trucks" that appeared it is no wonder things hummed.

The Frosh girls worked in the basement, the Junior girls on the main floor, the Sophs upstairs, and the Seniors cleaned up the chapel. Not that it needed it; that was something for them to do.

The fellows worked on the grounds and athletic field, and the g.m. Some of the girls worked with them—to show them up.

The motto for the college this day was certainly, "Cleanliness is next to godliness." Window transoms, bookcases, blackboard, woodwork, and floors were made nice and shiny with lots of water, soap, and elbow grease.

About ten o'clock, two husky men whose names were Coach Eisan and Coach Glick, came around with a box of oranges and everyone got two. Some got more by various ways and means.

At 12:00 most of the girls quit. They gathered on the back lawn to cheer the fellows on. You could scarcely tell them from the dirt and weeds. When their work was over, the boys lined up at the Social Hall windows for food, which was served by the Junior girls.

When the line dwindled, the girls made a dash. There were beef sandwiches, Mrs. Hoke, pie, salad sandwiches, and coffee.

Among those seen working were President Studebaker, Dean Hoover, Dr. Emmert, Professors Holenberg, Frantz, Brubaker, the coaches, and a few other people.

The college really was cleaned up, but all the dirt remained on the workers until after lunch. The afternoon was given over to interclass athletics.

The day was a huge success wasn't it, Mr. Woody? It would make a good annual affair. Those who were absent will be put to work on jobs which were left for them.

The picnickers were obliged to cross a railroad track in reaching the place where they were to have lunch, and little Bobby, going ahead, saw a train approaching.

Eagerly he shouted to his father who was still on the track, "Hurry daddy, or else give me the lunch—Progressive Grocer."

THE AIM OF THE CAMPUS TIMES

is to increase support of, and centralize our loyalties on the five leading activities of The Associated Students of LaVerne College, which are:

1. Feeling a sense of unity as one of The Associated Students.
2. Athletic activities (inter-collegiate and inter-class).
3. The Lambda and the Campus Times, our publications.
4. Forensic activities (mainly inter-collegiate).
5. Associated Student Socials and individual class life.

KEEPING UP APPEARANCES

Rushing through things! How often we feel that this is what we are forced to do in college life. We have not time to get to the root of a subject, so we skim over the surface, get a speaking acquaintance with the materials in order that we may maintain a glib conversation in the classroom or at the dinner table, and consider the question well dealt with.

We have no time to think through our creed in religion or behavior, so we develop a nicely ambiguous surface philosophy, and hurry on to the next thought or glimmerings thereof. We must know and do everything superficially. The philosophy of today is embodied in that almost classic remark of the college youth, "Oh, well, I'll wear socks anyway; the holes are all below the shoe level, so what does it matter?"

Quite true, what does it matter? If we succeed in impressing our contemporaries with the fact that we are athletic, clever, talented, and popular, what does it matter what gaps in real knowledge and experience are hidden under this brave front? Does it matter that in our headlong struggle to make one or all of these impressions, we accomplish nothing beyond the impression? Or is it possible for us to stop rushing through things long enough to attain a certain depth of thought, a tidiness of mentality which cannot but be lacking to those whose surfaces are so smoothly shellacked with superficial knowledge? Is it possible that this policy might in the end bring more satisfaction?—Vassar Miscellany News.

THE DISEASE OF THE MONTH

The scientists confess that one of their chief problems is the determination of cause and result. Of two phenomena appearing side by side, the phenomenon yesterday labeled "cause" is today named "result," and vice versa.

A prognathous gorilla-man in the Neander valley discovered that by prodding his fellows in the abdomen and uttering a certain whimpering bleat to indicate concern he could induce the symptoms of appendicitis, which could only be exorcised by an expensive devil-banishing dance.

The — people spent a million dollars to popularize halitosis. The pestilential breath of America today is beyond the power of — to purify.

I am inspired to these reflections by the following announcement: "The Medical Office is conducting an expert mental campaign against ringworm infection, commonly known as 'athlet's foot.' Under the direction of Dr. —, tubs containing an antiseptic solution have been placed in the shower rooms of Schoellkopf and the Old Armory for the use of students."

ATTENTION! SENIORS ON PARADE

This petite miss is Wilma Long, who comes to LaVerne from Seattle, Washington. "Willie" is a brilliant student, and her magnetic personality has won her many friends.

She has been prominent in all school activities during her college career. This year she is vice-president of the Senior class; vice-president of the Y. W. C. A., and feature editor of the Lambda.

Last year "Willie" portrayed an outstanding role in the Junior class play. Also, she is very clever at giving readings.

Now, what the future holds for "Willie" remains to be seen. Still, we are certain that happiness and success await her, as she and Ralph Fesler announced their engagement some time ago.

While interviewing "Willie" she informed me that she is to be initiated into the distinguished group of pedagogues this next year. Yes, this sounds well, but we wonder what Ralph thinks. "Time reveals all."

Onis Leonard is LaVerne's "big boy" who hails from Pomona. Yes, we always give "Ony" the right of away, especially when Blanche Klingman appears on the scene. Let's guess why.

Ony is manager of the Varsity Club, and has been a three-year letterman in football. He is not only a football player, but was a member of the debate team one year.

Unfortunately, Ony did not reveal his future plans. However, I did learn that he is planning to follow the school teaching profession next year. That's correct, "Ony," sometimes it is wise to be secretive.

Mollie Warrington: "Anything you say goes—"

Bob Welty: "Splendid, dear."

Molly: "In one ear and out the other."

Ruth Rothrock: "When I dance, I feel as if I were treading on clouds."

"Red" Montgomery: "Well, don't kid yourself. It's my feet."

Cy Nical Comments

I once heard a certain girl say that never again would she fall hard for any man. Now, isn't that just like a woman to say one thing and mean another. Here she has done went and did a perfect landslide for one. I suppose it is because spring is getting all hot and bothered again. Oh, well, no man knows woman, but neither does woman.

It is said that in the spring time the sap starts. The saps around here got a head start on the spring. It is getting worse and more of it. I never saw so many lovelorn Frosh in all my born days. As a convenience not conducive to study, I might suggest to the business manager that he furnish pillows for the front and back steps.

Ralph Fesler seems to have been attempting a new speed record or some such useless type of recreation. At any rate, and the rate we do not know, he skidded around the corner and rolled over. He was on his way to get Willie and, I suppose, in the throes of single blessedness, forgot that all roads from Covina are not straight. When the thing turned, Ralph, not cured of his arguing yet, disputed it and as usual he lost. Oh, well, good times coming, Ralph.

If some of the Paris style critics could have been around here clean-up day they might have found something to start a new fad with. Of all the colorful scenes I have ever seen, I saw them that day. Heaven pity some of the fellows if some of these girls can heave dishpans and safety pins like they can shovels and hoes.

There are cattle stampedes, box office rushes, and funny paper rushes. The latter mixture is prevalent here. Just before 7:45 each morning three or four fellows make a rush for the funny paper and it is too bad for the person who has it first. They pile up like a cross between a Chinese pagoda and a free for all. All read the paper, through someone's legs or over their shoulders, and by 7:45 are happily on their way to class.

Prof. Cullen has a very cute and captivating way of speaking of examinations. He says that he thinks we should have a little check-up the next time. Check-up nothing—they are usually check-outs.

Quite a while ago I heard some discussion on the different brands and methods of kissing. One person said she thought a kiss should be silent and not too long. Another thought the noise element did not enter in, but only the intensity and affection. Well, what I want to know is what fool it was that first invented kissing.

My Lady's Runner

Ah, my lady's stocking is so sleek. And she takes so much delightful pride In keeping it straight and primly neat That it warms the soul to see such a sight. But when she accidentally snags it sharp, And zipping goes a ghastly runner; Then it chills the strongest of hearts To hear my lady storm and thunder.

Frosh: "Which is the more important, a man's wife or his pants?"

Senior: "Well, there are places a man can go without his wife."

"THINK THIS OVER"

Mixed up with the senior's business of getting of college and heterogeneity of senior class situations—relics of a by-gone day when a man's college was something him to sentimentalize over.

It became traditional to gather here for songs, there for a banquet. All this rigmarole was eagerly memorialized, and it was performed with a regularity bred of deep seated affection for those dear, old college days.

Today all this is changed. Senior classes have become so large that there can be no homogeneity of feeling to provide the urge to an elaborate and prolonged ritual of leave-taking. What parting the ways there must be is accepted matter-of-factly, without tears and is scarcely noticed in the rush to get out into the world and make a living. There are, of course, momentary regrets: college has been fun, friends true, and the real comes with commencement knowledge is long and four years short. But today we live for tomorrow, and all our yesterdays but as a financial investment, an emotional heritage to be landed with ribbons and cherished in a Victorian heart of hearts. S. V.'S STAGE RETREAT

Icehouse Canyon Scene of Week-End Revelries

Extracts from a Diary

Friday evening:
Dear Diary: "I have had the best time this week-end. You can't imagine where, or what I did! I went to the Student Volunteer retreat. Yes, diary, up in Icehouse Canyon, to Dr. Allison's cabin. There were about forty-five there Friday evening (and it was Friday the 13th, too)."

We got up to the Allison Lodge about 5 o'clock, then had to hike about three-fourths of a mile. It was lots of fun, though.

Of course we were awfully hungry about half-past six, and when a big meal of hamburger sandwiches, sausage sandwiches, fruit and vegetable jello salad, and coffee were served—oh, boy, did we eat! Of course there were dishes to do, but the work was organized and we all enjoyed it.

About 8:30 we started our evening's program. We sang for a long time, then Cleo Berry led our devotions. He surely gave an impressive talk on the wonders and beauty of nature, and God. Dortha Gans and Pearl Niswander sang a duet. It was surely pretty. Then Dr. A. C. Wieand gave a short talk in which he stressed God's protection if we but ask it, and have faith.

I guess it must have been about 11 p. m. before we went to bed. Naturally we had to have a ghost story before we went to sleep, and then we only slept about as long as one is expected to sleep at a slumber party.

Saturday morning:
Dear Diary: "I am going to tell you just what happened and is happening. This is more fun! We got up early and had morning watch. It was absolutely a perfect sunrise. After morning watch, led by Dortha Gans, and some beautiful numbers of song by a male quartet, we returned to a very appetizing breakfast of fried potatoes and gravy, eggs, toast and coffee.

At nine o'clock a talk was given by Dr. Allison. It was a beautiful talk and one that inspired many to live better and nobler lives. Reatha Rensberger and Fred Brunk also sang a duet. After this meeting we all went for an hour's recreation. Most of us hiked up to the snow and there we had the best old snow fight. I wish I had been real strong, I'd have washed every boy's face for him, and goodness knows they needed it. Ha! ha!

The next meeting from 12 to 12:45 was an open discussion group over which Dr. Emmert presided. Many problems and inspiring thoughts were talked over.

At last dinner was served. Gee, I surely was hungry. We had baked beans and ham, lettuce and egg salad, lemonade, and oranges. After we finally had things pretty well cleaned up, we bade Dr. and Mrs. Allison good-bye, and came home. But, oh diary, we had a wonderful time!

Miss Muir Speaks in Y. W. Installation

The Sunshine Quartet Sings Two Numbers

"Fleeting Hour" and "Still, Still With Thee" were the songs sung by the Sunshine Quartet at the Y. W. installation meeting, Monday, March 16.

Esther Dickey gave a short talk in which she briefly mentioned how much she appreciated the cooperation of the girls in Y. W. this year. Esther also thanked the girls electing her as president, and said that she appreciated it very much. With a few words of encouragement for next year's officers, Esther handed the secretary book to LaVonne Putnam.

Professor Gladdys Muir gave the main talk. She very definitely told of the needs of the Y. W. C. A. in LaVerne College, the greatest need, perhaps, being that of an organization to represent all the women of the campus.

Second, we should find in what line each girl has a talent and give her a duty in which she can use it to her best ability. The interest of all women of the campus should be united. This can be done with every girl having a job. As mentioned above, give the girl a duty she can and likes to perform.

In every college there are always a few girls misplaced. By this is meant that they don't feel like one of the group because they are either older, clothes not as good as the rest of the girls, etc. All girls can co-operate in placing every girl and making her feel welcome, and as though she is wanted.

Wider interest is something needed by the girls. Don't just criticize other girls or people, but get wider interest in things going on. There should be social activity among the girls, too. Something needed worse, however, is a deeper interest in religious life. Too little interest is manifest here. Prof. Muir mentioned that at one time here at LaVerne everything was religious, it seemed, but now there isn't much at all. There should be more interest in religion.

Follow the gleam, led by Myrtice Butterbaugh, was sung by all the girls at the end of the meeting.

Jerry Deal is twenty-one now! He had a birthday last Thursday. Cecil Brooks got dinner and Jerry's sister from North Dakota sent down a cake. They had one keen birthday dinner. "They" are Ben, Cec, Bonny, and Jerry.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Landis of Garden Grove spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Landis.

Mrs. Maude Brubaker Runyon of Covina entertained at a real Chinese dinner Saturday evening in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Laura E. Haugh. The guests were Rev. and Mrs. Leland Brubaker, Miss Esther Funk, Miss Dove Sauble and Mrs. Samuel Funk.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Marshburn attended services in LaVerne Sunday morning.

Misses Cathryn and Aileen Rothrock entertained a group of members of Dr. Hoover's alumni Sunday school class Friday evening at a friendship dinner. It was given at Cathryn's apartment in Temple.

Mrs. Mae Miller of Kingsburg is planning to spend her Easter vacation in Southern California, part of the time at LaVerne. Glenn Vaniman of Kingsburg will also come south at that time.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Root of Burbank were in LaVerne Sunday.

Miss Eunice Kreps, Mr. and Mrs. Galen Root and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Brubaker spent Sunday in Palm Canyon, Indio and Thousand Palms.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Jordan were given a third wedding anniversary dinner last Wednesday by his mother, Mrs. Lydia Jordan. Guests at this time were Mr. and Mrs. Galen Mishler.

Frankie Sandblom: "What do you call those two little kittens?"

Esther Thomason: "Tom and Harry."

Frankie: "Why don't you call them Cook and Perry after the two great explorers?"

Esther T.: "Aw, gwan! These aren't polecats."

NEWSETTES

Virginia Stern and Joe Pratt started to Student Volunteer Wednesday evening, but since there was meeting, they attended the California in Pomona and saw Charles Forrest in "Body and Soul."

Ray Wilkerson and "Sorg" Stowell spent Sunday visiting Aunt Jane. Oh, oh! boys—Tia Juana is a dangerous place for college fellows.

"Ikke" Irwin, the girl friend, visited Ralph Adams Wednesday. That explains why the Juniors had a one-man track team. Nice goin', Bert!!

Max Forney, Fred Mahoney, Dayton Stutzman and one Junior trackster, Bert Jones, saw Pomona wallop U. S. C. in a handicap meet at Claremont Saturday.

Marvin Bollinger, directing, and Dan Stover, accompanying, spent three days a week at the California Junior Republic in Chino, directing the youngsters there.

The Aeolian Quartet sang over the radio Monday, Thursday and Saturday evenings at 8:30 p. m. at Phoenix, Arizona, over station KTAR.

Edith Roberts, Kenny Brownberger, Molly Harrington and Cecil Brooks were seen at Balboa yesterday. We think they had a keen time.

We are glad to see Jean Bland back in school this week after a week's absence with "flu."

Maurice Shirk, Ed Ohanesian and Bob Welty spent the week-end in Dinuba, and had six hours sleep in two nights. That's pretty good.

Kathleen Shaffer spent the week-end at her home in Cucamonga. Sunday afternoon Dorothy Dear-dorff and Kathleen went up to the hills.

THE NEW CABINET PERFORMS

Irish Program is Presented in Y. W.

A violin solo, "My Wild Irish Rose," played by LaVonne Putnam and accompanied on the piano by Esther Thomason, was the first number on the Y. W. program Monday morning.

An Irish skit followed in which the following girls had part: Elizabeth Lehman, LaVonne Putnam, Frances Nix, Mildred Smith, Virginia Scarisbrick, Frances Sandblom, Helen Buckley, Hollinger, Esther Thomason and Blanch Klingaman.

Helen Buckley, the new song leader, led the group in singing "Follow the Gleam."

Last but not least was a clever little reading, "The Usual Way," by no other than Frances Nix.

This program was given by the new officers of the "Y."

Flossie Page just had a good time over the week-end. She had it with Josie Maust Sunday afternoon. Miss Maust is down from Santa Barbara for a few days.

"You are run-down," said the doctor. "You need an ocean voyage. Will your business permit it?"

"Oh, yes," replied the patient. "I'm second mate on the Anne Maria, just in from Hong Kong."

Ruthe and Frances Bishop went horseback riding Sunday morning, and later in the day were seen at Balboa with friends.

The Vogue Cleaners

I've had my share of grief with things
Proclaimed "as cure of" cleaning thing.

I gave each one a thorough test,
But all I reaped was costly dress.

AND THEN WE HAD OUR LUCKY DAY
WHEN VOGUE CLEANERS CAME OUR WAY.

Besides a lot of fancy frills,
They cured a lot of chronic ills.

They'll stop your worries then and there,
And stop your clothes from looking bare.

What perfect cleaners did for me,
They'll do for you—TRY THEM AND SEE.

BASKETBALL OUT-LOOK FOR 1932

Good Material Coming Up

At first glance it would seem that basketball is due for a slump at La Verne. The five horsemen, Waybright, Stutzman, Hubbell, Thomason and Nicolas, are through with basketball at La Verne. These five lads have formed the nucleus of the basketball squads of La Verne for the past three years. They brought the La Verne name to the second place notch in the conference standings for the past two years.

But on the other hand, while these fellows have been winning ball games for La Verne this year, Coach Eisan has been looking into the future. He has given the second string of this year every possibility to gain experience and confidence. He has been working these fellows together as much as possible. There will be five lettermen back next year. One man for each position. Snell and Shirk, forwards; Forney, center; and Deal and Jones guards. These fellows are used to playing together and they have adopted the Eisan system. Other than these fellows, Welty will be back at a forward position. Although he failed to make his letter, he has the ability and may develop into a good man. There will be several men up from this year's Frosh team that will bolster the squad to a large extent. Brooks and Montgomery forwards; Stutzman and Calvert centers; and Swihart, Weybright and Anderson, guards, will all move up next year and Eisan should be able to gather some talent from this group.

Although this squad cannot be expected to bring in a conference championship. It will at least win as many games as it loses.

BASE BALL PRACTICE IS UNDER WAY

With baseball training well on its way on the LaVerne diamond, hopes are far from bright. Judging from the team out in early season, the prospects looked good, but it seems we don't have men with that necessary experience. We have hopes of an infield that will hold water before the season is over. In our practice games thus far the pitching staff has not looked so good, but this will be strengthened when Thomason and Welty are back in the line-up. Thomason has been on a singing tour of Arizona with the Aeolian Quartet and Welty has been out due to an infected toe. Thus we should be able to boast of a strong pitching staff when we have Thomason, Mahoney, Welty and Forney. Two years ago Mahoney pitched some real ball, but he hasn't caught his stride so far this season. Thomason was rated as one of the best in the conference last year, but he has not seen any action yet this season. Welty and Forney are both promising and they will probably hurl most of the practice games.

When the rest of the club gets in condition and the whole club gets to hitting better, we will have a ball team that will worry anyone. All we need to put the finishing touches on this team is a lot of good hard practice and plenty of student body support.

Benjamin Ide Wheeler on "A Liberal Education"

The university is under the obligation to deal with knowledge in the living form of discovery. We mean by this that all its methods of teaching and study must tend assume the type of independent research. Dogma, textbook, and word of authority are all the glass in which men see darkly when it behooves them to see the truth face to face; they are all of them crutches upon which men hobble when it behooves them to stand erect on their legs and grow strong. The slavery from which education seeks to free men is not only a blank slavery of ignorance, but slavery to the word of formal authority. Superstition is the horrible slavery of those who wear the fetter of formula, having in their hand no file to test its metal, whether it be softer than lead. A liberal education is and always was no other than an education that liberates a man out of the bondage of convention, recipe, and ruts, into the freedom of the sons of God. Memorizing the opinions of other men never made any man free, but discernment of the basis of opinions and the methods of their forming has placed in the hands of many a man the chilled steel that smites off chains.—Benjamin Ide Wheeler, quoted in the California Daily Bruin.

Bert Jones, LaVerne, Scores 35 Points

JONES STARS IN INTERCLASS TRACK MEET

There has been a rumor on the campus for the past several weeks started by the Frosh that the Freshman class that the said class would make more points in the interclass track meet than all the other classes would be able to compile amongst them.

Most of the school accepted this rumor, but it seems that Bert Jones, a Junior, took offense at this bold statement and hung up seven first places in the interclass event. This was not only enough to make liars out of the Frosh, but was enough to give the Juniors the meet. His only help was the one point that Bessey took by placing third in the discus.

While none of the Jones performances threatened existing world records, caustics are hereby notified that the seven marks recorded in the busy afternoon by the Junior trackster, with one or two exceptions, are not to be sneezed at. Take two sneezes, then, and listen to this:

Jones won the high jump with a leap of five feet, seven inches; the 100-yard dash in 102-5 seconds, the 120-yard high hurdles in 162-5, the 120-yard low hurdles (time not taken), the broad jump with a leap of 20 ft. 7 in., the 440 yard dash in 55 3-5 seconds, the javelin with a toss of 135 feet, and didn't have time to enter the other events.

Aside from his one-man hero, Coach Eisan is relishing the prospect of building up a more than promising freshman track team for (who knows?) 1933 and 1934. Among the star Frosh performers who are capable of great improvement are Montgomery, second in the high jump, 100-yard dash and broad jump; Calvert, first in the pole vault and third in the javelin; Saylor, first in the mile; Brownsberger, second in the high hurdles, third in the low hurdles; Brooks, second in the mile; Nolle, second in the shot put; Weybright, third in the mile run. Several sophomores, particularly Max Forney, who won shot and discus, and tied for third in the javelin, also looked well in abbreviated.

Summary of the meet:

100-yard dash—Won by Jones (Jr.), Montgomery (F) second; Hubbell (hr.) third. Time, 10 2-5 seconds.

120-yard low hurdles—Won by Jones (Jr.), Brooks (F.) second, Brownsberger (F) third. No time taken.

440-yard dash—Won by Jones (Jr.) Hubbell (Sr.) second, Forney (So.) third. Time, 53-5 seconds.

Mile run—Won by Saylor (F.); Fyock (So.) second; Weybright (F.) third. Time, 5 m. 26 s.

Field Events

Broad jump—Won by Jones (Jr.), Montgomery (F.) second,

SPORTLIGHTS

I have noticed at our few baseball games that we have very few, if any, student rooters. I don't like to ask anyone to watch something they don't enjoy, especially on these nice spring evenings; but if we could see it as a part of the college activity and play the game with the boys, it would help. Let's do our little bit to the best of our ability.

How many of us really stop to think? Did you ever thing just who does the little things around school, these things that are never noticed when they are done, and yet they stop the whole show if they are left undone. Do we ever try to appreciate the person who does these things? I mean by this the man who is never mentioned in connection with his activity, for example, the substitute who isn't good enough to see action yet he works as hard as anyone in practice, the athletic managers who always do the dirty work, the man who handles the stage sets. There are dozens of others, but you can think of them as well as I. Here is the idea—if you are the "big shot," don't forget you have a lot of men pushing you, thus making your popularity (or whatever you want to call it) possible. It's hard to do, but it won't take long to try.

Are you one of those fellows who were unlucky enough to have your name read in student meeting Friday? The football field still needs a little work done on it. I would like to suggest that you fellows check up on the girls that were absent, make them bring a lunch for you, and have a little exclusive work day. However you do it, we want it done!

If you have a few minutes some evening after school walk out by the football field and watch the boys train for track. We have a promising frosh track team and they deserve your support; besides, it will be a barrel of fun for you.

THE BACHELORS' CLUB

No hard feelings resulted and both clubs united in the hug of Bachelor fellowship and continued in single blessedness.

A FEW STATISTICS

Out of each 1,000,000 without schooling, only 6 attain distinction.

Out of each 1,000,000 with elementary schooling, 24 attain distinction.

Out of each 1,000,000 with high school education, 622 attain distinction.

Out of each 1,000,000 with college education, 5768 attain distinction.

So it seems that for all their faults, and their faults are many, the schools are a good investment. —President Frank, University of Wisconsin, in the Journal of Education.
