CAMPUS TIMES STAFF MEETING IN UPROAR

LIGHT SYSTEM TO BE INSTALLED ON ARNETT FIELD

WILL INCREASE NUMBER OF GAMES ON HOME FIELD

A Total of Two Thousand Watts To Be Used

Under the auspices of the Varsity Club and the Associated Students of LaVerne College, lights are to be installed on Arnett Field within the next two weeks by the Edison Company.

There will be ten poles with three lights of two thousand watts each on each pole. This will make the total of sixty thousand watts for the field. With the new reflectors which are being used the lights will be second to none in the Southern California Conference.

LaVerne College is the last school in the conference to have lights installed, and in the 1932 football season we will probably have more games scheduled at home.

Get your nightcaps, students, you'll need them.

ENROLLMENT NOW AT NEW HIGH MARK

Depression Fails to Affect Attendance

The L. V. C. enrollment reached a new high mark in the 1931 registration with a total of 211 students.

The present enrollment includes 42 Seniors, 53 Juniors, 49 Sophomores, 56 Frosh, 2 post-graduates, and 16 specials.

Practically all points of the country are represented by various students making a thoroughly cosmopolitan group.

Contrary to popular opinion the so-called depression did not deplete the student body ranks. There are nearly a score more students than last year.

Rules and Regulations Explained by President

CATALOG RULES ENUMERATED

Prexy asked the help of the students in fulfilling regulations. He also spoke about "habits." He said that good habits were worth much—get into the habit of studying and do not waste time, but settle down to work immediately. Get the habit of getting to classes on time. Get up in the morning on time. Regularity is the keynote of "success."

The ten master habits around which President Studebaker built his talk were the habits of interest, purpose, thought, planning, effect, growth, goodwill, humor, sincerity and facts.

Frosh Bob Harris played a beautiful violin solo and was accompanied on the piano by Prof. Travis.

My personal nomination for the woman with the most comelitherish wink—Irene Blackerbee.

NEW CAFETERIA PLAN GREAT ASSET

Sponsored by Administration on Non-Profit Basis

Nineteen thirty-one has been a year replete with new innovations at L. V. C. One of the newest, most beneficial, and convenient of these is the cafeteria in Miller Hall. The cafeteria, sponsored by the administration, is operated on a rock bottom basis. Prices are such that the proceeds just cover expenses.

Mr. and Mrs. Replogle, the cooks, are putting up a quality of food par excellence. Because of the lowness of cost, quality of food, and convenience of situation, a student cannot afford to board himself.

It is urged that the students patronize the cafeteria and make possible its continuance.

'Hobbs' Adams Features in Y. M. C. A. Meet

Frosh to Keep Y. M. Room Clean

Welcome, new students! This is what the opening session of the Y. M. C. A. expressed last Friday. With our peppy president, Dick Maley, presiding, a very promising program was outlined for this year.

It has been planned that twelve meetings will be devoted to speeches given by men in various vocations of life, including bankers, professors, business men, and even a policeman, who is to appear at a joint Y. M. C. A. meeting in two weeks. The year's big event will be the retreat to Jenks Lake next spring.

Duties of the Freshmen concerning the cleanliness of the room were stipulated and the Frosh men were also reminded that it is up to them to sit on the floor when chairs run out.

Captain "Hobbs" Adams gave a personal message to the fellows, dwelling on the principles of sportsmanship, courage, and fellowship, ending his talk with his opinion of the possibilities of L. V. C. in football this year.

At the conclusion of two violin duet numbers by "Bob" Walker and "Bill" Clinkenbeard, the meeting adjourned.

Freshie: "If I die will I go to heaven?"

Sophomore: "They might as well ship you there, you're too green to burn."

Red (fiercely): "Before I go, I'm certainly going to kiss you."

Ruth (passionately): "Leave the house, at once."

ORLIN VANIMAN IS SENIOR PRESIDENT

Successful Social Year is Predicted

The Senior class meeting resulted in the election of Orlin Vaniman, president; Albert Gnagy, vice-president; Jean Bland, secretary; Harry Thomas, treasurer. A successful year is predicted under the leadership of these officers. Plans for the next meeting and the first party of the year will be made by the cabinet and announced later.

The first meeting of the Junior class was held Wednesday afternoon in Dr. Sarafian's room. The following officers were elected:

President, Charles Snell.
Vice-president, Elvin Wilson.
Secretary, Mary Hollinger.
Treasurer, Max Forney.
Social chairman, Opal Kuns.

CENTRAL THOUGHT IS TO BETTER STUDENT BODY FACILITIES

A STUDENT PRESS IS ADVOCATED

DR. GILBERT, NEW FACULTY MEMBER, LECTURES

Tells of Work in Paleontology

The speaker at chapel last Thursday was Dr. S. Z. Gilbert. He is here in the place of Professor Hollenberg, who is away on leave of absence. Dr. Gilbert has done considerable work in paleontology in collaboration with Dr. Merriam and others. He had much to do with the excavations at the La Brea tar pits, and has presented to LaVerne College the fossil remains of a saber-tooth tiger which was found in those clay beds.

He brought to the faculty, students, and friend of LaVerne College the felicitous greetings of the Board of Education of Los Angeles school district and the Los Angeles high school.

Dr. Gilbert said that the ideal conditions for a religious education are a spiritually endowed teacher with a vital message, and a longing soul desiring to understand. The public school system in recent years has drifted away from spiritual life and is now educating only for commercial and financial success. It fails by combining high intellectual development with low desires. What we need is a Christian college which educates the man—the whole man, the soul of man.

LaVerne Quartets Excel

Prospects are Favorable

Once again LaVerne can boast of its quartet work. Prof. Haugh is confident that with the already famous Apollo Four, the Harmony Quartet, a new women's quartet, and the possibility of a men's and women's Frosh quartet, LaVerne College will "supply the demand."

The Harmony Quartet, composed of Ellis Holl, Elmo Hall, Robert Walker and Charles Snell, was the Frosh quartet of last year. It is predicted that this quartet will also be one of the main cogs in the wheel this year.

Martha Darkes, Helen Elenberger, Grace Gans, and Mary Gillette comprise the women's quartet. This group, although new to the college, is well under way, according to Professor Haugh.

Nothing more need be said about the Apollo Four, as the whole student body is already acquainted with their splendid work.

Taking all in all, L. V. C. will be ably supplied with some active quartets this coming year. The student body and faculty are looking forward to a very successful season in the realm of music.

Several important matters, including class dues and a Junior-Frosh party were discussed, and a committee was appointed to see about a Junior play.

Students Desire Access to Library During All Study Hours

Last Friday the editorial staff of the Campus Times held a meeting in which many new projects for the student body were discussed. The staff editors also suggested ways and means of bettering our student body paper, the Campus Times.

Some of the points of discussion were:

Why not have our own student press? THINK ABOUT IT?

1. At present cost of publication of Campus Times the press could be paid for in one year.

2. The following years the press would pay considerable dividends to the associated students.

3. The administration would have the useful advantage of the press.

How is your paper financed and can you help? Yes, by patronizing our advertisers and telling them you saw their adv. in the Campus Times.

Is there such a thing as student spirit and what is its present status in L. V. C.? Dead? Fossilized? Dormant? Forgotten? Or, do we have any? Are we giving football our ing the Campus Times? Are we backing the Campus Times? Are we co-operating with the Commission?

What is the library for? As it is it is a morgue as far as availability for study is concerned. Our study hours are from 7:30 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. Why not have the library available for study at all hours instead of a museum for the protection of books from the students who really need them for study?

When and how can the student organizations hold meetings? Under the present schedule such meetings are an impossibility. When the schedule was adopted the students were to have the last half of the chapel periods. We do—we have it in chapel and organizations can go hang. Also, concerning the schedule, the so-called "free periods" are in reality gym periods.

What is your attitude to these questions? Are we going to take steps to better them or remain in our present dormant state? A collegiate atmosphere is a necessity and necessity is the mother of inventions. Let's invent some.

This article may be slinging mud but mud slingers usually get responses. What is your response?

A FRESHMAN'S PRAYER

I want to be a Senior and with the Seniors stand,
With a fountain pen behind my ear,
and a notebook in my hand.
I wouldn't be president, I wouldn't be king;
I wouldn't be emperor for all that that wealth could bring,
I wouldn't be an angel, for angels have to sing.
I would rather be a senior and never do a thing.

AUTHOR SAYS U. S. YOUTHS INCAPABLE OF SERIOUS STUDY

"The younger generation in America is '12 years old permanently,' and its reaction to the serious problems confronting it in the world today is summed up in the phrase, 'Oh, yeah?' in the opinion of Edna Ferber, outstanding American novelist and Pulitzer Prize winner." . . . "America is the only great country that has no youth movement." . . . "Nothing is terribly vital to the young men and women today but wisecracking. The boys and girls going to college have absolutely no serious discussion. The only thing they can talk about is football. This is true of no other country in the world." . . . "In this country to be serious is to be ridiculous." . . . "Any French boy of 18 that you talk to—not a student necessarily, but a garage mechanic or business man—can talk about reparations or the economic situation in Europe. They have an opinion one way or the other. They don't think it is the 'bunk.' They have been taught to think." . . . "It is important that we stop wisecracking, that we stop being a nation of Jimmie Walkers and realize the world is falling to bits. Not that it matters; I think it would be a good thing if the whole thing went back to the primeval ooze and started from scratch. We certainly haven't made a good thing of it."

I guess that is telling us what she thinks of us. Now, what do you think of it, or can you think? Haven't you noticed the degenerate tendency, even among the seniors, to do nothing but the so-called wisecracking? We seem to have the perverted idea that a conversation is not genuine unless we are "burning" the other fellow up. Stop and consider the question seriously and see what a difference it will make to really think. Find out what real advantages can be gained from thinking. We are here for the express purpose of developing our mental capacities, so let us be STUDENTS and not puppets. Nothing is more sickening than a "punk pun." Be witty but not foolish.

NEVER SAY DIE! WE CAN HAVE A PIPE ORGAN, TOO!

"In accordance with the plans voted upon at the student body meetings last year, Chico State Teachers College will pay for its share of the cost of the $16,000 Robert Morton pipe organ bought for $3,000 from Sherman Clay & Company of San Francisco and installed this summer, by means of a 50-cent special assessment levied upon each member of the student body, to be paid every semester during registration. The cost of putting the organ in, $1,000, was paid for by the state and Sherman Clay & Company. The initial payment of $1,000 was covered by the $350 proceeds from the opera "Bohemian Girl," given last spring, the gifts of the senior classes of 1930 and 1931, plus contributions from business men of Chico."

How does that sound as a project for the student body? Why not express your opinion on the subject? Can you think of anything finer than a pipe organ in our chapel? Listen to what U. S. C. is doing. "Chapel periods will be of a distinctly different nature this semester, with the substitution of brief organ concerts for the customary devotional exercises and alks, it was officially announced yesterday."

Why not get behind this idea and start the ball rolling? I am sure we could locate a good organ as cheap as Chico has done. I suppose you are wondering how we, the students, could help. By simply pulling together as Chico students have. We are capable of staging an opera here. WHY NOT? We could include a 50-cent or 75-cent assessment in our registration fees and never know the difference. Start talking the idea and see how much enthusiasm you can generate. If you like organ music as I do we will have one in a very short time. I feel safe in saying that we can count on the constituency if we express our opinions and do our part. What do you say?

THE INK WELL

By Faw

STRETCHING

Nothing is quite so exhilarating as a good old heart-felt stretch. It somehow loosens the cramped connections of one's extremities and opens the channels for a healthy flow of life-giving blood. Try it and see.

More stimulating yet, however, is a vigorous mind-stretching. It means putting that mental mechanism of yours through a new set of gymnastics, breaking down of long accumulated brain corruptions, and clearing the way for a great flood of healthful thinking. Make that old cerebrum reach out into new fields of thought, tread unexplored by-paths, and bring home fresh flowers plucked along the way of knowledge. It will surprise you.

But do not stop there in your stretching. Take that old heart of yours now hemmed in by limited contacts or trammled by narrowing affections and put it out into new and refreshing experiences. Only a constant stretching can bring you that fine sensitiveness to the most subtle notes of human life and aspiration. Teach that heart by ever-broadening friendships the lessons of love, service, sacrifice, and joy. It will make you grow.

Make all life a continuous up-and-out reach, a stretching after the better and more beautiful. There is no achievement that cannot be yours and no joy that you may not experience. Keep stretching.

A four-wheel brake is a wonderful invention—the automobile can stop on top of the pedestrian rather than run over him.

Mimi: "Did he really say I was dove-like?"

LaVonne: "No, not exactly; he said you were pigeon-toed."

BLOW-OFF COLUMN

Hold your pantleg or that sawed-off Chevrolet of Booth's will start right up it. That pesky thing is a nuisance because it is so short; it always makes it look like there is a parking place when there isn't. It fools me almost every day and I have to drive nearly to the end of the block. Never mind, I am going to have my revenge. I will chase it up a tree some day.

A quotation, but I like it: "Milady may revive the Empress Eugenie hat if she chooses, but she needn't expect us gents to grow Napoleon III whiskers as accessory scenery."

My personal feelings when I see a woman with one of these postage stamp hats on is that all she needs is a saw horse and a whip to make herself complete in her ridiculousness.

I have a peculiar obsession to grow a mustache. Once I tried it and got a boil on my lip for my pains. Again I tried it and made a dismal failure. Just wait, I'm going to try to get brave again some time.

(Perhaps if you borrowed Joe Cosner's and wore it a week you would find you don't care for a mustache after all.—S.)

I wonder why Mary Throne always goes around the halls singing to herself? Is she that sadly misunderstood?

Hooray for the Sophomores!

I believe they are the most considerate, the most polite, and in fact the most genuine all around class of ninnies I have seen. Here it is the third week of school and I haven't even found out that there was such a thing as a Sophomore class around. The only persons who have asked the Frosh to wear their dinks are the Student Prexy and Store Manager. To make things nice for the Sophs, the Frosh are so sweet they always wear them(?). I can remember when a little nocturnal pedal extremity exercise was a good cure for many Frosh ills. I can also remember when Frosh had to learn songs and yells under the efficient tutorship of a zealous Soph (a thing of the past). Ask Ed Ohanesian.

Where is the spirit in both the Frosh and Soph classes? I believe you are both a little bit "chicken." Things are so dead between you that it is nauseating. Imagine, three

Work on Handel's Great Messiah Starts

Professors Haugh and Travis Feel Encouraged

Choral Union is in full swing under the leadership of Professors Travis and Haugh. Although several good voices were lost through graduation last year, their places are being filled by new Frosh and J. C. transfers. Forty have already been enrolled and started practice on Handel's "Messiah" which they plan to present during the Bible Institute in February. The class meets from 12 noon to 12:30 on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Besides the "Messiah," Professors Travis and Haugh plan to present, with the assistance of the Choral Club, an opera, a group of carols at Christmas, the "Seven Last Words" at Easter, and a few sacred concerts.

Irritable Lady: "Stop pushing, can't you?"

Stout man: "I ain't pushin', I only sighed."

Molly Warrington: "Say, how did you make at the glee club try-out?"

Chuck Snell: "I made first bass on four bawls."

Former: "What are you doing in my orange grove, young man?"

Bert: "One of your oranges fell down and I was trying to put it back."

Miss Lenhardt (in Spanish): "If you wish to say 'She fell in love,' that would be 'se enamoro.' Now if I fell in love, what would that be?"

Bernie Brubaker: "A calamity."

Soph (to Frosh): "Say, do you know there is a town in Massachusetts named after you?"

Proud Frosh: "No, what is it?"

Soph: "Marble head."

Sophs taking one Frosh out and being so ignorant as not to tie his feet so he could not run back to the car as fast as they could so they had to bring him back home.

I wonder what we will do for Frosh court. So far about the only thing worthy of any kind of court would be the giving of lollypops to both classes for their good behavior. Wouldn't that be exciting? Come on, get going, and act like you were at least one jump ahead of the undertaker, both of you.

LAMBDA STAFF TO HAVE PRIVATE OFFICE

Make Progress During Summer Vacation

Although the Lambda does not come off the press until next May, the staff is already busy making plans and collecting ideas for the book. Under the competent editorship of Kenneth (Kenny) Deardorff it is hoped that this year's Lambda will surpass that of last year. Members of the staff have been working during the summer on various ideas of art, cover design, and general arrangement. This year the Lambda staff is going to enjoy the advantages of a private office which will occupy the old book room in the basement. This will prove a great advantage in the collecting and compiling of material.

Those who have been chosen to serve on the staff are as follows: Editor-in-chief, Kenneth Deardorff Associate Editor, Virginia Scarisbrick.

FEATURES

The next time you bend the elbow drinking one of the eight daily glasses of water, as prescribed by the best doctors, bear in mind the news item: "The Norwegian steamer 'Vigdis' left Cardiff, Wales, on Saturday, with a cargo of 835,200 gallons of Cardiff drinking water for supplying the twenty vessels engaged in whaling in the Antarctic. This is the largest quantity of fresh water ever shipped from Cardiff and is to be carried about 7,000 miles."

Have you noticed some of the abject looks some of the fellows have been wearing around all over their faces this year? There is poor Joe Cosner, practically inconsolable, and Jerry Deal, bless his heart, he has to work night and day to keep his mind occupied. I even can't forget my business manager, Harry Thomas. He must make a long trek or remain disconsolate. My, my, graduation plays havoc with the tedious work of cupid.

Of all the great revolutions for liberty, glory, plunder, or the privilege to stay out until 11:30 Saturday night, the most humorous and unprofitable has been that of the Chilean navy. Capture the officers, withstand siege at the naval base, and then shove off for a nice little cruise to get away from it all, only to be raked with airplane fire. Every one knows that there is no sport staying below decks off the Chilean coast even if you are a martyr for the revolution.

In Review: The theory suggested by G. W. Johnson in September Harper's that what this country needs more than a good five cent seegar, is a Demagogue. And don't forget the capital. Mr. Johnson suggests we should have something in the White House that would apparently be a cross between a star vaudeville act, and the economic talent of Alexander Hamilton. Perhaps if Bryan, Roosevelt, or some other demagogue—"a first class faker who believes in his own bunk"—were to divert our minds from our troubles by their noise and yowlings, we might take this current depression with more humor.

SPORT SPLINTERS

Before you start to "Oh" and "Ah" at the husky football lads, there are a few things about their summer activities you and I have always wanted to know.

Max Forney gets the way he is by being born in Elgin, Illinois, traveling to Vancouver—Vancouver, B. C.—and getting on the paying end of fumigating and orchard work. Dan Stover traveled and sang up and down the coast this summer. He was born in Anklesvan, India: "Thru no fault of my own." Pee wee Lathrop "Red Granged" it around Pomona this summer and was welcomed into the world by the Chamber of Commerce at Terre Haute, Illinois. Melvin Howell, born—yes—Neligh, Nebraska. Chaperoned a party abroad—Vancouver—and spent the rest of the summer on a political job in Chino, where he intends to develop real estate. Ed Ohanesian took thirty hours off of his summer vacation, and at thirty cents an hour heaved great big boxes all over a sixty-acre vineyard. He saw the light of day in Bridgewater, Massachusetts, but has no hard feelings toward that town. Bert Jones was given a job in the Colton ice plant as a reward for being a native son. Jerry Deal helped along the old Mongolian folk story that football players are retired ice men. Lets Rocklake, North Dakota, claim the credit for his birth place. Kenneth Heckman, born in Cerro Gordo, Illinois, spent the summer in song, merriment, and travel. Maurice Shirk was not born in LaVerne, as you thought, nor did he stay quietly at home this summer as you all hoped. Rumor has it he made faces at the Chinese, in China, and first greeted his parents in Lost Springs, Kansas. Charles Snell, who is a native son of Long Beach, Calif., spent the summer intelligently with school and song. Buck Ferree first heard the tall corn blowing in Fort Scott, Kansas; while he isn't resting as a rancher he carries a hod for exercise. Oklahoma missed Adams after he started playing a cornet, so he now uses his summer carving succulent T-bones and hamburger steaks. Adams is still happily unmarried. Cecil Brooks moved freight with neatness and dispatch for the Keystone system this summer, and confessed Newburg, Oregon, as his birthplace. Maxson Montgomery divided his summer between an El Monte restaurant name withheld on request) and visiting his birthplace in Washington. Ralph Vaniman summered in Imperial Valley and is another Hartner, Kansas, boy who expects to make good.

Robert Flynn migrated some time after birth from Grand Forks, North Dakota, to Colton, where he spent this last summer helping Bert Jones run the ice plant. Hoy Deeter first had a greasy bib in Milford, Indiana; he spends his summers cultivating LaVerne goodwill while in a prone position underneath spasmodic vehicles. San Francisco did not officially welcome Robert Welty on his initial arrival, so he sought recognition from diligent tractor and survey gang driving. Ernest Swihart, the old Arizona road maestro, started his eventful life in the wilds of Indiana. Kenneth Brownsberger recreated while in summer school, and is another pride and delight of LaVerne. Ronald Bessey, born and reared in Codell, Kansas, is rewarded every summer with an ice carrying monopoly at the beach.

VARSITY AND FROSH FOOTBALL TEAMS HAVE SCRIMMAGE

BOTH FIRST AND SECOND TEAMS SHOW POWER

Frosh to Have Strong Football Squad

TEAM IS ORGANIZED

The Frosh of this year have a fairly good outfit, but they do not have the wealth of material that was present on the Frosh squad of last year.

The candidates for the end position are Crites, Keed, and Hylton. Keed and Hylton have the edge because of their weight and experience. The tackles are Stowell, Nordstrum, and "Ish" Smith, and all of these fellows will see plenty of service. Moon and Turney are playing at the guard posts. Rothrock and Dickey are battling for the center berth. The squad is blessed with an abundance of halfbacks, with Roberts, Roy Smith, Albers, Jones, and Elder vying for these positions, with Elder, Albers, and Roberts holding the edge. Van Fleet seems to have the quarterback berth to himself as does Gingrich at the fullback position. The spirit on this squad is right and Coaches Glick and Nicolas expect to build up a winning team before the season is over.

COLLEGE ORCHESTRA ELECTS OFFICERS

The LaVerne College orchestra met Monday night under the direction of Howard A. Greene. Seventeen members, some old and some new, responded to Mr. Green's request that all people playing orchestral instruments be in attendance.

Those present were: Bob Walker, Bill Clinkenbeard, Bob Harris, Rulin Bruesch and Anita Bowman, violins; Edith Coffman, Ray Moon, Kenneth Heckman and Lois Brower, clarinets; Dan Stover, trumpet; Vernon Heckman, trombone; Elbert Ebersole and Martha Greene, alto saxophones; Ida Kinney, orchestra bells; Irene Blackerby, accordion; Chuck Manning, basso profundo; Esther Thomason, piano, and Howard A. Greene, director.

Officers were elected as follows: Esther Thomason, treasurer; Bill Clinkenbeard, librarian; Bob Walker, strings; Irene Elise Blackerby, reporter, and Elbert Ebersole and Rulin Bruesch, "chair pushers."

Players are still needed for the bass drum and the snare drum. Anyone interested in helping in these capacities is urged to see Mr. Greene immediately.

The orchestra made its first appearance when it played at the students' reception given at the Church of the Brethren last Thursday evening.

Hoover: "Did you hear that story about 2 holes in the ground?"

"No."

A Total of Two Thousand Watts to Be Used

Four more days until the first football game! With strenuous workouts in session and the rail-birds predicting a good season for LaVerne, Coach Eisan is working overtime to get his squad into readiness for the grand opening of the pigskin sport. The curtain will be raised Saturday afternoon when the LaVerne Leopards slip from their lair and stalk the Fullerton J. C. Warriors. Inasmuch as LaVerne is playing a Junior College team the Leopards are doped to win, but Fullerton promises to provide an interesting time for Eisan's cohorts. Coach Eisan is expected to give all of his men a chance to make good so that he can get a good line on the material he will have to work with the rest of the season.

Lee Eisan called his men together at 10:30 Saturday morning and put them thru the first scrimmage of the season with the second string getting the bulk of the exercise. The melee started with the first string on offense and the second string on defense.

The first string lined up with Jones and Brownsberger at ends; Stover and Deal at tackles; Flynn Lathrop at guards; Swihart, center; Montgomery, quarter; Brooks and Forney, halfbacks, and Bessey at full.

The second string lined up with Weybright and Welty, ends; K. Heckman and Anderson, tackles; V. Heckman and Noll, guards; Calvert, center; Howell, quarter; Shirk and Wilkerson, halfbacks, and Stearn, fullback.

Vaniman alternated with Bessey on the first string, but he did not do much work as he is nursing a sore ankle. Capt. "Hobbs" Adams was kept on the sidelines because of an injured shoulder. Replogle, a substitute center, was kept on the bench by a turned ankle.

The first string pushed over three touchdowns in short order, all being on or resulting from passes. Brooks and Montgomery did some sparkling work and thus gave advance notice that they will make it tough for some of the conference teams this fall. The center of the line is a thing of beauty and a joy, with Swihart at center, and Lathrop and Flynn at guards. These boys are all big and aggressive and enjoy playing when the going gets rough. Brownsberger, working in his first scrimmage as a varsity man, showed that he is very promising timber.

Noll, Heckman, Anderson, and Shirk showed up good on the second string, and served notice that the first string men do not have their places cinched.

The Frosh squad got into the fray for a time against the second team. They lined up with Crites and Hylton, ends; Stowell and I. Smith, tackles; Elder at quarter, and Albers and Jones, halfbacks. The rest of the positions were filled in by varsity men. Elder and Albers are the peagreeners that made the best showing.

Coach Eisan plans to work the varsity squad hard and long this week to whip them into shape for the season's opener.

HERE'S HOW

Of those students who have no means of transportation to the Fullerton game, see our fair editor, Charles Manning. A hay ride to the game is being planned. Let's have every loyal student give our team a great send-off on their first game of the season.

We Now Have Boxing Fellows!

LEARN SELF-DEFENSE

The men who go out for gym classes at LaVerne have a new department open to them this year. This is a class in boxing and wrestling which is conducted by Paul "Pee wee" Lathrop.

Lathrop is a Junior this year, having stayed out of school after completing his sophomore year. He learned his boxing in Bob Orth's gym in Pomona and is classed as one of the best amateurs in Pomona Valley. Lathrop is an all-around athlete as he played guard on the varsity eleven. In his Soph year, he held down the catching job on the baseball team and ranked with the best in the Southern Conference.

Men, avail yourselves of the opportunity to learn the manly art of self-defense.

Cabin Party is Scene of S. V. Gathering

Events of Interest to All

Last Wednesday evening, about 60 young people spent a very delightful time in the first meeting of the Student Volunteers, at the Faculty Cabin in San Dimas Canyon.

The evening's entertainment opened with an introduction by everyone present. After the self-introductions, everyone entered into the spirit of the occasion with enthusiasm, bent on having as much fun as possible. The remainder of the evening was spent in singing, giving readings, and putting on skits by those whose birthdays come in the same month, and by several inspirational talks concerning summer experiences.

After the refreshments, the president of the organization spoke on "Friendship." He stressed the idea that it was not only a getting and giving, but real friendship was also a sharing matter.

The president expressed the sentiment of the entire group in extending to all the students of LaVerne College a most cordial welcome to attend our meetings and socials held in the different homes on Wednesday of each week.

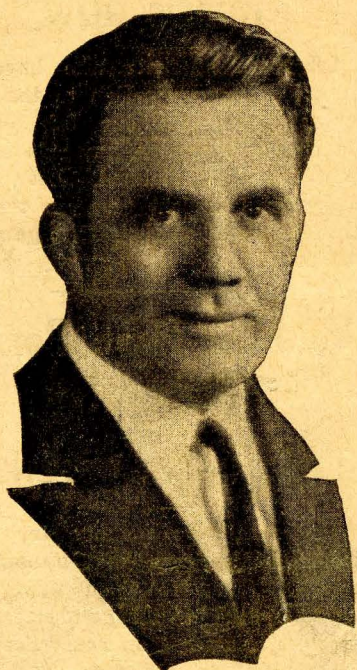

We all want the cheapest
And yet want the best
So why not be wise
And give us a test.

STUDENTS AND FACULTY ENTERTAINED

Church of the Brethren Gives Reception

Thursday night, September 17, the Church of the Brethren entertained the faculty and students of LaVerne at Fellowship Hall.

The school orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. Greene, entertained the group with music for the first part of the evening. Pastor Walker was the speaker of the evening and extended a welcome for all to come and visit the church.

Later, Coach Lee Eisan was introduced and given charge of the entertainment. This consisted of several games and skits, all of which were very entertaining. Two Frosh boys, Frank Reed and "Ish" Smith, were called upon to entertain by playing "Pat and Mike." Also several Frosh, including both girls and boys, gave the crowd a laugh by having a bean race.

At the conclusion of the games, Mr. Eisan announced that refreshments would be served. The Frosh immediately made a mad rush for the window to be served first, but were sent to the end of the line where they belonged.

The evening was drawn to a close by Mr. Eisan informing all the football players in a nice way that it was time to go home.

Miller Hall Stages Daring Party

PAJAMARINO SURPRISE TO MATRON

The first social festivity to be held in Miller Hall was an informal pajama party given Monday evening in honor of the new matron, Mrs. Hattie Holsinger.

The party came as a surprise to Mrs. Holsinger, since it was simply announced that a business meeting was to be held at 7:30, but when she arrived on the scene the room was empty of chairs and about thirty gaudy pajama clad figures were sitting about the floor on pillows and cushions.

Jolly, rollicking games, ranging all the way from leap-frog to charades were played.

After the games, stories and legends of dorm life were told, which was a great mistake because every Frosh present listened eagerly to the details of every "crime" ever committed in Miller Hall and planned how they could be improved.

In previous years it has been felt that the greatest drawback of the dorm was that it seems to be somewhat isolated—for it is rather hard for those living there to become acquainted with outsiders. The president, Eleanor Shepp, discussed this in a short speech and stated the A. W. S. was determined to overcome this difficulty by request parties and social activities to which outsiders will always be invited.

After refreshments were served the guests departed, having enjoyed a perfect evening of friendship and fun in the warm, hospitable atmosphere of Miller Hall.

Chi Delta Chi Adopt Constitution

PLAN MANY ACTIVITIES

The first meeting of Chi Delta Chi was held last Wednesday evening in the Y. W. room. The meeting was called to order by the new president, Orlin Vaniman.

As the result of an oversight at the last meeting of the previous semester, the organization was without a treasurer. This error was immediately remedied by the election of Ardith Horning for the position.

The constitution, which was framed last year, had never been officially adopted. It was read article by article and after some discussion and revision was adopted.

Most of the activities of Chi Delta Chi for the coming year were carefully planned out. The first program to be presented is a one-act play which will be given to the student body, free of charge, on the sixth of November. This play will also be used for the annual conference exchange program.

Later in the year a three act play will be given as a full evening performance. Details concerning this latter are still indefinite, but the present plans are to present during Bible Institute.

There are at present fourteen enthusiastic members of Chi Delta Chi, all of whom are experienced dramatics students. Mrs. Laura Haugh is club advisor. This is the second year of the club's existence, and working with a strong will and a united effort, it expects to gain new heights on the scale of dramatic achievements.

After the business was attended to, Eleanor Shepp and Opal Kuns served sandwiches and punch.

Y. W. Girls are Refreshed by Tea

MEETING ATTENDED BY EIGHTY-FIVE GIRLS

The girls of the Y. W. C. A. of LaVerne College gave a tea at 10:10 Friday morning, Sept. 18. This tea was for all the girls of L. V. C., especially the "Little Sisters," who are new to our ways here.

At the stated time, about eight-five big and little girls crowded into the Y. W. room. They seated themselves upon the floor and available chairs.

Mrs. Dale Glick gave a short talk on the work of the Y. W. and introduced the members of the cabinet. LaVonne Putnam, president of the Y. W., welcomed the new girls to the college and pledged the loyal support of the cabinet.

Several songs were sung, while tea and wafers were served. Edith Coffman and Virginia Matthews were in charge of the tea. Frosh girls were appointed as dishwashers.

Prof. Gilbert: "Where is the home of the swallow?"

M. Butterbaugh: "In the stomach, sir."

Edith C.: "Oh, Elbert, that candy just makes my mouth water."

Elbert: "Here's a blotter."

31, presided. He announced the holding of a student court and about the arresting of the freshmen.

The following officers were elected: President, George Weybright.

Vice-president, Virginia Scarisbrick.

Secretary, Elizabeth Lehman.

Treasurer, Robert Walker.

Social chairman, Mrs. Eisan.

Nominations for yell leader were made, but the try-outs were postponed until a later date.

HOLLENBERG WRITES OF SUMMER EXPERIENCE

Collects a Rare Specimen During His Research

Professor Hollenberg, on leave of absence and continuing studies at Stanford University, writes the following about his past summer.

"I had a very successful summer at the Hopkins Marine Station at Pacific Grove. Took a full course mostly of research. Assisted in the course in Algae given by Dr. G. M. Smith, studied for and passed my French exam and had a 50 per cent increase in my family during the summer. I also had the good fortune to find an interesting little green alga which had been collected but once at Pacific Grove (that was in 1899). After summer school we visited relatives at Lindsay, Reedley, Waterford, and Modesto. We were glad to see and hear the Apollo Four at Lindsay again.

We arrived in Palo Alto September 8 and after hunting for the most of two days finally decided on a place to live. The house is old-fashioned but has an intriguing fascination in its nooks and corners. A large front and back yard for boys is of special interest. We will have room to welcome friends from LaVerne. The boys start to school Sept. 14. School starts at the University October 1.

RUTH ROTHROCK HAS SALT WATER VACATION

Spends Four of the Six Weeks on Shipboard

"Let's all take ocean trips next summer." This is what we decided after talking to Ruth Rothrock about her vacation experience.

She accompanied Edith Brydon on a six weeks' sojourn, of which one month was spent on board the S. S. Venezuela on the way from Wilmington to New York, one week at New York, and the remaining time on the way home. Their itinerary included stops in five countries of Central America, the Canal Zone, Mazatlan, Mexico; two stops in Colombia, Havana, Cuba; and then to New York and Washington, D. C., with a stop-over at Denver.

Ruth saw so many interesting people and places that she found it difficult to tell about any one in particular. However, in Guatemala, the girls went inland for an eight-hour ride to the capital where they spent the night—the only night off the ship until they landed in New York. This city is very old and typically South American with its narrow cobblestone streets and houses built right out to the edge of the streets.

In general, at each stop they took the recommended sight-seeing busses, and conducted tours to schools, cathedrals, historic spots, and public buildings. They window shopped and marketed, being very glad for their knowledge of Spanish, since haggling over prices in the street markets is great sport.

The passengers on the boat, Ruth said, never exceeded one hundred in number, for the Venezuela carried freight also. Incidentally, there were many Spanish-American students on board, bound for their homes after more or less successful school terms in our country. Spare time on ship board was occupied with participation in deck sports and tournaments.

We asked Ruth one very important question which she said most people ask first—so we'll give you the answer—

No, thank goodness! ! !
