LEOPARDS BATTLE SAGEHENS SATURDAY

Coach Eisan to Address Varsity Club at Saturday Banquet

Contest to Decide Second Place Honors

There have been battles for a long time, but the battle of the centuries has not been pulled off yet, for it will be fought in the local basketorium next Saturday night at 8:00 p. m., when Pomona and LaVerne meet in the final cage game of the season.

This tilt is more than an ordinary game since it is the deciding factor of second place and is the grudge contest between the two institutions of Pomona Valley.

For the past two years LaVerne has copped by close margins. Last year the score was 48 to 40 and the year before 33-32 in an extra period game. The Leopards are out to retain the supremacy and the Sagehens want revenge.

Even though LaVerne has a more impressive record the Pomona outfit is stronger at the present time. The Leopards have not shown much of their stuff in their last four games. The second tilt with San Diego is the best game they have played for some time. At Santa Barbara last week the locals were lost most of the two games and were lucky to win both of them. Of course the team played under more or less abnormal conditions, using a renovated motion picture studio as a basket ball pavilion. If the Leopards play the kind of basket ball they have played they will take the struggle after a hard fought battle.

Pomona has improved as the season has worn on. Their easy games were played at the first of the schedule and they have shown up better in every game. LaVerne has a little better offensive record than the Sagehens with a defensive count about even. Man for man the two quintets would rate about even with Pomona having a little more reserve strength.

Comparative scores mean little or nothing in basket ball, the same as in any other sport. Both teams have lost two games, Pomona to Redlands and Oxy, and LaVerne

LV. Negative Team Loses First Debate

Tuesday evening, LaVerne's negative debate team, composed of Orlin Vaniman and Ed Cunningham, journeyed to Southwestern University in Los Angeles, where they had their first debate of the season.

Although LaVerne's team put up a brave fight, Southwestern's team, composed of Mr. Meckler and Mr. Chapman, won by a 3-0 decision.

LaVerne's team did very well, although the decision was against them. This was Mr. Vaniman's first debate, and if he keeps on in the manner in which he is going, he will make a very fine debater. Mr. Cunningham is more experienced, having debated last year. He also is to be commended for his good work in this debate.

Lambda Staff Sponsors Musical Program

The Aeolian Quartet, the Sunshine Quartet, and the Honolulu Serenaders will be featured on a program to be given by the Lambda on Tuesday evening, March 4, at 8:00 p. m.

The Aeolian Quartet is well known in Southern California, and especially in its home town of LaVerne. They will join the Sunshine Quartet in some chorus numbers as well as presenting some quartet numbers.

The Honolulu Serenaders are a group of radio concert artists who will give an instrumental variety to the evening's program. Their softly played native melodies are bringing for them the applause of all who hear them. They are led by Frank Suzano, a real artist on the steel guitar. For more than ten years he has been touring North America from Alaska to Mexico City and from San Francisco to Chicago. He has organized the Serenaders recently and has chosen his assistants wisely. At the present time they can play nearly two hundred songs from memory. Three of the group play guitars and the fourth a ukulele. They double on banjos and mandolins.

As an added feature it is planned to present a piano quartet composed of Esther Thomason, Edna Brubaker, Daniel Stover and Vernon Heckman.

Baron de Constant Speaks in Chapel

Thursday morning the assembly was greatly favored by having Baron D'Ertournelle de Constant speak on "The French Novel and Its Influence on World Peace." The speaker is the head of the French department at Claremont.

Baron de Constant opened his talk by saying that the present day French novel exhibits two extreme tendencies in describing the World War. One type boosts the war and makes it seem wonderful and profitable. He gave an interesting example of this type of novel. The other type pictures the depression of war, but this is not a true portrait, because depression does not always dominate. One day would be hell and the next day just ordinary. Perhaps the poor soldier would receive a letter from home, all full of hope, calling him a hero. Perhaps the soldier would receive a notice permitting eight days furlough. Then what joy. It would seem eight days of heaven. But just before the end of the furlough would come a memory of the war again with all its horror and monotony. The true conditions were much worse than despair. It is "the change from despair to joy, and joy to monotony and monotony to sleep."

The speaker urged his audience not to be led to one extreme or the other. The great danger of war is the fact that one can so readily adapt himself to the conditions of war. It takes such a short while to make bomb-throwing, the firing

Affirmative Debaters Add to Reputation

Friday night was the third debate for LaVerne's affirmative team last week. The Lawyers' negative team, composed of Joe Orloff and William Katz, met the Ministers' team, Messrs. Faw and Calvert, in the college auditorium.

The question, "Resolved, that all nations should immediately and completely disarm," was well presented in this debate. Southwestern's men had very good delivery, and seemed perfectly at home on the stage. But in spite of this, the usual calm, forceful delivery of the LaVerne team was impressive, if not more so, than the Lawyers'.

This was one of the best debates of the season. It seemed almost a toss-up as to which side should win. However, the decision was two to one in favor of LaVerne.

Judges of the debate were: Earl Thompson, Claremont; John W. Loucks, Pomona, and J. P. Dickey, LaVerne. Ed Cunningham presided as chairman.

The affirmative team has been undefeated so far this year, and LaVerne should be very proud of them. They are doing splendid work, and they should be supported more than they are.

Miss Muir Pictures Scenes of Scotland

A recent letter from Miss Muir to one of the students contained interesting news and sidelights which all will be glad to read. Following are extracts from the letter.

"I liked our exam very much. It consisted chiefly in 'spotting' passages from the Anglo-Saxon Chronicle which we studied in the tutorial. There were a few general questions, too. The tutorial is much like a section meeting except that it seems to be more independent of the lectures. Another teacher has it in charge and we studied in detail some of the points or topics which were just touched upon in the lectures, e. g., The Chronicle, Scottish History, etc.

The class is quite heterogeneous in character, but of course the Scottish students are dominant and from what I see of them I like them very much. The boys are frank and genuine enough in spite of their sophistication and the girls are very friendly.

The last few days we have had quite a bit of ice. I like these wintry days, but I do not think they will last long. Already there are signs of spring. We have on the table a most lovely bunch of daffodils and lavender tulips. The tulips are Dutch, I suppose. They have them in the most unusual shades—apricot, pale pink and this lovely lavender,—quite unlike any I've ever seen at home. You would be surprised at the number of florist shops. The windows make a bright splash on the streets these dull, rainy days.

The streets are always interest-

Varsity Club to Hold Guest Night Banquet

The Leopard Varsity Club, which is now composed of seventy-seven members, will hold its fourth meeting of the year next Saturday, March 1, at 5 o'clock in the basement of the M. E. church. The meeting of the banquet will be of the banquet type with speakers and music provided. Jokes will not be allowed this time, as Orville Brooks might be present again. The Varsity Club men are all bringing guests from the different high schools and junior colleges in the district, whom they would like to see become students in their Alma Mater.

The main feature of the evening will be the presence of Lee Eisan, the new Leopard coach, who takes up his duties here in September. He will make a short address during the program and all varsity club members should make it a point to be present in order to get acquainted with him.

After the banquet the members and their guests plan to attend the last basket ball game of the season, which is to be played on the home floor against Pomona. The winner of this game will stand second to Redlands in the conference. A rooting section of the members and their guests is being planned for by the ex-yell king of LaVerne, Francis Crites.

"PICK THE SAGEHENS," says the Varsity Club.

Student Group Enjoy Home Talent Program

The Student Volunteers spent an unusually interesting hour in their meeting last Thursday evening, which was held at the home of Vera Hoover.

Mary Hollinger led the devotions. A vocal duet was rendered by Mary Platt and Evelyn Dearnorff. Announcements of interest concerned the Redlands Retreat, a coming visit of the traveling secretary of the S. California Movement; the Spring Volunteer Conference to be held at Occidental March 14, 15, 16, the plays which are now both ready to go out; and a tentatively planned visit from Bro. Helser in September. The treasurers' report indicated a balance on hand of more than $130, which is encouraging for the putting across of the project.

The meeting proper took the form of a discussion on various phases of and problems confronting the missionary movement today. These were introduced by Chester Flory, Dortha Gans and Ellen Edmister in a frank and open way and from different viewpoints, giving all some vital food for thought.

The problems of a church in China and what its type should be, also the best type of missionary, were discussed by Mr. Flory. Liv-

Beach Party

Another yearly event has just passed—the Washington's Birthday outing. Monday, February 24, as early as 8 o'clock, cars loaded with happy college students found their way to Three Arches Beach. Explorations, sleep, volley ball, baseball, swimming, and lunch, all had a share in the day's program.

About 6 o'clock the juniors made a fire and roasted weiners. The group lined up for the hot dogs and pie which made up the "eats." After a few yells and singing the Alma Mater, the instructions were given to "hit it for home and bed."

CAMPUS CASTES

If colleges and universities are supposed to be the cradles of the country's future leaders, and if customs in the higher institutions of learning are precursors of national habits, then America is headed toward autocracy.

In the colleges of today it is the same as the feudal systems of old—a well regulated caste system with as careful and exacting divisions as the most rigid of ancient ones.

We have royalty—the athletes. They are untouchable in their aloofness from the common herd, the same as the young princes in ancient times who stood in line to take their fathers' crowns when vacated. They are accepted, envied, and above criticism. The king can do no wrong and we have our first division of modern feudalism.

We have nobility—the activity men. They are not of royal blood but they are the controlling element. They run campus activities and are as the lords of old, the ruling class. Theirs is the power and the glory which is almost as untouchable as the athletes' except that the activity men are not born to it.

We have the fashionable gentry—the well-dressed, wealthy student who has but to loll and bask in the reflected light of his father's gold. His is the part of the court retainer, a "yes" man in a sense, but still secure enough in his wealth to be haughty and arrogant, but yet subservient to his lord and master, the activity man.

After this upper stratum of campus society is named, we have but to add the long list of students, grinds, men and women working their way through, and those who do little or nothing. It is sad but true, in our present college feudalism, that this last class named is easily likened to the serfs in medieval times, a necessary part of society and yet unheralded, their work unsung, and their individual existence as unimportant to the whole system as the life of an ancient vassal, but their existence as a body a vital part in our accepted system, collegiate feudalism.

These classes as painted are true to campus life. It is regrettable that such should be the truth. It is as hard to vault from one stratum to another as it was in ancient times; the honest, hard-working, unassuming man is pushed down, stamped out. He has his friends, but they are often of his own "class." His four years of college are soon over and he passes on, never tasting the fruits of the "lord" or sharing the "king's glories."—Michigan State News.

The American college is the great civilizing influence of our national life, the finest flower of our democracy. So long as 300,000 young people enter our colleges every year, 300,000 gathered from hither and yon over this broad land, no caste will ever rise to blight our institutions. Caste cannot harden with a quarter of a million youth each year being fed into society and poking their heads up, many of them from very unprivileged origins. They tell me that the farmer boy who used to be a common sight on our campus is coming to Williams in diminishing numbers. I am not surprised. The farms from which they used to come are almost gone. And for that matter, the farmer's son never did need civilizing so much as the sons of the vast catacombs of our great cities need civilizing. Once Williams picked a boy out of a farm and made a president out of him. Now it becomes the problem, more difficult perhaps, to pick a boy out of the streets of a great city and make a president out of him.—Tyler Dennett, in The Williams Alumni Review.

We wonder why the sea is stronger than the land. Probably because it has more mussels.

Mrs. Miller: "Have you a license on your dog?"

Onie: "Yes, they are all over him."

DISTANT RELATIVES

Frañces Nix: "Have you any distant relatives, Lolly?"

Lolly: "Yes, two brothers who have just graduated from college."

NOT PAINTABLE

"Every girl and woman must rely on her personality eventually, and she can't paint that."—Abe Martin.

Frosh: Short pants, scared looks, pile of books.

Junior: Bunches of girls, pompadour.

Senior: Lofty looks; work no more.

Prof. Jamison: "Why are you wearing that old sweater to supper? Haven't you any shirt?"

Joe Roynon: "Sure, I have lots of shirts, but they are both in the wash."

Nick (to saleslady in the Dollar Store): "I want a pair of pants to wear around the dormitory."

Saleslady: "How large is your dormitory?"

And then the poor old blind man picked up the hammer and saw!

Prof. Jamison: "Who was it that crossed the Alps?"

Ed: "It must have been Luther Burbanks."

"Your grandfather is the cleverest old man I have ever seen. He is full of witty sayings."

"Yes, we call him epigrampa."

"Was Harold's wedding a swell affair?"

"Positively! They used puffed rice!"

Leopards Whiskers

"Dee" Dellenbach

At last week's basket ball game with San Diego an incident of noteworthy importance came up. Our gatekeeper, ticket collector and general bouncer almost kept the LaVerne team from going on the floor because not all of them showed their student body tickets.

This was a noble piece of work as the athletes have such an easy life and should be glad to pay in order to play if necessary. As Van says, we soon shall have to get an affidavit signed by the president, Dr. Hoover and Will Rogers before the players will be allowed to enter the gym.

Of course, LaVerne is too large for the pro's to become acquainted with all the basket ball team.

Sometime I shall found a School for Blind Mice and shall hire college professors to run it—their method of recognition must be the "touch system," as their eyes seem to be of no use.

College blankets are only given to three year letter men, which is well, but—no other athlete can buy one for himself as he is "not allowed." I suggest a change—why not let a fellow buy a blanket if he has gone out for some varsity sport for three years, even if he only makes a letter one year. If the average "sub" doesn't earn that right I am badly mistaken. The big trouble with any rule is that those favored immediately try to raise the restriction beyond reason.

I feel that I have a perfect right to mention this as such a change would not be to my advantage, as I have not gone out for one sport for three years. Let's be decent and give the "scrub" a "break" in payment for his three years of work and make it possible for him to buy a blanket if he wishes.

Now that our "one day" spring vacation is over we can settled down in the old routine. Some of us "old timers" can recall the years when we had spring vacation, though. I suggest to the administration that we have the memories of these old spring vacations incorporated into a tradition.

Possibly we could recall them as a way of fixing time, like the ancient Greeks did the Olympic Games. I almost wish George Washington had been "twins" so we could have two days off.

Dr. Hoover mentioned his aversion to the "little parties" that wander off from the main gang on our "beach day." I would suggest to Professor Hoover that this is a conclusive sign that he is getting old as he has probably forgotten the times when he had that "dynamic urge" to form a small party of his own.

Now that our "flagless" flagpole is out of the street, I suggest that the city place a "buttonless" button in its place and in thus doing be different. In the flagpole's passing we might mention the time that a passing motorist asked one of our confirmed "corner spitters" if this is a national cemetery because of the flagpole at the entrance. I suggest, however, the reply was that we never bury our dead in LaVerne—we let them run the town.

Our famous "French" student was not in chapel to hear his fellow countryman speak the other morning. He came in in time, however, to hear the song, and imagine my embarrassment when he asked me later what the song was. Of course I told him it was "The Watch on the Rhine," so both he and I were satisfied.

FEWER AUTOS STOLEN IN DENVER

Fewer automobiles are stolen and a greater percentage are recovered in Denver, Colorado, than in any city in the country, according to an announcement reaching the Automobile Club of Southern California.

It is said that residents of Denver have been trained to look after their cars and thus are an aid to the authorities in keeping thefts at a low ebb. The following advice which is handed out to Denver citizens may be applied to any locality in the country.

"Lock your car—lock it every every time."

Most of the cars stolen last year were stolen because they were parked unlocked!

Men are more apt to forget to lock their cars than women.

Professional men—and especially doctors—are the worst offenders.

Faculty News

Dean Hoover states that LaVerne College will be host during the spring to the Association of Colleges and Universities in Southern California. Last night a preliminary meeting was held to arrange the program and date. Dr. Hoover is a member of the program committee.

Harrison Frantz is spending a short time in several northern churches to arrange for the coming of certain alumni members with prospective students as guests to the varsity banquet.

Professor and Mrs. Jamison attended the Orange Show at San Bernardino last week.

Friday night Professor Travis made a trip to Mount Wilson Observatory.

Professor Brubaker was one of the judges at Redlands University last week in a debate between Hawaii and Redlands Universities.

Dr. Emmert preached at Santa Ana Sunday morning. Last night he spoke to a Sunday school group in Glendora.

Harrison Frantz stated last Friday the following check-up to date on the campaign fund, as follows:

From Southern District before New Era Banquet	$5,137.00
From Southern District before banquet	2,862.00
From Southern District at banquet	3,396.20
From Northern District at banquet	310.00

Grand total $11,705.20
The campaign for the $16,000 will be kept up until the "old deficit" is wiped out. It is proposed to have a grand celebration when this goal is reached.

President Studebaker speaks tomorrow to the Ontario Lions Club on the subject of "Law and Order."

Mrs. Porter spent Sunday and Monday in Los Angeles visiting her brother.

Miss Lenhardt attended the Iowa picnic in Los Angeles last Saturday.

President Studebaker returned Sunday from his recent trip east, where he attended the directors' meeting of Bethany Bible School in Chicago. Each of the seven Brethren colleges have representatives on this board. All were present except the representative from Bridgewater College. Dr. Studebaker reports the enrollment of Bethany Seminary to be larger than usual, totaling about seventy members.

Y. W. Notes

The organizations of the Girl Reserves for high school and grammar school girls is now well under way. Great interest is being shown in the classes to be started soon under the leadership of college girls with the direction and help of supervisors. Classes in hiking and home-making already have large enrollments and a class in Manners and Morals is to be given, with Rose Dickey as director.

At the general meeting Thursday afternoon the following officers were elected

High School Group

President, Katherine Blickenstaff.

Vice-president, Ila Brownsberger.
Secretary - treasurer, Florence Blickenstaff.

Grammar School

President, Mary Ellen Lapp.
Vice-president, Ruth Walker.
Secretary - treasurer, Norma Newcomer.

This coming Thursday the girls will join in a general good time, the high school group meeting in the social hall, and the grammar school group in the school cafeteria from 5:30 to 7:00 o'clock.

The need for an efficient girls' organization has long been felt in LaVerne, so this project is accomplishing a noteworthy work in the community.

Alumni Notes

Miss Mina Shirk of Victorville spent the week-end in LaVerne.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Funderburgh, little son and his mother spent the week-end visiting friends in Ventura.

Wilbur Hoke of Tustin visited LaVerne friends over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Vaniman and family of Santa Inez spent Friday and Saturday with LaVerne friends. They left here Saturday noon to be home Sunday to help with the Sunday School work there. He is teaching in the high school at that place.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hoover and little daughter of Pomona were dinner guests of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. I. T. Hoover, Sunday.

Miss Ruth Price has been teaching history and arithmetic in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades of the Lincoln school the past few weeks. The regular teacher, Mrs. I. H. Van Cleave being out on account of an operation for appendicitis. Miss Miriam Shirk is teaching Miss Price's fifth grade class in the meantime.

Harold Brownsberger took his grandfather, D. Simmons, and his grandfathers' cousin, Frank Simmons, of Chicago, and his sisters, Ila and Helen Brownsberger, on an extended drive Saturday. They went down around Beverly Hills and Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Dickey of Chino visited the Christian Endeavor Society in LaVerne Sunday evening. Levi gave a talk on the qualifications of a forest ranger.

Zafon Hartman of Ojai was confined to his home in LaVerne last week by an attack of mumps.

Roscoe Hoover recently gave a lecture to the pigeon department of the 4-H Club and took them on a tour of his loft in Pomona.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hanawalt and Prof. and Mrs. B. S. Haugh were in the group who visited the Orange Show at San Bernardino.

Dorm News

Ruth Gibbel, Vivienne Wyne, Frances Sandblom, Edith Coffman, Eleanor Shepp and Louise Grisct spent the week-end at their respective homes.

Neva Snell went with the deputation team to Hermosa beach Sunday.

Bernice Conley attended a party and spent the night with her aunt in Ontario last week.

"Dee" Dellenbach won a malted milk; the bet was whether one-eyed Conley had auburn hair or not.

Louise Huff spent Sunday in Covina.

Bernice Conley went home to a dinner party last week-end.

Ruth Gibbel, Bernice Conley, Merle Thomason and Katherine Hanawalt attended the Orange Show Thursday afternoon.

Even the strictest rules and regulations cannot prevent dormitories from having their peculiarities. Now Miller Hall, though it has no mascot at present, does have its rarities. It has a "Willie," or perhaps it is the "willies" with a "Brownie" around. There is a "Pesta" playing around the "Ivy," and a "Seal" slipping after the "Peanut," which is something "Bernie," but even at that, everything will probably come out "O. K."

There is a certain student attending LaVerne College who for the past two years has been greatly interested in Professor Brubaker's neckties. She has spent many periods supposedly looking at the professor, but in reality wondering whether he or his wife chose them. She likes his taste and would probably feel much better if she knew who chose them.

Personals

Visiting days for the teachers of Lincoln and Palomares schools have given opportunity for a number of student teachers to test their theories and abilities. Marie Tingle recently substituted in the first grade, Ellen Edmister in the kindergarten, Mary Platt in the second, and Iva Livingston in the third grade at Palomares school. Friday Opal Hull had charge of Miss Page's fourth grade at Lincoln school and Ruth Dickey taught the second grade.

Miss Verna Cooney was a visitor at college last Thursday. She is caring for an invalid woman at Claremont this winter.

Dortha Gans and Geneva Suttle spent the week-end at Inglewood.

Pearl Niswander spent most of the week-end visiting old friends in Hermosa.

Myrtice Butterbaugh entertained at a dinner Tuesday evening, Feb. 18, the members and advisors of the college Y. W. C. A., of which she is president. Those present were: Virginia Dull, Ruth Dickey, Esther Dickey, LaVonne Putnam, Margaret Price, Katherine Hanawalt, Lucile Forney, Verna Sheets, Mary Platt, Mrs. George King and Mrs. Jesse Brandt. Mrs. Ray Culen sent regrets.

Molly Warrington and Edith Roberts spent the week-end at the home of Molly's brother.

Doris Yoder, Irene Mishler and Edith Murray were hostesses Wednesday evening at a kitchen shower for Esther Kreps. The I. D. Yoder home was the scene of the party. Many useful gifts were presented to the bride-to-be and a lively time enjoyed by all. A buggy ride on the part of six girls furnished additional fun to them as well as amusement to various townspeople who heard the "one hoss shay" creak down the streets at a late hour. Those present at the shower besides the hostesses were Eleanor Brooks, Ruth Dickey, Edna Brubaker, Mytice Butterbaugh, Martha Baer, Kathleen Shaffer, Josie Maust, Esther Dickey, Esther, Alice, Eunice and Mrs. Kreps, Mrs. Mishler and Mrs. Murray.

Myrtice B.: "Why are you so nervous?"

Pilot: "We have lost both wings!"

Myrtice: "Never mind; we'll get new ones when we land."

Alex: "Did you hear about the woman who had three children, but when she return home she had six?"

Chuck M.: "No, Alex. How come?"

Alex: "Well, while she was away the children ate a lot of green apples and doubled up."

San Bernardino county has gone on record for the removal of undesirable signs along county highways, it is stated in advices reaching the Automobile Club of Southern California. This expression followed a strong appeal made to the board of supervisors by a large delegation of women.

The county is prohibiting placing signboards on right-of-ways, one supervisor said, and suggested the women wage their campaign for sign removal by refusing to buy articles advertised on billboards.

Small fruit stand, hot-dog stand, and filling station signs along the highways will be ordered out, the supervisors declared.

Miller Hall has within its halls a long freak, in fact a most unusual freak—one of these "onion eating cheese hounds," you know. It is the longer part of room 23.

Lambda Staff

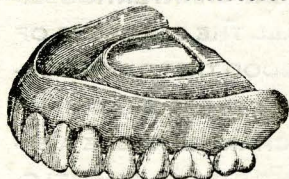

Presents 'Othello'

The motion picture version of one of Shakespeare's most famous tragedies, "Othello," was presented at the college auditorium on Tuesday evening by the Lambda staff. Those who attended were rather disappointed in the production. This feeling was probably due to the depressing atmosphere created by the sad story.

There was a prologue of a half hour's length presented just before the picture was shown. The entertainer of this period was Wilbur Evans, a baitone of the Chicago Light Opera Company. His numbers were mostly light and humorous selections except the last one, which was an operatic number. The audience was also favored by a couple of piano solos executed by Mr. Evans' accompanist.

IT IS TO LAUGH

The other day Harold Stern sauntered into the store and with an expression of utter innocence inquired, "Hey, have you any stationery envelopes?"

LEOPARDS TRAVEL TO SANTA BARBARA FOR NON-CONFERENCE GAMES

Although they played far below par, the Leopard basketball team copped two wild and wooly non-conference games from the Santa Barbara State cagers in the semi-windup of the 1930 hoop season last Friday and Saturday.

The score of the first game was 46-29. In the initial half the Leopards had some difficulty getting accustomed to their unusual surroundings and officiating, and were leading only by a 17-15 count when the half ended.

A walk-away for the LaVerne quintet ensued in the second with a decisive margin separating the Leopards and Roadrunners. The LaVerne offense was functioning hot and sank a number of long shots.

Thomason was high point man for LaVerne with a total of 18, followed by Stutzman with 12, Weybright 10, and Hubbell 6.

Barnett, State forward, was leading scorer for the Channel City team with 11 points.

Both teams made it tough for the standing guards in this tilt as Nicolas left the game in the first half with four personal fouls and Thomas made three during the remainder of the game. Trumbull and Foss, Santa Barbara guards, went out on four personals.

The line-up:

LaVerne (46)	Santa Barbara (29)
Weybright (10) F	(11) Barnett
Kindy F	(4) Williams
Stutzman (12) F	(9) Clemore
Thomason (18) C	(2) Denno
Hubbell (6) G	(2) Foss
Nicolas G	Trumbull
Thomas G	Imes

Leopards Win by a Small Margin

In the Saturday night game with Santa Barbara State the Leopards were more or less dead on their feet but nevertheless copped by a 33-31 count to take the entire series. This contest was nip and tuck all the way with LaVerne in the lead by only a couple of points. The locals did not sink the long shots with the same precision as in the previous game and made the outcome a question mark.

The main difficulty in the defensive seemed to be in the inability of the Leopards to get the tip-off from center. The elongated pivot man of the State quintet had the locals baffled when it came to breaking up his play.

Stutzman was high scorer of the LaVerne squad with a total of 12 points, followed by Weybright with 11 and Thomason with 8. Three went out of this game on personal fouls, Thomason of LaVerne, and Clemore and Trumbull of Santa Barbara.

The line-up:

LaVerne (33)	Santa Barbara (31)
Weybright (11) F	Barnett
Stutzman (12) F	Clemore
Thomason (8) C	Denno
Kindy C	Williams
Hubbell (2) G	Trumbull
Nicolas G	Foss

Score by Halves

LaVerne	17	16—33
Santa Barbara	15	16—31

CONFERENCE NOTES

Redlands took an easy game from Caltech 40-11. Pomona did not have any tea party with Oxy and copped by a 27-25 count. Whittier divided a two-game series with San Diego, the Poets winning the first 26-20, and the Aztecs the other, 33-20. Earlier in the week Oxy won from Caltech 50-38.

Next Saturdays' games mark the close of the 1930 cage season. Redlands has already won the championship and will take on the Aztecs at Redlands this week. There is a plenty hot fight for second place with Pomona and LaVerne furnishing the fireworks. The other game is between Whittier and Oxy. The Poets pulled an upset and got the first game, and will be favored to repeat.

Practice Debate Held with U. S. C.

A practice debate was held in the college auditorium Wednesday night when LaVerne's affirmative team, Chalmer Faw and Everett Calvert, met U. S. C.'s negative team, Mr. Robinson and Mr. Mitler.

At the request of U. S. C. there were no judges. It would have been very interesting to have had judges, because it was a very close argument. It was hard to make a guess at who really won. U. S. C. brought out some very good points in their part.

LaVerne's men delivered their arguments in their usual calm, forceful style, characteristic of them.

Both teams did exceptionally well, as was shown by the interest of the audience.

Orlin Vaniman acted as chairman.

ing to me. While it is true that the majority of people appear very much as they do at home, one sees more of both extremes. For instance, on a Sunday afternoon you will see many a gentleman all toggled out with silk hat and cane. On the other hand you will also see some people in the most impossible looking clothes, old shawls, shoes, etc. The other day I saw a rather old woman carrying a huge sack of wood on her back. I doubt whether one would find anything like that at home. Sometime before we leave we are going to take a trip up in the Highlands where the people are much more representative of the old life. I want to see more of rural Scotland."

Miss Muir's address is still 29 Warrender Park Road, Edinburgh, Scotland. "It is mighty pleasant to be remembered by one's students," she says. Perhaps a number will act on the suggestion.

Pomona Game

dropped two to Redlands. Pomona lost to the Bulldogs by 11 points and to Oxy by 8 points. LaVerne played Redlands to extremely close games losing an extra five-minute session 11-7, and a 26-21 count in the second meeting. The Sagehens came back last Saturday and won a close decision from Oxy 27-25. LaVerne triumphed over Oxy 31-24.

LaVerne has another advantage in playing on the home court. The squad plays its best game at home and with the most intensive practices of the entire year this week the team should round into shape for the greatest struggle of the season.

It is useless to tell everyone to come out to the game for they will be there anyway and if you want to see the game from a standpoint of vantage, be there early. Frosh pre-lim at 7:00.

her church, were some of the ideas brought up. These of course may be applied to any field.

Denominationalism was reviewed briefly by Miss Gans. It is one of the most serious problems on the mission field. Whether our ordinances, which are a means of grace in our own lives, should be forced upon those to whom they come unnaturally, was the dominant note here.

Miss Edmister presented the true purpose of missions as we see it in the gospel of Christ. How would Christ have adapted his gospel principles to the eastern civilization so that it might not offend?

Limited time prevented any open forum at this meeting, but it was voted to carry this over two weeks hence, at which meeting it is hoped some definite conclusions may be reached.

ing on the level of the Chinese, self-support for Chinese churches, and the use of Chinese symbols for of cannons, and other methods of war, seem the natural thing to do. Baron de Constant stated that our worst enemy to world peace is the memory of war, for there are men today to whom those war days were golden days.

In closing, the speaker urged the assembly to face the facts and thus see the truth of war and peace.

A quartet composed of George Berg, Ed Cunningham, Esther Dickey and Myrtice Butterbaugh sang the "Marsellaise," the assembly standing during the song.

The talk by Baron de Constant was extremely interesting and greatly enjoyed by both faculty and students.

A little freckled face, puny child was sitting on the curb crying. A sympathetic lady went up to him and said, "Whazza maddy wid e little boy?"

He answered: "If you are inquiring as to the cause of my lachrymose condition, it is because I have been unable to find any suitable intelligent playmates whose hygienic constitutions are in harmony with my pathological tendencies and whose hereditary affiliations meet with the approval of my parental relations since I came to this plebeian town from Boston."

Associated Students Hold Short Program

Glenn Harmon officiated Friday morning at the assembly in place of the president, who was gone to Santa Barbara to play in the games. He had prepared a short program which was presented to an appreciative audience. Frances Berg and Martha Baer headed the list of numbers with a vocal duet. Myrtice Butterbaugh rendered two vocal the first of which was "Sleepy Hollow Tune."

An abundance of advice was handed out on the wholesale plan by Hazel Barnhart to girls who are man-hunting. In addition she named a list of possibilities which included men in all the classes and one member of the faculty.

The program ended with a solo sung by Lois Rupert.
