Sunshine Quartet Tours North

Programs Given in Schools and Churches

PLANS FOR ACTIVE WORK
ALL YEAR ARE MADE. MISS
FLORA DOES GOOD WORK

The Sunshine Quartet has just returned from a very enjoyable five-day trip north thru the San Joaquin Valley, where they gave many programs in both churches and schools.

The quartet left LaVerne Friday morning, Nov. 14, and returned Monday, Nov. 24. During the trip they gave programs in nine churches, five high schools, and five grammar schools. They sang to about 5,000 people in all.

Among the high schools they visited were Fresno Tech and LaVerne, both of which have alumni in LaVerne College. They also sang at the new Roosevelt high school in Fresno to over 1,300 students.

Before returning home the girls stayed over a day to give a program to the Wasco high school. Mrs. Moore, a former LaVerne student, teaches in the beautiful and interesting school. The Sunshine Quartet is the first to represent LaVerne College in Wasco.

Besides nearly freezing from cold weather, all the girls ate a lot and gained! Why Myrtice even had to walk off with Pastor McGarland's hat in McFarland! Ann, because of inexperience, could not get on to stick on the rostrums in churches! And, she got so tired of being "nice." Flossie seemed to delight in driving from the back seat, and in giving directions. Poor Vera! All of her "daily letters" were forwarded from LaVerne to R. F. D. 1, Strathmore, where she didn't receive one!

Myrtice Butterbaugh, Myrtice's sister, chaperoned the group and acted as porter or chief package deliverer.

It is to be remembered that the personnel of the quartet has been changed this year. Vera Flora has taken the place of Mary Platt. Miss Flora works very nicely with the quartet. She is a hard worker, with the interest of all four, and two months were necessary to work out their successful trip.

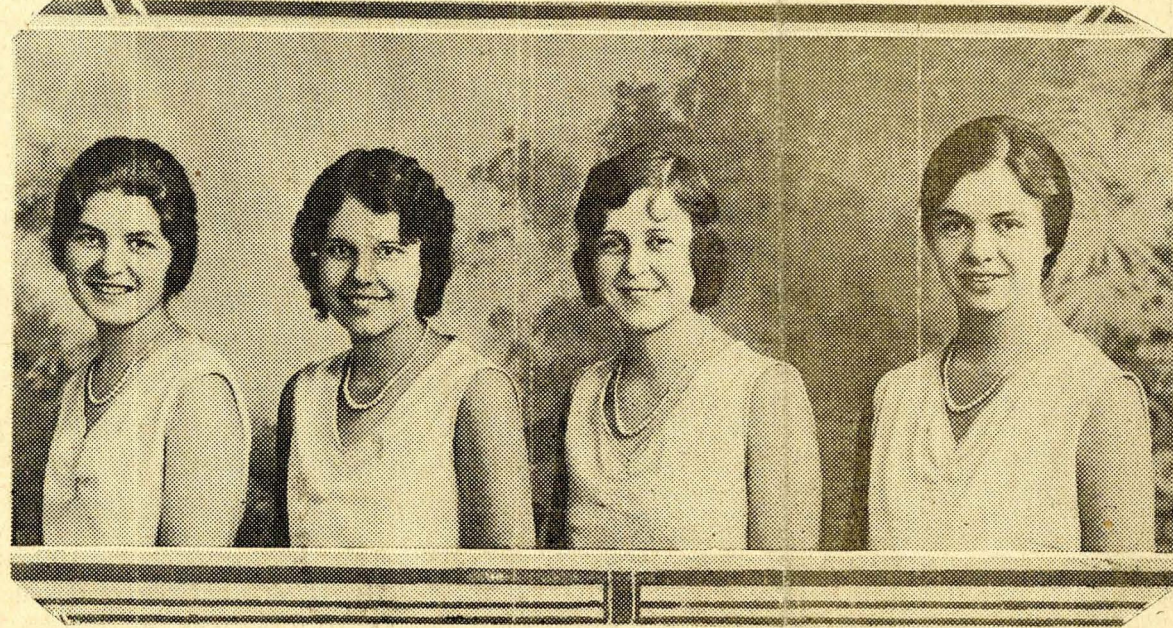

The quartet has plans for active work all the year. They have already given several local programs and have several church programs scheduled.

NOTICE

Associated Student meeting will be held Thursday this week instead of Friday, due to the fact that a special speaker can come only on Friday. Everybody be out to help elect L. V. C. on Thursday.

"Thanksgiving Spirit" Theme of Tuesday Chapel Talk

Young People Often Forget to Say Thank You for Little Favors

The Thanksgiving spirit that prevailed in chapel Tuesday morning was created by the sentiment expressed in two readings and by the thought of the short discourse which followed.

The readings were "The Landing of the Pilgrims," given by Eleanor Sharp and "Thanksgiving Dinner," presented by Wilma Long. The first described the landing of the Pilgrims on the New England coast, while the second depicted the feelings of all the things which are prepared for Thanksgiving dinner, from soup to dessert.

Mr. Rothrock, former pastor of the LaVerne Church of the Brethren, led the discourse which pertained to the origin of Thanksgiving Day and its meaning for the present.

The first Thanksgiving Day, he said, was set aside by the Pilgrims as a day of thanks which were expressed at a feast to which the Indians were invited. It did not become a national holiday, however, until 1863, when Abraham Lincoln established it as an annual holiday.

We should think of Thanksgiving as a time when everyone is grateful, but we often see more praise going up from the unfortunate than from the fortunate. Such an example is seen in the life of Fannie Crosby who, although blind, was always happy and thankful that she still had her other senses. Too many times we do not appreciate our blessings until they are denied us. This is especially true of young people.

We forget often times to use merely common courtesy and to say "thank you" for little favors.

National Thanksgiving Day ought to remind us to give thanks, for the best blessings in life come to those who have appreciative hearts and who do not forget to

Play Committee is Appointed at Sen- ior Meeting

ORIGINAL PRESENT TO BE LEFT BY CLASS

The regular senior class meeting was called Tuesday evening in the men's Y room at 7:30. Plans were discussed as to a possible class present to the school. Some were very good and one definitely decided upon, but we shall see what it is going to be—something original, I assure you.

As to the traditional senior garb, it was overwhelmingly voted down. For the past two years LaVerne has been fast stepping out of many H. S. ideas, and owing to this reason and others, the class decided it to be wiser to use the disbursements for this activity for the class present.

The president appointed the play committee, with instructions to begin reading as soon as possible so a decision can be made before the beginning of the next semester.

NAME CHOSEN FOR FRENCH CLUB AT RECENT MEETING

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM DISCUSSED

Members of the French Club met in the park Wednesday noon for a social luncheon and business meeting at which the Christmas program and a name for the club were discussed.

The French department will have three numbers on the program; a vocal solo, a reading, and the story of the observance of Christmas in France.

"Les Amis de la France" was chosen for the name of the club.

say "thank you" to fathers and mothers, friends, teachers, and most of all to the Heavenly Father.

Enjoyable Meeting of Student Volunteers at Larimer Home

MEMBERS ENTERTAINED BY SONGS AND STUNTS

A jolly time was provided for the Student Volunteers Tuesday evening, Nov. 25, at the home of Mrs. Susie Larimer, where the group met for a Thanksgiving program.

As everyone heartily participated in the songs, they were in a good frame of mind for the devotions, which were conducted by Geneva Suttle, leader of the program. With the group seated on the floor about the large fireplace, the story of "The Master of the Harvest" was read by Mary Tanner, after a duet sung by Martha Darkes and Grace Gans.

The program developed into a social hour with the fragrance of popcorn floating through the house. Many songs were sung, readings and stunts were provided by entertaining members in rather extemporaneous style. Popcorn and apples were dished full justice in the course of the evening, and judging from the protests when "good-night" was sung, everyone had a good time.

Spiritual Benefits of Asilomar Told by George Berg at 'Y' Meeting

New Sunday School Class Organized by Alumni

Dr. Hoover Class Teacher; Amigos Chosen as Name

On the first Sunday of the present school year, a group of ten alumni met to discuss plans for the forming of a new Sunday School class. In making a check on names the group found that there were nearly fifty alumni of recent years who live in LaVerne or frequently visit LaVerne, but have not been attending Sunday School because there was no class in which they felt at home. It was for this reason that a new class was organized.

The group which met on the above mentioned Sunday elected the following officers: President, Merle Butterbaugh; vice-president, Harvey Brubaker; secretary, Mrs. Otis Brooks; treasurer, Ivan Betts.

Dr. Hoover was unanimously chosen as class teacher. He has been bringing vital messages to the class from Sunday to Sunday, which are thoroughly enjoyed by all who attend.

After much thinking and waiting a group of names was brought before the class for consideration. The Spanish word "Amigos" (friends) was chosen as a class name. The Amigos class invites you to join them whenever you are in LaVerne. The class meets in the lower room in the northeast corner of the new church.

Football Banquet Saturday

150 To Attend Affair

Held at Church of Brethren Banquet Hall; Real Ban- quet Being Prepared

The Annual Football Banquet will be held Saturday evening, December 6, at 7:00 p. m. in the banquet hall of the Church of the Brethren at Fourth and E streets.

This year's banquet promises to be the best one in years, for there is more interest in football than ever before, and greater preparations are being made than in previous years.

Tickets were put on sale last week at one dollar each, and judging from the rate of the present sale, approximately one hundred and fifty will attend the affair and enjoy the splendid program now being prepared by Miss Myrtice Butterbaugh and President Dale Stutzman.

Anyone who has not already made reservations should see Vernon Weybright by Thursday evening.

Besides the students who seem to be coming en masse, many alumni are returning to LaVerne for the annual affair.

Sherwood Eddy and Kirby Page Among Speakers

LAVERNE TO BE REPRESENTED AT CONFERENCE BY AEOLIANS

Out in the hills a little way from Monterey and among the Monterey pines is situated Asilomar. The Y. M. C. A. annually holds a convention there, with Christian leaders from all over the country as speakers and leaders of discussion groups. It was to stir up enthusiasm for this convention that the local Y. M. met last Monday.

Ed Cunningham was in charge of the program. George Berg was the first speaker. He told us about the spiritual benefits of Asilomar. He brought out the fact that many of national and international reputation such as Sherwood Eddy and Kirby Page and others are on the program at Asilomar and to be able to sit in conference and listen to them is a rare privilege—one never to be forgotten. He also told of the value of mingling with three or four hundred students like ourselves, members of a Y. M. C. A., men with Christian aspirations like our own, and men with experiences similar to ours.

George said it was a privilege to meet and associate with men like these. He impressed us with the thought that going to Asilomar gives one a new outlook on life. It gives one a broader viewpoint and a much greater vision. It was his opinion that going to Asilomar is an opportunity that by all means should not be missed.

Two other speakers were scheduled on the program but they did not show up. Due to this fact, Ed Cunningham took the floor and continued the discussion. He agreed with George, that going to Asilomar is the chance of a lifetime. He told us that we pay over a hundred dollars tuition each semester plus board, room, incidentals and other expenses. By going to Asilomar we would get for approximately fifty dollars as much in a week as we would in a semester or even a year at college. He pointed out that last year Redlands had a delegation of twenty at Asilomar and as a result they year their Y. M. C. A. is doing worth-while work. He said that after the convention such expressions as "the bigger things" and "the higher things in life" would mean much more to us.

It was pointed out that LaVerne has a special attraction at Asilomar this year as she is being represented in the Aeolian Quartet. This is a special attraction and should give added interest in the program to students of LaVerne. The general opinion of the speakers was that a week at Asilomar is a worth-while thing and should be attended if possible.

THERE ARE "OTHERS" AROUND YOU!

Do you ever see anyone so wrapped up in himself, his office and personal and social activities that he can't see the other fellow's side of a situation or that he just doesn't have time to think even a little about others or to remember that there are many around him who must be taken into consideration? No doubt you have, for there are many of this type in colleges today, and possibly just a few in our own LaVerne College.

Any who have this problem to face should face it fairly and squarely at once for it is a habit of thinking that causes an individual to lose both friends and prestige.

* * * *

KEEP UP IN YOUR WORK; CHRISTMAS SOON!

Many students are looking forward to the Christmas recess to catch up in their reading in several classes, and in the meantime are letting their work slide.

Perhaps the first is a good idea if the reading is still to be read when the two weeks recess rolls around; but how much better it would be if their work was kept up between now and then and some reading done on the back work. All of the back work might even be made up also before the coming vacation.

Why not try it? Then the recess could be enjoyed! But even if there should be a little make-up work to do by that time, studies should be kept up now so none will be added to it!

Working Through College

During the past few years, a much discussed individual has been the student who works his way through college. In newspapers and magazines it has been heralded to the world that his is a hard lot. On account of the necessity of having to sacrifice many good times and outside activities, not to mention sometimes his health and his studies, it was the general assumption that this would naturally make a better man of him in later life.

We believe that this idea, that the working student is a martyr and hero, has been worn threadbare and released with its only support, sentiment. The new outlook on the situation should be a practical and realistic one. To work one's way through college, nine times out of ten, will make an individual self-centered. Not necessarily on his own account, but due to his economic situation. The very fact that he must earn his way through school might make him think too much of himself.

Everything he does must be towards making money. If he is to go on staying at school, his welfare, therefore, is of prime importance. Outside activities, fraternity and sorority life must be given second place to shekel-gathering.

The selfish student may be immune from these effects, it is true. But we believe the average working student to be favorably touched by the situation. There,

Giving Thanks

"It's a great life—if you don't weaken." Give thanks in the first place that you haven't weakened by quitting school. Just think—you might be married and contemplating divorce by now. Really.

In the second place, give thanks you've passed your exams, no matter by what small a margin. Lots of students flunked and are busy praying their folks don't find it out.

Give thanks that you are up in your work, and won't have to spend your Thanksgiving vacation catching up. Friends have a way of dropping in on such occasions and spoiling any chance of studying. Of course you would hate that. Don't weaken and let them persuade you that a dance at the Rendezvous is much more important than mere study.

Be thankful that a nice rain came along and gave you a legitimate chance to wear that sporty raincoat—else you might have weakened and worn it anyway.

Be thankful trebly that you aren't a Soph. Frosh are so much more interesting, don't you think? Oh, well, Sophs have their points. They aren't very well defined, but they are there.

Oh, well, even if you do quit school, marry, divorce, flunk your can be nothing heroic in getting a lack of recreation and a low scholastic stand. This is the chief misfortune of many working students.—The Don.

Campus Chuckles

A vital question in LaVerne is: Does Kenny Groff like the light or dark haired species? How about it, Kenny?

Whatever trouble Adam had, no man, in days of yore, could say when told a joke, "I've heard that one before."

Dr. Hoover: "Today, I'm going to talk on the psychology of liars. How many of you people read chapter 30?"

Psychology class—every hand went up.

Dr. Hoover: "Good, you are the first class to whom I wish to speak. There is no Chapter 30."

A man gets pearls from an oyster, but it takes a woman to get diamonds from a nut.

Nick: "I'm going to marry you."
Edith Floy: "Oh, but have you seen my father?"

Nick: "Yes, but I love you just the same."

"Now," said Fred to his dad, at the football game, "you'll see more excitement for a dollar than you ever saw before."

Mr. Hubbell: "I don't know, that's what my marriage license cost me."

A little boy whose father was an automobile salesman once saw triplets for the first time and at once he rushed home to his mother and very excitedly said: "Oh, mother, guess what I saw—a lady with twins and a spare."

And there was the absent-minded professor who figured out what makes the absent-minded professor absent-minded, and then forgot the answer.

Ony Leonard: "I had to come clear across the room to see you, so I just want to kiss you."
Blanche K.: "I'm glad you weren't in the next block."

Cecil Brooks: "My brother is working with five thousand men under him."

Ralph Vaniman: "Where?"
Cecil B.: "Mowing lawns in a cemetery."

Miss Muir: "Can you tell me what makes the Tower of Pisa lean?"

Dora Thomas: "I don't know, or I'd take some myself."

Prof. Hollenberg: "How long did it take your wife to learn to drive a car?"

Prof. Cullen: It will be ten years next month."

"Chuck" Manning: "Have you an opening for a bright, energetic college graduate?"

Business Man: "Yes, and don't slam it when you go out."

"Mimi" Smith: "Does Whitcomb remember your birthday, LaVonne?"

LaVonne P.: "No, he doesn't. So I remind him of it in January and June, and get two presents a year."

Have you heard of the absent-minded business man who kissed his stenographer and then went home and tried to dictate to his wife.

ex—and it didn't rain, and you are a Soph it's a great life anyway.—The Don.

"IT"

It ran a little ways, traversing nearly five feet, and stopped just behind Sarafian's swivel chair. Prof. Sarafian walked around behind his desk, approaching the swivel chair.

I trembled for fear he would step near it; but he came nearer, totally unaware of the deed he was about to commit. It, that was behind the chair, was in grave danger; but was also ignorant of the fact. I knew not what to do. I could not save it without committing the sin of disturbing the class. Yet, I could not stand to see it crushed.

Then of a sudden it awoke and swerved sharply toward safety under the chair, letting oncoming Sarafian pass undisturbed. It, that was now under the chair, again moved, this time toward safety. It walked, it ran, it galloped for three long seconds; then stopped, exhausted and panting for breath. It swayed up and down and from side to side, getting its wind.

It's eight long limbs were indeed fatigued, but the spider (a daddy long legs) had reached safety and probably ascended to one of the drawers in Sarafian's desk to recuperate, further from excitement and hazardous adventure (after I had started to write this).

THE RIVER

I came from the sunny valleys,
And sought for the open sea,
For I thought in its gray expanses
My peace would come to me.

I came at last to the ocean
And found it wild and black,
And I cried to the windless valleys,
"Be kind and take me back!"

But the thirsty tide ran inland
And the salt waves drank of me,
And I who was fresh as rainfall
Am bitter as the sea.

—Sara Teasdale, in "Rivers to the Sea."

MONOGAMY

(A treatise written for Ethics last year, but not handed in.)

Introduction

No people should secure himself more than one weakness. I'll tell you why. But first, vee will consider the enormosity or extensivity of this exercise (I meant practice). I vill not consider vot peoples do but singly or only how they appears. Mit dot introduckshun, I am able to say that the peoples within the scope and influence of Xianity practice the aforementioned practice.

Body

Now dot that ist over, I can proceed. De introduckshun iz always the most difficult for me. In fact, if I can get by it, I can usually do very vell in the rest of a treatise.

And I believe it is the same this time. I vill do very vell since I gotta start.

But, gee, I'm almost over. Oh, shaw, dere I vent again off on a tangent. I meant my space und time is almost finish; so I must conclude myself. So hear goes:

Conclusion

Der conclusion is dot wimmin should not tempt peoples in civilized kuntries like dey does in heathen kuntries; so vee vill always haff monogomy.

Prof. Brubaker: "Young man, who do you think you are, teacher of the class?"

Benny Anderson: "No, sir."

Prof. B.: "Then don't act like an idiot."

Cy Nical Comments

It would be surprised if I ever saw Mr. Woody playing golf, but I would be just as surprised if I should see Dean Hoover practicing horseshoes for the coming Faculty-Senior horseshoe contest. Say, I will bet anybody two old horseshoed hatpins to the hole in a doughnut that Dean Hoover won't even consider the game. Want to bet?

"I told you so." "So there." Whenever I hear college students using these expressions, as I hear them used every day, OI always think of the little boy who told his playmate he didn't like him because he was freckled, so there. Now someone is going to say I was directing this at them so I am going to beat them to it and say, "I told you so."

We are in an institution of learning and are supposed to develop our minds to be able to think for ourselves and to express our own views. Yep—and one or two of them flunk us flat if our views do not coincide with their infallible views.

The other night as I listened to Prof. Travis' organ recital I wondered what could be greater than music. In music one finds everything which is beautiful and harmonious and that is just what the world wants—harmony. In my estimation the person who can interpret the harmonies of music has the soul strings of man in his grasp.

Too much turkey to say much this time. I will tell you more next time. Respectfully—Cy Nical.

Chicago College to Try New Plan

EDUCATIONAL EXPERIMENT TO BE MADE

University of Chicago authorities are working out the details of a revolutionary educational plan, under which students will be graduated from the institution whenever they are able to pass a comprehensive examination.

Regardless of whether he has attended the university two, three or four years, the student will acquire his B. A. degree when he sufficiently demonstrates his ability, according to President Robert Maynard Hutchins.

This is a complete departure from the almost universal system whereby the student must take a certain number of courses and amass a specified total of credits before receiving his diploma.

Five Years' Trial

If the plan does not prove practicable within a period of about five years it will be revised or discarded entirely for another experiment, Dr. Hutchins indicated.

The present graduate school also will be altered, the president said. Both the graduate and undergraduate non-professional courses will be divided into five main sections—biological sciences, humanities and the college. A dean will be over each.

Taking the training of teachers as an example, Dr. Hutchins stated:

"The complaint has been heard in many quarters that teachers were too narrow and specialized, that they did not have a sufficiently broad outlook and were not able to change quickly.

"In this new institution which we are starting we hope to teach the teacher as well as the student how to study."—The Loyolan.

Mock Debate To Be Held By Varsity Debaters At 10:25

ROUND CHICKEN ROOSTS VS. SQUARE ONES SUBJECT OF THE DAY

Resolved, that round chicken roosts are more beneficial to society than square ones."

That is the very serious and intellectual subject up for debate in the Associated Students meeting Thursday. This mock debate is being put on by several of our varsity debaters in the interests of the society in general and the varsity Glee Club in particular.

The affirmative debaters, or round chicken roost advocates, will be Chalmers Faw and Everett Calvert, and those who will affirm, square ones, debate and argue that round roosts are most beneficial to society are Ed Cunningham and Glenn Vaniman.

LUMNI NOOS

Mr. and Mrs. Ovid Barklow entertained at dinner Thursday, Thanksgiving day, Misses Anna Emmert, Mary Emmert Evelyn Deardorff and Dr. Emmert.

Miss Bertha Fike has recently been appointed director of children's work in the Churches of the Northern District of California.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Brooks of Los Angeles spent the Thanksgiving vacation with Mr. and Mrs. John Brooks of Delano.

Glenn Vaniman of Kingsburg spent the Thanksgiving vacation at home in Long Beach.

Merlin Yoder, Russell Frantz, and Jess Hepner spent a couple of days recently, hunting at Milton Sea.

Miss Vera Hoover entertained the Pomological Club Saturday with a group of numbers on the theme organ.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase Harper of San Pedro spent Thursday night with his mother, Mrs. Bertha Harper.

Dwight Welch of Monrovia attended the conference of the older M. C. A. boys at San Diego over the Thanksgiving vacation.

Miss Florence Long entertained a group of alumni friends at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ray Culver, Thursday evening. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Yoder of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Butterbaugh of San Marino, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bohn and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Brownberger of El Monte, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Frantz of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Betts, Miss Alberta Maust, Chester Shirk and Orville Brooks.

WE CAN BE THANKFUL

We pause to express our sincere gratitude and thanks that we are living in an age of progress and development in endeavors of science, religion, and intellectual advancement. We give thanks to Him for making us what we are and the possibilities that are before us.

That we are in good health and have parents and friends to respect and to respect us, we give thanks. For McPherson College we give our respects for a school that has as its standard the "School of Quality." For the college organizations and activities we give our appreciation and gratitude. We are thankful for our friends

STUDENT SOCIAL LIFE

Botany Class Makes Field Trip to Ganesha Park

Trees and Shrubs Studied

The botany class and Professor Hollenberg made a field trip to Ganesha Park, where they made a study of trees and shrubs. After studying these things of nature in the park, the group went to the Pomona College campus, where Professor Hollenberg had a special tree in mind for the class to see. Then on home to wonder how soon Professor Hollenberg would give a nice little identification test to find out how much knowledge they had acquired on the field trip.

Remarks, Observation and Gossip

1. Did you hear that one of the Sophomore girls—Harriet Hoke—was put in the garbage can at the Soph steak fry?

Did you know that Mr. Wilson tried for twenty minutes to park his car in the San Dimas Park one night but couldn't find a place? We wonder just what kind of a place he wanted.

2. Have you heard that Mrs. Haugh likes Max Forney because he is dark, tall, and so good looking?

3. Did you hear Fred Brunk say, "I didn't have much to eat last night, so I am starved this morning." (And in a hushed voice) "I was at Reatha's place for dinner."

5. Did you know that Ronald Williams carried Opal Kuns up the front steps one day? No! I did.

5. We have seen Marie Pabst in the company of a young man several times and heard her call him "her old man" and "the rest of the family." We wish you luck, Marie.

6. We haven't heard of any engagement announcements lately. Wonder who will be next? Come on, frosh!

7. Did you hear that Fred Brunk said, "Measles make me most awful mad," in Speech the other day? I wondered what was wrong.

8. Did you hear Dr. Hoover ask, "Why does a dog turn around two or three times before lying down?" And Ed Ohanesian answer, "So he won't have to do it afterwards?"

9. Have you noticed several very conceited frosh men? Snap out of it H. D., we would hate to hurt your feelings.

10. Did you ever hear anyone sing, "I love him, I love him, that's easy to see; it's Chester, just Chester for me."

11. Roll call: Chester Landis? Present! George Weybright? Present! Benny Anderson? Present! Ellis Hall? Present! Now boys, just what are your excuses for refusing to go to a perfectly good party? Surely the punch was all right! And the invitation was perfectly okay. I'm ashamed of you, boys.

If we could see ourselves as others see us, we'd swear that what they see just cannot be us.

and our associations. To those who are dear to us and who have hope and belief in us we praise and wish that as another year rolls around that He will find us better than we are today.—The Spectator.

NEWSETTES

Miss Evelyn Deardorff entertained Thursday evening at a rook party Misses Anna Emmert and Kathleen Shaffer, Kenneth Deardorff, Doyle Montz, and Prof. Travis, besides Mr. and Mrs. Ovid Barklow. The evening was spent playing "rook" and "pig," after which refreshments of sandwiches, hot chocolate, and popcorn were served.

Mr. Maurice Smith had a dinner for his Sunday School class Saturday evening at his home in Glendora.

The Apollos went with President Studebaker to help him with the service aboard the U. S. S. Mississippi, at San Pedro, Sunday morning.

Miss Myrtice Butterbaugh, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Merle Butterbaugh and Ronald Bessey, went to Balboa to visit Myrtice's aunt, Mrs. D. W. Lefever.

A birthday dinner was given to Miss Edna Brubaker at her home Sunday. The guests were Miss Myrtice Butterbaugh, Messrs. Marvin Bolinger, Jerry Deal, Ronald Bessey and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hepner.

Coach Lee Eisan and Mrs. Eisan enjoyed several days in the north during Thanksgiving week, attending several football games (a high school game and the St. Marys-Oregon and Stanford-Dartmouth contests) besides visiting many friends.

Mr. Eisan's mother and his brother, Lester, returned to their home in Berkeley last week after visiting in LaVerne several days.

Miss LaVonne Putnam spent the week-end at Balboa.

JUNIOR SKATING PARTY

Last Tuesday evening the Juniors met in their regular monthly class meeting. However, it was not only a class meeting, but a regular outing or excursion. The personnel of the class gathered at the home of Frances Sandblom in Los Angeles, and after a lengthy wait for the president, a short business session was held. Routine business was taken care of and committees were appointed for the Junior play, "The Worm." (Buy your tickets now, thank you.)

The more serious business of whether no outsiders be admitted to Junior class functions was brought up and discussed at great length. After much heated debate, it was decided that in the future all Junior boys will be accompanied by one or more Junior girls at Junior functions to preclude the possibility of Junior girls going outside the Junior class to obtain their transportation to Junior functions.

After the business session refreshments were served. Immediately following this banquet the class adjourned to the Rollerdom at Culver City, where part of the class spent their time in skating, and the other members whiled away their time in getting up and falling again.

The melee broke up at eleven o'clock.

MR. REEVES GIVES ADDRESS

Bell High School Principal Talks on "Progress"

In order to point out the rapid progress which the world has made in the last century and a half, Mr. Reeves, principal of the Bell High School gave an illustrative dissertation in chapel Tuesday morning in which he contrasted the past and present.

Following is a summary of Mr. Reeves' address:

There has been a marked advance in educational advantages, and the United States has led the way. There are more young people attending colleges in the United States today than all the college attendants of other countries put together.

But the younger generation of the present time enjoys many educational opportunities that were not open even to its parents.

Economically, today is the wealthiest day in the history of the world. This is largely a result of the keen competition which characterizes the business world. During Jefferson's administration $900,000 were allotted for the maintenance of government and $600,000 for the maintenance of the navy. A far greater sum is set aside for government use today and it costs about as much to shoot just one shell from a cannon of a government gunboat now as was assigned to the use of the navy then.

In regard to the progress of science, the speaker quoted the following words of Dr. Millikan: "The world has advanced further in the past thirty years than in the last three hundred, exclusive of the thirty."

The spiritual or religious phase has not only advanced but has changed to meet the needs of the times. Formerly the church was the main social center, but now it has to compete with many other social institutions. Furthermore, the radius of the activity of boys and girls of the present has been multiplied forty-four times.

Towards the close of his talk Mr. Reeves made the following remark: "I feel very definitely that the most serious question which every young person must face today is what he is to do with his life." He added further that this problem should be settled in such a way that the individual might be of service in helping to perpetuate progress.

Ellis Hall: "If I'm the first man you've ever kissed, how come you're so good at it?"

Grace Gockley: "If I'm the first girl you ever kissed, how do you know I'm good at it?"

Faculty News

President and Mrs. Studebaker and the Apollo quartet visited the battleship U. S. S. Mississippi at San Pedro on Sunday. The quartet sang and President Studebaker gave the Sunday address.

The executive board of the college meets Tuesday, Dec. 1, at 2:00 p. m.

President Studebaker will give three addresses over radio KMPC of U. S. C. On December 3, 9:00 to 9:30, he will speak on the subject, "The Relation of Education to Respect for Law and Order," Dec. 10, 9 to 9:30 p. m., "The Relation of Education to Ideal Citizenship," Dec. 17, 9 to 9:30 p. m., "Relation of Education to World Peace."

Professor Arthur Cable, who is professor of speech at the University of Arizona and president of the Western Association and Speech, gave the Sunday morning address at the LaVerne Church of the Brethren. Prof. Cable was a friend of President Studebaker at the University of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Yoder, their daughter, Gladys, and Martha Baer visited in Templeton over Thanksgiving vacation at Miss Baer's home.

Coach and Mrs. Leland Eisan drove to Berkeley last Sunday night and spent the week there having a very enjoyable time. They took with them the coach's mother and Lester Eisan.

Bernice Conley: "Why did you drop that young man who took you to all the football games?"

Opal Kuns: "Football season is over."

Hoy Deeter: "Why do they put the head of a woman on a dollar?"

Everett Calvert: "Because money talks."

LEOPARD HOOPMEN RATE WITH BULL-DOGS

Both Teams Have Same Players Returning

From Redlands comes word that the Bulldogs are to be stopped this year, the Leopard hoopmen are the ones who will have to do the stopping of the 1929 champions. Now, whether or not these two teams will be so strong that no other team has a chance for the title remains to be seen, but at least the drippings from the dope bucket seem to show that they must be established as pre-season favorites.

Redlands has four of its championship team back, and Pete Beaden, who was out a year, has returned to take his place, which puts the Bulldogs in about the same place they were last year.

LaVerne, however, has all five men back, plus a new coach, and all of its reserve material, which should mean something. One thing that probably will have to be fought is overconfidence, which might prove the downfall of either squad.

Occidental, Whittier, and San Diego all have strong teams and stand a good chance of upsetting the favorites any time.

ENGINEERS TAKE THE CHAMPIONSHIP

Caltech 20, San Diego 0;
Whittier 39, Redlands 7

"Fox" Stantons' Caltech Engineers finished the football season undefeated by trouncing the San Diego Aztecs 20-0 on Thanksgiving Day, down at the border city, and as a result are now acclaimed the Champions of 1930.

Pomona, LaVerne, and Occidental were the other teams handed defeats by the champions, the scores being 2-0, 27-13, and 6-0 respectively.

Whittier, runner-up, has a strong team, but the Poets were given a 25-0 by Occidental in their first conference game, which blew up their hopes for the pennant.

Caltech has a fine, well-trained team, and certainly there is no other football squad in the conference which would make as good champions as the Engineers. For, not only are they the strongest team in the conference, but individually they are the best sports and cleanest players.

Hail the champions!

Varsity Club Holds Banquet Meeting

Tentative High School Basket Ball Tournament for December 12 and 13

The Varsity Club met Saturday night, November 29, at the banquet hall of the Church of the Brethren for a good social time and business meeting.

During the meal, the program consisted of a couple of violin solos by Robert Walker, group singing led by Orville Thomason, two numbers by a quartet composed of Wayne Bohn, "Happy" Brubaker, Daniel Stover, and Orville Thomason, and two duet numbers by Wayne Bohn and "Happy" Brubaker.

A business session followed, at which time a discussion of a basket ball meet for high school teams coached by alumni, took place. The Varsity Club agreed to sponsor a basket ball meet Friday and Saturday and have a tournament on these eight high school teams on December 12 and 13, followed by a Leopard varsity game. It is not definitely known how many teams will be able to participate, but there are approximately eight coached by LaVerne alumni.

"Chuck" Manning: "I've made up my mind to stay at home."

Esther Thomason: "Too late! I've made up my face to go."

Prof. Hollenberg: "Where do bugs go in the winter?"

Fred Butterbaugh: "Search me."

INTERCLASS CASABA CONTEST UNDER WAY

HARD CHARGING SENIORS LOSE TO FROSH

Supposedly the Frosh-Seniors met in an inter-class basket ball game Monday afternoon. The final score was Frosh 26, Seniors 14. However, being the first game of the season, it was played as most first games are played. A lot of the game was played on the floor and many of the ideas of football Eisan has been trying to get across all season finally showed signs of developing last evening.

The Senior class was slightly hampered by the ruling which bars lettermen from interclass competition, but the senior team that was on the floor played hard if not gently or well. The Frosh played four full teams and presented a number of ex-high school stars. spots, but the teams were coming and going so fast that it was a hard job to get a line on the real abilities of the various players.

Due to the wholesale substitutions no peagreen was able to run up a large individual score. Davis emerged high man with six digits and was closely followed by Kelley with five markers and Fluck with four tallies.

High scoring honors for the Seniors belongs to Calvert, who rang the bell four times and was only a shade ahead of Edinger and Smith, who accumulated three apiece.

The line-up:

| Seniors 14 |   | Frosh 26   |  |
|------------|---|------------|--|
| Calvert, 4 | F | Fluck, 4   |  |
| Edinger, 3 | F | Stutzman   |  |
| Leonard, 1 | C | Messick, 1 |  |
| Smith, 3   | G | Anderson   |  |
| Ferress, 1 | G | Kelley, 5  |  |

Substitutions: Seniors: Funk, Montz, and DuBois (2). Frosh: Brooks (2), Saylor, Brownsberger, Vaniman (1), Singer (2), Shaw, Pratt, Holl Replogle, Holl, Weybright, Calvert (2), Swihart, Montgomery (3), and Davis (6).

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF—

1. Joe Roynon ever read his Educational Psychology lesson?
2. Anna Emmert wore high heeled slippers?
3. "Buck" Ferree ever got to 7:40 class on time?
4. Kenny and Kathleen agreed to disagree?
5. Prof. Travis got married during Christmas vacation?
6. All the faculty would have forgotten back after Thanksgiving vacation?
7. Doyle Montz ever got a paper written and handed in on time?
8. "Dot" Gans bobbed her hair windblown?
9. "Vi" Smith didn't get all excited about everything?
10. Frances and Ruth Bishop walked to school every morning.

Vernon Heckman: "When did they first get the idea of using busses for transportation?"
Albert Gnagy: "When Brigham Young went on his honeymoon."

Soph (looking up statistics): "It says that everytime I breathe someone dies."

Junior: "Why don't you chew cloves."

SOPHS BOW TO JUNIORS SCORE 20-14

The Junior casaba tossers won a hard-earned victory over the Sophomores last evening in the feature contest of the evening's play-offs, 20-14.

First one outfit and then the other would get hot and go into the lead, only to be tied shortly afterwards by the other, which made it an interesting game to watch. This game was also much faster than the Frosh-Seniortussle.

Kindy and Welty did most of the scoring for the winners, Kindy ringing up four field goals and a foul for a total of nine digits, while Welty dropped three from the foul line for a total of eight points, leaving Kindy high-point man honors for the evening. Jones with one field goal and Deal with a foul shot accounted for the rest of the scoring of the Juniors.

For the Sophs, Howell was high point man with five digits, while Forney and Wilson with a field goal apiece and Heckman with a foul shot completed the scoring of the Sophomores.

Deal, Kindy, and Welty worked well together on the offense and Jones and Thomas did some nice defensive work.

Forney sank the only one he made from the center of the floor; and from the expression on his face, he surprised himself as well as the fans.

The line-up:

| Juniors 20 |    | Sophs 14 |  |
|------------|----|----------|--|
| Kindy      | F  | Wilson   |  |
| Deal       | F  | Howell   |  |
| Welty      | C  | Forney   |  |
| Thomas     | SG | Snell    |  |

Substitutes: Juniors, none. Sophomores: Heckman at forward; Stover, Bolinger and Lewin at running guard, and Fyock and Meley at standing guard.

JUNIORS TO PLAY FROSH TONITE

SOPHS MEET SENIORS IN FIRST GAME AT 4 P.M.

Juniors Favored to Win the Championship

The Juniors and Frosh will vie for the inter-class championship tonight as a result of their victories over the Sophs 20-14 and Seniors 25-14, respectively, while the latter two teams will fight it out for the cellar position.

The Juniors are favored to take the final and deciding game, and the Seniors appear to have the cellar berth cinched. The other two classes are destined by the writer to tie for next to the last place or second, however you choose to put it.

The Juniors looked good against the strong Sophomore hoopmen, while the Frosh looked none too strong against the hard charging Seniors; even if they did have four teams; hence the preceding predictions for this evening's games, which will start at four o'clock with the Soph-Senior battle.

The Junior-Frosh championship affair will conclude the inter-class festivities, and although the Juniors are established favorites, the Frosh may win if they open up and change their combinations a little.
