"DAD" ELLIOTT IS GREAT INFLUENCE ON CAMPUS Dramatic Oratorio Staged Monday, Tuesday; Bible Institute Now On

"David and Goliath" to be Given in High School Auditorium Feb. 2 and 3

Dr. Kurtz and President Studebaker Among Speakers at Bible Institute

Professors B. S. and Laura Haugh Perfecting Original Production

The dramatic oratorio, "David and Goliath," to be staged in the Santa Union high school auditorium on February 2 and 3, will be Successful because of the united efforts of Profs. B. S. and Laura E. Haugh and Ralph Travis. The first act of this production was written by Prof. B. S. Haugh in 1921 as a requirement for his Bachelor of Music degree. Prof. Haugh is the author of the entire musical composition which is of a sparkling, colorful, brilliant quality. The words were written, selected, and arranged by him.

The cantata has been dramatized by Mrs. Haugh, Prof. of Speech who has had years of experience. The dramatization has been planned in the most minute detail with the idea of making the costumes, sets, jewelry, musical instruments, and instruments of warfare historically correct.

There have been several improvements made over last year's performance. Mr. Kavanaugh and son of the Broadway Costuming Company of Los Angeles are bending every effort toward making the costumes more beautiful and elaborate, thus making the production as a whole a more complete success.

"This is the end," cried the basketball player, as the gun went off.

Big Attendance Expected Throughout Institute Week

The annual Bible Institute opened with a large attendance Thursday evening at the new Brethren church with President E. M. Studebaker's address, and will continue until the New Era Banquet Thursday evening, Feb. 5 in Fellowship Hall.

Featuring the speakers of the Institute are Dr. D. W. Kurtz at 10:25 each morning except Sunday and President E. M. Studebaker at 11:05 (also each morning except Sunday) on the study of Job. Dr. K. A. Sarafian will speak Monday at 1:55 p. m. and A. U. Michelson, also a noted speaker, will deliver an address Friday evening at 8:15.

Musical preludes in charge of Profs. B. S. and Laura E. Haugh, will precede the evening addresses Friday and Wednesday of next week.

Complete programs will be posted on the bulletin boards and will be available in the Business Manager's office for your convenience.

LEOPARDS HOSTS TO BULLDOGS

Revamped Varsity Ready for Redlands Invaders

Snell Likely to Start Game; Frosh Play Preliminary at 7:00 p. m.

This Saturday evening, Jan 31, the athletic forces that be at LaVerne College in the form of the varsity and Frosh basketball clubs will meet the Redlands teams in a return engagement in the local pavilion, the first game starting at 7:00 p. m.

Since the last Redlands encounter which ended in defeat, the Leopard varsity has taken on a different outlook, and the "Five Horsemen" no longer exist as a casaba team. Snell, an up and coming sophomore, has won his way to the first team. This forces Weybright back to the running guard position and either Nicolas or Hubbell must warm the bench. The change has strengthened the team considerably, as Snell is a better man on offense, and Weybright ventures forth with a long shot once in a while or rushes into the offense himself.

The probable starting line-up of the varsity is Stutzman and Snell, forwards; Thomason, center; and Weybright and Hubbell, guards.

The Kittens who have suffered from ineligibility rules will also see some changes in the starting line-up and should win their return

CALENDAR

Wednesday—Basketball ball game here.

"Dad" Elliot with Y. M. C. A., Y. W., and Student Volunteers.

Thursday—Bible Institute opens.

Friday—Bible Institute.

Saturday—Everybody out to the game with Redlands! Let's beat 'em this time!

Sunday—Apollos at Pomona Presbyterian church, 7:00 p. m.

STUDENT LEADERS HOSTS TO "DAD" AT LUNCHEON

Pres. Dale Stutzman Toastmaster; Aeolian Quartet Furnishes Music

"Dad" Elliott was the speaker at a luncheon Wednesday noon at the Chocolate Tavern. This luncheon was held for the leaders of the school, including the commissioners, president of the various campus organizations, classes, captains of athletic teams, several faculty members and others interested.

The Aeolian Quartet furnished music during the meal and just before "Dad's" talk.

"Dad's" talk was very interesting and helpful. He presented and discussed many of the individual, group, and campus problems facing the youth day. He dealt very efficiently with many problems common on our own campus. Also, he made clear to the group some of the channels through which various problems present themselves. Likewise, "Dad" told some ways by which students can tackle problems.

Every leader present was made to feel a certain responsibility in meeting important situations and solving big questions.

Those present at the luncheon comprised a fair representation of the student body, and they are making plans to discuss many of the problems which exist on our own campus.

It is really felt that some valuable results will come from "Dad" Elliott's visit to the campus, and from the intense interest and consideration of common problems by the leaders of the school. Co-operation and interest of all students, however, are needed for the most wished for outcome.

The alumni and others who wish to see "David and Goliath" and are unable to attend it on the regular nights of the performances, are invited to attend the Sunday afternoon performance at 2:30 o'clock. The admission fee will be just the same—50 cents.

game. Stutzman hasn't been going so hot at center and Davis is ineligible. From this and this week's practice sessions, it looks like Montgomery and Brooks will start as forwards; A. Calvert at center, and G. Weybright and Sweihart, guards

Men's Debate Team Nearing Top Form

Open Conference Season Against Redlands Here Thurs. Nite Feb. 4

With the conference schedule close at hand, the varsity debaters are bending every effort to turn out as successful a team as that which tied with Redlands for conference championship last year. With all four "gavemen" back and two promising new men, LaVerne is out for a good record.

The first two conference debates which occur next week, are to be away from home. Wednesday, Feb. 4, LaVerne's negative team meets Cal Christian's affirmative at Cal Christian. Then the following evening, Feb. 5, LaVerne's affirmative team upholds its reputation against Redlands on the latter's platform. Cal Christian is a new member of the conference, but is expected to turn out a very strong team, judging from their forensic activities of past years. Redlands, of course, is always among the best in the conference, and will put LaVerne's affirmative team to the acid test. The personnel of the negative team has not been decided as yet, but it is probable that Cunningham and Vaniman will take their traditional positions on this team. The Faw-Calvert combination of last year's reputation will be used for the affirmative side of the question.

At the Redlands debate, LaVerne will secure the conference debating cup for the coming semester as a reward for tying for championship honors last year. This cup will be on display at various times throughout the semester.

Due to many conflicts with other important activities, times for workouts have been very difficult to arrange, but with the able coaching of Prof. Brubaker and a fine determination on the part of the men, LaVerne should make a good showing this year.

The men do, however, need the hearty backing of the entire student body, and any form of constructive criticism or personal encouragement will be greatly appreciated by them. Remember, they are fighting for the honor of old L. V. C., just as surely as are the athletic teams. Let's get behind them.

Honored Visitor Stirs Up Interest in Student Problems

Athletes, Student Leaders, and Community also Benefit by Visit

"Dad" Elliott Speaks at Chapel Period Wed.

In Wednesday's chapel hour "Dad" told the students how to change attitudes both personal and general which do not reach up to their ideals. The way to change things is to change them, and not merely to readjust.

Take the stand that you will uphold what has been proven beneficial to the species when universally practiced and oppose that which has been proven injurious to the species when universally practiced.

Can you do this entirely on your own initiative and will power or do you need help? The first step is to put yourself with those who are seeking to become. When you do this, you will have put some things out of your life.

The latter brings up a new problem: that of adjusting your loyalties.

Some of you are placing your loyalties in a group within the school instead of in the school itself. You have your loyalties all "balled up." You get your primary loyalties in secondary places and secondary loyalties in primary places.

You may say, "But I shall be unhappy and lonely in taking such an attitude." You have to suffer to attain great things. Adjusting your loyalties cannot be done by outside influence, but from within yourself.

NEW ERA BANQUET FEBRUARY 5

Annual Event to be Held in Fellowship Hall at 4th and E Streets

The Rev. John Snape, Main Speaker: Dr. D. Welty Lefever, Toastmaster

"Help the Banquet" and "A Greater LaVerne College" are the slogans which are being broadcast in every direction by the workers of the New Era Banquet project which will reach its climax on February 5, 1931, at 7 p. m. The banquet is to be set up in Fellowship Hall, on the corner of Fourth and E streets.

Rev. John Snape, pastor of the Temple Baptist Church in Los Angeles (Continued on Page Three)

Hugh Landram Aids "Dad" During Two Day Visit

"Dad" Elliott, the national secretary of the Y. M. C. A. and a friend and advisor of all young people, made his debut in LaVerne College on Tuesday at the chapel hour, when he began a series of four lectures which ended with a big mass meeting at the Church the Brethren on Wednesday evening.

"Dad's" forewarning to the students was that they should not accept everything he said as gospel truth, but that his intention was to wake them up and start the thinking.

"Dad" says that the hardest part of coming to a new place is getting started, so he broke the ice by telling the story of a bishop who went to lecture in a southern university. He had already lectured so much that he was tired of hearing his own voice. He said just one thing: "Only eight of you are going to make your mark in the world," and sat down. But these few words made an impression on that group which was felt for a generation afterwards, because everyone strove to be one of the eight. According to the observation that out of a hundred really successful the bishop's statement was true since he was talking to an audience of 800 people.

"Dad" made a local application of this fact by saying, "According to this position there are only ten in this audience who will make mark in the world. It lies in the individual, however, and there may as well be ninety as two."

The direction of life or attitude are generally set by the time the student goes to college, and when is more, they remain set. The conclusion drawn from these statements was: "What you are for you are now becoming. Don't fool yourself by thinking that you can play with life during school and later straighten up. I don't blame you as much as I do us elders. We have not always been the best persons."

"There are hypocrites who pretend to be far worse than they are and think that if they are to be a man on the campus they must be a little tough."

This type forgets that "Strength is as the strength of his life is pure."

"Your attitude in regard to the matters is a tremendous factor determining what you are going to be."

ARE GRADES A "NECESSARY" EVIL

There is no doubt about the present grade system being one of the most corrupt, unfair, inaccurate, unscientific phases of the present educational system. It would be a very stupid person indeed that couldn't see the unfairness and worthlessness of a great many grades so recently issued by our own beloved institution and also the abject unfairness to many students of said grades. Perhaps, it would be very interesting to student readers if the value of grades were taken up a little more in detail, the many methods by which professors measure student achievement, their connection to final examinations, etc. So here goes!

Several professors in LaVerne grade solely on facial expressions during the semester and a final examination. A few have a so-called point system. Several take class recitation and discussions into consideration. A few check up on daily preparation. One or two try to grade on the extent to which the student has made the principles of the course a part of his own thinking. Several grade almost entirely on promptness in this, that, and the other thing. Some have a form made up of certain prescribed work and if the student conforms, O. K. Several grade on the ability of the student to absorb his, the professor's, own personal ideas and attitudes in a final examination. A few teachers give objective tests once in a while really to find out what the student knows about his field. One or two grade on the capacity of the individual to spend a few minutes daily in copying phrases and turning it in as an outline. A couple grade on your ability to closely "follow the leader" in class recitations. Several grade partially on their own personal estimate of the student. A few unconsciously seem to show a little partiality to one sex or the other. And some teachers actually try to grade on the amount of knowledge assimilated and correlated in the student's mind during a semester's work.

The essence of the review of these different methods is this—that every teacher, the same as his or her students, is human and grades from the standpoint he thinks is best (which depends on his own background and personal experiences, which vary with every teacher to all types of means and extremes). It must be added that teachers realize many of these things and dislike giving grades as much as students dislike having to work for them.

The first pillar in the policy of the Campus Times is: "THE ABOLITION OF THE PRESENT GRADE SYSTEM AND A SYSTEM OF 'SATISFACTORY' AND 'UNSATISFACTORY' PUT IN ITS PLACE."

(Watch for a sequel to this editorial next week.)

Campus Chuckles

Prof. Cullen (in Sociology): "Elvin, why are you and Melvin always late?"
Elvin Wilson: "Well, you see, class always starts before we get here."

"My soul is scorched," the young man cried, as he drew his foot from the fire.

Prof. Brandt (in Physics): "What makes the sun rise?"
Alfred Adams: "Usually the alarm clock."

Russell Frantz: "You know, lots of girls in this school don't want to get married."

Doyle Montz: "How do you know?"
Russell F.: "I asked them."

Prof. Brandt (in Physics): "It is the law of gravity that keeps us on this earth."

George Weybright: "Please, teacher, how did we stick on before the law was passed?"

Mother: "Who taught you to use that dreadful word?"
Bernice Conley: "Santa Claus."
Mother: "Santa Claus?"
Bernice: "Yes, mother, when he fell over the chair in my bedroom Christmas eve."

Edith Coffman: "How do you like my new hat?"
Opal Kuns: "Fine, but doesn't it fatigue your cartilaginous tissues?"
Edith C.: "Don't it what?"
Opal: "Don't your ears get tired?"

"Ike" Funk: "When do you do your hardest work?"
Jerry Deal: "Before breakfast always."
"Ike" Funk: "What do you do?"
Jerry Deal: "I try to get out of bed."

Royal Glick: "Will you marry me?"
Hazel Barnhart: "You! Why, you could not keep me in handkerchiefs."
Royal Glick: "Say, your're not going to have a cold all your life, are you?"

Elwyn Boly: "That book you recommended seemed to me frightfully dull; I thought you said it had a naughty problem in it?"

Prof. Brubaker: "Naughty, my young friend! I didn't say naughty—I said knotty problem."

Ruth Rothrock: "I heard you used to go on whaling trips when you were a boy. How romantic!"
"Red" Montgomery: "Yep! I certainly did, many a time. Out to the woodshed with father."

Joe Pratt: "How long does it take to learn skating?"
Instructor: "Only nine sittings."

Fred Mahoney: "Will you contribute $10 for a just cause?"
Dale Stutzman: "What just cause?"
Fred M.: "Just 'cause I'm broke."

Lawyer—And just how bad do you want this divorce, Mose?
Mose—It only cost me a string o' fish to git married, suh, but please Gawd, ah'd give a whale to get rid of her.

ATTENTION! SENIORS ON PARADE

Edna Brubaker is the lady— (A cut of Miss Brubaker was unavailable.—The Editor.)

"Eddie" hails from Pomona, and is a chum of Esther Dickey and Myrtice Butterbaugh. She is always full of pep and go. Still she is a good student and a friend to all.

Eddie is "membership chairman" of the Y. W. C. A.—and has outstanding ability as a pianist and accompanist.

Quiet, a "vision"—yes, I can picture Eddie out in the cold, cruel world facing the numerous problems of an "old maid school-mom." Now, Eddie, you may be a "school teacher," but from all appearances you won't be an "old maid." How about it? Luck to you!

Everyone knows Myrtice Butterbaugh, and she lives in LaVerne. (A secret! Girls, have you noticed a good-looking gentleman student in school this semester? Well, don't get excited. He is Myrtice's boy friend—and you need not try to make goo-goo eyes at him, 'cause he won't look.)

Myrtice is a very capable girl, and has a winning way. She was president of the Y. W. C. A. last year, while this year she is music director. She is commissioner of student welfare, a member of the Choral Union, a member of the Sunshine Quartet. Her college days have been filled with student activities.

"Butter" has to keep up with "Eddie." She also has ambitions to follow the school teaching profession. Success to you!

Joe C., writing to Lucile: "Darling, I would swim the deepest waters, or fly the ocean, or anything for you."

"P. S.—I'll be over tonight if it doesn't rain."

AIN'T IT THE TRUTH!

There is more rejoicing in a newspaper office over one college student in jail than ninety and nine jailbirds who never tried to educate themselves. It is a peculiar fact about modern metropolitan journalism that a collegian whose irresponsibility get him in the toils of the law is worth more and better space, and bigger and better headlines, than the most atrocious crimes of our toughest criminals.—The Michigan Daily.

Good Speakers For Institute

Dr. D. W. Kurtz is the chapel speaker during the Bible Institute this year. Other speakers are Doctors Studebaker and Sarafian, Professors B. S. and Laura E. Haugh, and Reverend H. A. Frantz of the faculty, as well as the pastors of the district and local ministers. LaVerne is fortunate to have as speaker on Friday and Saturday evenings Dr. A. U. Michelson, a Christian Jew from Germany.

Other activities of interest which are connected with the Bible Institute are the alumni dinner, "David and Goliath," the cafeteria supper by the Y. W. C. A., and the New Era Banquet.

Cy Nical Comments

I admire Doctor Emmert for coming out in his class and saying he knew that he had caused students to say things which they did not believe in order to get a grade. We need more profs like that. If there is a doubt in the student's mind as to the correctness of the professor's idea one of three things is possible. The attitude of the student is right and the professor is wrong, or the professor has failed in getting the right across as it should have been, or the professor is right and the student is too bull headed to admit it. All three exist, but nevertheless, I admire the professor who is open-minded enough to say that all he says is not infallible.

What is more useless than a car which will not run? I will tell you. It is one of our Frosh when we want HE, SHE or IT of them to do something.

My I feel relieved. You can't guess what I heard Mrs. Haugh say. She said, "Where is your shawls?" Now I can make a slip once in a while in my French and not have quams or quails.

Dad Elliot said that to the average college man God was merely a glorified Santa Claus or a fire escape. I believe this is altogether too true. Too many students think of God only when they are in trouble. God, as Dad said, is a personal God and he does take an interest in us if we let him. He can't if we will not let him. I think we should realize more that there is a God who notes every sparrow that falls and cares for his children. Are you one of his?

The fellow who spoke of the man who tickled the ivories must have meant the prof who gives final exams. He may not tickle the ivory, but he sure causes it to get scratched.

According to the last issue, "Kenny" Deardorff was very nervous as best man at "Ed's" wedding. Brace up, Kenny, the worst is yet to come. I might suggest suspended to brace your shoulders, but you will have to solve the knee problem.

I see the Newsette editor wants to get acquainted with Pedersen's friend from Seattle, Don Mohler. It must be news, since news is anything interesting.

I wonder if Mrs. Haugh expects to inspire the members of the car-tata to higher and more painful notes by leaving the picture of last year's cast on the bulletin board? I notice that some of the cast are beginning to be shy as they pass.

I believe Tommy may say with all his heart, "Misericordia Domini inter pontem et pontem." If you don't believe me, Tommy, go look it up.

It is a damning fact that we as students are not honest. I have done it, and I have heard many others say that in examinations they write down what the prof. wants so that they may rate a grade. I never really thought of the honesty factor of such an act until I heard "Dad" Elliot speak of it but I believe that there is altogether too much of such being done right here in L. V. C. Is it the profs' fault or the student's? Should the prof. recognize a student's belief if it does not coincide with his, or should the student tickle the prof's ears as we are doing now?

Whenever I want to know who

CRIBBING

Do You "Know" All You Get 'Credit for' Knowing

What is the reason for the rampantness of dishonesty in school. Why is there so much cheating? This year at some examinations there was more cheating than there has ever been before. It is principally among Frosh, but why there? Are we perclassmen setting such an example as that? Personally I know nothing as damnable contempt as cheating. That is rather stupid but I mean it. The reason a student cheats is to obtain that all important farce—the grade. But we do not have the grade how we going to be ranked? List Are those who are honest going allow such prevalent cheating? we going to stand by and see cheater be classed in a higher position that he deserves, even higher than the honest person? Are going to be dominated by the nority? If we are going to stand by and allow such a teacher snake to exist in our school we more contemptible and white erred than the cheater. We are an institution which stands for that is high, righteous, and noble and yet we sit still and allow the growing disgrace to stain the integrity of L. V. C. Where is honor? Where is our sense of justice? Where are our ideals? Are we going to allow our standards to be lowered by a decrepit, scurrying few? No! It is time we asserted ourselves. I believe a good way to start is by socially traiscing the willy nilly who practices cheating. Lets' be men and women and be honest.

"Being Different"

Probably nothing is more characteristic of the imitative childlessness of most Americans than fear of being different. A new idea, a startling originality, anathema. The tendency is to down to everybody else's level, to create or establish a level one's own.

Colorful individuals are a joy to those to whom existence is something more than routine. But how rare they are! . . . The majority accept their ideas ready-made, pick up the current catch-phrases, their conversational basis, and limit their outlook to clothes, part and small talk. . . . Rarely do they advance beyond the territory of daily paper. If by any miracle stray new thought enters their heads, it is promptly suppressed. Conversely, the unusual personality is looked on askance as unsuitable for side-shows than human scene.

In college, one must seek elsewhere than the fraternities if rare, higher types are to be found. Their function, whatever else may be, is certainly not the development of restless spirits who sense the underlying mystery of things. There are exceptions, the establishment of any level almost a complete bar to the exceptional.

The status is as it should be. Gobbo associating with other Gobbos, Ariel winging to other exal spirits. The unfortunate element is that there are so many Gobbos so very few Ariels.—Daily Iowa doesn't look good in what and where I go to a basketball game and in front of some women. I overheard some things at the U. C. A. game which are too good "Tad" Davis: "Why didn't answer the letter I wrote you?" Fern Glick: "I didn't get it, besides, I didn't like something said."

D. YODER STAGES HOLD-UP

Business Manager Causes Student Difficulties

Every student, old or new, of LaVerne College, who is coming for the new semester, was held up Monday, Jan. 26, 1931, by Registrar D. Yoder. Each student was held long enough to turn all his pockets inside out and place the most valuable contents on Yoder's desk.

The students, who were registered in assigned rooms, were either extremely happy over the prospects for the new semester, or extremely downhearted because he (she) could not get the subject wanted—or didn't want the subject he HAD to take.

The faces of all students, old or new, were the greatest of studies to one to whom moods or art was a hobby. Talk about variety!! After registering was over, the students marched solemnly toward the student lobby.

There they encountered a greater foe. It was a lobby of more solemn students waiting the hold up. One by one the students passed out of sight each time those who awaited with great faith moved up one. Time went on. At last a group of students had finished. But how? A group standing in a corner one man was crying his eyes out saying, "He took every cent I had. How can I eat the rest of the year?"

Many and varied are the experiences of the LaVerne College students. Yes, even the Seniors! I say the new students in their long and long process of waiting. It is bad enough for those who have gone through the process time and time before—let alone doing it for the first time. I mean registering!

Students Hear 'Dad's' Second Address

Good Turnout at Evening Assembly

The lecture in the evening was a continuation of that reported previously. At this time the speaker discussed the taking of an attitude about dishonesty.

"We have not been able to grapple with the problem of dishonesty. A group of students who profess to be good are so good that they can't grapple with a little moral problem of this kind. They say that the administration ought to do something about it."

It calls for heroism to be honest. Your attitude toward honesty is a tremendous factor in determining whether you are going to be one of the two from this group who makes his mark."

With regard to law and order, if things are wrong get them right. That a challenge this is for people to respect and stand for the laws of society and government! Maybe you can't be popular without being a law-breaker, but did you ever stop to think that it takes strength of character to be otherwise?

In terms of football, "The best way to get out of defense is a tie; you have to have an offense. Even in the game of life the best offense is a mighty offense."

What is your attitude toward God? Too many people leave college thinking that God is just a trifling Santa Claus or a fire escape. They are too willing to accept a canned religion. Some have an idea of God as a mere automaton. If this be so we may as well do away with prayer and faith. If God has the attributes of a father as Jesus said He has, then let us pour out my spirit to Him

STUDENT SOCIAL LIFE

NEWSETTES

Prof. B. S. Haugh says that never before has he had such a large enrollment for voice lessons. He is very glad for the musical interest shown in the school.

The LaVerne College trustees' conference held its first session here on Thursday afternoon, Jan. 29. Southern California has six representatives, northern California six, Oregon one, Washington one, and the alumni association one. All the districts were represented at the meeting excepting Canada.

Among the trustees who attended the conference were Rev. O. B. Gregory from Spokane, Washington, and Rev. A. J. Ellenberg from Oregon.

It evidently agreed with the "boys" to have a wreck before the Santa Barbara game. And say, but we're glad that "Stutz," "Red," Jerry, Fred M., nor "Tommy" were hurt when Tommy turned them over.

Our good friend "Stutz" spent Sunday and Monday in Inglewood. It's just as necessary for our president to recuperate after exams as the rest of us, I s'pose.

Did "Mimi," "Sid," Whitcomb, LaVonne, "Willie" and Ralph have a good time at Big Pines Sunday? Say! Just ask them. They even had snow fights. Keen fun, wasn't it, "Mimi?"

Marian Steves and Jack Singer attended the Symphony at the Philharmonic Sunday. Now, now, Frosh!

Esther and "Eddy" spent Wednesday observing the Portrero Heights school.

and He will return a spiritual blessing to me.

Have we that conception of God that Jesus advanced? Have we an experience of Him so real that we can make it explicit? You may think that living the life of a true Christian will ostracize you from society. Well, it may, but anyone can drift with the current, and it takes character to go against the tide. With an offense backed by God any student body can turn back the tide of evil.

At the faculty meeting last Wednesday "Dad" Elliot made some valuable suggestions. He believes that there should be a greater co-operation and understanding between faculty and students, and that the honor system can play a large part in building character and in raising scholarship.

A group of our co-eds journeyed to the far-off city of Pomona and saw "The Criminal Code" at the California theater, and later went to the St. Charles Grille for further entertainment. Those who enjoyed this were "Connie" and "Ardie" Horning, Naomi Whipple, Edith Roberts, Molly Warrington, Fern Glick, Beth Masterson, Miriam Dickey, Kay Crist and Lavinia Maes.

Hoy Deeter entertained "Ernie" Sweihart at his home in Burbank Sunday. Also he introduced "Ernie" to his French girl friends. Oh, watta break!

Mr. O.B. Gregory, pastor of the Spokane Church of the Brethren, and LaVerne's trustee from Washington, is here for Bible Institute.

Our trustee from Oregon, Mr. Ellenberg, came down for Bible Institute and brought his daughter, Helen, down from Ashland and enrolled her in L. V. C. this semester.

"Big Cal" and "Little Cal" spent Sunday with their sister in Santa Ana.

Anna Emmert and her father entertained over the week-end her brother and sister-in-law, Lloyd and Grace Emmert.

geles, is to be the speaker of the evening, and Dr. D. Welty Lefever, an alumnus of LaVerne College and at present an associate professor of education at U. S. C., will perform the duties of toastmaster.

Since the purpose of this event is to further the development of LaVerne College and education in general, friends of the institution are glad to buy a $25 plate in order that they may have a part in this work. There are many who never fail to buy a ticket. The business men have been especially loyal.

A great number of the Ladies' Aid Societies have shown their interest by purchasing tickets for their pastors. They have also contributed time and labor in preparation for the banquet.

The New Era Banquet plan has grown in favor ever since it was established in 1927, as an annual affair. It plays a fitting part not only in the development of LaVerne College, but also in creating a fellowship amongst those who believe in education as a fundamental of life. An evidence of the growing popularity of the New Era Banquet is an increasing interest which is being manifested among constituents in Northern California. It is expected that quite a number from the north will attend this year.

A special table is being arranged for the Varsity Club which is going

LUMNI NOOS

Dorothy Dick Betts and her husband, Gilbert Betts, left Monday for Washington, D. C., where he will continue his work on a government research commission. He has been working at Palo Alto for a time and receive instructions to move to Washington a few weeks ago. Mr. Betts' two orphan nieces have their home with them and are going to Washington with them. Mrs. Betts was secretary to President Studebaker for a couple of years before the college administrative work was housed in Founders Hall.

Harry Blickenstaff and J. Marion Roynon took a group of their Boy Scouts to the mountains last weekend. These men are doing splendid work with the boys.

John Price, member of the Bonita High School faculty, helped take the Bonita Hi-Y boys to the snow recently.

Paul Throne and his wife, Frances Arnold Throne, entertained a group of alumni members in a Dorcas club Friendship dinner party last week. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Glick, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Dickey of Chino and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Schrock of Azusa.

Wayne Bohn is taking the role of King Saul in the dramatic oratorio, David and Goliath, and Ernest Carl of Azusa is impersonating the giant, Goliath. Both men are making frequent pilgrimages to LaVerne for drill work in this project. It will be given Monday and Tuesday evening of next week in the Bonita High School auditorium. The college auditorium stage is too small as there are 80 characters in the cast.

Jay Myers and his wife, Cecelia Shaffer Myers, and the two children have moved from Seattle, Wash., to Fresno. He was transferred by the Zellerbach Paper Company, in whose employ he has been for several years.

to start a student loan fund with the proceeds of its members' tickets. Therefore every club member should buy his ticket through the club.

The proceeds from the ticket sales are to be used for the improvement of the college library.

Student tickets are only a dollar and every student should aim to be there, especially if he is dissatisfied with library facilities.

"Dad" Elliot Addresses Community

Wednesday Evening Meeting Well Attended

The Wednesday evening discourse was a talk to the parents in regard to what "Dad" thinks of the youth of today.

"I'm one of those who believes that the biggest problem of youth is the problem of their elders."

There are too many people between 30 and 50 who have become soft and have lost their ideals. The behavior patterns set by parents makes youth wonder what is real and vital.

The growth of cities has had a tremendous influence in making the present youth group different from that of the preceding generation. The motion picture has been another influential factor of this change. Although the movies have been valuable in a way, they have also been harmful in that they give false conceptions, belittle law and the church, and pollute the minds of the young people.

One of the greatest factors of the change is the study of social science which has taught young people to rely on facts but to weigh the evidence of the facts. It has taught them to ask questions so profound that even the elders are flabbergasted. The trouble is that too many elders have minds closed to the queries and new ideas of youth.

This is truly a period of transition between the past and the present. The religious controversy between the fundamentalists and the modernists is an evidence of the transition. At lot of the religious education has not led youth to an experience of Jesus. Young people have merely a canned religion.

We are too concerned about process when we should be concerned about results of the process.

The solution of the whole problem lies in young and old facing it together the elders have made the situation; now they should help the young people correct it and thus stem the tide of the forces of evil.

"Dad" Elliot did exactly what he wanted to do: he awakened the students to their short-comings, but their steady attendance at his lectures shows that they did not flinch nor refuse to face the issue; so he evidently accomplished what he set out to do. The students thank him for his interest and his effort.

Y. W. C. A. ENTERTAIN MOTHERS AT TEA

In appreciation of the kind help so often given to the Y. W. C. A. by the mothers of LaVerne and surrounding communities, the Y. W. C. A. has planned an informal tea for Wednesday, February 4. Tea will be served from 4 to 5 p. m. following the last afternoon session of the Bible Institute on Wednesday.

The members of the cabinet will act as hostesses, and other girls will assist in pouring tea. Virginia Scarisbrick and Helen Buckle have charge of preparing sandwiches to be served with the tea.

All women and members of the Y. W. C. A. are invited.

In football you learn a great deal from the older players, but not so much the technique of the game as the spirit of it. In the same way you learn the game of life step by step. The steps in learning the game of life include:

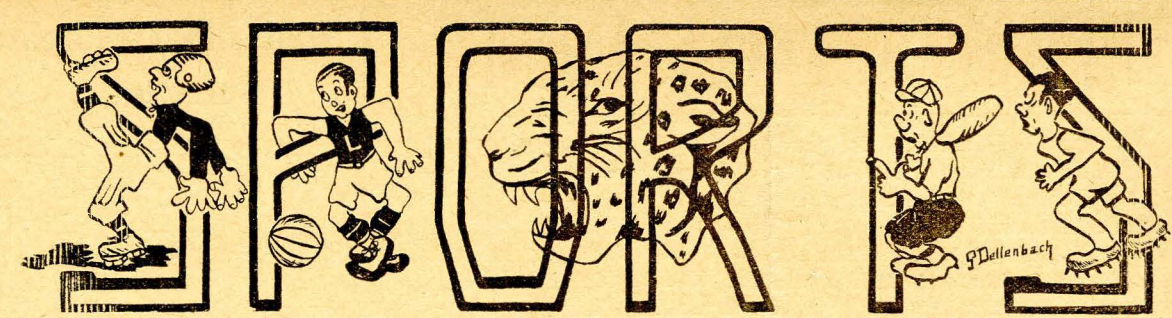

1. Have the desire to become.
2. Put yourself with those who are seeking to become.
3. Adjust your loyalties.
4. Learn the rules.
5. Follow the teaching of the coach.
6. Learn to lose.
7. And PLAY THE GAME.

SPORTLIGHTS

The finals are over at last and we can all heave a sigh of relief. As far as the intellectual side of school life goes, we can coast this week—but in basket ball it is quite different. Saturday night is really the biggest game of the season.

The thing that worries some of the basket ball team is, "How far it is to Santa Barbara?" It might be a four hour trip, but it takes longer than that to get there upside down. In fact it seems harder to make the trip than to battle the Roadrunners after we get there.

Did any one notice how Loyola threw a scare into us last Saturday? It seems like things just can't click when we play at home. Just the night before at Santa Barbara the boys looked like the good old days. There seems to be one thing that weighs on the team. It seems to me that when the coach has to fight with a man to get him to shoot, his team-mate should wish him luck rather than cuss him out. Just another case of the beam and the splinter in relation to eyes. That means a lot of hard work for the basket ball men this week.

It always does me a lot of good to see a man come up from the second or third team and make good. Such a man is seldom "cocky" and he always shows a lot of real fight. We have such a man on our squad and what I mean he has a lot of fight. He doesn't look like a modern gob but he plays the game hard all the time. I think we need more of such men to make a real basket ball squad. His name is Snell.

Did any one ever stop to think how much good it does to crab. It is true that it makes a fellow feel a lot better on the inside to express his own opinion, but on the other hand, it does a lot of harm on the outside. First, it gets the "Reff" down on you and besides it turns a lot of other people against you. In short it is something that does little good and a lot of harm. Let's make crabbing something that just isn't being done on our squad.

I hate to see any one razz a basket ball player—especially if it comes from some member of the student body that couldn't do any better. A good basket ball player plays because he likes the game and not to excite a lot of public opinion. As the student body, lets support our team in every shape and form. If you yell at the game Saturday night from the bottom of your heart Redlands won't have a ghost of a chance. It takes support and ability, together to beat Redlands.

Ony Leonard: "Why did you keep looking at that girl's evening dress?"

Fred Mahoney: "I wanted to see what it was all about."

Martie Baer: "I hear they are going to make the class periods ten minutes shorter next year."

Ed Cunningham "That won't do. We're not getting enough sleep as it is."

Let's Have a Paper! What Say?

Writeups in by Friday noon

My opinion of some folks is getting worse and worse every day. I was rushing to a class the other day and the hall was so blocked by groups standing around in front of Dr. Emmert's and Sarafian's doors talking that I was late to class. They just stood there and I had to elbow and line-buck the bunch in order to get through. Really, I never did see such a crust.

With the exception of only one or two issues, some unthoughtful member or members of the staff have failed to do their part in putting out the paper on time. So, from now on, the names of every staff member who does not have his or her work in on time will be published in a box on the front page in the lower left hand corner (regardless of what position you may hold.).

If the paper does not come out on time, our advertisers are not satisfied. The students do not get to read the news when it is "new," etc. Also, the Editor has never got hardboiled; but has only had to remind you about six times to get you to do your work most issues.

If you want a school paper, do your work.

The list of those who did their work this issue is the shortest; so here it is.

1. Edith Roberts.
2. Cy Nical.
3. Evelyn Deardorff.
4. Gerald Deal.
5. Frances Nix.

David and Goliath

Mr. Lynn, of Pomona, is doing splendid work in designing the backdrop for Act II. The scene is a streamlet running through foothills back of which tower lofty mountains with white clouds above.

Much credit is due Ralph Travis, Professor of Piano and Organ, for his efforts in accompanying and drilling. He often does the "dirty work" of drilling weak spots in the chorus, which the cast and directors appreciate greatly.

The plot of this cantata is based on the biblical story of King Saul, first king of Israel, and his battle against the sons of Anak. The first act deals with Saul's feelings of despair. The second act is on the battlefield and portrays the killing of Goliath by David.

The third act pictures the triumphal return of Saul and his army, with David as the conqueror.

The tickets are on sale at Herr's drug store. Buy your tickets now and get reservations. Also see Doyle Montz, president of the Choral Union, or any members of the club for reservations.

Leopards Win Game With Loyola

Second Win Harder Than First One

The Leopards started out slowly against Loyola on Saturday night. They seemed a bit dead on their feet but this is not hard to understand because of the fact that the team had played Santa Barbara the night before and had to endure the rigors of the trip to Santa Barbara. Although the team started out slowly it gathered momentum as the game progressed, and finally emerged on the bright side of a 28-19 score.

During the latter part of the first half the team began to click as the bleacher experts have been hoping for all season.

One of the bright lights has been the work of Snell. He is an aggressive player and has been developing fast. Eisan has been using Snell at a forward berth and has placed Weybright back to a guard position. With "Red" and Hubbell at guards, it gives two men back who can handle the ball and can act as feeders to the front rank sharpshooters. Also, Weybright is not averse to taking a long shot at the basket.

Thomason seems to have found his eye while at Santa Barbara and continued the good work against Loyola. He emerged high point man with twelve tallies to his credit. Snell was a close second with eleven digits. This is quite remarkable considering the fact that he only played a short time.

Stutzman played his usual hard floor game and took the ball off either backboard with a reckless abandon.

The second string got into the fray for a few minutes but although they were able to hold the Loyola bunch to a low score, they were not able to produce any counters their own, and this is embarrassing when trying to win a ball game.

Loyola put up a much more aggressive (one might almost say rough) type of ball than they did in the first encounter. This helped to keep the score down but did not enhance the art of basketball playing.

The line-up was:

La Verne (28) P	Loyola (19)
Weybright (1) F.	Brubaker (12)
Stutzmnt (3) F.	McCarthy (4)
Thomason (12) C.	Von Den Athe
Hubbel, G.	Kustovitch
Nichols G.	Sullivan

Substitutes: La Verne: Jones Kindy, Forney, Deal.

Loyolas: Roberts, (2), Hagendy, Slindigen, and Enge, (1).

LET'S GO, ALUMNI

As yell leader, I can watch the crowd during a game and tell who is yelling and who is not. Why is it that three-fourths of the alumni are conspicuous by their silence? If you are ashamed or too dignified to yell, stay out of the rooting section. Don't you believe in sideline support? Don't you want your alma mater to win? If you do, why not demonstrate? Is it because you don't know the yells? That can't be because the alumni has kicked about yelling the same yells too often. Doesn't the team

La Verne Defeats Santa Barbara

Leopards Win Over Roadrunners; Score 35-29

The fighting LaVerne Leopards again gained back their fighting spirit last Friday night at Santa Barbara and looked like a real fighting team ought to look. It was an altogether different team, as far as fight and fire, against the Roadrunners, than the one that was defeated by the Redlands Bulldogs. Let's show some of the same fight and fire against the Bulldogs this coming Saturday night here in our own gym.

The Five Horsemen started the game and in less than five minutes of play had run up a score of 13-0 against the Roadrunners. Santa Barbara then found the bucket to sink two goals. The scoring seemed to have been from this point till the end of the half. The score at the half was LaVerne 20, Santa Barbara 11.

The last half was not as exciting as the first, for LaVerne had no trouble in keeping her lead. Santa Barbara's main scoring came right at the end, when Coach Eisan sent in all his substitutes.

Greeson of Santa Barbara was high point man with 12 points, and Thomason was a close second with eleven.

Starting line-up:

LaVerne	Santa Barbara
Stutzman(3) F	Barnett(6)
Weybright(5) F	Trelcor
Thomason(11) C	Greeson(12)
Nicolas G	Kessler(6)
Hubbell(3) G	Ines(2)

Substitutions: LaVerne: Snell(8), Forney(2), Deal, Janes, Kindy (4), Shirk, Welty, Wilson, Howell; Santa Barbara: Hopkins.

LAMBDA WORK IS PROGRESSING

Snapshots Wanted by the Collector

This is just a little message to let you know that this year's annual is going to be your annual. The staff is attempting to put their best into the book and they would like your co-operation.

Snapshots—the things that remind you of your fishing expedition on the front porch, or of the happy hours you spent hiding out behind the auditorium with a sweet young lady. These and many other frolics and escapades will bring back fond memories of many happy days and blissful hours spent in L. V. C.

The major enjoyment of these fond memories is entirely dependent on you. Bring your kodaks to school and turn your snapshots in early. (To Elwyn Boly, Snapshot Editor.)

HOW TO CRASH THE GATE

1. Inform ticket taker you are looking for Prexy.
2. Tell ticket taker he is wanted outside by a friend. Take advantage of his absence.
3. Tell him a funny story. He will die laughing. Then proceed.
4. Inform him his house is on fire. Will dash off. Dash in.
5. Procure a basket ball and tell him they need it to play with, and you're returning it. Will let you in.—Exchange.

use a play more than once? Now I am not attempting to hurt anybody's feelings, and if this doesn't apply to you,—fine. If it does hit you, please don't get mad, but think it over and give our L. V. C. all your co-operation at the next game. Remember when you were on the floor how a yell helped you? O. K., let's raise the roof.
