POPULAR CLARION FOUR TO DISBAND

Farewell Concert to Be Given at Home

FINAL PROGRAM UNDER AUSPICES OF CAMPUS TIMES

After four years of work on the professional stage, the Clarion Four, LaVerne College's best known musical organization, will disband in the near future, it was announced to the Campus Times by Urbin Hartman, first tenor and manager of the quartette, in a recent interview. The quartet will give its final full concert program in LaVerne under the auspices of The Campus Times at the College Auditorium, March 9th.

The Clarion Four is the outgrowth of the old Bingo Boys' Quartette, which for several years entertained LaVerne audiences. In the spring of 1924 the quartette was organized for professional work under its present name. It was composed of Urbin Hartman, first tenor; Howard Hoff, second tenor; Harvey Brubaker, baritone, and Wayne Bohn, bass.

During the school year of 1924 and 1925 the Clarions built up a wonderful reputation in Southern California, and in the summer of 1925 they extended this reputation the full length of the Pacific Coast by going on their first long tour.

The spring of 1926 brought many letters to repeat their programs all along the coast. In answer to these the quartette journeyed north to Washington, where they entered a full schedule of programs. But then the blow came. While on their way from the state of Washington to San Francisco to sing for the Lions Club national convention, Howard Hoff was accidentally drowned in the Rogue River near Grant's Pass, Oregon.

The three remaining members of the quartette returned to LaVerne, resolved never to sing again, but after much persuasion by friends, they decided to go on with their work. Russell Frantz was selected by them to go on their third coastal tour, and then last fall Joseph Huffman took over the second tenor role, which he has been filling with astonishing capability.

Thus, closing a long professional career, the Clarion Four will leave ringing in the ears of their listeners the best in musical presentation and harmony.

According to Mr. Hartman, the quartette will confine its work near LaVerne to singing at banquets, in churches, etc., with the one exception of their big farewell concert on March 9th. Tickets for this program will be on sale immediately at the rate of fifty cents a seat. All seats will be reserved at the LaVerne Drug Store. Tickets may be obtained at the drug store, or from members of the Campus Times staff. People living at a distance from LaVerne and who are unable to buy tickets in person, may receive them by addressing the editor of the Campus Times, LaVerne College, LaVerne, California. All money in payment of tickets should be sent by money order.

It is the desire of the Clarion Four and the Campus Times to make this last concert a real farewell to all the quartette's friends. For that reason the price of the tickets has been kept down, while the quartette is resolved to make it the best program of its career.

Final Decision on Conference Delayed

COMMITTEE OF ARRANGEMENTS MEETS TODAY IN OAKLAND

The committee of arrangements for the Annual Conference of the Church of the Brethren, will meet today, February 21st, in Oakland to decide definitely on the location of the meeting which is to convene June 26th for a week's session.

The committee met a week ago to decide on the place, but owing to the failure of the Oakland member to attend the meeting, and a telegram from him protesting the decision for LaVerne, another meeting was called to be at Oakland today.

Oakland city authorities have failed up to this time to make satisfactory concessions and arrangements for the Conference, but when they saw a possibility of its leaving Oakland they sat up and began to think of better terms.

However, there are other obstacles which make Oakland an impractical location for the Conference, and it is being invited by LaVerne to locate in this town.

About seven thousand is the estimate of the attendance for this annual meeting, and surrounding towns would cooperate to accommodate that number.

Costume Party Proves Novel Event

The student body leap year party given Tuesday evening of Valentine's Day, in the gym, proved to be a decided success. The party was a masquerade, and the decorations, costumes, and refreshments were carried out in valentine motif.

The party was very well organized by the three committees: Decoration, Katherine Hanawalt, Francis Crites, Fred Mahoney, Eloise Shepherd and Katherine Strate; entertainment, Olive Shirk and Erma Saladin; and

HISTORY OF AMERICA SHOWN

Friday evening a large crowd saw the movie "America" given in the College Auditorium by the Orange Blossom staff.

The people who saw the picture express various opinions of it. Some liked it very much while others failed to see anything good in it. According to the large majority the movie was far too long and drawn out. Too many dramatic situations were introduced and then not used. However, the historical portions were well portrayed.

The picture was built about Revolutionary War scenes and according to critics the views of Paul Revere's Ride, the Battles of Lexington and Concord, the Battle of Bunker Hill, and the Indian marauding scenes were very realistic.

banding are centered about the fact that it has never been the intention of the members of the Clarion Four to go into permanent work on the stage. Since Harvey Brubaker has already graduated and Wayne Bohn will graduate this spring, it seems to them that it will be best to close their long career in the near future.

Confab Artists Reappear Tonight

LA VERNE DEBATERS LOSE TO CAL TECH AND POMONA

The men's debate season of LaVerne College opened when they met the Pomona College team in Rembrandt Hall, Claremont, Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The question which is being debated this season is: Resolved, that the practice of armed intervention by the United States in the internal affairs of the Latin-American countries should be condemned.

The negative team, composed of Lorell Weiss and Harold Hoff, represented LaVerne at Pomona and was defeated by a two to one decision of the judges.

Thursday evening in a contest with Caltech at LaVerne, the LaVerne affirmative team lost by a three to one decision. Ed Cunningham and Harold Hoff represented LaVerne in the affirmative.

Although the first two debates were lost, the LaVerne team has worked up very good arguments and with a little more emphasis on delivery and loyal support from the student body, they look forward to better success in their future debates.

Another debate is scheduled for tonight when our negative team meets the affirmative team from Southwestern University on the LaVerne platform. Thursday night LaVerne's affirmative team journey to Los Angeles to meet the Lawyers' negative team at Southwestern University.

The Southwestern men are all training for the bar, so barring none this should be the best debate of the season.

Football Men Receive Honors

Following the announcements in student body concerning the basketball game for Saturday night, the debate on Tuesday night and the student body picnic, Dr. Arnett presented the letters to the football members. He gave a short talk on the work of the team this year, and future possibilities.

The following varsity men received letters and stripes:

Name	Letter	Stripe
Alton Kurtz	1	1
Raymond Mahoney	1	1
Russell Frantz	1	1
Merlin Yoder	1	1
Merle Butterbaugh	1	1
Glenn Vaniman	1	1
Orville Hollinger	2	2
Orville Brooks	1	1
Chester Shirk	1	2
Ernie Carl	1	2
Milton Brownsberger	1	2
Mark Lehmer	1	3
Wayne Bohn	1	3
Ivan Betts	1	3
Marion Boots	1	3
Harold Brownsberger	1	3

The Frosh men who received numbers were:

Vernon Weybright	Buck Ferree
Joe Roynon	Russell Frantz
Orville Thomason	Alfred Nicholas
Harry McArthur	Fred Hubble

Women's Extempore to Be Held Here

MABEL EISENBISE WILL REPRESENT LA VERNE

Miss Mabel Eisenbise will represent LaVerne College in the annual extemporaneous contest of the Southern California Women's Forensic League to be held in the LaVerne College Auditorium on Thursday, February 23d, at 8 p. m.

The subject, "The influence of the Press on American Life," is the same that was chosen for the Men's Forensic League in their contest last November. The rules of the contest are also to be the same, each speaker having one hour to prepare her speech on the topic which she draws. The speeches are to be from eight to twelve minutes long.

Nominate Candidates for Y. W. C. A. Cabinet

The Y. W. was entertained Monday morning with campaign speeches for the candidates from whom the new Y. W. cabinet will be elected. Two candidates were nominated for each office, and if one were to be guided by the speeches of the campaign managers, one would have to vote twice.

The various candidates nominated were: President, Erma Saladin and Alberta Maust; vice-president, Doris Welch and Cecelia Shaffer; secretary, Wilma Long and Grace Eisenbise; treasurer, Myrtice Butterbaugh and Margaret Price; undergraduate representative, Eloise Shepherd and Aileen Rothrock; music director, Naomi Metzger and Verda Brubaker; faculty advisor, Mrs. Harper Frantz and Mrs. Rae Cullen.

The polls were open in the Y. W. room from 12:30 to 2 o'clock Monday, and at noon Tuesday.

There Is Much for Youth to Do

DR. HUTSLAR ADDRESSES LA VERNE STUDENTS AND LIONS CLUB

Students of the College were privileged to hear the Rev. Chas. F. Hutslar, pastor of the First Christian Church in Pomona, in Chapel last Tuesday, February 14th.

Dr. Hutslar believes that youth of today is the greatest in history. Its background, environment and opportunities are the most it has ever had. The greatest issue at present is the exercise of freedom by a free people. Freedom does not mean the exercise of personal desires when they encroach on the rights of other people.

The principles of Democracy are still theoretical. There is much for the youth to do, yet it is satisfied if it "gets by." It must come out of the lethargy and strain higher for the best in everything. The speaker finished his address with the appeal which Lincoln once used, that youth should resolve "that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Dr. Hutslar addressed the Lions at their club luncheon at the noon hour in LaVerne the same day.

If something isn't decided pretty soon, we will be entertaining the Annual Conference in LaVerne before we know where it is to be held.

O. O. MacIntyre, Please Forgive!

Thoughts while meandering mentally the Library o'er: Democracy of learning: self-willed effort; in contrast with autocracy of studying: grade impulse.—The buoyancy of youth! He who would not look up from a philosophy test and smile is either a freshman or an over-intent student who makes work of his studies. In the former case it might be a history or English test.—Still that boisterous Library door! We should emulate the new Ford and have it lined with rubber.—A new way to save cost of furniture: shorten the depth of chair seats. That certain person at the end of that table is using only a few inches of the chair she monopolizes. Perhaps she intends making a quick getaway, like one does playing "Wink-em" at a Sunday School party.—Compelling rat-tat-tat of librarian calling down a sociable student.—The bell!

Some day the sport scribes will wake up to the fact that the dope buckets are all full of chicken whippers. Every conference basketball contest within the last two weeks has been an upset, according to the prophecies. A week ago Oxy was enjoying a most unexpected win over Whittier; Pomona was relaxing after a one-point win over Redlands, and Cal Tech had pulled a complete resurrection in thumping San Diego.

Last Saturday night Whittier came back and gave Oxy a beating which she has somehow evaded all season, and Cal Tech—beat—Redlands!

* * * * *

There better not be many upsets this week. LaVerne has got to beat San Diego! Whittier is doomed from the championship if Redlands pulls the unexpected. Pomona really ought to beat Oxy, contrary to all sportorial dope. They've played before and Pomona knows now how to play them.

In a day like this when there is so much effort made toward securing international peace and goodwill; when colleges like LaVerne are taking a pronounced stand against those things which create an attitude for war, it is too bad that motion pictures like "America" should have crept in to mar the good record of the "Orange Blossom" benefit shows at the College. This picture, besides being of bum acting, was of poor ethical taste.

We know that because of the attraction in the name, many people attended this picture showing last Friday night who are not in the habit of attending. It ought to be admitted, to avoid probable disillusion, that this picture was a decided disappointment to the

WE ARE WHAT WE ARE BECAUSE OF WHAT WE DO

Washington and Lincoln, why are you great? Why do I love you so? Why do all Americans celebrate your birthdays? Why do men say you are wonderful?

I wonder! Were you great because you were rich, George Washington? Were you great because you were poor, Abraham Lincoln? Or, Mr. Washington, was it because you were well educated? Or, Mr. Lincoln, was it because you were unschooled?

Was it because you fought on the battlefield, General George? Was it because you fought Black Hawk, Honest Abe? Was it because you were tall and graceful, my Virginia courtier? Or was it because you were strong and rough, my hardy backwoodsman?

Why is it that we remember you so well, beloved both? Why, above all Americans, do you stand first in praise? Is it because you were both presidents? Then why not celebrate the birthdays of them all? Or is it because you were the first president, Mr. Washington? Or is it because you freed the slaves, Mr. Lincoln? Is it because you won freedom for Americans, Mr. Washington? Is it because you saved the Union, Mr. Lincoln?

I wonder! Why do we worship these men? Why were they great? Did the immortal bard speak the truth when he said:

"Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime,
And, departing, leave behind us
Footprints on the sands of time;
Footprints that perhaps another,
Sailing o'er life's solemn main,
A forlorn and shipwrecked brother,
Seeing, shall take heart again."

Lincoln, Washington, what was it that made you great?

Ah, yes! 'Twas not what you took, but what you gave. 'Twas not what you said, but what you did. 'Twas not what you started, but what you finished. 'Twas not that you won, but how you did it. 'Twas not your position but the use you made of it. 'Twas not what you destroyed but what you made.

'Tis this, my friend, which makes men great: Footprints on the sands of time; deep-rooted remembrances of men for the lasting service they did their fellows.

Greatness of another sort than this is only short-lived and deceitful. But true greatness is always remembered.

Greatness comes not from winning of power or position but from doing the best in life with the talents which life has given.

Let us, then, study, not to win easy money or position, but to learn our talents that we too may do the best with life, not for the sake of ourselves but for others. Let us prepare to live our lives the fullest and truest, and fill that small place which our endowments have planned for us.

The greatest among us is he that doeth his best for mankind but is so humble that his greatness is seen only by others.

ANCIENT TRIUMPH COMES TO LIGHT

This story has not been authenticated. I prefer to believe it, and so I do believe it, taking pains not to inquire too closely into its rather doubtful probability. I got it from a fellow who got it from another who claimed to be one of those fortunate persons who attended the old La Verne Academy. If you want to know the truth of the matter perhaps you can find out from some of the faculty.

There was at one time, about seven or eight years ago, I believe, a rife among the male portion of our student body a mild and specialized form of kleptomania. It was the fashion among the boys surreptitiously to acquire and to smuggle into the rooms signs and symbols of the various commercial enterprises of our fair city. The bulkier and more prominently placed, such a sign, was, the greater its desirability. Just as the scalp of a famous warrior gave greater prestige to its owner than that of a squaw or papoose, so would the possession of a barber pole or the corner stone of a bank mark a boy greater than he who possessed merely real estate signs from remote lots, or pasteboard placards torn from off telephone poles.

So keen was the competition and so great the ardor of the youthful collectors, that the business men of LaVerne began to have fears that none of their advertising might be left to them. Consequently, an appeal was made to the faculty and the learned men promised an investigation and castigation for the offenders.

Fortunately (I speak as a student), one of the culprits discerned some shadow of the impending investigation. A hasty and efficient disposal of the damning evidence was necessary. The tin signs were folded and shoved between walls and floors through those convenient orifices so universally found in long-occupied dormitories. The wood and paper signs were carried to the room of the boy who possessed the largest stove, broken into convenient sizes and burned. Fortunately, there were no barber poles in the dormitory at that time.

Just when the difficulties seemed in a fair way to be solved, the steps of the faculty were heard in the hall. Imagine the consternation of the cornered culprits! But the quick thought which even then marked the LaVerne student came again to their aid. It was (or so the story goes) a rule of the dormitory that no person should intrude on a student while he was engaged in prayer. The owner of the room was therefore shoved on his knees close to the door and ordered to pray loud and long. The spirit was willing, the time was ripe and the ruse worked.

Strongly though they suspected the mischief inside, the faculty hesitated in their onward march. After a whispered debate they decided against a special ademption of the privilege of undisturbed prayer. While the faculty listened impatiently outside, imagine the hustle within.

While some of the boys burned signs under forced draught, others wrote down suggestions for the prayer. Then, if ever, the boys regretted their denomination. Think how comforting would have been the long, eloquent passages of the Episcopalian Book of Prayer. Imagine the fervor with which the laboring sinner could have rendered such a passage as "Save and deliver us, we humbly beseech thee, from the hands of our enemies; abate their pride, assuage their malice, and confound their devices—." However, with the help of his fellow sinners, he was able to prolong his supplications until the last of the signs had disappeared. In a moment of inspiration he achieved the termination, "And finally, O Lord, may we never forget the words of the Master, 'A wicked and adulterous generation seeketh after a sign, and there shall be no sign given it.'" refreshment, Genevieve Page and Ruth Blocher.

Prizes were awarded to the girl and boy having the best costumes. It happened that the girl having the cleverest costume had twin sisters, thus the three valentine girls, Doris Welch, Verna Shirk and Kathryn Rothrock, received the prize. Paul Funk, dressed as a dainty Chinese lady, was awarded first prize among the boys.

Among other interesting and unique costumes were Raymond Mahoney and Grayce Longenecker, who were dressed as Uncle Sam and Miss Columbia; Alfred Nicolas and Lois Ruth Miller as a pirate and pirateess; Marion Lewis and Mabel Chambers, representing Topsy and Eva, and Professor Haugh made a real grandfather, with Mary Platt as the little granddaughter.

Cecelia Shaffer gave a reading entitled "Husbands," after which a group of boys staged a mock wedding. Buck Ferree made a dainty bride, with Glenn Harmon as the groom. Little Merle Butterbaugh daintily scattered flowers in the path of the bridal party, and the sedate Harry McArthur performed the ceremony.

The girls did very well in getting their dates and entertaining the young men of their choice, a novel experience which added interest to the whole evening.

Upon entering, each person was given a card with the last words of a verse on it, which was to be filled out and handed back written. This made a clever and original valentine greeting, to be given to each person at the close of the party.

Give a man a difficulty to overcome and he at once puts forth his strength. Difficulty is his spiritual gymnasium.

Which are you — the fellow who does things, or one who looks at others doing them?

An opportunity of a lifetime must be seized during the lifetime of the opportunity.

MARGARET WILLIAMS HONORED BY BIRTHDAY DINNER

Wednesday evening, February 16th, Margaret Williams came home from Covina about 6:30 to find the house full of guests. Her mother had planned a dinner as a birthday surprise, but Margaret had become suspicious and guessed the greater part of it.

The table was tastefully decorated in red and white, carrying out the valentine scheme. The place cards were chocolate-covered hearts, with the names written in white frosting. A small, red, heart-shaped box of candies, with a tiny cupid standing on each, constituted the party favors. At the beginning of the fourth and last course of the delicious dinner, a huge birthday cake was placed before Margaret. She succeeded in extinguishing the flame of each candle with one blow, and then cut the cake for her guests.

The remainder of the evening was spent in a merry round of enjoyment. The game "Hearts" constituted the main entertainment.

The dinner guests were Margaret Williams, Naomi Metzger, Catherine Crist, Hazel Perry, Ruth Bolinger, Betty Williams, Alfred Nicolas, Vere Strate, Harry McArthur, Harold Brubaker, Dee Dellenbach and Alexander Milledes.

Harold Brownsberger: I kissed my girl on the chin the other evening.
Dick Pancoast: Is that so?

Harold: Yes, and she yelled, "Oh, heavens above!"

PSALM OF MARRIAGE

Tell me not in idle jingle
"Marriage is an empty dream!"
For the girl is dead that's single,
And girls are not what they seem.

Life is real; life is earnest;
Single blessedness a fib!
"Man 'thou art, to man returnest,"
Has been spoken of the rib.

Not enjoyment, and not sorrow,
Is our destined end or way;
But to act that each tomorrow
Finds us nearer marriage day.

Life is long and youth is fleeting,
And our hearts, though light and gay,
Still like pleasant drums are beating
Wedding marches all the way.

In the world's broad field of battle
In the bivouac of life,
Be not like dumb, driven cattle;
Be a heroine—my wife!

Trust no future, howe'er pleasant,
Let the dead past bury its dead.
Act—act in the living present,
Heart within and hope ahead.

Loves of married folks remind us
We can live our lives as well,
And, departing, leave behind us
Such examples as shall "tell."

Such example that another,
Wasting time in idle sport,
A forlorn, unmarried brother,
Seeing, shall take heart and court.

Let us, then, be up and doing,
With a heart on triumph set;
Still contriving, still pursuing,
And each one a husband get.

CONFERENCE MATERIAL AMONG
OVAL TRACKSTERS

Lehmer to Try for Conference Shot-
Put Record

The oval track around the gridiron has suffered much punishment during the past two weeks at the hands (or rather feet) of the Orange and Green bunion artists. Many a spike has been driven into the bosom of mother earth, but she rejoices to see so much enthusiasm displayed on her mundane hemisphere.

VanCleave thinks he has some conference champs among the track aspirants this year. Lehmer, who took second place in the shot put last year, intends to make a new record this year. Bohn and M. Brownsberger are the 440-yard men de luxe. These men have the best chance to stir up the Conference dope.

Others who intend to be in the running are H. Brownsberger in the high sticks, Miller and Hartman in the mile, Root in the sprints, Orville Brooks in the low sticks, and R. Mahoney in the 880-yard grind.

The Frosh are an unknown quantity as yet, but if enthusiasm is any gauge, they will disappoint track fans entirely.

Aztecs - Leopards Battle in Finals

CELLAR CHAMPS WILL PLAY LA
VERNE NEXT FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Third Place in Conference Looms Before Leopards

The Aztecs will visit the Leopards' lair next Friday and Saturday nights, February 24th and 25th. This will finish LaVerne's basketball schedule this year. The Aztecs won both games last year by close scores, but this means nothing to the Leopard quintet using the type of basketball that they do.

Lehmer is the only one left on the first five who will finish his career of the elongated court and spheroid ball. Mahoney, Boots, Bohn and Hartman are the subs who wish to use the Aztecs as their last foe of the hooped court.

Because of the hectic upsets of conference dope, LaVerne stands a very good chance of taking possession of third place in the Conference standings. All that is necessary is for the Leopards to take two games from the Aztecs and for Oxy to beat Pomona, and we will have undisputed possession of third position.

Mott at center and Johnson at forward are the two Aztecs who will need special watching in the melee next Friday and Saturday nights. But San Diego has five LaVerne men to watch out for, which fact handicaps the southern squad.

STUDENT'S ALPHABET

Aim to make A's in everything.
Be late to all classes.
Cut chapel whenever you wish.
Don't get your lessons, unless you feel like it.
Earnestly try to disobey all necessary rules.
Fill up class time by asking foolish questions.
Go to bed late.
Have a good excuse ready for every occasion.
Indulge in chewing gum in classes.
Just before the end of the semester, study hard.
Keep up the bluff at all times.
Love your teachers and leave classes when you don't want to stay.
Make an effort to make a lot of noise.
Never worry or overwork.
Obey all unnecessary rules.
Put gum on the chairs.
Quote your teacher's favorite authority.
Refrain from answering any questions asked by the "profs."
Stand around in the halls and Talk loud and long.
Use your study hours for visiting.
Voice your opinion on all occasions, whether you believe it or not.
Wait until the last minute to write your papers, and Xpect to hand them in when you get them written.
Yell when you feel like it.
Zealously labor for your rights.

Debate again tonight. Those who attended the confab last Thursday evening certainly weren't bored with Lorell Weiss' explosions as chairman and Ed Cunningham's cunning method of posing sobriety. The debate was a passee thing as far as presentation of arguments was concerned, but, like Instant Postum, there's a reason.

Tonight, Weiss acts as chief spokesman for the negative side. The students may be assured that reason and humor will be dealt out in large quantities.

Leopards Bite U. S. C. Dentists

LA VERNE INELIGIBLES BEAT
THE FROSH RELIABLE
SECOND SQUAD

The teething dentists from the U. S. C. School of Dentistry paid a visit to LaVerne last Saturday night and were warmly received and more warmly entertained by receiving the administration of a 42-27 defeat from the lambasting Leopards of LaVerne.

Now, gentle reader, that is about all there was to the game to make it different from any other game LaVerne has won by such a score. The Leopards started the game off by a very excellent passing attack, grabbing the scoring lead and keeping it. LaVerne's team work was not so good in the latter part, individual work being resorted to. It was not tragic in this game, but one cannot rest assured that the Leopards will be so fortunate this week with San Diego.

The Dentists displayed commendable team work but their shooting was poor. They might have put up a more creditable game if they had played the basketball more and the Leopards less.

The lineups:

Lehmer 15 F V. Arnerick 11
Kreps 14 F Grant 9
Shirk (C) 12 C P. Arnerick
Root G Marcus 3
Vaniman 1 G Lelansky
Boots Ruggeri
Brooks McTyre
R. Mahoney Peterson
F. Mahoney Simonovich

In the preliminary game, a pickup team of LaVerne ineligible beat the Frosh Reliable second squad 21-3. The former team was composed of Kindy and Hoff, forwards; Edinger, center; Bell and Lathrop, guards; with Davis, general utility man. The Frosh lineup contained Calvert and Nicolas, forwards; Shepherd, center; Bessey and Feree, guards.
