Mallides Represents La Verne in Oratory

The Southern California Conference Oratorical Contest took place at the California Institute of Technology on Friday evening, April 18. LaVerne was well represented by Alexander Mallides, who gave his oration entitled "Yearning for Peace." Although Mr. Mallides was unable to place first or second, his oration was well received and it was certainly a credit to LaVerne College.

The contest as a whole was outstanding as every oration given was of a very high character. Perhaps this was one of the finest oratorical contests which has taken place in the southern conference. First place was taken by Mr. Sharp from Cal Tech, who spoke on problems of law enforcement. Second place was won by Mr. Gabbett from Occidental, who spoke on phases of world peace as it appeals to the youth of the world. Other contestants were Mr. Weber from Pomona College, and Mr. King from the University of Redlands. Professor Brubaker served as chairman of the contest.

Preceding the contest a meeting of the coaches and managers from the various schools in the Southern California Forensic League was held to discuss various changes in the contests to be held in the future. Mr. Brubaker is president of this organization. Ed Cunningham, commissioner of forensics, also represented LaVerne at the meeting.

The next conference activity will be the women's oratorical contest which will be held in the LaVerne College auditorium on Friday evening, April 25. Miss Dortha Gans will represent LaVerne in this contest and she will give her oration entitled "The Menace of Narcotics."

Rev. Zeller Gives Address Tuesday

Rev. Mr. Zeller of the Evangelical Church at San Bernardino, gave the address Tuesday morning. His subject was "Man." Myrtice Butterbaugh sang a solo.

The speaker first illustrated how small man is in size in comparison to the universe. He made the statement that astronomers believe there are other universes similar to ours, but larger. Then he illustrated how large man is. Under a powerful microscope in one drop of water one may find smaller and smaller particles until each seems as far apart as the stars of the universe.

Mr. Zeller then illustrated how many things man has conquered and overcome. But the most wonderful part of this is that man never has and never will reach the limit, therefore will always be progressing.

God is interested in man, said Mr. Zeller. "The Son of God visited man and God and Christ believe man is worth dying for." In conclusion the speaker said, "Let's always remember we are kin to God and children of the King."

The Apollo Four sang at the Ganesha sunrise services, then went to San Dimas county park to sing for the Young People's class of Glendale Brethren church, who held their sunrise services there.

Miss Muir Wins Honors in Field of Research

A recent letter from Miss Muir to President Studebaker contains some very good news. Miss Muir obtained first place in the European History Honours Class (1648-1798) for the year 1929-1930. She stated that the class was very small but they were all candidates for the Masters Degree in History with Honours, and then adds characteristically that she hardly felt she deserved the honor. She said that her teacher, Professor Williams, was especially pleased with her term papers, and that he gave her, in addition to the certificate, two letters of introduction. One is to a history professor at Harvard and the other to a friend of Professor Williams in the Library of Congress. He commended her research ability and encouraged her to follow this phase of study.

The letter continues: "Professor Williams thought I might even do something with the term paper which I worked under him. At any rate he advised me to come back to London this summer after the Mediterranean cruise and work on it instead of returning to Geneva. So that is what I am planning to do. I felt sure that you would be glad to know I had not disgraced LaVerne and McPherson, at any rate. Mother and father said it justified coming to Scotland."

"We are very anxious to see the new church and much thrilled to hear of the pipe organ. With a beautiful church in which to worship, well equipped college buildings in which to study, and most important of all, a growing spirit of loyalty among the students and alumni, I think the outlook for LaVerne is very encouraging."

Miss Muir is not graduating in anything, nor receiving any degree. This certificate is purely a class honor, but nevertheless one justly earned, it is felt certain by her many friends at LaVerne.

Hard Work Done By Lambda Staff

An account of the school year, pictures of all of one's friends, and a place for autographs is what a yearbook means to most students. Very few of them realize the vast amount of work and effort required to make a school annual. At present the members of the Lambda staff are realizing what it takes to make a yearbook.

Glenn "Dee" Dellenbach, editor of the yearbook, and author of the "Whiskers," declares that the publication is one of the most fascinating parts of the work. After each of the sub-editors has handed in his written material, it has to be copy-read and edited by the editor before being sent to the printers. Here, after the pictures have returned from the engravers in Los Angeles, the publishers print the book, placing the material in the order in which it is arranged in the dummy of the book.

Student Candidates Exposed in Assembly

Campaign speeches were in order last week at student assembly when the managers of the various candidates who are running for office in the student commission, made public appeals for their men. The candidates for president, Ed Cunningham and Dale Stutzman, were presented first by their respective managers, Orlin Vaniman and Onis Leonard.

Three men are running for commissioner of finance, including Isaac Funk, Ralph Fesler and Harry Thomas, who were championed by Russell Frantz, Doyle Montz and Harry Pobst.

Athletics has for its aspirants to the position of commissioner three candidates, who were presented by Charles Manning, Alex Mallides and Dee Dellenbach. These candidates are known around school as Kenny Deardorff, Red Weybright, and Joe Roynon.

The candidates for commissioner of forensics include two former debaters, Chalmer Faw and Everett Calvert, who talked in favor of each other. The other two aspirants to this office are Dortha Gans and Jerry Deal, in favor of whom Martha Baer and John Kindy offered many complimentary remarks.

The position of commissioner of publications is well stocked with candidates, since there are four people seeking it. These four are none other than Alfred Nicolas, Martha Baer, Glenna Betz and Verna Sheets. Their managers were Don Miller, Clarence Brubaker, Harriet Butterbaugh and Wilma Long.

The last of the campaign speeches centered around the commissioner of welfare for which position Ruby Saylor, Wilma Long, and Myrtice Butterbaugh were nominated by their respective managers, Esther Dickey, Verna Sheets and Roland Brownsberger.

Virginia Stern, Evelyn Deardorff, Pearl Niswander, Zola and Dwight DuBois and Cecil Huff attended Easter sunrise services at Mount Rubidoux. Later in the day they went to Lake Elsinore and Palm Springs.

Student Talent Prog. Given on Tues. Eve.

The student program presented in Founders Hall Tuesday evening, April 15, was in the nature of a concert featuring local talent.

Solos were sung by Claude Bowman, accompanied by his sister, Anita Bowman. Frances Berg sang two numbers. The sextet from the Girls' Glee Club rendered several numbers in fine harmony.

Adding to the program were duets sung by Pearl Niswander and May Chronister, and by Marvin Bolinger and Daniel Stover. The number by the latter was "Lucky Me and Lovable You," and was especially appreciated by the audience in its rendition.

Readings by Hazel Barnhart completed the program.

Prof. Travis Speaks In Y.W.C.A. Monday

The Y. W. C. A. felt greatly honored to have as their speaker on Monday morning none other than Professor Travis, who read and told of the life of a boy prodigy violinist, Yehudi Menuhin, who has become famous for his marvelous skill on the violin. He has given concerts before vast audiences in New York and many other cities of the United States and was at one time in Los Angeles for a concert.

The boy's life has been interestingly reviewed by Dorothy Crowther in "The Baton," from which Professor Travis read passages. He is called the "Wonder Child of the Violin," and some think that his skill is so natural that he needs no practice. This, however, is contrary to fact. Yehudi puts in about four hours of concentrated practice every day and becomes so intensely absorbed in his music that he doesn't even notice the presence of others in the room.

Louis Persinger has also become famous, as he has been the teacher of Yehudi all during his musical career.

Much of Yehudi's success is due, the writer thinks, to his sane, well-educated parents, who allow him to give not more than four or five concerts a year, and ask people not to lavish their praise upon Yehudi's playing, since it may cause lack of future musical progress.

Professor Travis played two of Yehudi's records on the Victrola, "La Capricciosa," and "Allegro," and advised all to go to hear Yehudi if he should ever give another concert in Los Angeles.

"Turn To The Right"

Tickets will soon be on sale for the annual senior play. The drama, "Turn to the Right," is to be given on Friday evening, May 2nd. Rehearsals are upon each other thick and fast as the production rapidly shapes itself. Mrs. Haugh is putting her fine enthusiasm and effort into it with her usual vigor. The cast is working faithfully. You will hear more of the play soon. Stand by for further announcements.

Though life has its quota of woes,
Calm analysis clearly reveals
That the man who is up on his toes
Very seldom is down at the heels.

Thur. Chapel Program Given by Apollo Four

Thursday morning for chapel the Apollo Four, the freshman male quartet, gave a concert. Professor Haugh announced that the present name of the quartet is official.

The first number was a devotional song, "In the Cross of Christ I Glory," which was followed by "Jesus Satisfies Me." Marvin Bolinger, accompanied by Dan Stover, sang the 91st Psalm.

The second group was initiated by the song, "Moonlight on the Lake." A sailor song, "Yo-Ho, My Lass," followed this. An amusing number, "The Owl and the Pussy Cat" was sung as an encore. Vernon Heckman and Dan Stover gave a piano duet.

A negro spiritual, "De Gospel Train," was given. "I Ain't Gonna Grieve My Lord Any More," followed this. Then a "Syncopated Lullaby" was given quite dramatically. Lastly, the popular song, "Happy Days Are Here Again" was rendered. For the final encore the quartet gave "I Love You, California."

This was the first appearance of the Apollo Four before the assembly. There was a larger number of visitors at the program than usual, which shows the interest the people of LaVerne have in the new quartet. Visitors, faculty and students greatly enjoyed the concert and wish the Apollo Four the best of success. The young men will tour the coast this summer in behalf of the college.

"The Poetry Journal" Enters Field of Verse

"The Poetry Journal" wishes to announce its entrance in the field of verse. The Journal enters the field with one pronounced purpose in mind, to-wit: to promote the cause of the unheralded and unknown versifier. This announcement no doubt will be of interest to many members of the LaVerne student body.

The Journal announces that it is in need of poetry for its first issues, and solicits shorts verse mostly, up to 32 lines, of the serious type. One or two longer poems with an open theme will be used each issue. Good humorous verse with a general appeal can be used. Dialect must be exceptional. Verse with a strikingly human, present day touch will be especially welcomed.

The Journal is vitally interested in the young poet, and hopes to embrace modern thought as expressed by a new generation of moderns.

The Poetry Journal will pay from $1.00 to $25 on publication for each poem printed, and further expects to announce an annual poet's prize. All verse submitted will be subject to change or revision according to the Journal's editorial policy. A stamped, self-addressed envelope should be enclosed.

The poetry Journal will appear monthly as a national publication, with a $3.00 annual subscription price, with the aim of becoming the foremost poetical magazine in America.

CAUSE AND EFFECT

There is a more vital distinction between man and man than is measured by achievement. There is the distinction between the man who faces the realities of life and knows himself and the world for what both are, and the man who perpetually encumbers himself with a miasma of misconceptions and prepossessions. There is the distinction between the man who has adjusted himself and his desires to the indifference of fate and the man who still retains the petulant resentment against adverse circumstances of the child. Whether the full-grown man has studied much or not at all is relatively unimportant. What is more important by far is the fact that he knows that about life which can never be taught by books. He knows that he can't expect to loaf and not be a loafer. That he can't expect to lie and not be a liar. That he can't expect to thief and not be a thief. That he can't expect to drink to excess and not be a drunkard.

And he knows, above all, that neither God nor anyone else is ever going to step in and for his especial benefit set aside and nullify the cause that follows after effect.—Daily Northwestern.

One thought suggests itself when consideration is taken of the decline of popularity in the colleges. For the past decade hardly a periodical has appeared without some diatribe against the wretched undergraduate or the educational system to which he has been subjected. The impression has been given that no one knew what they wanted and that theories of education were involved in a state of flux. Can it be that these onslaughts are at last having their deadly effect? Perhaps the people have decided that if there is anything at all in what our thinkers tell us, there can certainly be nothing at all in college for youth but coonskin coats, contamination, and wasted days. It is hardly any wonder that enthusiasm for the cap and gown should be dampened slightly, not to say drenched, under the streams of condemnation that have gushed from pen and pulpit. If this be the case, and we may be allowed to change our metaphor, it proves beyond all doubt that the reliability so long placed upon ill winds is justified.—Yale Daily News.

Referring to the remark of the Oxford don who defined education as "what remains behind when you have forgotten all that you have learned," President Hibben said: "What is it that remains behind? A mind, a tempered and skilled instrument of realizing the processes of the will, a depository of ideas gained from study, contemplation and experience, a creative power to make possible the things regarded as impossible, surmounting obstacles that are regarded as unsurmountable, a creative power, a discerning faculty separating the essentions from the unessentials in a mass of confused and chaotic facts, penetrating to the heart of a subject in any new and unfamiliar situation, a mind that is the enemy of sophistries, of loose thinking and of hasty and ungrounded generalizations. This is what remains, this is the product of education,—man 'noble in reason and infinite in faculties.'"

* * * * *

The high-lights of education come with truant reading. I like to toy with the idea of the mind as a roast that is cooked slowly and methodically in the oven of school. With the bestowing of a degree, the roast is presumably done. It has cooked long enough. It is ready to be served.

But it hasn't been spiced! It is edible, yes, but it isn't tempting. It needs the salt and pepper and cloves and paprika that come with wide reading. Facts aren't enough. One wants to adorn his mind with opinion and satire and whimsy and tragedy and beauty.

Reading doesn't replace living. Of course not. But it makes life vastly richer.—L. M. R., in The Daily Maroon, Chicago.

President Emeritus Thompson of Ohio tells a story about a student who was taking an exam. He couldn't answer the last question. He thought that the professor was a pretty good friend of his, so he wrote, "Only God could answer that question. Merry Christmas." The professor wrote back, "God gets a hundred; you get zero. Happy New Year."

Practice Teacher: "Now, James, name America's greatest general."
James (son of broker): "General Motors."

Judge Knott was asked which of two stunning girls at a dinner party he considered the prettier. "I'm no judge of paintings," he replied.

"Kay, is there any connecting link between the animal and vegetable kingdom?" asked the teacher.
"Yes, ma'am," answered Kay. "Hash."

Frances Berg: "What shall we sing for an encore?"

George Berg: "Sing the same thing; no one will recognize it."

Marie T.: "Yes, my brother was killed by a revolving crane."

Alec: "My, what fierce birds you have in America!"

Kindy: "Did they offer anything on your old car?"

Bob: "Sure did. They took one look and offered up a prayer."

COURTESY AND MODESTY OF THE OLD SOUTH

"Whose adorning let it not be that outward adornment, of plaiting the hair, and of wearing of gold, and of putting on of apparel; but let it be the hidden man of the heart, in that which is not corruptible, even the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price." (1 Peter 3:3-4.)

The Old South has long since been dead, and only a faint memory of it now remains in the minds of men. There are among us just a few old men and women who lived in it, suffered for it and still intensely love it. But they are fast passing on, and in a few years none will be left to revere it.

The world would be infinitely better off and life would be sweeter and happier if some of the things that lived in the Old South would never die. It had many high and holy customs in the daily life of its children, but its chief glory was the gentle courtesy of its men and the sweet modesty of its women.

Its men each day were gentlemen in the noblest sense, and its women each day were modest in the holiest sense. Reverence for sacred things, respect for age, polished urbanity of manner, sweetness of temper, and deep, abiding pure homage for women were the ineffaceable qualities of the minds and hearts of the men of those days, and the women in the finest and holiest sense, were worthy of the men. They held in their characters, and deep in their souls, that sweet modesty which is the ineffable glory of the pure woman. The brazen look, the painted face, the indecent dress were as impossible for the women of the Old South as they are for the angels.

They ought to be impossible among us today. Somebody ought to teach our young women about the finer and happier things of life they are missing. Immodesty in the woman will always attract the eyes of the man, as it always has, in all the history of the world, but it never has and never will attract his heart. It may obtain his attention, but it never obtains his respect. The woman who is immodest places an impassable gulf between herself and the respect and affections of a real gentleman.

God has linked courtesy and modesty together just as he has linked the destiny of the man and the women together. When modesty dies, courtesy dies also.

There ought to be preached in the pulpits and taught in the schools and above all, lived in the homes a revival of the old-fashioned courtesy and modesty of the Old South. If our boys are not to be courteous any more, and our girls are not to be modest any more, then most of the hope and the happiness of life are gone.—The Covington (Tenn.) Leader.

Calvert (over the phone): "Is this you, dearie?"

Opal Kuns: "Yes, who is this?"

"Say, what ails him?"
"He's all right, Sam. He's just a little playful but he won't bite—"

Who won't bite? Why, Lolly, of course. Come to the senior play on Friday evening, May 2nd, and note the carnivorous tendencies of the redoubtable Muggs.

"Suppose the gang could see us now—wid our milk an' jam."

A SPRING TRAGEDY

I woke to look upon a face
Silent, white and cold.
Oh, friends, the agony I felt
Never can be told.
We'd lived together but a year—
Too soon, it seemed to me,
Those silent hands, outstretched and still
That toiled so much for me.
My wakening thoughts have been
of one
Who now to sleep had dropped.
Oh, friends, 'twas hard to realize
My dollar watch had stopped.

STUDENT SOCIAL LIFE

Surprise Shower Given Miss Margaret Price

Saturday evening a delightful surprise was given Miss Margaret Price when she arrived with a merry group of girls at the home of Miss Viola Smith for the second course of what had started to be a progressive party.

Viola Smith, Catherine Crist and Ruby Saylor were hostesses at a shower featuring yellow glassware in honor of Margaret Price, who will be among the June brides this year.

A large party had gathered at the Smith home, which was decorated to carry out the umbrella theme in a yellow color scheme. The beautiful presents were removed from the delicate wrapping by the guest of honor and then a mock wedding took place.

A solo, "Just Before the Battle, Mother," was sung by Mary Saylor, and the bridal party came in the strains of "Marching Through Georgia." Viola Smith represented Margaret and Mabel Eisenbise Harry Blickenstaff, the bridegroom to be. The ring bearer, Esther Dickey, bore a turquoise bracelet on the cushion of an automobile driver's seat, and the flower girl, Edith Murrey, strewed carrots and onions in the path of the procession.

The bride was given away by the father (Ruby Saylor), and the ceremony was performed by the minister (Catherine Crist). At the close, a duet was sung by Gladys Ikenberry and Mina Throne, "Those Wedding Bells Are Ringing Out That Old Gang o' Mine."

The party then proceeded to the Price home where Margaret revealed the treasures of a cedar chest, and then returned to be served refreshments of angel food cake with lavender frosting and frozen fruit salad. The favors were in harmony with the umbrella motif.

The party had been cleverly planned as a progressive kind, of which the first course was served at the Price's, and the honoree suspected nothing of its true nature.

A kitchen pump, an old stone well, kettles upon kettles of marmalade, money by the roll which seems to be continually missing, pawn-shop tags, rows upon rows of second hand articles, a doll, a frontporch, a cellar door,—in short, three complete sets for the senior play which will be given on Friday evening, May 2nd.

Waiter: "Wasn't your egg cooked long enough, sir?"

Cecil H.: "Yes, but it wasn't cooked soon enough."

RAMONA PAGEANT AT HEMET NEXT WEEK

Anticipating the largest attendance in the history of the Ramona pageant, the management of this spectacular outdoor play at Hemet has this year increased the seating capacity of the Ramona Bowl to 6000. Advance indications are for a total attendance of more than 30,000 at the six performances this season. The play will be given Saturday and Sunday afternoons, April 26-27, May 3-4, and May 10-11, at 3 o'clock.

The Ramona Bowl, situated in the foothills south of Hemet, has come to be recognized as California's finest amphitheater. Persons who have attended the play in previous years will note many improvements in the bowl this season. A new road has been constructed leading to a second entrance; additional drinking fountains have been placed in the aisles; $2500 more has been expended on new concrete seats and no money has been spared to provide for the comfort of patrons.

La Verne Alumna Becomes Bride

Another alumna of LaVerne College entered the state of matrimony last Thursday evening, April 17, when Miss Lois Ruth Miller became the bride of Harold Dixon of Kingsburg.

The double ring ceremony was performed in the First Methodist Church at Kingsburg by Rev. Isaac Funderburg, assisted by the pastor of the church. The bride was accompanied by Miss Miriam Shirk as maid of honor and the bridegroom was attended by his brother.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of champagne chiffon and carried a shower bouquet of pink rosebuds and baby-breath. The bridesmaid wore pink taffeta and carried a bouquet of baby roses, baby-breath and maidenhair fern.

After the wedding about eighty guests adjourned to the Miller home where refreshments of ice cream with pink whipped cream and cake were served. The bride's cake was baked in four tiers by Mrs. Mae Miller, mother of the bride.

The young couple went for a short honeymoon in the mountains near Huntington Lake. They will make their home in Kingsburg, where the bride is teaching school and the bridegroom is working in a chain store grocery in that city.

Those who attended the wedding from LaVerne were Genevieve Page, Miriam Shirk, Olive Bohn, Ethel Drescher and Irene Shock.

A group of LaVerne students and alumni were visitors to Catalina Island, crossing the channel one day and returning the next afternoon. Among those enjoying the excursion were: Margaret Kelly, Genevieve Page, Ruth Price, Gladys Ikenberry, Mildred Thompson, Aileen and Ruth Rothrock, Edith Brydon, Margaret Price, Mina Shirk, Grace and Viola Smith, Grace Shaw, Mina Throne, Mary and Ruby Saylor.

Miss Virginia Dull attended the Easter musical Sunday evening at the Long Beach Brethren church.

Dortha Gans, Lucile Forney, Harry Thomas and Joe Cosner were among those who went to Mount Rubidoux for Easter sunrise services.

Wilma Long spent Sunday at the home of Ralph Fesler.

Glenna Betz was a dinner guest at the home of Ethel Drescher Sunday.

Ruth Gregory and Mary Throne spent Sunday morning at Venice and Santa Monica. In the afternoon they went to San Gabriel to see the Mission Play.

Dalzie Wimer, Mildred Smith and Vernon Weybright spent the week-end in Fresno where they were guests at the wedding of Dalzie's brother.

Ample parking space is provided within a few steps of the seating section.

The Ramona pageant will be performed this season by a cast of more than 200 characters. The principals are drawn from the legitimate stage and from motion pictures. Dorise Schukow will play in the title role for the seventh season and Herbert Keyes will appear as her ill-fated lover, Alessandro, for the second time.

The people of Hemet and San Jacinto are making elaborate plans for the entertainment of visitors during the pageant season. Ticket reservations are being made at the office of the Ramona Pageant Association in Hemet. Those desiring reserved seats are advised to make application immediately.

Alumni Notes

Glenn Kreps spent his Easter vacation visiting in various places, including several days with his cousin, John Brooks, at Delano.

Cathryn and Aileen Rothrock spent the Easter vacation in LaVerne. Also Mina Shirk of Victorville. Cathryn teaches school at Temple, near Los Angeles, and Aileen in the San Bernardino schools.

Ralph Shrock of Azusa played a saxophone solo in the Church of the Brethren Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. David Brubaker (Mary Blickenstaff) and Mrs. Chester Peters (Edith Blickenstaff) made a trip to Imperial Valley and Old Mexico last week with Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Blickenstaff.

Miss Clovie Carroll of Brea spent the Easter vacation in LaVerne.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bohn of El Monte and Miss Mina Shirk of Victorville were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Shirk Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Root and little son visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Beckner, last week.

A picnic dinner in honor of Mrs. Howard Beckner and her little niece, Norma Newcomer's birthday was held in LaVerne city park Sunday.

Mrs. Harry Yochem has organized a ukulele club in Brawley which has appeared in public a number of times. Her husband helped with "gym" night at Brawley high school Friday evening, therefore they could not spend last week-end in LaVerne.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Kindy were visitors over the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Forney.

DORM NEWS

Many students visited residents of Miller Hall last week. They were Edith Flora, Edna Langstaff, Mary and Bertha Thomas, Vera Mae Shaffer, Eula Gross, Hazel Funk, Clovie Carroll, Eva Johnson, Dudley Soper, Helen Grisette and Phoebe Titus.

Iva Livingston saved her ditches and spent the past week at her home near Fresno.

Lucille Hylton and Harriet Hoke went to Hollywood last week-end and attended the sunrise services at Hollywood Bowl.

Esther Statler stayed in Los Angeles; Opal Kuns went home with Eleanor Shepp to Pasadena; Ruth Bibbel, Meryle Thomason, Edith Coffman and Bernice Conley also returned home for the week-end.

Vesta Bowers left LaVerne College permanently last Saturday morning, when she returned to her home in Fresno. Vesta quit college because of ill health.

Volunteer Notes

There was no regular meeting of the Student Volunteers last week, it having been called off for the services at the church. It was necessary, however, to hold a short business session Wednesday morning at 10:25.

Some tentative change in the constitution pertaining to finances and associate membership were reported upon by the committee appointed to formulate them. These were approved by the group and will be presented at the business meeting Wednesday evening which will replace the regular meeting. Election of officers for the coming year will take place at that time.

It was also voted to send a floral wreath to the funeral of Norma Lick's father in Covina.

Who turned to the right in the senior play? That's the secret that will hold your interest on Friday evening, May 2nd, at the production of the drama, "Turn to the Right," by the senior class of LaVerne College.

THE IMMANENT ONE

A fire mist and a planet,
A crystal and a cell,
A jelly-fish and a saurian
And caves where cave men dwell;
Then a sense of law and beauty,
And a face turned from the clod—
Some call it evolution,
And others call it God.

A haze in the far horizon,
The infinite, tender sky,
The ripe, rich tint of the cornfields,
And the wild geese sailing high—
And all over upland and lowland
The charm of the goldenrod—
Some of us call it Autumn,
And others call it God.

Like tides on a crescent sea beach
When the moon is low and thin,
Into our hearts high yearnings
Come welling and surging in—
Come from the mystic ocean,
Whose rim no foot has trod—
Some of us call it Longing,
And others call it God.

A picket, frozen on duty—
A mother starved for the brood—
Socrates drinking the hemlock,
And Jesus on the rood;

Leopards Lose Tilt to Redlands Horsehiders

Blowing up on the field at various times and inability to get men on base around the bags, the LaVerne pastimers lost a 7-0 shout-out to the Redlands horsehiders at Redlands Monday afternoon. This was the second conference game, the first being lost to Oxy by a score of 5-1.

The locals made six hits to the Bulldogs nine, but those nine hits usually meant runs, and the Leopard runners were left on bases.

Thomason was on the mound for LaVerne and pitched spasmodic, ally and allowing Redlands unearned runs. Tommy struck out nine men to twelve for the Redlands hurler.

The slump in batting was continued by the locals and two hits were made in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings. Outside of these stanzas, the Leopards were powerless with the willow.

Redlands got the first run in the second inning, scored two in the fourth, one in the seventh and two in the eighth.

The inexperience of the LaVerne outfit was quite evident and is the only excuse for the poor showing in Monday's game. It is hoped that in at least one game the locals will have a good day at the plate. Until then it is useless to expect a win.

The LaVerne line-up:

Hubbell, c.f., Thomas 1b., Thomason, p., Weybright c., Daugherty 3b., Ferree, r.f., Kindy, s.s., Heiser 2b., Brubaker 2b., Deal l.f., Brubaker l.f.

Prof. Haugh: "Are you tired? Your breath seems to come in short pants today."

Geneva S.: "No, not my breath, Prof., my heart comes in short pants."

Evelyn D.: "What are you doing, Geneva, robbing the cradle?"

Willie Eikenberry: "By George, that's what I call rubbing it in."
Eddie Click: "What do you mean?"

Willie: "I sent this magazine two poems and they sent me back three."

Ted H.: "I can write all I know about those chapters in about five minutes."

Prof. Jamison: "Well, I can grade what you write in less time than that."

Mrs. Daugherty: "I'll never forget the night you proposed to me. You acted like a perfect fool."

Paul D.: "That wasn't acting; it was the real thing."

Conference Notes

In nosing out Pomona by 8 points Oxy took the all-conference track and field meet at Claremont last Saturday with a grand total of 55½ digits to 47 1-3 by Pomona, followed by San Diego with 30 1-3, Whittier 18, Redlands 13, Caltech 11 5-6. LaVerne did not enter in any of the events.

Records were shattered in the 100 yard dash, 220, shot put, discus, javelin, broad jump and records were tied in the high hurdles and pole vault.

The frosh meet was held on Friday. Pomona yearlings won the contest, as 14 Oxy digits were discounted by the ruling of an entrant ineligible. Rabun of Redlands copied 26½ points. None of the entrants from LaVerne placed.

Oxy won another championship Saturday by winning the tennis match with Pomona, 8-1.

Tennis

Two tennis matches are on the bill for this week. The Redlands contest which was postponed last Saturday on account of Ike Funk's twisted ankle will be run off this Thursday. On Saturday afternoon the local racqueteers have a match with Cal Tech.

The Leopard chances in these two tilts are favorable for victories. The Tech match will complete the conference net schedule.

THE FLIGHT OF YOUTH

There are gains for all our losses,
But there are calms for all our pain:
But when youth, the dream, departs,
It takes something from our hearts,
And it never comes again.

We are stronger, and are better,
Under manhood's sterner reign:
Still we feel that something sweet
Followed youth, with flying feet,
And will never come again.

Something beautiful is vanished,
And we sigh for it in vain:
We behold it everywhere,
On the earth and in the air,
But it never comes again.
—Richard Henry Storrard.

Paul D.: "Men are more valuable than women."

Pearl N.: "What utter nonsense!"

Paul: "It's a fact. Every man has his price, but brides are given away."

Prof. Haug: "What has eight legs and sings?"

Frosh Quartet: "Two frogs? Horse? Fleas? Spiders? Bees?"

Prof. H.: "No, a quartet!"

Leopards Play Conference Tilt With Poets

Next Saturday afternoon the Leopard horsehiders meet the Whittier nine in what appears to be the toughest game of the entire season. The Poets have a hard-hitting ball club and have bowled over all opposition except Cal-Christian and have won two conference games. Oxy was the first victim by a score of 5-0. Last Saturday a 12-4 decision was copped from Cal Tech.

The Leopards have not played a consistent brand of ball to date. When the squad has a good day at the plate they blow up in the field. When they play air-tight ball in the field, the hits are few and far between. From all indications the Leopards are due for a walloping.

English Club Meets

The English Club met at 10:25 on Wednesday morning for their regular meeting which was presided over by the president, Catherine Crist.

The first item of interest on the program was the reading of the fourth chapter of the novel on which the members of the club have been at work for some time. The fifth chapter, which is to be ready very soon, is to be the work of Louise Griset.

A play entitled "Ha, Ha, Tabu" was very interesting as read by Carolyn Nunn.

The regular time for club meetings has now been changed to the 10:25 period on Wednesday mornings. A very interesting meeting is anticipated for April 23, when Mrs. Merritt will be the speaker.

A creditable original Easter service written by a LaVerne student and a faculty member was given Sunday evening at the Holt Avenue Methodist church in Pomona. Miss Vera Hoover composed the music and words of the songs and Miss Carolyn Nunn worked out the plot and wrote the story. The service was about a half hour in time length and was much enjoyed by an appreciative audience.

Faculty News

President Studebaker reports a most profitable visit last week at the Secondary School Principals' convention in San Diego. Of special significance to our own college was the permanent establishment of the Western Association of Secondary Schools. LaVerne is one of the 169 member schools. The Association is modeled after the New England organization in that its purpose is one of mutual benefit thru discussion and recommendation. Dr. E. C. Moore of U. C. L. A. is president and A. J. Cloud assistant superintendent of San Francisco schools, is secretary.

President Studebaker will speak to the seniors of Chino high school tomorrow. Friday night he will serve as one of the judges at the semi-final oratorical contest on the Constitution, being sponsored by the Los Angeles Times. The Long Beach Polytechnic High School is the place of the contest.

The following faculty members with the families spent a pleasant afternoon at the faculty cabin in San Dimas Canyon last Sunday: Professors Brubaker, Jamison, Brandt, Harper Frantz, and Coach Van Cleave.
