Notes to Travelers.

Selected.

Take your time at eating-stations. There is no need of running any risk of damaging your digestive organs and scalding your esophagus. The train may move while you are in the middle of your meal. Don't get excited and rush away to catch it in company with the hayseed man, for when it backs into the station again, you would feel foolish. The station bell will ring, and the conductor will cry "all aboard" in plenty of time for you to take the train.

When you leave the train at eating-houses or elsewhere, take the number or name of your car. This might prevent you from traveling in the opposite direction from your destination, which is neither pleasant nor profitable.

Your small baggage and parcels will be safe in the car, and don't have too many packages—eighteen or twenty is as many as any one passenger should travel with.

Make a memorandum in your note book of the form, number, date, route, place of purchase, etc., of your railroad ticket, and in case of its loss and the payment for another, take a receipt, correspond with the General Passenger Agent of the road from whom you purchased the second ticket, state the facts clearly, and you may depend that justice will be done in the case. Your ticket, by the way, is a contract between yourself and the railroad companies. Study its conditions and be prepared to abide by them, and don't demand at the middle or end of your journey that these conditions be changed. You don't do so in the ordinary affairs of life.

If you lose your ticket, don't quarrel with the conductor when he asks you to pay again. If you lose your ticket for the opera, the man at the door would likely be hard-hearted enough to tell you it is not his fault, but your misfortune, and that some one more fortunate has gone in on a free ticket.

Do not be taken by surprise if the newsboy environs you with all the lat-

It is a fact.

If you have been a dweller in the plains, unaccustomed to mountain scenery, recollect that altitudes are generally twice as great as they seem to the eye.

In sitting by a car window, do not attempt to confine the vision for any length of time upon the objects in the immediate surroundings. This is extremely tiresome.

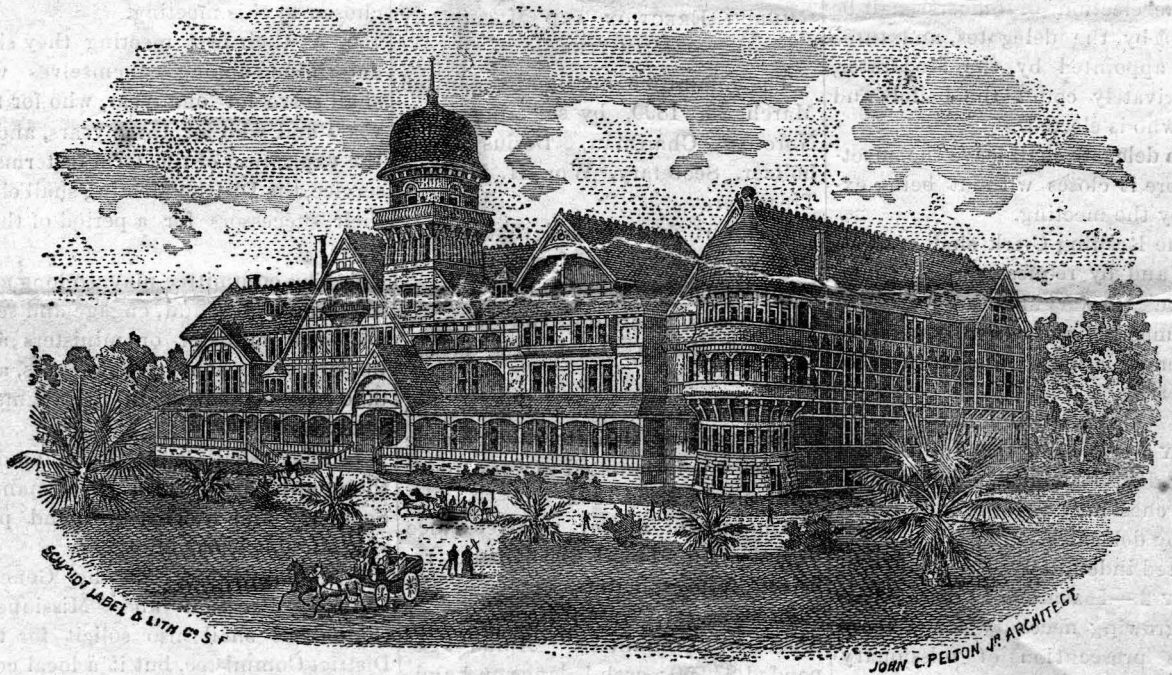

Be careful in your diet. The tendency in the early stage of a long railroad journey is to over eat; this, with a lack of exercise, is liable to cause discomfort.

Don't fret about your baggage, and if you see a trunk pass by that appears to have been to the top of the station house and slid down the roof into the baggage car, or have ridden like the

Over The Rapids.

From the nineteenth day of December, 1889 when we received a three year's option on the magnificent structure, of which we here present a picture of the front elevation, we have at no time had any doubts as to the ultimate success of the project, though at times we had to combat strong opposition from men who should have looked forward to a brighter period than the compromising of a few paltry dollars. Yet at one time we were offered quite a handsome sum of money if we would surrender our option, but we had a more noble purpose in view than selfish ends.

But as the day of triumph comes to every worthy enterprise, so it has come to this, and in the hands of the present able management, it will doubt-

Just suggest to the N. B. your dislike to being resolved into an animated hat-rack, or an old curiosity shop, and he will remove the debris. He is cheerful and polite, the newsboy, and he knows at a glance which passenger has a yearning for molasses peppermints, and which for metaphysics, and he can meet nearly all the wants of the human race, but nobody has ever discovered where he stows all his truck.

Finally, and to conclude, the highway of life has desert places along the way, dust, and thorns, and weariness. In a great overland journey do not expect too much. The building will be more accurately described in our next issue.

President Harrison.

It was a magnificent oration, that was accorded the President in Los Angeles. Seven or eight thousand children, each with a handful of flowers, were ranged on both sides of Spring street from Temple street to seventh, and when the President and party drove between those two rows of boys and girls they threw their flowers at him, almost burying him in the great mass. It was a sight not to be soon forgotten. Everywhere the President was received with honor and respect.

DISTRICT MEETING OF CALIFORNIA

Held in Conejo Church, Ventura County, April 10, 1891.

Meeting opened with devotional exercises and reading of the 15th chapter of the Acts of the Apostles.

An election of officers was then held, resulting in the selection of J. S. Flory as Moderator, T. J. Nair, Reading Clerk, M. M. Eshelman, Secretary.

On motion the congregations comprising the District were allowed to assume local names instead of being numbered as heretofore; and that the District be known as "The California District."

DELEGATES.

Covina church—J. S. Flory, J. H. Miller.

Conejo—C. Wine, G. F. Chamberlin.

Lordsburg—T. J. Nair, M. M. Eshelman.

RULES.

The following rules were adopted:

1. The Moderator shall maintain order, put questions to vote, appoint committees, and when necessary, give the casting vote.

2. The election of officers shall be by ballot by the delegates, and three tellers appointed by the Moderator, shall privately count the ballots and report who is elected.

3. No delegate shall leave the meeting before it closes without being excused by the meeting.

4. The Reading Clerk shall read all papers, and by request, reread them.

The Secretary shall keep a report of the meeting and carefully preserve all papers relating to the business of the District.

COVINA CHURCH.

QUERY 1.—We ask that the District Meeting devise some plan whereby local churches may be more fully represented by delegates.

Deferred indefinitely.

QUERY 2.—Inasmuch as there seems to be a growing necessity for a more vigorous prosecution of missionary work in California, and there is a good supply of ministers here in Southern California, we recommend that through District Meeting the different congregations be urged to adopt more vigorous efforts to raise means, and also to get laborers to go out in the missionary work. In view of the above we recommend District Meetings to empower the "California Church Erection and Missionary Committee" to engage at least one suitable minister to devote his time, with his companion, to the missionary work in city, town, and country; the said board or committee to see that said ministers and their companions are paid out of the missionary funds.

ANSWER.—The local churches should urge the members to be liberal in contributing and to aid ministers to do more preaching of the gospel wherever there are openings in new fields.

The part relating to engaging a missionary and his wife together with a similar query from the church at Lordsburg, was referred to the committee on Plan of Work.

CONEJO CHURCH.

QUERY.—We ask the District Meeting of California to request Annual Meeting to permit the District Meetings to arrange their own plans for the representation of the local churches in District Meetings.

ANSWER.—We advise that there be no material change in the present manner of representation at District Meeting, but where a District has but few congregations, it may adopt a plan whereby a larger representation may be had.

The above sent to General Conference.

LORDBURG CHURCH.

QUERY 1.—We ask the District Meeting of California to make a request that the Annual Meeting of 1894 be held in California.

ANSWER.—We make the request with the understanding that if it cannot be granted for 1894, it be held in California as soon thereafter as possible.

QUERY 2.—We, the members of the Lordsburg church, cordially ask that the District Meeting of 1892 be held in our midst, and hereby authorize our delegates to ask the District Meeting to grant this our hearty request.

ANSWER.—The District Meeting grants the request.

Aaron Wolf, Secretary of the District Conference of 1890, reported the payment of incidental expenses, showing receipts therefor.

ANNUAL REPORT OF "CALIFORNIA CHURCH ERECTION AND MISSIONARY COMMITTEE."

The committee met and organized March 23, 1890, by selecting D. A. Norcross Chairman, Derius Overholtzer, Secretary, Wm. H. Hepner, Treasurer.

By lot it was decided that Derius Overholtzer serve one year, Wm. H. Hepner two years, and D. A. Norcross three years, therefore the term of office of Derius Overholtzer is expired.

As the D. M. had not given the committee any definite rules, a code of rules was formulated to work under until the D. M. of 1891.

Amounts of money received since organization, $146.61, $96.61 being received from solicitors, etc., and $50 from "General Church Erection and Missionary Committee." Amount expended $72.60; cash balance on hand, $74.01. Meetings were held in Los Angeles at an expense of $27.40. It was thought best to discontinue said meetings until a more vigorous effort can be put forth.

A field was opened at Olive Heights at an expense of $10, and two were baptized. Another point was opened at East Riverside, where arrangements have been made to hold meetings regularly.

Fifteen dollars have been expended for tracts

We find the great need is a more united, general, and vigorous pushing of this great work.

Signed by order of the committee,
DERIUS OVERHOLTZER,
Secretary.

SUGGESTIONS.

The committee desire to make the following suggestions to D. M. in the forming of a constitution:

1. Let it cover all the grounds, viz: committee, churches, solicitors and ministers working under the direction of the committee, etc.

2. Let the committee consist of five members instead of three, and let at least two be persons of some experience in the work.

3. Let the solicitors be chosen by the church, each organization choosing enough to thoroughly canvass its territory.

Committee { D. A. NORCROSS.
W. H. HEPNER,
D. OVERHOLTZER.

The report and suggestions of the committee were submitted to a committee consisting of M. M. Eshelman, W. H. Hepner, G. F. Chamberlin and J. S. Flory.

Adjourned to meet at 7 p. m.

EVENING SESSION.

Met pursuant to adjournment.

The following is the report of the Committee on Plan of Missionary Work:

We, the undersigned, members of your committee to prepare a plan for the Church Erection and Missionary Committee of California, beg leave to report the following:

1. That the New Testament be the constitution for the guidance of the committee.

2. That the number of members comprising the committee shall be five, to be taken from among the ministers, the deacons and the laity; not more than two from either.

3. That since the terms of D. A. Norcross and Wm. H. Hepner have not expired, they be declared a part of the new committee, and that three be chosen at this meeting.

5. At their first meeting they shall determine among themselves who shall serve for one year, who for two years and who for three years, and at the expiration of the term or terms of service, the District Meeting shall elect their successors for a period of three years.

6. The committee may, so long as it has funds on hand, engage and send out such minister or ministers and helpers to preach in new fields, and take care of them, as in its judgment is advisable.

7. They shall elect from among their own number a Chairman, a Secretary and a Treasurer, and provide suitable books of record.

8. The solicitors for the General Church Erection and Missionary Committee shall also solicit for the District Committee, but if a local congregation fails or neglects to appoint a solicitor for the General Committee, then the District Committee may appoint a solicitor to do its work.

9. The committee shall, through its Secretary, report to the District Meeting as follows:

1. Who was sent to preach, and where.

2. The number of members received into the church by confession and baptism, or otherwise.

3. The condition of the congregation or congregations which may have been organized under the jurisdiction of the committee.

4. The congregations assisted in building meeting houses and to what extent.

5. The amount of money received and from what sources.

6. The expenditure, where and how.

9. The committee shall have power to make its by-laws and regulations necessary to carry this plan into operation.

10. The committee shall, from time to time, make such recommendations to the District Meetings for improvement of this plan as it may deem necessary.

} Committee.

The appointment of three members of the Church Erection and Missionary Committee being in order, the following were named: Derius Overholtzer, J. H. Miller, M. M. Eshelman.

Several ministers were named for missionaries subject to the call of the General Missionary Committee. After balloting by the delegates, J. F. Neher of Lordsburg was declared elected.

On motion it was agreed that the incidental expenses of the District should be paid out of the mission fund.

The Moderator suggested that hereafter local churches originating queries should put answers to them whenever possible.

The officers of the meeting were authorized to prepare and forward a letter to the Annual Conference in Hagerston, Md.

It was agreed that the Lordsburg church should name the time of the next District Meeting, with the provision that it be not later than April 10, 1892.

Resolved, that we think it best that all queries sent to the District Meeting by local churches, be signed by their officials.

Resolved, that we, the representatives from the several churches, hereby tender our thanks to the Conejo church for their kindness and liberal provision for the District Meeting.

On motion it was agreed that the proceedings of the meeting be published in the SOUTHERN CALIFORNIAN

MOTTO.—As a fountain of pure water is to a thirsty traveler, so is good news to the mind.

It certainly is remarkable that the people of the United States make gender a factor in depositing a ballot. The slums and vice-breeders, enjoy what our wives and mothers cannot—expression through the ballot-box.

The fragrant orange blossoms, the pretty peach, prune, and apricot trees full of bloom ought to be enough to delight every one, but then there are the hundreds of other beautiful things to make glad the people of this valley

Come And See

At one time two disciples saw Jesus, and something about him attracted their attention, so they followed him and when Jesus saw them coming toward him he asked "What seek ye?" They replied; "Rabbi," or "where dwellest thou?" He answered; "Come and see." So we say to all who want to come to this country; Come and see. You ought not to depend wholly on the judgment of others unless you are willing to accept the consequences, if you do not like this country. One of the worst phases of human nature is to accept the judgment of others and then, if by some unforeseen event, it goes illy with such an one, he turns on the man whose judgment he followed and leaves no stone unturned to demolish the moral structure of the individual upon whom he relied. Don't take a man's views if you are not willing to take the results. If you work on borrowed capital, then be satisfied with the outcome. Come and see, but when you get here do not borrow some other man's eyes; use your own.

LORDSBURG.

To see the country around Lordsburg is to conclude that it is a lovely part of this great State. With the snow-capped mountains to the north, the green hills to the south, the lofty mountains to the east, the pretty homes, the great orchards, the green fields, the fine roads, the perfect climate, the pure water, the massive hotel which will in all probability become a seat of learning, the pretty cottages—all these and other attractions certainly enter into the general make-up of Lordsburg's attractions.

The soil is fertile, and the lay of the ground is all that could be desired. At the present rate of increase it will not be long until Lordsburg will be one of the noted places in Southern California. We invite personal investigation.

The Lordsburg Hotel Purchase.

We the undersigned, having carefully examined the option on the Lordsburg Hotel, in Lordsburg, Cal. secured December 19th 1889 by T. J. Nair, Henry Frantz, D. A. Norcross and M. M. Eshelman, and believing it a wise and judicious business transaction, have closed the option and therefore have come into possession of the deed to the building and the block upon which it stands, and 100 lots, half of which are in bearing prune trees.

Our aims and purposes are to make the necessary preparation for the opening of the school this Fall, and we hope to be able to publish from time to time the progress of the work.

Efforts will be made to procure a capable Board of Instructors, and so soon as these shall have been engaged, a course of study, rates of tuition, cost of board, etc, will be prepared for the information of all who may wish to avail themselves of the privileges of the institution.

Some Pertinent Questions.

1. Will Lordsburg have a college?
2. What relation will it sustain to the Brethern or German Baptist church?
3. Should Lordsburg college, if started, be directly under the control of the church? If not, why not?

LEARNER.

I. Will Lordsburg have a college? The projectors of the Lordsburg enterprise contemplate opening a school sometime during the year, and as they have the means and are men of energy and determination, we think we can safely say that a college will be one of Lordsburg's institutions.

2. What relation will it sustain to the Brethren or German Baptist church?

We are not authorized to outline the policy of the proposed institution, but it will doubtless be conducted on sound principles and with sound discretion. As to its relationship to the German Baptist church we can not say, but the probability is that it will sustain the same relationship as any other vocation or calling pursued by members of the church. That it will be advertised as a German Baptist Brethren School, we have some doubts though the teachers or a majority of them doubtless will be members of that society. It will likely take a position which shall in no manner reflect upon the church or in a manner assume the direction of ecclesiastical affairs.

We presume its designers will expect, and labor, in a legitimate manner to secure a liberal patronage from among the members of the German Baptist Brethren church; but if we were to voice the policy of the school, it will make no distinction between the students whose parents are members of the church and those whose parents are not. And we do not believe there will be any difference made, but that all will be treated alike, for it should be a school and home for all who enter its portals. Because the arts and sciences are taught, would not be sufficient ground to make it a part of the church. Neither does the fact that there is reading of Scripture in the school and daily prayer a sufficient reason to hitch the school onto the church. On the same grounds the methods of the farmer, and the conduct of his business, might be made a part of the church; for does not the farmer pray and read the Word of God? In this land where freedom is patented by the people, and where church and State are unmarried, we should well learn the lesson of the wisdom of our forefathers, and endeavor to keep the church and school as distinct as the founders of this government did State and religion. If the Lord or an apostle, under Divine inspiration, had said that schools should be set in the church there would be ample grounds for the work; but until there is a clearly defined message from heaven authorizing such a procedure, we shall advocate the policy of the general government.

3. Should Lordsburg college, if started, be directly under the control of the church? If not, why not?

The charter of the institution provides that the majority of the Board of Trustees shall be members of the German Baptist Brethren church.

This was the wish of the incorporators, but this by no means makes it a church school, or a school in the church or by the church.

Of course the influences of the Brethren church will be more or less felt, since a large membership resides at this place and the teachers or a majority of them will be members of that church. While it may be no part of the policy of the school proper to teach denominational doctrines, leaving that to the church, who will doubtless provide all needful exercise for members of the church, who come here, to make advancement in religious endeavors.

We think the school should not be burdened with church affairs, because there is no Scriptural ground for such a course. While it may be and doubtless is good to mix the principles of Christianity with the institution, it is of doubtful policy to mix school affairs with the church. Ignorance in the church often produces prejudice and corruption. Education unconsecrated by holy principles run equally into the highway of corruption and unsound principles. Once elevate the schools to the same position as the church, and the church loses its power as a corrective body over the school. Whenever the offender is made a part of the court which is to try him, it cannot but result in the subversion of the correct principles of sound government. The declaration that if the church will not take the schools into her embrace, the schools will soon control the church, at the first entrance into the ear appears so logical and sound that it would seem indiscreet to oppose it. But in principle it is unsound and unsafe. As well might the founders of our government, have said that unless we control the Christian religion and make it a part of the government the Christian religion will soon control the government; hence the wise provision that no system of religion shall be established by the government so that the people might worship God as they pleased, the government protecting every man as a man but not managing his religious belief. The same policy should be pursued by the church. Let those who wish to teach the arts and sciences do so without the interference of the church, and whenever those thus engaged do not properly conduct themselves let them be brought under discipline on gospel principles. But make the school a part of the church by interweaving the two and it will not require a great stretch of wisdom to see that the school will soon dominate all church affairs. We favor the equality of the legitimate vocations before the church and so keeping the church where God and Christ put her. We trust the projectors of the Lordsburg College will pursue the apostolic plan and thus stand on sure and safe ground.

THE Pacific Land Improvement Co. transferred to W. F. White, A. C. Armstrong and Andrew McNally of Chicago, 117 acres of land belonging to the Lordsburg town site, lying on the south side of the Santa Fe tract and all of block 37 and the west three-fourths of block 52 in the town of Lordsburg proper. The consideration being $32,800. This is very fine property and will likely be improved at no distant day.

Resolved that we hereby extend to the members of the Pacific Land Improvement Company of Los Angeles, and to Messrs. A. P. Maginnis and I. W. Lord in particular, our thanks for the fair and honorable course in their united support in securing to us the Hotel Lordsburg for college purposes.

THE LORDSBURG PROJECT.

It is with feelings of pleasure that we publish the consummation of the deal for the Lordsburg hotel for school purposes as announced in this issue by the purchasers. The men who have taken hold of the project are not unwilling to develop it to the best interests of all who may become identified with it.

With a corps of efficient educators and a curriculum sufficiently broad to meet the requirements of the students who may seek its advantages, the outlook would be all that its most ardent friends could desire. The building is but a small factor in any institution of learning. Without money to remunerate the best of talent and wise and judicious management of school work, there can be no onward movement to success.

Here the youth may find a vast field in nature—a field almost unlimited in subjects and resources—to pursue his chosen calling; and these advantages together with the help of unquestioned scholiasts, should enable him to fit himself well for the responsibilities of life.

A charter for the "Lordsburg College" has been secured, and while the school will be unsectarian, a majority of the trustees must be members of the German Baptist Brethren church.

We understand that the Board of Trustees will take immediate steps to open school next September, and as soon as the arrangements shall have been perfected, course of study, rates of tuition and every needful information relative to the institution will be published. In the meantime those who contemplate attending a school of any kind are requested to send their names and addresses to T. J. Nair, Sec'y of the Board of Trustees, Lordsburg, California, and as soon as practicable the required information will be forwarded. We hope to keep our readers informed of the progress of the work.

Lordsburg College Association, Its Objects and Aims.

The following article, written for the SOUTHERN CALIFORNIAN, by Mr. H. L. Kuns, of Gilroy, Cal., who is an active and prominent member of the Methodist church, is worthy a careful perusal by our readers:

On February 28th, A. D. 1891, in the town of Lordsburg, Los Angeles county, California, the negotiations which have been pending, culminated in the formation of the above named corporation.

In a few days all the contracts will have been closed relating to the purchase of the property known as the Lordsburg hotel with the full determination and intention of establishing an institution of learning which shall be as nearly as possible the equal of other institutions of a similar kind established for similar purposes.

The Brethren, who formed the corporation, have cheerfully yet humbly accepted the great responsibilities which is necessarily attached to the project, and marks one of the most important events in the history of the Brethren church.

Important for many reasons, but principally on account of the recognition of the most important fact that education is beginning to be recognized as one of the means of advancing the pressing ever-demanding interests of Christ's kingdom on earth.

Besides every other consideration, in my weak and puny judgment, this is the most important and demands the support of the entire church east and west.

You have here a most delightful building fully equipped with all the modern appliances such as elevator, fire-escapes, hot and cold water, closets, bathrooms, electric fire alarm and bells, etc., together with a complete system of sewerage, surrounded with beautifully laid out grounds, which only needs to be planted with every beautiful tropical and semi-tropical plant and shrub in order to render it as delightful as need be, and the furnishing with chairs, books and apparatus in order to start in the important work.

The foundation is laid on which a grand institution will be built with Gods sustaining power and blessings, from which missionaries will eventually be sent to every land beneath the sun to carry the Gospel in its simplicity and beauty, educated full of zeal having no other object but to strengthen the work of other missionaries who have gone before, and win souls for Christ.

Can any one in this day of advanced thought permit their old preconceived notions, traditions and prejudices, to deprive them and their dearly loved children of the great, justly-allowable pleasure of giving their prayers their tears and their financial and moral support to an undertaking which will surely lead to such grand results.

My prayer is, that the responsibility of a failure may never be laid at the feet of the Brethren. I do not feel able to even outline any policy, nor should I do so if I could. That is to be marked out by the ablest men you can secure to conduct the institution; and the higher and nobler that policy the greater will be the ultimate success. Yours in the love of Christ,
HENRY L. KUNS.

David Kuns, Henry Kuns and John Metzger have erected themselves handsome residences and will spend much of their time here, and possibly in the near future, will make their permanent abiding place. They have planted trees and beautified their homes.

CENTRAL SCHOOL BUILDING, ONTARIO.

Here is a picture of the Central school building, Ontario, and it is a fair sample of the school buildings in Southern California. We know of no country where finer and more convenient school structures are erected than in the land of the orange. Not only may these fine buildings be seen in towns and cities, but also in the country.

There is no tax on real-estate and personal property in California for school purposes. In the first place there is a large fund the interest of which goes to the support of schools. To this is added a poll tax of $2.00 on every male inhabitant, black, white or yellow, over twenty-one years of age.

People coming here to make themselves homes will find ample provisions for the education of their children.

Who will come here and open a first-class general store?

The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt an effectual to cleanse the system gently in the Spring time or, in fact, at any time and the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

Stoves are a necessity. A good stove is a ready friend. How important then that the house-wife be in possession of a reliable cook stove! It is distressing to have a stove that will not perform its work in a satisfactory manner. #### The Editors.

The executive committee of the Editorial Association of Southern California met at the Nadeau yesterday morning with President Craig presiding, and Messrs. Tebbetts, Beel, Hiplinger and Dyer present.

Mr. Gregory of the Santa Fe appeared before the committee, and again invited the association to meet at Flagstaff, Ariz. The gentleman stated that their company would furnish the editors with a special train and an excursion to the cliff dwellings and the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, and that their comforts should be their especial care. The invitation was accepted, and it was also decided in conformity with the wishes of the Santa Fe Company to invite the associations of Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and the California State Association to be present.

The secretary was authorized to correspond with all editors in Southern California, inviting them to cooperate with the association in making the meeting next summer a grand success.

The committee then elected two delegates to the National Association, which meets in St. Paul on the 14th of July. Sciopio Craig and H. Z. Osborne were elected. Both gentlemen will do all in their power to get the association to meet in Los Angeles in 1892. Another meeting of the committee will be held on the 28th.—Times.

White Langshans.

While this variety of Langshans are new to American breeders it is not a new breed, for the reason that no foreign blood exists in the veins of pure White Langshans. They were known to exist in China when A. C. Croad obtained the first Black Langshans from that country in 1872, and later it has been my privilege to prove beyond question that they existed there, by obtaining some of these fowls direct from their native home.

The fact that these pure white fowls existed in the Langshan district and were first imported into this State from there, together with the fact that the first White Langshan sports of which we have any record appeared in the yards of a breeder of Black Langshans in this State, fully establishes California as the home of the White Langshan in the United States, a distinction that all lovers of fine poultry in California should appreciate, whether their taste runs to Langshans or not, for the reason that few, if any of the new breeds from the time of the Plymouth Rocks down can show a clear history.

I am well aware that a few eastern breeders of Langshans and one or two editors have been from the first unreasonably jealous of California White Langshans and never lose an opportunity to say a word against them. The latest effort that has come to my notice appeared in a Boston poultry paper from some one in Pennsylvania, who, without any specified reason, entered into a tirade against not only the breed, but the breeders of White Langshans. After admitting that he never owned a White Langshan, and "would not take a flock of them as a gift," he resorted to those old chestnuts used by the poultry editors mentioned above, viz: "weakness caused by inbreeding," and the "winning of more prizes at the New York show by impure White Langshans than by pure ones," two statements that are not only untrue but misleading fanciers everywhere who are not posted on the facts in the case. As these papers have some circulation on this coast, I hope that all the readers of Poultry in California will take notice that there are two sides to this matter.

The White Langshans being a variety of the true Langshan, and coming from the same place it is reasonable to conclude that there is no difference in their merits. They are as good layers, as hardy, and in all respects bear out the reputation of the blacks in utility, differing only in color. The plumage is white, the beak light horn color, the shanks slaty blue with the regulation pink color between toes, etc. This combination of color makes an exceedingly attractive bird, and one in which fanciers will find ample scope to test their ability in mating and breeding to produce fine specimens, and the average poultry keeper will find in them profit as well as pleasure, for like the blacks they are unexcelled as layers, and make superior table poultry.

As the breeders of White Langshans are fast increasing on this coast, I shall in the near future prepare a standard for this variety to represent what in my opinion constitutes perfect specimens, and based on my observations of the birds that I have received from China.

The engravings which I send you herewith will give your reader an idea of the breed and a chance to compare an ideal of one of our best artists with a specimen imported from China. Mr. Sewell has owned some White Langshans and has had opportunities of seeing many more, and has made the engraving of a pair to represent his idea of perfect birds. The photo-engraving represents one of my imported hens, a good specimen and the mother of several fine chicks, notably the first prize cockeral at the New York show last year.

There is still another variety of Langshans, the "Mottled," which I hope to describe soon, accompanied by a photo-engraving. They are quite attractive and will suit the taste of those who do not fancy solid colors.

Scipio Craig, editor of the Redlands Citrograph, returned last evening from a trip north. While absent, Mr. Craig attended the meeting of the California Press Association which was held at Napa last week. This association has elected three delegates to the National Editorial Association, which meets at St. Paul in July. Hon. Wm. H. Mills of San Francisco, Duncan McPherson, of Santa Cruz and Mr. Craig are the delegates chosen. A strong effort will be made by this delegation to secure for California the meeting of the Association in 1892. It is earnestly to be hoped that success will crown their efforts, as the meeting would prove of great value to the State in more sense than one.—Herald.

T. J. Nair, of the SOUTHERN CALIFORNIAN, will attend the German Baptist Church Annual Meeting at Hagerstown, June 2d, as a representative of the Lordsburg church. He will spend a week or two prior to the Conference in the Shenandoah Valley, Virginia. He will, while in the East look after the interests of immigration to Southern California, and goes with authority to confer with those who may wish to come out over the Santa Fe Route from Chicago. He will leave for this State immediately after the Meeting and accompany those who conclude to come along. Parties coming will find it to their advantage to have some one with them who is acquainted with the route. See him on the Annual Meeting grounds and have a pleasant talk with him.

Tobacco chewers who persist in "chewing" tobacco during church service and spitting on the floor, should remember the advice given by the lecturer, who, touching upon tobacco chewing in church, said: "Take your quid of tobacco out of your mouth on entering the house of God, and gently lay it on the outer edge of the sidewalk or on the fence. It will positively be there when you come out—sure pop. for a rat won't take it, a cat won't take it, a dog won't take it, neither will a hog. You are certain of your quid when you go after it. Not the filthiest vermin on earth would touch it."

If not asking too much, send me a few copies of the CALIFORNIAN and I will distribute them among my neighbors who I know are interested in California. I am sorry that I did not stop at Lordsburg when I was there last December, and get acquainted, and look your town and vicinity over, will be there again in the near future if spared, and see you.

Cost of a Prune Orchard.

Editors CALIFORNIAN: Yours of the 13th forwarded from Ontario is received asking cost of a seven acre prune orchard up to bearing. Of course the price of land governed cost very materially. I can give you cost of seven acres I put out six years ago, also income first three years of bearing:

7 acres at $120 per acre	$840.00.
784 trees at 15 cts., 112 to acre	117.60.
Grading and planting	130.00
Care of orchard for 5 years at $12.50 per acre	437.50.
Total	$1515.10.
At 3 years old fruit	$75.00
" 4 " " "	40.00
" 5 " " "	2223.35

The last crop I sold at 2c, green, delivered at the depot.

Deduct about $200 for gathering crops and you will get net for the three crops to the sixth year. I figure at regular price of labor. It cost me much less having my own teams and hiring by the month.

Seven acres of land at $200 per acre, with water, can be planted and cared for for three years or until they bear enough to pay expenses, or nearly so, for $1800; or in other words the sixth year it will pay for itself with interest on the investment.

Yours Respectfully,

Thos. Holmes.

Ho For North Rochester!

Perhaps in all Southern California, there is no more earnest and persevering worker than C. W. Smith at North Rochester. A few years ago he took possession of several hundred acres lying between Etiwanda and Cucamonga. With a grit truly commendable he has turned the desert into bud, blossom and fruitage. The settlement is growing. Recently a $5000 school house was dedicated, and the five acres for a park will be beautifully laid out and ornamented.

Mr. Smith lives in the famous "Raisin Belt" of Southern California. He makes a specialty of raisin-growing and is planting vines for non-residents. It will pay you to see him or correspond with him, telling him that you were introduced to him by the SOUTHERN CALIFORNIAN. Remember the man and place—C. W. Smith, North Rochester, Cal., on the "Santa Fe Route."

Last Sunday was the first session of the German Baptist Sunday School at this place this year. J. F. Neher, Superintendent; D. J. Shaffer, Assistant; Hettie Gible, Secretary; Mrs. D. Horning, Treasurer; T. J. Nair, Chorister. Teachers: T. J. Nair, P. S. Hartman, Lena Heiny, David Horning; lecturer in Bible History and Geography, M. M. Esheiman. The school starts off under very favorable auspices.

Call on E. E. Easley at the Pioneer store for your work shoes. I have them from $1.65 to $2.00 per pair.

As will be seen in the report of the Conference of the Duukards in California, they have asked the General Conference, which assembles this year in Hagerstown, Md., June 2d, that it meet in California in 1894. We hope the petition may be granted. The number of this people in this valley, has doubled the past twelve months.

Climate is one of the most valuable considerations in the price of land—California has the finest climate in the world. In the Old World the North of Europe contains many lovely summer resorts, noted for fine climate and the Mediterranean borders some few sheltered spots suited for winter resorts, but no place is to be found in Europe, Asia or Africa that is a desirable resort for summer and winter. This is to be found only in California, and hence California has the finest climate in the world.

The society represents the Southern counties. A committee of one from each county is charged with the responsibility of attending to details and making sure of the trees. Los Angeles county is to furnish 75, San Diego 50, Orange 30, Santa Barbara and Ventura each 25 and San Bernardino county 75.
