CAMPUS TIMES

Vol. 28 No. 22 La Verne College May 7, 1936

Tradition Day Planned...

A sunburned back, a red nose--but still everyone is always anxious to go to the beach on Beach Day. As you are well aware, the "Day of Days" will be this Friday, May 8 at Three Arches, about three miles beyond Lagune Beach. We are fortunate in getting a private beach for our fun and capers, and a cabin has been obtained for our further comfort.

Everyone has to bring his own lunch, but in the evening the Associated Students will furnish the meal with the Juniors in charge. Following dinner, pick a cozy spot around the campfire and enjoy a program sponsored by the sophomore class.

With soft wind against our face and a pale moon surrounded by glittering stars overhead, we must leave the happy campfire and wend our way home with a song in our hearts -The End of a Perfect Day.

(cont. on p. 8)

FESTIVAL IS A SUCCESS

Due to the utmost cooperation of the students in the Frosh class, and to the loyal support of the entire student body and townspeople, the May Festival was a huge success. The crowd thoroughly enjoyed the lovely ceremony of the coronation of the May Queen, Lucille Packard, who was as regal as she was beautiful. She was attended by Clella Brubaker and Mary Shick.

Approximately eighty dollars were the total receipts, with a net profit of fifteen dollars to the Frosh class.

The gaily decorated booths, stage and walls of the gym made the scene a riot of color. Ten school organizations sponsored booths which offered prizes.

The program included music by Rube Callison, the Cecilian Quartette, the girls chorus, a boy's dancing chorus, Lucille Packard in a Spanish dance, and two excellent tumbling acts.

(cont. on p. 12)

CAMPUS TIMES STAFF
EDITOR. . .Ralph Smeltzer
Assoc. Ed. .F. Kutchback
Feature Ed. V. Massey
V. Watson, C. Dutcher
Sports. . .Wallace Raley
B. Crawford, C. Miller
News Editor. .Phyllis Koch
Jessie Iles, M. Blocher,
Norlyn Dull, Marie Rowland
Society Editor. .M. McHenry
Literary Eds. .R. Stortz,
M. Grant
Art Editors. . D. Head
H. Michael
Proof Reader. . E. Meyers
Business Secretaries. .
E. Garner, V. Elmes
M. Shick, V. Saul
Office Assistant. D. Mahoney
Faculty Advisor. Miss Cline

A GOOD IDEA MAKES AN UNTIMELY PAUSE

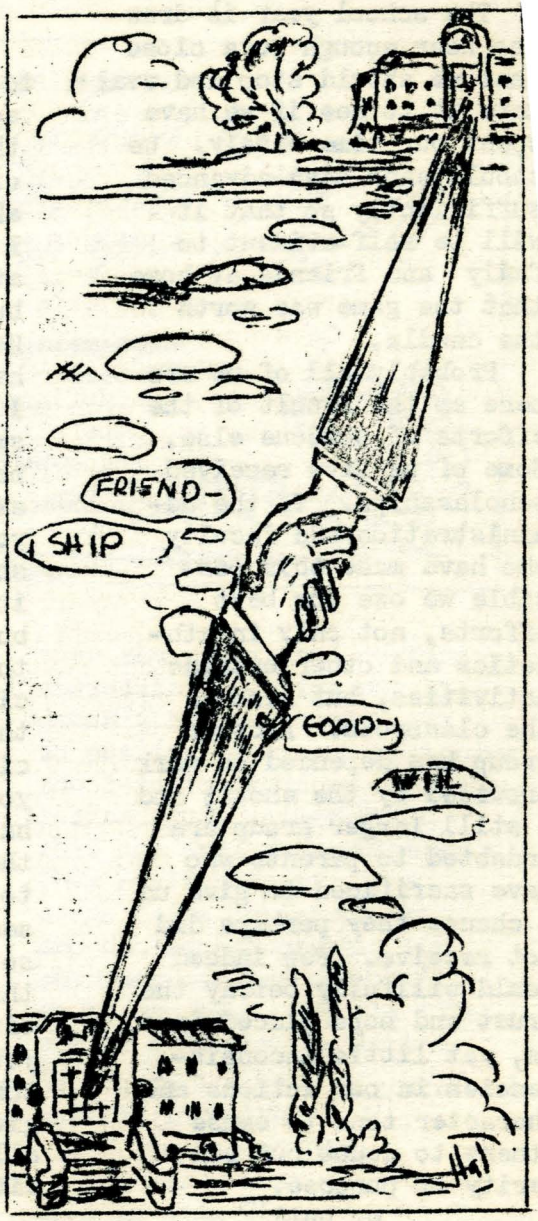

The other day I was just sitting, trying to imitate the statue of "The Thinker" when all of a sudden an idea really did jump into my head. It surprised me so much, however, that I almost forgot it. Why in the world doesn't La Verne College have an exchange student plan with the other Church of the Brethren Colleges.

Do you know how many Colleges the Brethren denomination sponsors? just eight. They are Mc Pherson, North Manchester, Juniata, Bethany Elizabethtown, Bridgewater, Blue Ridge, and La Verne I won't attempt to tell you in what States all are located, but I didn't know until a short time ageo that the Church ofthe Brethren owned such colleges as Elizabethtown and Blue Ridge. Of course I had heard of Bridgewater, because that is the institution from which Miss Cline "hailed from" last year. I found, in talking to various students on the Camps that a great many of them had also been ignorant of these afore mentioned Colleges.

Well, here's the idea: why not have an exchange student plan withsome of these schools? The very fact that some of us have never heard of these church colleges is enoughreamon to show that there is neither a unity or fellowship between church collges. After mustering up sufficien courage, I entered Frexy's office and presented him with the idea. He looked upon the suggestion favorably, restating the opinion that he thought there should be more contact between the students and faculties of the various schools and that he was willing at any (cont.next page) time to compare LaVerne with any of the other denomination's colleges. He further was of the opinion that it would do some of the people in the East good to come out here and observe the customs, dress, and ideas of LaVerne students. Dr. Studebaker described Bridgewater and Elizabeth town as being "Chaperonish" while Juniata was "dignified"; the boys never thinking of wearing cords to school, and North Manchester, as being "less open and less Frank" than the Pacific Coasters.

Next the idea wended its way to Prof. Brandt, the head of the Scholarship Committee, who favored such a plan but ended immediate progress of the plan for next year because the scholarship budget has already been set for next year. President Studebaker advises that the new Commission pass upon the measure if it approves of the proposition, and send favorable letters to the Student Body presidents of these church colleges, who it is hoped will like the idea and influence popular opinion for it, thus causing, at least in two or three of the schools, the presidents and trustees to set up exchange scholarships for the following year. ---The Editor.

BEYOND THE HORIZON

The school year is drawing near enough to a close that we should stop and evaluate it to see if we have spent our time wisely. We should each have advanced sufficiently so that it will be self-evident to family and friends at home that the game was worth the candle.

Probably all of us are here as the result of the efforts of someone else. Some of us have received scholarships. To the administration and faculty who have made this possible we owe our best efforts, not only in athletics and other outside activities, but also in the classroom. Another group has depended on work provided by the shool; and a still larger group are indebted to parents who have sacrificed to give us a chance they perhaps did not receive. Few indeed would willfully betray the trust and hope placed in us, yet little inconsistencies in our actions and character tend to cause others to doubt our sincerity of purpose.

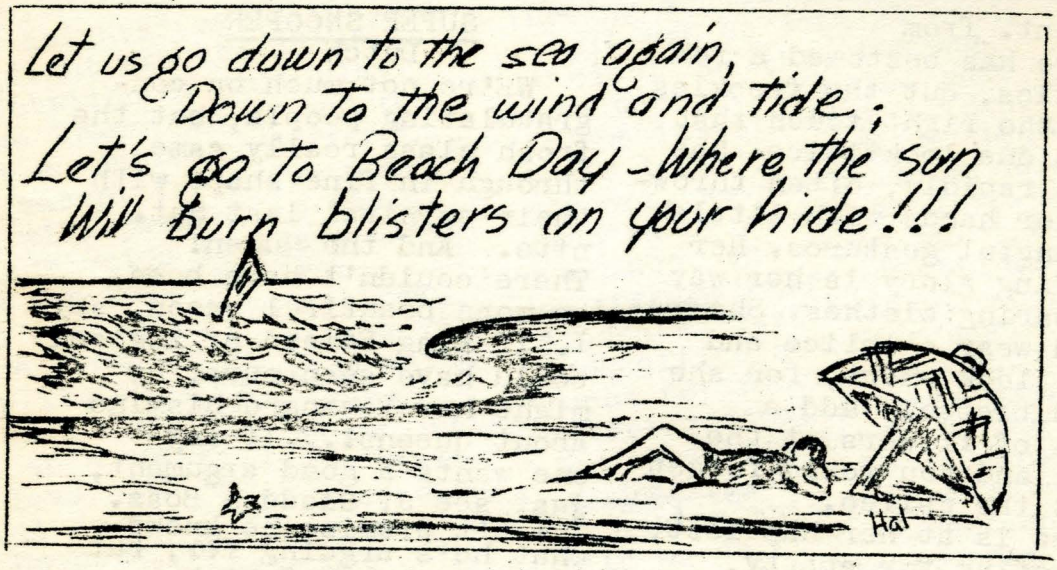

N. Dull

(cont. on p.11)

Feature Editorial.

"Ah, it seems wonderful to be in his dear hall again. You can't imagine the thrill I got when one of your dear professors asked me to speak to you. I get a thrill at looking at so much youth all at once, but I'll come to that later. How well I remember how I hated dry chapel speakers ! I even used to hope they would swallow a fly as they opened their cavernous mouths, and expounded upon the burdens of youth. Ah, fellow students, I shall not bore you, but I feel it my duty to show you the burdens and great decisions that rest upon you. You are the citizens of tomorrow. I'm sure that the idea that you are the citizens of tomorrow is new to you. I'm sure no other speaker has presented it to you. And that reminds me--are we allowed to tell stories to you? I can see you smile in anticipation, so I will. Let me close with this thought, that you are the citizens of tomorrow and upon you rests the decisions of tomorrow. I'm sure I have given you this thought and so allow me to close, my dear citizens of tomorrow.

(cont. on p. 5)

FEATURE EDITORIAL

And so we have successfully sat thru one more speech and have added a little more stiffening to our backbones.

Guess Who---

Freshman Girl

One glimpse of her face shows determination and executive ability. Her jaw fairly radiates executiveness. She is tall with naturally curly hair, and under the right circumstances, and in the right place and time, she looks like Elissa Landi. Her voice goes with her tallness and is deep and husky when she sings, and we find ourselves wondering why she doesn't sing oftener. She is pretty, too. And no wonder she gets things done, for the fellows just naturally do what she says on committees. They can't help it. She seems to be conscious that she can manage people, but she does not let this fact go to her head. By the time she is a Senior, we expect her to be a molder of public opinion in La Verne.

Sophomore Girl

She has a nose that turns up a la Ella Cinders.

(cont. next page)

(Cont. from
Nature has bestowed a few freckles, but the freckles give the right touch that makes one look twice. She talks rapidly, often throwing her hands with little meaningful gestures. Her crowning glory is her way of wearing clothes. She could wear a calico and still look smart, for she would probably add a bunch of flowers at the neck, and you would forget about the calico.

She is at her happiest, decorating for aparty, Give her a ballon, and 6 feet of serpentine, and she makes a party. Though her feet are on the ground scholastically, she is a bit of a socialite, and after all, who would know how to act in this world if the girls didn't show us how. We can easily see her as a hostess on an ocean liner. She is sweet in her manner and quietly says "hello" to all she meets. We like her now, but we would like to know her better.----

Guess Who of April 23:
Junior Girl--Doris Beckner
Faculty Member-Dr. Christ
Last Weeks GuessWho:
Senior Girl--Mrs. Arkle
Soph Boy--Babe Eisan

SUPER SNOOPER

Dutch

WE're not much on congratulating people, but the frosh class really came through in fine shape with their carnival last Sat. nite. And the Queen! There couldn't have been a more beautiful queen, says I. If King Edward of England could have seen ours, he might have changrd hismind about queens!...If anyone wants a good argument, just see J. Gladden Boaz. I won't promise he knows what he's arguing for, but he can argue. Just be careful!...I was reminded the other day of a lovable couple that attended our fair institution first semester by Cliff and Mugs. By the by, Koch and Hornbaker aren't doing so badly either. Don't they sort of remind you of Jack andMarj?..I heard a couple of Junior girls say "The Frosh Carnival was just a hangover from their ambitious high school days. " I'm not taking anybody's side on the question but it's too bad more of us don't have the same kind of hangovers...From what I gather, some students are quite privileged when it comes to obtaining part

(Cont. page 7)

SECOND PERFORMANCE OF PLAY

Did you know "Here come Three Knights" again tomight? Last night was the first presentation of this play by the Drama Class, and tonight an entirely different cast except for a few members will present it again. The admission is 15¢ a ticket or 2 for 25¢. The curtain rises at 8.15 o'clock.

The story deals with a very complicated situtation which arieses when three young men at a sorority dance, fall in love with the same beautiful co-ed. The three wish to be near her, so they go to her home and bribe the servants to leave, taking their places as chauffeur, butler, andgardener. This unusual play ends when the girls says "Yes" but to a most unusually lucky man.

SUPER SNOOPER

Of their sutdent job checks; others hardly get to see them. It's none of my business, but fairness should reign...The city park, the pretty moonlight, the beautiful sunny days, and the L.V.C! So this is Love! Lovers seem to go hand in hand, or something, but remember Jack and Jill went up the hill--so what? . . .Take it and like it! If you can. . . .

ASSOC. STUDENT OFFICERS INSTALLED

It seems queer how much fussing and stewing around people can do when it comes to election time, but woe unto them, they never show up at the installation to prove their loyalty and give their support. Never-the-less, undaunted by such a meager attendance, the newly appointed commissioners of the Assoc. Students, last Friday, dormally took office and expressed their hopes for future support. The retiring commissioners expressed their gratitude to the students for their cooperation in making this year a success. With words of encouragement and congratulations, they in turn presented their successors to the audeience. The plans for action for the academic year-1936-37 were told by the new officers, and they were heartily backed up by the audience. During this week the retiring commission members received the shield of La Verne pins honoring them for their services.

May 9 Set for Oratorical

Keiser Oratorical Contest will be held May 12; all who desire may enter this contest by making arrangements with Mr. La Follette, May 9.

Y.W.C.A. PLANS BANQUET

The Y.W. organization has had a most successful year in its endeavors and soon a new group of women will assume the duties of leadership. The installation of officers will be held within the next few weeks. At that time, Helen Brownsberger will assume the duties of presiding officer which is being passed down to her by her sister Ila; Helen, or "Little" Brownie, will in turn have installed chosen people to form her cabinet. This new cabinet will colaborate with the present one in planning the Mother-Daughter banquet, an annual affair to be held later in the year.

QUILL AND SCROLL TO MEET

Quill and Scroll will meet at its regular time, Thurs. May 7, 4:15 in the Y.W. room. Very important financial situations will be discussed as will the activity on the Club Magazine. Every member is urged to be present.

BEACH DAY

To miss this day you will miss the opportunity of cherishing one of the happiest memories of your college. Bring a date, a smile, a camera, and a playful mood and have fun together at Beach Day.

CALENDAR

May, 7
Drama Class Play
May 8
Beach Day
May 10
Choral Union Program at Pomona
May 12
Travis organ recital
Ch. of the Brethren 8:15
May 13
Y.W. Installation
May 15
Scout Circus on Arnett Field, 8:00
May 16
Jr. Sponsoring a motion picture, 8:00
May 20
Frosh Barbeque, 4:15
May 21
W.A.A. Banquet
May 22
Fr.-Sr.-Banquet
Y.W. Meeting

Sandwiches - 15¢

Hamburgers - 10¢

HYLTON'S CAFE

Dr. Freeman Speaks

Dr. Luther Freeman, of Pomona, gave a very interesting chapel address last Thursday. This was also the opening session of the Institute of Family Relations. Mr. Freeman discussed the problem of establishing a home and the relative importance of this in every ones life. It is the most difficult, delicate, and definite problem that there is. He said the thing we are all after, whether we realize it or not, is a home, family, and a place in the community. It is impossible to have a perfectly good man in a bad world, but the relationship of the family to the community makes the community what it ought to be which will in turn make a better man.

CONFERENCE A SUCCESS

If attendance means anything, the Conference sponsored by the Institute of Family Relations in our college auditorium and classrooms last week was a success. More than that, though, the interest and enthusiasm which was shown at the round-table discussions proves further the success of such an or-or and also shows the need of such discussions more often.

Interesting and noted authorities were the speakers at the meetings. Dr. Popenoe of Los Angeles, Director of the Institute, was the main speaker at the evening lecture preceding the round-table discussions which were held in various rooms. Student interest and participation was very good and the directors of the meeting felt their time had been worthwhile.

W.A.A. COMMENTS

The girls are in their second round of tennis and are really playing some good games. Let's all watch the tournament racket on the bulletin board and see who earns the tennis medal. By the way, girls !!!This medal will be awarded at the W.A.A. banquet May 21.

****

Are you a base-ball fan? Come out on Tuesdays at 4:15 and see the two Brownies pitch, Margaret Grant catch, and all the home runs Marjorie Miller makes. Lordsburg can boast of some wondrful baseball players and they may be seen in action every week on the athletic field.

A social gathering was sponsored by the Washington Club in Pomona at the Recreational hall Thursday night.

An orchestra was furnished by the P.W.A. for those who cared to dance. Schuffle board, pingpon, and box hockey were also played by the guests.

Many students from La Verne visited the club and enjoyed the evening.

***** *****

Bertha Thomas, crowned with a wreath of sweet peas and fern, ruled as May Queen over the dorm meeting Monday night. Besides electing a girl who was noted for her culture, generosity, helpfulness, cheerfulness, and charm for their May Queen, the girls revealed themselves to their mystery friends by giving presents to the friend. Many clever ways were used to let themselves be known.

Tea and crackers were served after the meeting at which Marjorie Lindquist presided.

Announcement of the next meeting two weeks from Mon. was made at which the election of officers for next year will be held.

****

Ellwood Johnson, Howard visited paradise Sunday night, when they ate at the Merry-Go-Round Cafe in Pasadena. Deserts were their weakness.

****

Mary Lou Jackson and Bob Fischer, accompanied by friends, toured the beaches along the coast Sunday afternoon.

The foursome spent most of their time at Balboa and Long Beach where they visited the pike and had dinner.

****

The Recital of the A Cappella choir of Chaffey J.C. at the first Christian Church in Los Angeles, Sun. evening was attended by several LaVerne students. They were Barbara Juckett, Mary Ellen Lapp, Mary Blocher, and Cletus Holmes.

This extremely talented group of the J.C. will sing Sunday evening at the Brethren Church of LaVerne.

****

Dives and duckings were participated in Wed. night, Apr. 29 when members of the swimming class invited friends to a party in the Y.M.C.A. pool at Pomona.

After swimming for an hour the group played croquet and ping-pong at the Y and then went to Clella Brubaker's sister's home where [illegible] made candy.

The party consisted of Frances Kutchback, Bob Willman, Clella Brubaker, Bernard Finch, Esther Myers, Clement Lapp, Margaret Grant and Cliff Frantz.

- - - - - - - -

A picnic lunch was taken to San Dimas park where Mrs. Juckett entertained a group of friends, Sunday.

Alice Gans, former student of La Verne, her sister Mary, Laura Cheesman, and Barbara Juckett were the guests.

- - - - - - - - - - -

Lucille Packard and Mildred McHenry entertained Friday night with a tea in their room, in celebration of Mildred's birthday.

Vivien Saul, Mary Heffner, Opal Burnett, Margaret Grant, Dorothy Head, and Kay Greenawalt were guests.

Dorothy Head entertained the girls by telling fortunes by the tea leaves.

TEXECO SERVICE

FIRECHIEF GASOLINE

HAVOLINE MOTOR OIL

L. R. Jones--Prop.

Jim Cranford--Sub.

Where's George?

Gone to

EWART'S

George hasn't really left our little Nell; he just heard of the big buy in Polo Shirts down at Ewart's Pomona

WHERE DO THE GOOD

GROCERIES

&

TENDER MEATS

COME FROM?

"BOB" AND "JOHN"

AT

THE BOBETERIA

cont. from p. 1

Grand prizes were awarded to Virginia Heckman, Lucille Packard, Pat Packard, Dawn Hornbaker, Mildred Holl, Cletus Holmes, Mary Gans, Barbara Juckette, Janet Brink, Mrs. Stutsman, Catherine Miller, and Mrs. McClellan.

NIGHT WIND

The night wind whispers
a song to me,
As it rushes past my door-
A lilting melody that flees,
And visits me no more.

It fills my heart with a haunting strain,
That will not let me go.
It stirs me with its trilling notes,
A song I do not know.

It goes and leaves me
lonely,
For what I could not hold,
For the wind snatched it away again,
My song of songs untold.
---M. Grant.

"The Scroll", a collection of original poems, short stories, and essays, will soon be published by the Quill and Scroll Club. Turn in your contributions to

CHEER LEADER STYLES

Cheer!. . . you style enthusiasts. .Cheer! . . You fashion followers. . for the style-leading, smart-looking CHEER LEADER styles are here. They're chockfull of color. . crammed full of style! We suggest a speedy trip to our clothing department!

$20.00 to $35.00

John P. Evans

"Style Headquarters"

269 W. 2nd Pomona