Chapel Addressed by Prof. Milliken

Prof. B. S. Milliken, principal of the Covina high school and superintendent of schools at Covina, spoke Tuesday morning upon the new point of view in education.

Chapel was opened with a prayer by Dean Hoover. He read the answer to the petition sent to President Hoover from LaVerne College, also the answer to the letter sent to the congressman. The dean read the reply of Senator Johnson and the answer to be sent back to him.

Mr. Milliken gave a short talk and showed some charts illustrating the change of view in education from subject matter to the interest of the individual. He first exhibited charts illustrating methods of determination and graduation of accelerated, retarded and normal pupils. Charts showing the ranges of human intelligence were exhibited and also charts showing various speeds of reading which are caused by the number of pauses of the reader.

Awards Issued in Friday Assembly

The program on Friday morning was described as being short and sweet, but it contained several items of interest in spite of that. In the first place a vocal duet was sung by George Berg and Doyle Montz, Prof. Travis accompanying them at the piano. Subsequent to this number, a small emblem was presented to Opal Kuns by Mrs. Haugh as a souvenir of their working together on the extemporaneous contest which was held at U. C. L. A. some time ago.

The forensic awards were also presented to the debaters in the men's and women's debate teams. The women's team, including Neva Snell, Lucille Hylton, Virginia Stern and Arnelia Brubaker, came forward first to receive their awards amidst the applause of the students. The men debaters were introduced with some of their pet expressions and habits by Prof. Brubaker who awarded the honors to all four: Ed Cunningham, Everett Calvert, Orlin Vaniman and Chalmer Faw. He finished by expressing the joy he experienced in working with both men and women debaters, and Ed Cunningham returned a similar sentiment in the name of the whole group.

The meeting was adjourned after the singing of the Alma Mater hymn.

Few Changes in The New Faculty

Next year's faculty will remain practically the same with the exception of the history professor and the athletic coaches. Miss Gladdys Muir will resume her place as history professor and Leland G. Eisan will be director of physical education. Dale Glick will be his assistant. A new course in the music department is added, which will be pipe organ, under Professor Travis.

The staff is as follows:
Ellis M. Studebaker, president.
S. J. Miller, Pres. and Eng. Prof. Emeritus.

Lambda Program Novel Affair

A very novel and interesting program was put on by the Lambda staff Tuesday, March 18. As a prologue the Sunshine Quartet, Aeolians and Marvin Bolinger sang a group of Southern melodies, including "Old Black Joe," "Lindy Lou," "Old Folks at Home," etc. The stage was made into an outdoor scene near a southern negro shanty. In the background was a wooden pail and a tin dipper from which the cast refreshed themselves occasionally. Myrtice Butterbaugh, as the mammy; Doyle Montz, the hard working old man, and Orville Thomason as the worn-out boy, entertained a group of boys and girls, coming over for the evening. Marvin Bolinger was going to see his gal, but they persuaded him to sing them the song he was "gwine ter sing to his gal," "Lindy Lou." Tommy, as Obadiah, was just so tired he couldn't finish a song unless the others kept him awake.

After this part of the prologue, Professor Eugene Knox, nationally known impersonator, gave a group of readings. By running his fingers through his hair, putting it into shape, and changing his facial expression he could be anything from an old optimist to a lover who had a severe cold.

HALT! PERCEIVE! GIVE HEED!

Remember the highlight of this week's life. Next Thursday at eight o'clock the Dramatic Troupe, under the supervision of Mrs. B. S. Haugh, will give three one-act plays. You can't afford to miss this evening of laughs—side-splitting laughs—of thrills and chills, blood curdling chills, which coupled with the sad, tragic places here and there, will make an evening not soon forgotten. In case you need a ticket, ask any member of the troupe or the "gang." Remember, they are but a dime.

DR. EVANS WILL SPEAK HERE

Dr. William Evans, who recently conducted the series of sermons and Bible lessons in Pomona, will speak Thursday during the chapel period. He will talk especially for young people on a subject of vital interest to them.

Several Contestants May Enter Oratorical

Considerable interest is being aroused in several oratorical contests to be held at LaVerne during the coming month. The six members of the Advanced Public Speaking class are taking as their term project the writing and delivering of orations in a contest sponsored by the W. C. T. U. Manuscripts will be submitted from the various colleges and universities of Southern California and a final contest by the six best speakers will be held at Pacific Palisades, where will be awarded a first prize of $50. The preliminary at each college carries a first prize of $25 providing the contest is made a part of the regular assembly program.

April 10 is the date set for the contest at LaVerne. There will be other entrants besides the Public Speaking class, including several who will give peace orations. These latter carry as first prize $60 towards expenses to the Conference of the Church of the Brethren to be held in Hershey, Pennsylvania, next June.

The annual Keiser oratorical contest is also to be held in conjunction with the contest on April 10, and still another phase will be the choosing of the entrant for the Intercollegiate Contest in Oratory to be held at LaVerne on April 25. Occidental, Pomona, Redlands, U. C. L. A., and Whittier will each send representatives on the latter date.

LaVerne Excels in Male Quartets

LaVerne is very fortunate in having three fine quartets to represent the college. The Aeolian Quartette is well known, having been organized soon after the Clarion Four disbanded. This quartet has given concerts in Southern California last year and up to the present time, and intend to continue this work for the rest of the school year. Programs are given in various high schools, churches, and other organizations, wherever they can be of service.

Monday night they sang at a Hi-Y meeting in San Pedro, and tonight (Tuesday) they sing in Pasadena. This quartet, as well known, is composed of Georg Berg, Orville Thomason, Doyle Montz and Russell Frantz.

A freshman quartet composed of Marvin Bolinger, Albert Gnagy, Vernon Heckman and Daniel Stover was organized this year. The name "Sierra Four" has been chosen, and not "Acappella," as was first reported.

The boys are very busy practicing, and will be ready to present concerts about May 1. They plan to make a tour of the coast this summer, in behalf of the college, and toward this goal they are very diligently working. At the present time they sing at programs and banquets, and render special music at churches.

There is some very fine material in this organization and they will be well prepared to fill the place of the Aeolians when they graduate from college.

At present, the Sunshine Quartet, the only quartet or special mu-

LAMBDA PROGRAM

Roy L. Stone, radio singer and a former member of the Cantabile Quartet, will be featured in the next program to be sponsored by LaVerne College which will be given in Founders Hall auditorium Tuesday evening, April 1, at 8:00 p. m. Appearing with Mr. Stone will be a number of other performers who will present a varied array of readings and instrumental work which should provide one of the best evenings of entertainment yet given by the college this year.

Mr. Stone, a baritone, has for several years been featured on radio concert hours in Southern California and is well known to radio fans. He will present some of his best numbers, including famous old ballads and operatic favorites.

There will be no reserved seats for this program and admission will be 25c and 35c.

Former Student Addresses Chapel

Elliott Thomas, a LaVerne graduate of 1921, spoke to the assembly Thursday upon how to be successful.

The speaker began his talk by saying that the successes of successful men are not big, glaring victories, but small, steady successes. Mr. Thomas, who has been quite successful in his affairs, gave fine rules for success. The first step is deciding what career to take up. That can be decided by what the individual likes to do best. Then when a career is decided upon it should be pursued unswervingly.

The second admonition is to be earnest, sincere, and genuine, for these qualities go a long way on the path toward success. The third rule is to develop a good personality by thinking, by a good physical body, and by enthusiasm.

The fourth requisite is to be agreeable. A successful man or woman must be a friend. The last rule for success is to keep on growing and developing.

The assembly greatly enjoyed the talk on success by one of the LaVerne graduates who has himself become successful.

Marvin Bolinger opened the program with a devotional song, after which the dean offered prayer.

The assembly greatly enjoyed the talk on success by one of the LaVerne graduates who has himself become successful.

Since there are no other organizations of this type for the girls, special interest should be, and is given to the work they are doing.

It is such groups as these three quartets which help to arouse the interests of prospective students and attract them to LaVerne.

Handbook Editors Have Been Chosen

At a recent meeting the commission chose the handbook editors, who are: Catherine Crist, editor-in-chief, and Edith Coffman, associate editor.

Miss Crist is chosen from the junior class and is quite experienced in literary work. She is considered very capable of handling a piece of work like this, as she has been the mainstay of the literary club for the past two years. Besides these qualities, she shows conscientious interest in all her work. Miss Coffman is chosen from the freshman class and is a likely prospect for literary activities here for the next few years.

With this team at work, the Handbook is expected to surpass previous productions and to prove of great value to new and old students alike for the coming year.

English Club is Now Working on Novel

Members of the English Club of LaVerne met Wednesday, March 19, in the Campus Times room, to hear the reading of the second chapter of the novel which is being written by the club in cooperation.

Problems of interest were discussed and a new time was set for club meetings. They will be held weekly, as far as possible, on Wednesdays, at 10:25. Books of special interest will be reported on and discussed at these meetings and every two weeks a chapter of the new novel will be read as the club project.

The members are taking turns in writing the book, the first chapter of which was produced by Don Miller, and the second by Wilma Baldwin. Catherine Crist, president of the organization, is working on the third chapter, which is to be heard next week at the meeting.

The English Club is in its second year of existence, and although it is small, it has an active membership with Miss Crist as the leader.

Volunteer Plays Take Trip to Fresno Valley

A steady progress is being made by both Student Volunteer play casts, in raising the amount of have spent much time and effort their missionary project. Both have spent much time and effort on making them a success.

Thus far they have been presented in four of the near-by churches, "Robert and Mary" having been given last night at Inglewood and "The Heroine of Ava" at Covina.

A week-end trip to the Fresno valley churches has been scheduled by the "Heroine of Ava" cast, for this coming week-end. Five churches will be visited on this trip. They are: Lindsay, Friday evening; Fresno, Saturday evening; and Reedley, Laton and McFarland, Sunday morning, afternoon and evening respectively.

Over half the goal has been thus far reached and it is expected that it will go over the top through the patronage of the churches, which is greatly appreciated.

Again we are to be forced to go thru a series of examinations in order to satisfy the the medieval demands of an irrational educational system. Sometime some professor is going to be original and discover what he knew as a student, that examinations of such type as midsemester exams are the product of diseased and senile thinking and he will win immortal glory by giving short exams semi-weekly.

If the average business man managed his business like the average professor manages his exams, public opinion would cell every time exams come. As the situation stands the student is ready for a padded cell every time exams come around. I suggest that some professor rig up an examination that will test out what a man can do with the knowledge he is acquiring.

We have a system of communism here in LaVerne that would confound even the least confoundable of all imaginable reds. In the men's dorm at 2315 D street we even share the noise in the halls.

Hair oil and hair tonic is here today and merely an odor on your neighbor's hair tomorrow. When anyone buys shaving soap he has to bootleg it in and then bootleg his shaves in order to retain it. Your light bulb is booty of great worth and the only way to keep it is to burn it out. Your face lotion makes your roommate's complexion the skin they (the feebler sex) love to caress. Many LaVerne girls have laid their lovely heads on the bosom of my shirts—just borrowed from me—for a pants—and sad it is for the night or two. They all pant for pants—and sad it is for the man who ventures down the hall without padlocking his belt on. More love notes have been written on my stationery by my fellow students than were written by Daddy Brown-ing in his weakest moments.

If one of our prominent students stole dollars like he does thumb-tacks he would soon be pounding his ear for life in the little “Doll's House” at San Quentin. No man could recognize his cake of soap after he had forgotten it for fifteen minutes in the bathroom—they even borrow the scent.

I merely finish by saying that even though it sounds great in reading—you can't Trotsky me.

If you believe in miracles, just imagine spring vacation in LaVerne College—you can't do it! You could imagine almost anything, but not that. Sometime I hope to hold a little grandson of mine upon my story. It will proceed like this:

“Once upon a time during spring vacation in LaVerne College”—then he will break in and say, “It's all a lie, grand-pop; there never was such a thing”—and what can I tell the poor child then, Dr. Hoover? I've been worrying over this for some time, and I will give an original copy of Leopard Whiskers to the faculty member who will solve the problem for me. Get busy, profs, and win the grand prize.

If I were a James Whitcomb Riley I would write a poem on “The Passing of the Old Fountain”—as they are taking out that old, historical watering place from the sidewalk near the first National Bank. If I were a mathematician I would calculate the number of square inches of tonsils that have been cooled by its fragrant waters. Many a hobo filled his “boiler” there and generated enough steam to wheeze the old handout request for a good hot breakfast. One by one the old landmarks are passing and every morning I look the old town over to see what the new day has brought forth. I hope they never change all the two light posts though, as all the difference in style and texture is invigorating.

FOOLING THE FOOLED

The gentleman on the motorcycle glided along the side of me and told me to pull over to the curb. Naturally I did as he requested.

“Know the speed limit along here?” he asked.

“Why sure, don't you?” I asked.
“No sass, now. Why were you doing 35?”

“Because that's the speed limit.”
“Well, you're fooled, it's only 20!”

“Well, you'e fooled. I'm a stranger here and in Los Angeles where I came from it's 35 on all boulevards.”

“Is zat so? Well, now you'e fooled. I'm no cop.”

“Good, but you're fooled instead. I got away doing 35 in a 20 mile zone.”

“Oh, but you're fooled. The reason I chased you was to tell you you dropped a suit case back a ways.”

“Now you're fooled, I threw that out.”

“But you're fooled. There was a roll of bills in it.”

“You're fooled now, those bills were counter—”

“Counter, what? Counterfeit, eh what? Snipe Snooker?”

“You're fooled—Theodore Snooker.”

“All right ‘Snipe,’ come on. At last we got you after all those counterfeiting jobs you pulled.”

But, dear reader, you're fooled, this didn't happen at all.

Come to think of it you fooled me. I didn't think you'd read this, but you did.

THE WELL EDUCATED MAN

An educated man is one who is trained to use the tools of human intercourse with readiness, precision, and accuracy. We mean, especially, language (particularly the mother tongue) both in speech and writing) and the rudiments of numbers. Our age is adding to the tools of intercourse statistical symbols, such as tables and graphs.

An educated man must be able to study and think without guidance from others. He must have command of the method of the mind, and he must be—to some extent—a thinker, not a mere imitator. He may not have more opinions than other persons, but he has more opinions to which he has a right.

An educated man knows enough of history to enable him to understand the main achievements of man. He is able to put each type of society, and each change of society, into a general perspective.

An educated man is marked by his interests as well as by his trained abilities. His attention is habitually attracted by significant rather than trivial objects, events, pursuits, and enjoyments. He lives in a larger and more finely discriminated world than the uneducated man.

An educated man must have toward his fellows the habitual attitudes that are commonly called ethical—such attitudes as honor and honesty, helpfulness and goodwill, and cooperation.

Y.M.C.A. Plans Spring Trip to Jenks Lake

The main features of the Y. M. C. A. meeting Monday morning were the announcement of the annual spring retreat of the Y at Jenks Lake, which is to be ready in May, and the announcement and discussion about the Y. M. C. A. visitors' banquet, which is definitely set for April 5. The purpose of this banquet is to interest prospective college students in coming here next fall. A good program is assured, the Aeolian, Sierra and Sunshine quartets being scheduled for several numbers. A more interesting and spontaneous toastsmaster could not be wanted than Ben Hepner, who will be master of ceremonies. Such banquets have been held in the past and have had a great deal to do with the number of men students enrolled in the classes of '28, '29, and '30. A great amount of good is certain to result from such a banquet this year, and all that remains now to do is for the men of the college and the faculty to back up the project with their co-operation and a little coin for the "eats," and the burden will be light for everyone concerned.

Faculty News

Dr. Sarafian and Professor Allen with Dr. Douglas of Pomona College were among those present last Friday afternoon at the housewarming reception for the new Education building recently completed at U. C. L. A. A number of prominent speakers from various education departments took part in the program. Next week end at the dedicatory services, Dr. John Dewey will be present as the outstanding attraction.

Dr. Emmert preached at the Church of the Brethren in Pasadena Sunday both morning and night. He took the place of Dr. Studebaker, who will continue this series of pre-Easter sermons on Sunday and Wednesday nights.

Dr. Hoover performed the wedding ceremony of Marion Souter and Barney A. Crane at the bride's home in Los Angeles Friday night.

Next Sunday afternoon Dr. Hoover will attend the meeting of the Philosophical Union at the dedicatory occasion of the new U. C. L. A. buildings in Los Angeles.

Professor and Mrs. Haugh attended a concert by the Valley Symphony Orchestra in Pomona last Wednesday. Thursday night they saw "Journey's End" by the English Players. Monday they entertained Dr. and Mrs. Weaver of Twin Falls, Idaho. Mrs. Weaver was a classmate of Professor Haugh at McPherson College.

Professor Travis accompanied the Aeolian Quartet to Azusa on Thursday night and to Hermosa Beach on Sunday night.

Mr. Brubaker: "What are diplomatic relations?"

Stewart Allen: "Well, now, I'm not sure, but I didn't think there were any such relatives."

THE TRUTH

Nobody loves you; you think you're in bad.

Nobody loves you; your prospects are sad.

Nobody loves you; you're always alone.

Nobody loves you; you're called to no 'phone.

Nobody loves you; there's no good-night kiss.

Nobody loves you; much rapture you miss.

Nobody loves you; in life there's no joy.

BUT—
Believe me, you're saving much money, my boy!

Marion Souter Weds Pomona Man

Marion Souter, former student of LaVerne, and Barney Crane, of Pomona, were united in marriage last Friday evening, March 21. The wedding was a simple one, held at the home of the bride's parents in Los Angeles.

The bride was attended by Meryle Thomason, and Paul Lathrop waited on the bridegroom. Dr. W. I. T. Hoover officiated. Only the immediate families of the young people were present.

The young couple are making their home in Pomona at present.

Newlyweds Found at Home

Although Alice and Ralph Mishler retired for the night about 9:30 Friday, they were not destined to rest in peace. About 11 o'clock a gay party of charivarees crept to their windows and began clanging their "tymbals" including cans, irons, whistles, horns and Ruth Dickey's powerful vocal bugle.

The new couple arose from their slumbers and welcomed the group, which included Ruth Dickey, Martha Baer, Viola Smith, Prudence Strickler, Edith Murrey, Myrtice Butterbaugh, Miriam Dickey, Galen Smith, Fred Mahoney, Bob Welty, Boyd Bell, Myron Butterbaugh and Kenneth Brownsberger.

The group enjoyed a treat of ice cream and cookies.

Y. W. Notes

A program of interest from beginning to end in Y. W. C. A. Monday morning by some of the best readers, singers, and pianists in the college.

The group was favored by a piano solo by Esther Thomason, a reading, "The Heart Weaver," by Kay Crist; several readings of various types by Inez McEwen, whom everyone enjoys so much as a reader. As a last feature on the program, the Sunshine Quartet sang.

The vice-president, Wilma Long, and her helpers, Martha Baer and Harriet Hoke, have planned attractive programs for each Monday morning from now until the end of the school year—speakers, group singing, or entertainers.

The cabinet is hard at work in plans for the coming Mothers' and Daughters' banquet which will take place April 8 in Miller Hall. This is always an event that is looked forward to by both mothers and daughters. Esther Thomason will be in charge of the menu, and Mary Platt the program. Frances Bishop and Mildren Smith will superintend the decorating for the banquet. Girls who would like a mother to take, or mothers who have no daughters and would like to go, are asked to see Myrtice Butterbaugh as soon as possible, that arrangements may be made for accommodating all who attend.

The cabinet also has been planning a lively hi-jinks for this year, at which they hope there will be a good turnout and a good time.

Each year the Y. W. C. A. officers attend a Cabinet Training Conference at Pacific Palisades and are looking forward to the one this year on the week-end of April 25-27. They hope to bring back many new ideas to be worked out in our local organization.

This Monday and Tuesday, the secretary of the Asilomar Division, Miss Helen Price, will be the guest of our Y. W. C. A. and is especially desirous of having conferences with each new cabinet member. She will be entertained by the officers all day Monday, meeting in the evening for a potluck supper and general good time.

Backwards Party Held by Stud. Vol.

On Friday evening last, a jolly and high-spirited group representing the Student Volunteers assembled at the home of Glenna Betz in a very "backward" fashion.

When all had arrived and bidden each other the customary "farewells," the strains of "Good-night, Ladies," were heard. Soon every one joined in singing it and had no difficulty in catching the spirit of the party, especially when hearing the announcement that refreshments were waiting in the kitchen. The hot chocolate and big, fat doughnuts were delicious and quickly consumed.

The remainder of the evening was spent in playing a good selection of games, some of which proved very hilarious. Others tested the judgment and visual ability in detecting individuals by their deformed silhouettes and with one eye. A good time was had by all and no casualties resulted save that Ed and Shortie received some rough treatment and Marie had her finger bitten a little too hard.

Alumni Notes

Miss Mabel Royer of Buena Park spent Sunday in LaVerne.

Miss Mina Shirk of Victorville spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Shirk.

Mrs. Mary Messimer Everhardt and husband and two sisters of Azusa attended services in LaVerne Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Peters of Pasadena spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Blickenstaff. Sunday afternoon they accompanied the Blickenstaffs to Los Angeles where they visited

Mr. and Mrs. David Brubaker and to Long Beach where they called on Mr. and Mrs. David Blickenstaff. Mr. and Mrs. Peters are both going to school in Pasadena. Mrs. Peters was Edith Blickenstaff before her marriage.

Naomi Harshbarger Hollenberg is dividing the Dorcas Circle into small friendship groups to promote sociability. These groups of four families each have a dinner every two weeks and the personnel of them is so arranged that it is never the same twice in a dinner party. Mrs. Hollenberg is also doing very efficient work as superintendent of the cradle roll at LaVerne.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Landis of China attended the fellowship supper of the Religious Education workers of the LaVerne Church of the Brethren Thursday evening.

Jay Myers is now president of the Christian Workers Society in the Seattle Church of the Brethren. He is also head of the shipping department of the Zellerbach Paper Company.

Verna Shirk, Aileen Rothrock, Margaret Price, Milton and Roland Brownsberger and Harry Blickenstaff spent Sunday at Santa Barbara.

Orlin V.: "I am as silent as a tomb."

Carl: "I need to borrow some money."

Orlin: "Don't worry. It is as though I never heard it."

Prof. Brubaker: "Longfellow was just a second rate poet."

Marti B.: "Who was the first?"

Baseballers Train for Coming Season

With the first conference game less than two weeks away, the Leopard horsehiders are going thru a tough training grind in order to be in shape to meet Oxy on April 5 at Paterson field.

The locals did not show up so well in the practice games last week in consideration that some impotent outfits were played. The first game was won by a 14-2 score from Pomona J. C. last Tuesday after the first tilts were called off on account of rain. The large score did not mean a great batting spree on the part of the locals since only nine hits were made.

The next tilt was lost to Covina high, 9-5. The Leopards made few hits, only seven. Welty started on the mound and was relieved by Thomason. The locals made several costly errors that put them in some bad holes.

On Friday afternoon the horsehiders played a Pomona high team, the score ending 10-10. The Leopards made ten hits to the opponents' four, the main trouble being too many bases on balls. Calvert, Welty and Forney pitched in this tilt.

Since there is a green bunch of material out for the pasture, it is doubtful whether they will be able to show much in the early games. There should be a steady improvement as the season wears on.

In the batting department the horsehiders have not shown a great deal. Too many of the hits that have been made were only singles and not for extra bases.

The pitching department is going to round into shape nicely if past performances mean anything. Thomason and Welty look like the best bets to draw regular duty on the mound. Tommy looked good, especially in the Covina high game. Weybright has cinched the receiving job and is holding down this position in an excellent manner.

The infield combination is developing into a fast outfit. Thomas is holding down first base and has the position cinched. Kindy and Brubaker have been playing the keystone bag. Kindy and DeHart play the shortstop berth when Thomason is pitching. Ferree and Daugherty have been playing the hot corner effectively. The infield has plenty of room for improvement and will show up better in the later games.

The outfield is composed of Deal in left field, Hubbell in center, and Brubaker right. Heiser has been playing a utility role in the infield and outfield. There will probably be several changes before the regular line-up is picked.

Frances Bishop: "It is healthy to have pink cheeks."

D. L.: "Yes, when you get it on straight."

Mary P.: "School is certainly monotonous."

Chalmer F.: "Yeah, sitting next to the same girl day after day is tiresome."

Ancient History

Jamison: "Who were the first people to use cosmetics in America?"

Willie E.: "The Pilgrims. It says in a book that they had a compact aboard the Mayflower." (That's an old one.)

Tommy (as they started thru a tunnel): "This cost $10,000."

Anna (as they came out): "But don't you think it was worth it?"

HELP! SAVE US!

The climax of the history of LaVerne College has at last been reached. The faculty and we of the student body have struggled ardently, waited patiently, and hoped incessantly for the past decade for just such a crowning event as we have this past week. You may talk of your federal histories, of your great battles, of great successes, of the ennobling influences cast by great men, but nothing, I say, nothing can compare with the history of the men and the success of LaVerne College.

The event of which I speak is indeed the event of the hour.
It has affected the history of our Alma Mater as has no other event (excluding, of course, Edward O'Hanessian's introduction into our daily life.) It has had and will continue to have a profound influence on the actions, the lives, and, shall I say, the characters of the inmates here.

The outcome of such an epochal event in our lives is yet to be seen. Its influence may be for the better and, again—I dread and hate to say it—it may be for the worse.

So everyone, not only for yourselves but for your fellowman, and for the character of the institution, keep a wary eye and a restraining hand on our much beloved professor as he endeavors to manipulate his new Ford. I sincerely believe such an act on our part will be greatly appreciated by Doctor Travis and perhaps, may I say, by the rest of the faculty.

Ztnom Elyod.

Student, to Dr. Hoover: "Have you ever been in prison?"

Dr. Hoover: "Oh, yes, I've been there three or four times."

Student: "How did you get out?"

Dr. Hoover: "For what is Switzerland famous?"

Ed C.: "Oh! Swiss cheese."

Dr. Hoover: "Something grander, more impressive, more tremendous."

Ed C.: "Now I have it. Limburger."

Varsity Tennis Squad Lose to Loyola Mon.

The varsity tennis squad lost to the Loyola racquetteers on the local courts Monday afternoon by a score of 6-1. The Leopards didn't seem to get going at all and won the fourth singles only. Second doubles were eliminated.

Ike Funk lost the first singles to Callahan, 6-2, 5-7, 4-6. Ike won the first set without any great difficulty but fell short in the next two. Calvert lost to Cannon, 6-3, 6-3, in second singles. Paul Funk was outpointed in third singles.
Weybright copped the only victory of the day by taking fourth singles from Wheeler, 6-0, 6-1. Gnagy lost fifth singles to Montgomery, 3-6, 6-3, 4-6.

In first doubles Ike Funk and Calvert lost to Callahan and Cannon, 6-1, 6-3.

On Thursday the varsity team meets Whittier in the second conference game which will be played on the local courts.

Poet's Corner

We bought a pencil
Thinking that we had done well,
But when we started to write
The darn thing wouldn't spell.

Don Miller: "You remind me of Clara Bow."

Louise Griset: "Honest?"

Don: "Yeah; you're so different."

DIG

"Your unworked mine is yourself.

You have hidden in you unknown treasures.

On the surface you may resemble sand and rocks.

You may think yourself uninteresting.

You may see this genius play the violin and that one sing, and another build—

Another amass money, or speak eloquently, or write charmingly.

A is beautiful, B is strong, C is learned and D is famous,
But how do you know what's is you until you dig and see?

In you is power. It may lie deep—you have never touched its vein.

It will lie there unsuspected and useless until you die
Unless you dig for it.

In you is beauty. Every soul is beautiful somewhere.

Down there within is loveliness, charm, a wonderful divine order and symmetry.

It is worth searching for.

In you is wisdom. There is none outside of you

That will benefit you unless applied.

You can find it in the long hours of silence when you seek among the caverns of your soul.

You can find the gems of it like diamonds lying in the ledges, if you use diligently the shovel of meditation.

In you is goodness. The granite rocks that underlie each soul.
Go after what is in you.

There are peace and contentment and righteousness and loyalty and love—DIG!

No books, no teachers, no events can give you what you want unless you work your own mine;

You will find within you riches and force and courage and joy,

For these are mixed in the clay of all souls,

And He who made man's body out of the dust of the earth

Mixed strange treasures therein."
