NEWNESS OF EACH YEAR RECREATES SCHOOL SPIRIT

Once more fall comes around and with it the beginning of a new school year. And with the opening of school comes again that enthusiastic feeling which predicts big things. It has always been so and probably always will be. Big predictions, high hopes, uncontrollable enthusiasm—they are all present and who would dare to suppress them? It is the spirit which radiates from new men taking over old jobs. Old jobs made new! That is what the beginning of another year means. It is a continuous series of competitions; the new man to improve the old job.

As this year begins, five new teachers are listed among the faculty. There is Professor Ray Cullen of the Sociology Department, and dean of men. Mrs. Cullen is matron at the ladies' dormitory. In the English Department is Mrs. Dorothy Merritt, a recent graduate of Pomona College, and Miss Gladys Muir, new to the undergraduates, as the Professor of History.

Of the student body are the Freshmen, newest of all. But they are inevitable; yet, if for no other reason than for their newness, they are invaluable to the school.

The New Commission

Wilbur Hoke is chairman and commissioner of finance; Lola Shirk, welfare; Madie Royer, forensics; Dale Glick, athletics, and Lloyd Emmert, publications. Here's to them!

Then, of course, is the new Campus Times staff. A new editor is on, but that is not all—a new organization with new methods of working. Not a staff but an Editorial Council composed of four departmental editors, using the members of a new literary organization for utility reporters. New indeed but with an old aim: Better representation of LaVerne College in publications.

THE "Y" GROUPS

The Y. M. C. A. kept in touch with the "Y" leader of the district during the summer months. All the arrangements for the first week of school along the social line were being made by the cabinet and particularly by Harvey Emley, president. A big program was planned for the year which, if successfully carried out, will be a compliment to the organization and to the College.

The Y. W. C. A. was also active. Over two hundred letters were sent to prospective girl students by the organization. The Big Sisters have been busy making things more homelike for the new students.

During the summer the Y. W. Cabinet organized a chain-letter system which proved very useful in keeping them in touch with each other and made it possible to formulate more plans for this year.

The Campus Times is one day late with this edition because of the difficulty in choosing certain officers for difficult jobs. With these positions settled, those in charge are planning a better, possibly bigger, paper this year.

COLLEGE ENROLLMENT

The enrollment for LaVerne College exceeds that of any previous year of its existence. This present year with the absence of the Academy there is little noticeable difference in the number of students, due to the fact that the College Department has so increased its numbers.

Up to this date there are 13 Seniors who were here previously and one new one, and 17 Juniors with three new ones. The Sophomores have 26 who last year were L. V.'s little freshies, with one from another school, while the Freshmen boast the largest enrollment of all—19 who attended the Academy last year and 21 from other schools. Besides these classes there are four special students. The total enrollment is now 104, with 78 old students and 26 new ones.

MANSION IN THE SKY--- NEW PLANT SOON REALIZED

There stands a certain tired, time-worn building which is known as the Administration Building of LaVerne College. Not far from this landmark, on a field of barley stubble, lie a pile of form lumber, a cement mixer and a sign. Those two groups are the only visible signs of LaVerne College—the old and the new.

There is something in the manner in which that old building sustains itself which seems to say, "There is a little more use for me." But there is also something in the manner with which that other pile of boards waits there which seems to speak of a readiness; of a pending motion by which they will become forms in which cement will be poured from the mixer to verify the sign that names the place. Those are the unseen signs of LaVerne College—the old and the new.

But there are other signs which can be known, though unseen. While the students anxiously wait and others hopefully wish,

ENTER KING OF SPORTS

A survey of the first four years (only years) in which LaVerne has participated in football brings a really startling fact to view. That first year the fellows thought they had accomplished a really great task when they won from certain small high schools which, in fact, were "small schools." Then the second year saw a little advancement. Larger high schools were tackled and a few weak colleges. Still the team was successful. The third year was a still greater step. High schools were dropped except for scrimmage. College frosh and J. C. teams were on the list. Still the team was victorious in the "won and lost" column. For the next year a schedule was booked which made the team and coach gasp for breath. Three conference teams were to be played. But what was it—the steady growth of a coming team or was it something else LaVerne has that all schools do not have—which made the schedule a series of steady victories? Of nine games played, seven were won, one tied, and one lost.

Now, what does this year bring? Five conference schools are on the schedule—five of the strongest. If last year's program made those concerned gasp for breath, this year's should make them choke. But does it? As the teams assemble for practice every evening, there seems to be a spirit of anxiety for battle, not nervousness; a spirit of determination, not fear; and above all a spirit which says, "What about our schedule? Give me the ball and you get the fullback!"

Yes, there is seriousness out in practice, and there is also determination. These two qualities make wonderful interference for the man who is carrying the ball. LaVerne has men who will carry the ball.

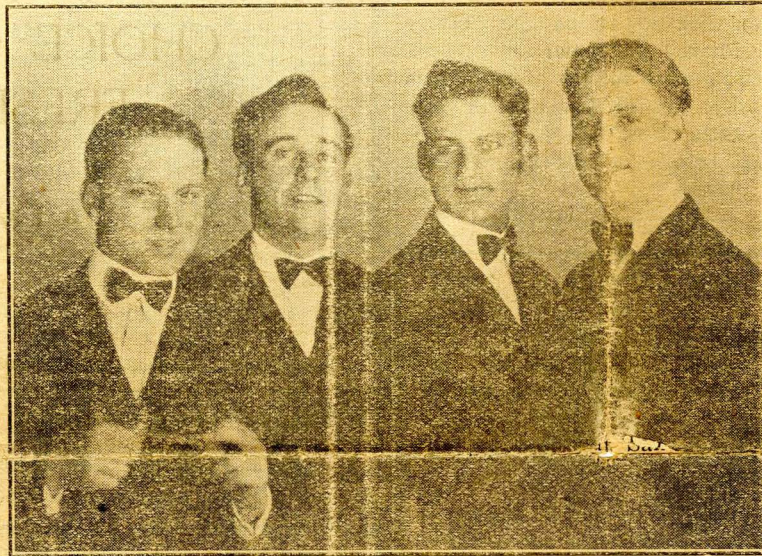

LaVerne is beginning her fifth football season with plenty of good material and better prospects than any year previous.

Coach Arnett is still at the helm and is confident of leading his team thru another successful season. Arnett is a good judge of football material. (Continued on page 4)

LYCEUM COURSE

The Lyceum Committee for this year, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Haugh, and Mr. Cullen, have been working on the selection of what is hoped to prove a wonderful bit of talent. A tentative program has been drawn up which will be presented to the Chamber of Commerce for approval. Those who have the work in charge are very optimistic over the prospects.

CLARION FOUR OF LAVERNE COLLEGE

Urbin Hartman, first tenor;
Howard Hoff, second tenor;

Wayne Bohn, bass.
Harvey Brubaker, baritone;

Possibly no organization did more toward advertising and boosting LaVerne College during the summer months than did the Clarion Four, the favorite male quartette of those who hear them. Going out in the interests of the school, they sang of LaVerne, told of LaVerne and lived for LaVerne. Wherever they appeared they received a wonderful response. Some of their greatest successes were: K. G. O. radio program at Oakland; open air concert at Modesto, where a crowd of about three thousand heard them—the largest audience of several years; community program at Turlock, where the collection amounted to over ninety dollars. Where such a team returns with such victories as they brought, the reception should equal that of any conqueror.

Home-Coming Program

The quartette gave a home-coming program on Wednesday evening, September 9th, at the Church of the Brethren. Both secular and religious compositions were presented. Some of the numbers given were, Doxology, The Old Rugged Cross, Moonlight on the Lake, Little David Play on Your Harp, Go Ring Dem Bells, I Know de Lord Laid His Hands on Me, tenor solo by Mr. Hoff, Come Where the Lilies Bloom, Whomsoever Will, On the Sea, I Want My Life to Tell, and That Beautiful Land.

Mr. Hoff gave a short outline of the work they had done and the places they had visited during the summer. They went as far north as Wenatchee, Washington, and gave twenty-nine programs.

The boys all say they were very glad to get back to LaVerne again. Even though they did enjoy their trip very much, they still love home and old L. V. C. the best of all.

A FRESHMAN'S IMPRESSION

By Sarah Yoon
Labor Omnia Vincit

I

My eyes beheld the line above
With apprehension sore.
Still must the ignorant one confess
She looked, and thought no more.
But in the light of another day,
As I studied this and that,
My thoughts returned to that small line
Whose truth I had left flat.

II

Of all the locks on manly heads
Which I had seen before,
I never met so many waves
So perfect and galore.
I'd see them here, a little there
But not a crop together;
I've wondered if those marcelles last
In dry or rainy weather.

III

I saw a building with sad lines,
Of structure unsublime;
I entered, and 'twas gloomier still—
'Twas worn and marked by time.
But oh! the spirit in its walls
Of friendliness unchained;
It brightened my first joyless days;
Now, the future looks unstained.

IV

The faculty—the students, too,
Were those whom one could know;
As ready for a happy hour
As anyone can show.
But, in the depth of every heart
A truer mission calls,
And this revealed itself to me
In the earnestness of all.

those who have the task in hand earnestly work. And as a result, "Things have never pointed to a brighter future and fuller opportunity for LaVerne than they do just now. The only thing needed is vision on the part of the alumni and other friends of the institution," says President Studebaker.

About one hundred thousand dollars have been subscribed. The contract has been let to J. S. Metzger & Son, of Los Angeles, for the sum of $113,800. Some changes have been made which will lower this amount to about $110,000. About thirty or forty thousand dollars is needed for equipment. Construction work will not begin until sufficient funds have been subscribed to guarantee the completion of the building.

Concerning the old building: Permission has been granted by the county authorities to use the old building for this school year. There is every reason to believe that construction work will begin soon enough to have the new plant ready for occupancy by the time school opens in the fall of 1926.

Every effort is being strained to obtain the necessary remaining funds. President Studebaker will be traveling as solicitor most of the time. Rev. H. A. Frantz will spend about five days each week for the work. B. F. Jamison is going out on full time. Mr. I. D. Yoder, business manager, will give about fifty per cent of his time to the task.

A new financing method has been adopted, known as the Stevens Community Plan of Financing. This plan proposes to return to the donors or their beneficiaries in a period of years all of the money loaned to the institution. The board of trustees, with this policy, has set its goal at $1,125,000.00.

"The new College may seem long in coming. But big things are not done in a day. And when it does come, we shall not forget that we waited so long for its coming."

ON THE AIR

Scene and unseen thoughts while strolling around the campus:

Looks like a big year. Everyone feels it, expresses it. Football interest great; Y. M. and Y. W. organizations starting big plans—good leaders. Faculty cheerful and apparently full of inspiration, and an especial interest in the students. Student body expecting big things under leadership of Commission; Commission has something up its sleeve. Yes, looks like a big year.

Windshield stickers! Not seen.

Freshmen: Seen and scenic. Like the new growth in an old field. Wonder if new growth ever gets homesick for mother earth. It it does, maybe it soon gets over it, and then it likes its new home better. That's the way of life. If we didn't get homesick once in a while, we wouldn't ever learn to appreciate where we are or where we came from.

The Faculty Reception: Are we aware of the fact that all college faculties are not just like our own? I met an instructor on the campus; that great wall of isolation is not there. We speak, may even joke together, and often do. I may show him a "cut" that will go to press, or may show him a cut which the new freshman tackle planted in my hand in football scrimmage. That's sociability and doesn't have to be disrespect. A distant, altitude-like professor probably wouldn't get along very well at LaVerne. I hope not. If sociability is disrespect to an over-dignified Prof., blessings on the sociability nevertheless. That isn't disrespect. That creates respect.

Loud sweaters: Speak for themselves, but what do they say? Wonder if the colors will run when the winter rains set in?

Arnett Field: We don't have to take our hats off to any college for the choice of name for an athletic field. The name is justifiable and pretty. May the place always ring with the sounds of honorable conflict which he, whose name it carries, implanted there.

Now!

By John Hilton

Yesterday's crowned with a halo of gold,
Like a sunset that makes way for night.
Tomorrow's a dreamland of tales still untold,
Looking lovely in the soft, rosy light.

But today is unmasked and unhaloed.
'Tis here,
And before it the other words bow.
'Tis a wonderful word and it has but one peer,
And that is the little word, "Now."

You may dream of your yesterdays—dreams without end;
Or today you may study out how
To spend your tomorrows, but listen,
my friend:
Just what are you doing with
"Now?"

Now is the time that shall ne'er be again;
Now is the time for a deed.
Now is no time to degrade other men
Or give way to your anger and greed.

Now is too precious to squander and spoil,
Or follow in unholy ways.
But now is the time to be cheerful and toil,
For "Nows" are the things that make days.

Do you wish to be happy? Then—
I'll tell you how:
Seek no more for the glory of men.
Put a wee bit of kindness in each little "Now"
Just before it is changed to a "Then."

WRITTEN ON THE ICE

Dearly Beloved Editor of Campus Time whom I have loved long time no see, Greetings!

Mr. Editor, last night I am walking down street when lo and a behold here I see motly array of striped sweaters parading around making Hon. Solomon in all his glory look like a German mark with one (1) corner amputated.

Now Mr. Editor, I being of a curious nature and patriotic and sociable and bolshevistic and furthermore thinking perhaps they are going to celebrate some holla day which Hon. Father Time forgot to mark on calander, do go likewise and purchase very talkative sweater with all collors of rainbow and some a rainbow won't have and do folla in hot persuit for both reasons.

When I arrive I am informed that it is to have been a watermelon feed. Now having never watched the process of feeding watermellons I at once am overjoyed to learn something new.

This group, Mr. Editor, are very formal in the matter. First they form circle and I help them. Then they start counting to 4 (four).

Now Mr. Editor I are educated man and never miss a chance to shew the same so when it come my turn, I boldly holla 5 but are informed to my

APOLLO CLUB PROGRAM

A very pleasant and well planned musical program was given on Friday night, September 11th, by the Apollo Club of LaVerne. This club is composed of musical graduates of the College. Prof. Haugh is the instructor.

This program was the "welcome" from the club for the school year. There will be several other programs presented throughout the year.

The program was as follows:

1. Piano Duet—Grand Polka de Concert
Lois M. Miller, Modena Minnich
2. Tenor Solo—Kashmira's Song
Howard Hoff
3. Pianologue—A Tragic Story
Madie Royer
4. Soprano and Tenor Duet—Serenade
Prof. Haugh and Mrs. Haugh
5. Dutch Scene—
Piano Solo, Miss Gladdys Muir
Contralto Solo, Wanda Carl
Vocal Duet, Pauline Dunker and Dorothea Dyck
6. Piano Solos—Marcian en Tarme de Concert
Juba Dance
Lois M. Miller

FACULTY BEEF STEAK FEED

President and Mrs. Studebaker entertained the members of the College faculty and their families at a beef-steak feed which took place Tuesday. The program committee had prepared a splendid program of new games and intelligence tests, and with the good stories and jokes that were told while the marshmallows and big, juicy slices of beefsteak were roasting, the faculty enjoyed their first social affair of the school year.

Sophs elect these officers: Mark Lehmer, president; Ruth Stoner, vice-president; Pauline Dunker, secretary; and Phil Smith, as filler of the treasury. Phil quit school almost before he started. The office of treasurer will have to be re-chosen.

Committees to take charge of arrangements for "L Day" were chosen.

The beautiful candle-lighting service of the College Y. W. C. A. will be held in the Church of the Brethren tonight at 7:30, as a recognition service for new members of the organization. Both the old and new members will participate. The public, and especially students, are invited.

Last Thursday night the Freshmen met at Cecilia Shaffer's home and followed the precedent of the elders by electing officers. Yorval Caywood was elected president; Verda Brubaker, vice-president; Hilda Brubaker, secretary; Emil Carl, treasurer, and Aileen Rothrock, reporter.

The Freshies also wish to announce to the wide, wide world, and particularly to the student body, that they have polished and arranged the trophy cups in the trophy case. The youngsters are bound to make the school shine.

FACULTY RECEPTION

After an excellent program given by the members of the Apollo Club on Friday night, September 12th, the students were received in the basement of the administration building and introduced to the faculty.

When the instructors had met all of their future class-room contenders, slips of paper were handed to each person. Everyone was then directed to a number of cartoons pinned here and there along the wall. Each cartoon represented a member of the faculty by expressing one of his own particular characteristics. It is safe to say that the faculty was flattered or otherwise. The students were expected to identify each from the picture, making a perfect list. This game became very interesting and amusing, as the cartoons were unusually clever.

After a happy evening light refreshments consisting of punch and wafers were served. It was the "hello" of a jolly and wholly sociable faculty.

WELCOMING THE GANG

Siam! Hah, Hah, Hah, Siam!

The Y. M. C. A. had its initial blow-out on Thursday night, with games and relay races, refreshments and "whatnots." The rarest bit of entertainment was the initiation of royal members of the "Secret Order of Siam." Mr. Gordon Silvey, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. in Pomona, successfully acted as the commander-in-chief of fun, or in other words, game leader.

Harvey Emley, the big "Y," gave the plans of the organization for the year in an interesting talk. The enthusiasm with which he was received proved that our fellows are behind the works.

To top off the evening, each good man quaffed many cups of "Chino Ale" and went home glad for La Verne's Y. M. C. A.

THE Y. W.'S GLEAM

The lights beamed welcome, the fire crackled good cheer and the matron smiled hospitality to the Y. W. C. A. girls who gathered in the big dormitory living room on Thursday last. They came to get acquainted, but by the time each girl had described her neighbor on paper (fittingly or otherwise) some people hardly knew themselves. With fun and frolic the evening wore away to the delightful climax of punch and wafers. The "pledge of fellowship" was given over the punch bowl, even if the pipe was conspicuous for its absence.

The climax was followed by an anti-climax—a jolly "sing" around the fireplace with the lights turned low. When the strains of "Follow the Gleam" sounded the home-going signal, the party broke up with the feeling that it was a true "gleam" which led to such friendship.

Glen Crites, last year's yell leader, was elected to the position again this year at the Student Body Chapel last Friday morning. Sarah Yoon, freshman from Reedley, was elected to assist him. The student body is expecting some new yells.

PERSONAL

Boys are of a scientific turn of mind. Last year their sweaters resembled checker boards. This year they look like animated text books of algebra. (P. S. Or dot and dash systems.)

LaVerne has been re-Philed. with Mr. Smith. May he live long in the land. (Passed away!—Editor's note.)

While on a sight-seeing tour through the attic, Ruth Stoner and Pearl Witcher were fascinated by a chair rocking contentedly in a dark room, all by itself. Lloyd Studebaker or Wilbur Hoke can explain the phenomenon.

An affair of the Hart, plus a man, produces a diamond.

Wanted: Chorus girls; a chance to achieve fame in a music class of fifteen men and four women.

Misses Lois R. Miller and Miriam Shirk, and Messrs. Crosten and Betts were playmates at Santa Monica on Sunday.

Take off your hats to Mr. Butterbaugh, who has been able to walk this vale of tears for one more year. He was pleasantly surprised on his birthday, September 16th, with a dinner party given in his honor by Miss Harriet Woody.

Miss Lola Shirk is invited to be bridesmaid at the wedding of her cousin, Miss Alta Shirk, a former La Verne student, to Mr. Eugene Decker, of Modesto.

Wanted: Sponge soles to equip shoes of person who delights in keeping time with feet while Clarion Four sing.

THE JUNIOR-FRESHMAN RECEPTION

On Friday evening at about 7 o'clock, the fond mothers of the Freshman children dressed their darlings up in their very best party clothes and took them to the door of the gym, where the Juniors had promised to give them a party.

They were received and the Juniors helped them play all the nicest party games, including London Bridge and leap frog. While they were playing the Juniors came and took the little folks, one by one, blindfolded to the old administration building. Here they were led through cold, dark halls, where they could hear frightened little squeals coming from all corners until they couldn't tell which way they were going.

When everyone had been initiated thusly, etc., etc., they returned to the gym, where Auntie Mae told stories. After the stories a line was formed and each child was given a bib with a pet name printed on it, and everyone marched to the stage, where iced tea and dill pickles, with sticks of peppermint candy, were served.

Before leaving the party, each child was given a stick of gum and wished a happy good-night.

There were many clever costumes present, Galen Hilton receiving the boys' prize, and Elizabeth Shimer the one given to the girls.

COMISH' WATERMELON

Any Tuesday night, especially if it were the first night of school, would be an ideal time for any group, particularly the college gang, to have a splendid party, the most splendid, of course, being a watermelon feed. Hence Tuesday, September 8th, was the most fitting time for the Annual commissioners' watermelon feed. Under the able leadership of Miss Pauline Dunker and Miss Lola Shirk, the "feed" and its preliminary "courses" were doubly delightful.

Soup being naturally the first course, Miss Dunker started things off with a splash by introducing "Partner Tag." This was quite a "get acquainted" game and was greatly enjoyed by all. "Squirrel in the Tree" furnished a good deal of amusement, as well as a quick "entree"—the quicker the better, in fact. After a few minutes of "Poison," new students and old students were certainly mixed well enough for any salad, with a liberal sprinkling of dirt as the salad dressing.

Next came the dinner plate with a side dish of pickles—at least so felt the four young people who engaged in the wholly delightful "cock fights." Such spirit and punch speaks well for the football team.

The main dinner course was, of course, the delicious, juicy watermelons furnished by the faithful commissioners. Dessert was unexpected and unheralded in the form of an auction. The unheralded part was that the unheralded purchasers were never the lucky bidders. This caused a little comment, and lots of fun. At least, the student body treasury is increased by a few cents—and all for a few extra cents.

The banquet was certainly a huge success, and each student went home with just a little less of those "homesick blues" to trouble with.

—Pearl Witcher.

500 WORDS UNDER THE SEA

Win the prize! The money is not guaranteed but some philanthropic beneficiary will sell all his goods and give every mite to the poor. We'll pass the hat among the poor and raise the prize money.

In the meantime buy a chart for twenty-five cents and look at the pretty diagrams which will teach you to become an orator by mathematical, scientific, biological, and even by the cryptic permutation of fate methods. Now I'm keeping you students from the clutches of the faculty, but I know you want to hear me. (No applause.)

The cast is composed of Jane Adams in stellar role opposite Belshazzar; Herbert Hoover opposes Potiphar's wife; "Golden Rule" Nash, the villain, acts the role depicting the key to the administration of Confucius 555-444 B. C.

Chap. II.

Just then an innumerable chorus of

Dr. Arnett,
Coach and above all, Man. The team and student body are always proud that they have such a man as Arnett for coach. He is a real general of men. Being able to hold the team's respect and confidence, he forthwith proceeds to drill into them plays, formations and football tactics which so far have completely baffled and stumped some of the products of the Southland's leading coaches. He is a wizard on play formations. Handling a fast backfield which LaVerne has, he produced a team that was the smoothest running machine that a veteran conference coach witnessed last year. And with few exceptions he does it out of raw material. This is his fifth year at LaVerne and to him goes the credit of raising an infant team to conference standing.

JUNIORS ELECT OFFICERS

The first meeting of the Junior Class on Wednesday, the eighth, proved a very peppy affair with every member present except one, who was ill. Plans were discussed for the coming year and officers were elected. Those holding office are: President, Ramah Maust; vice-president, Lloyd Studebaker; secretary, Mary Messamer; treasurer, Ralph Schrock; class reporter, Hazel Funk.

The Juniors, full of enthusiasm, are planning some interesting events for the year. The class is twenty-one strong in spite of the fact that two of the old members, Velma Vaniman and Frances Arnold, are missing. The two new members who fill up the ranks are Mrs. Wilma Ramseyer from Pomona and Mary Messamer from Modesto. The other members are: Gerald Miller, Wilbur Hoke, Howard Hoff, Dale Glick, Lloyd Emmert, Harvey Emley, Claude Bowman, Paul Blocher, Harvey Brubaker, Lloyd Studebaker, Ralph Schrock, Marguerite Dickey, Hazel Funk, Nellie Hylton, Florence Landis, Rose Landis, Ramah Maust, Lois M. Miller, and Lola Shirk.

ashame that I are only one (an all to evident fact Mr. Editor).

Well after this we undergo several other trials, including one where I are surrounded by three (3) pretty girls and several others, I thinking the while, "What an interesting account of U. S. customs can I send back to Japan concerning this evening."

At last some one holla "Watermelon!" and they begin to line up in line. "Ah," think I, "at lastly comes the feeding," and fall in line determined to do my best and watch fella ahead for particulars. They pass pieces of watermelon down line and joy of surprise! what do they do but eat instead of feed.

Now Mr. Editor, watermelon are my favorite food except fore ice cream cones, pie, cake, pineapple, bananas, and various other sundry things, so I straightway took and ate a great deal. Now I am confined in my little bed feeling like the bow constructor who swallow three little elephants.

Hoping you are the same I are Ishmoka Stogi.

the Genius of Our Progressive Commonwealth appeared and sang from the national rostrum the immortal chorus, "And the Farmer Hauled Another Load Away."

(To be continued at the Grand Final Contest.)

P. S.—If you lose in the first contest, keep on and when you're eighty-five you may win the pearl-handled Satanic Ice Cream Freezer which by that time will have been donated by the Conglomerated Association of International Golopos, Incorporated.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

The games outlined for the team this year are real ones. The schedule is perhaps one of the largest and hardest yet outlined. It is time, however, that LaVerne is climbing to her place. The students know what the team can do, but the thing to do is to make everyone realize it.

Five conference teams are to be played this year, besides U. S. C. Freshmen, San Diego, and Loyola. This is the kind of a schedule that will make the team work, but there are plenty of men for the job.

Occidental—September 26, here.
S. B. U. C.—October 3, there.
Whittier—October 10, there.
Cal Tech—October 24, here.
Open—October 31.
U. S. C.—November 7, there.
Open—November 11.
Loyola—November 21, there.
San Diego—November 26, there.

ENTER KING OF SPORTS

rial, and boasts that he has some of the best in Southern California. He says he has eight A-1 men for the backfield. All of these are experienced players who have determined to make a good showing this year. They are: Captain John Brooks, Dale Glick, Otis Brooks, Wayne Bohn, Marion Boots, Merlin Yoder, Orville Brooks and Chester Shirk. Of these eight, five were letter men last year.

The greatest improvement over last year's squad will be in the line. A strong line is a very important factor in a successful football team. The following men are out for various positions on the line: Levi Dickey, Harvey Brubaker, Irvin Brubaker, Orville Hollinger, Merle Butterbaugh, George Anderson, Jay Meyers, Russell Frantz, Bruce Bell, Lloyd Emmert, Ernest Carl, Ivan Betts, Raymond Mahoney, Harold Brownberger, Paul Smith, Urbin Hartman, Mark Lehmer, Galen Root, Howard Hoff, Virgil Brooks, Harold Hoff, Paul Blocker, Ellis Colburn.

This is the largest number of men that has ever turned out, and they are out every night.

The team is fortunate to have Paul Kurtz, formerly of McPherson, Kansas, as line coach. He has played in the line himself and will be a great help to the fellows.

Captain John Brooks, who will lead this season's squad to victory, is just now entering his fourth year of football of any kind. In this respect he is a wonder. He is a triple threat man. His kicking was featured with the few leading fullbacks in the Southland last year. He is a steady line plunger and a fast man for end runs and open field work. His team-mates respect him for brainy signal-calling of past seasons. He has the qualities of a real football captain. These facts lead the school to believe that he will be one of the biggest sensations in the conference this year.

Official practice started Tuesday, September 15th. Coach called the men together before their workout and talked to them. This kind of a talk does a lot to build up the school spirit that lasts throughout the whole year. On account of the early schedule, Coach Arnett will run the team through a series of stiff workouts for the next few days. Until the Occidental game, at least, there will be a "skull practice" every evening.

Madie Royer, Commissioner of Forensics, announces several plans for the year's work on the platform. President Studebaker will coach the debate teams. Ramah Maust has been selected as woman's debate manager. The manager for the men's team has not been chosen. No debates have as yet been scheduled but work will begin immediately. A revival of debating interest, which has been somewhat apathetic during the last few years, is expected under the hands of Miss Royer and the coach.

SENIORS ORGANIZE

Everything is starting off with speed at the opening of this school year. Pep and enthusiasm are noticeable everywhere. Seniors, of course, are just as energetic as any other class.

Monday at 9:30 a. m., a class meeting was called and the officers for the year were elected. They are as follows:

President, Pearl Whitcher; vice-president, Levi Dickey; secretary, Ruth E. Emley; treasurer, Marion Royman; attorney-general, Madie Royer; prosecuting attorney, John Brooks.

There are, at present, fifteen enrolled in the class, and by the second semester more may be added to the number.
