S.B. HOLDS ELECTION OF YELL LEADERS

FRANCIS CRITES AND RAY FERRELL ELECTED YELL LEADERS

Mariam Shirk Chosen Song Leader

It is with quite a bit of pleasure that the older students at La Verne view the effort and pride which is growing stronger each year in the selection of a cheer leader to direct the rooting sections in athletic activities. Last Friday morning in student body assembly this was emphasized when a half dozen aspirants for this important position impersonated their impressions of what a Director of Verbose Calisthenics should be.

Of this number, two were chosen to lead the supporters of the Leopard teams this year. Francis Crites, who held this position two years ago, was again elected head yell leader. Ray Ferrell, a dark horse, who sprang from out the Freshman ranks was chosen assistant.

The task of directing songs and various kinds of warbling efforts was given to Miriam Shirk.

It is hoped that the rooting at games will be done in a more collegiate fashion. Francis Crites is quite adept in the invention and interpretation of yells so that it remains for the students themselves to instill a little self-pride into this part of student life.

It might also be mentioned for the enlightenment of the alumni, whose willingness to boost often exceeds their knowledge of an organized system for rooting, that a misplaced "rah" which is out of time and out of pitch is more detrimental than a pair of set teeth.

VOLUNTEER BAND CABINET MEETS

COMMITTEES APPOINTED FOR THE YEAR'S WORK

On Monday, September 12, the Volunteer Cabinet consisting of Melvin Rothrock, president; Ruth Wilkinson, secretary and Mark Lehmer, treasurer, met to appoint the various committees of the band.

Due to the fact that Gladys Repert, who was elected chorister, cannot be back in school this year, the program committee cannot, according to the constitution, be fully completed until a new chorister is elected to take her place. This will be cared for at the first open meeting of the band, which will be held one week from this next Thursday night. It had been planned to have a meeting this week, but the lecture of Dr. Kurtz interfered so that the first meeting was postponed one week.

The committees as they now stand are as follows:

Program: Ruth Stoner.
Lola Ramsey.
Chorister: to be filled.
Correspondence: Ruth Wilkinson.
Clovie Carrol.
Raymond Mahoney.
Membership: Mary Platt.
Avery Dunning.
Reatha Rensberger.
Poster: Raymond Mahoney.
Edith Bowman.
Cecilia Shaffer.

JEROME SHAFFER

The news of the tragic death of Jerome Shaffer, reader and entertainer, came as a great shock to students of La Verne college. Last Friday morning, not far from his home at Laguna Beach, he took his own life by inhaling carbon monoxide gas. No definite reason for the act is known except a newspaper explanation of "poor health and financial difficulties."

The older students in La Verne will recall the two programs Mr. Shaffer gave here last year and remember him as one who, because of his radiated cheerfulness won friends wherever he went. They join with those who regret the leave-taking of one who won a well-earned admiration.

MEET TO ORGANIZE MEN'S GLEE CLUB

URBIN HARTMAN ELECTED PRESIDENT OF THE CLUB

Last Wednesday evening the Men's Glee club held its first meeting. Parts were assigned to those present and one of the new pieces was practiced several times. Professor Haugh told the fellows what he expected of them and gave an idea of the work to be done this year. No attempt was made to organize at the first meeting.

Friday noon about half of the members met in the auditorium and nominated officers for the coming year. These were voted on by the club at a meeting later in the day. The following officers were elected:

President, Urbin Hartman.
Vice president, Mark Lehmer.
Secretary-treasurer, Ernie Carl.
Business manager, Zafon Hartman.
Transportation manager, Frances Crites.

The club will meet regularly at 6:30 on Tuesday evenings and at 2:30 on Friday afternoons in the auditorium.

"CAMPUS WONDERS"

A new feature in the student activities of La Verne college is the initial appearance of a 6-piece orchestra.

"The Campus Wonders?" have organized to benefit the student body in every way possible. Selections of either popular or classic nature will be played when requested.

MEN DEBATE A PROBLEM

Great profound thinkers addressed the multitude of men assembled and expounded on the subject, "Resolved that a flea is more detrimental to a step-mother than a mosquito to a mother-in-law."

One said that the preservation of fleas is justified by the Scriptures for God told Joseph to take Mary and Jesus and flee down into Egypt. Justifying mosquitos, the speaker said, "Mosquitos thrive in stagnation. This nation must be rid of women before it can be a stag nation."

And so on, and on, and on!

Such Monday morning meetings of the College "Y" are proving interesting as shown by the attendance of such.

LAVERNE COLLEGE IS GROWING

WASHINGTON, OREGON, AND WEST CENTRAL CANADA DISTRICTS JOIN THE COLLEGE TERRITORY

C. J. Meyer, A. J. Ellenberger and J. M. McCune Appointed as Trustees from These Districts

La Verne college has been growing in several ways in the past few years. This summer a development came for which we are especially thankful. Three church districts have been added to the college territory. The district of Washington has had a number of students in college, the past few years and by a decision made at the district conference this summer it planned to cooperate in supporting the college. The trustee appointed from that district is C. J. Meyer of Sunnyside. He is superintendent of the Sunnyside city schools. The names of some of the students representing Washington are as follows: Grace Loney, Stanley Weddle, Naomi Metzgar, Ruth Bolinger, Avery Dunning, Earl Longanecker, Jessie Longanecker, Daniel Sterns, Hazel Rothrock, Melvin Rothrock and Chester Peters. Other students, it is expected will enroll from that state the second semester.

The other new districts are Oregon and the district of West Canada. Oregon will be represented on the board of trustees by A. J. Ellenberger of Medford, Oregon; and Canada by J. M. McCune of Iricana, Alberta, Canada.

The students enrolled this term from the Canada district are: Joe Burger and Clarence Brubaker.

Nearly two hundred students are enrolled this year, whereas, the student register for last year shows one hundred and eighty odd students. This increase is certainly an inspiration to the college to push forward toward still greater things.

ADD ART INSTRUCTOR TO FACULTY

We have another new addition to the college faculty this year. Until last year we had always had an art teacher, and the need of one was very apparent. This year Miss Boardman, B. A., Pomona college, 1919, instructs a class of art in the college, one hour a week. The phase of the subject is more from an educational standpoint of teaching art in the public schools, rather than the technique of art itself. Miss Boardman is an instructor of art in Bonita high school this winter.

Dr. D. W. Kurtz tells this one:

He attended a Negro church. Upon the wall he noticed a picture of the Last Supper. Every man was black except one. He was white.

Approaching a negro parishoner, he asked: "Tell me! Who is the white person in that picture? Judas?"

"Oh, no, suh!" replied the latter. "Oh, no, boss! Dat ain't Judas! Dat am Petah!"

"Peter! Why . . . why Peter?"

"Well, Boss, its jest lak dis! If Petah had been a cullad man, dat cock wouldn't nevah crowed de second time."

"WINNING OF BARBARA WORTH"

The first of the season's "Annual benefit" pictures is to be shown in the college auditorium Friday evening, September 23, at 7:30 p. m.

The manager, Merle Butterbaugh, has been very fortunate in securing for the first picture of the year "The Winning of Barbara Worth," by Harold Bell Wright.

Nothing more than the name need be given to assure one of the interest of this picture, for the book is so well known.

The admission charge is only 25c for adults, and 15c for children. Come. Boost for the picture and for the 1928 Orange Blossom as well as get every penny of your money's worth of entertainment.

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB ORGANIZES

LOIS RUTH MILLER CHOSEN PRESIDENT

Professor Haugh Has Program Outlined

Tuesday afternoon, September 13, most of the members of last year's Womans' Glee club, together with a large number of new ones, met with Prof. Haugh, their director, to organize. Lois Ruth Miller was chosen president. For the most difficult position of all, manager, Miriam Shirk was elected. Myrtice Butterbaugh looked honest enough to win the girls confidence in spite of the fact that she is a freshman, and they chose her for the secretary-treasurer. With Edith Blickenstaff, Harriet Woody and Ruth Blocher chosen for the transportation committee, the list of officers was completed.

There are between twenty and twenty-five voices in the club this year and with the plans for early practice that Prof. Haugh has, they hope to start giving programs early in the year.

Prof. Haugh has already planned the programs and picked the music, the copies of which are here ready for sale. Thursday, September 15 at 3:45 p. m. was set for the first practice. The permanent times for practice have been set for Tuesday and Thursday p. m., at 3:45.

With most of last year's members back again and many new voices added, a good season may be expected with some well finished programs as a product.

GYM. CLASSES MAY SWIM

A woman's swimming class has been organized with the cooperation of the Pomona Y. M. C. A. for the college women who wish to take swimming for gymnasium credit. There are two groups. The first group go to the Y. M. C. A. building in Pomona on Wednesday afternoons at 5 p. m. to take instructions under the teacher provided there. The other group will go to the building at some other hour on Wednesday.

Kathryn Rothrock has been appointed chairman of the swimming classes, by Florence Long, the woman's physical education instructor and she will be glad to enroll any woman in the swimming classes.

CAMPUS TIMES STAFF ORGANIZES

FIFTY-FIVE STUDENTS WORKING ON THE STAFF

Campus Times to be Published Weekly for Over 500 Subscribers

The Campus Times staff for the school year '27 and '28 has been organized and is hard at work, as you will notice.

The editor, Don Miller, who was chosen by the commission, chose his department editors the first week of school. A week ago Monday night the department editors met and organized their work. Later in the evening quite a number of the students who were interested in working for the paper met with the editors and received appointments. At the meeting the news editor read a set of rules which are splendid instructions for the reporter.

The staff as it stands at the present time includes fifty-five students, thirty-four of whom are reporters. The department editors are: Circulation, Carl Rupert; sports, Raymond Mahoney; society, Naomi Metzger; feature, Glenn Dellenbaugh, and front page, Aileen Rothrock. The news editor is Reatha Rensberger and her assistant is Doris Welch. Two important positions have not been filled. They are the make-up editor and Business Manager. The rest of the fifty-five members of the staff work in the advertising and circulation departments.

The Campus Times is published weekly and it contains only the news, features, and jokes which are new and interesting. It is self supporting, running over a hundred inches of advertising in each issue. Five hundred copies of each issue are distributed. Boost for your school paper and you will do a service for your school.

COLLEGE MEN HOLD "BLOW OUT"

The first Y. M. C. A. social of the year was held Tuesday evening in the college gym when most of the college men and a number of Freshmen worked up a healthy appetite by games and boxing then ended up by satisfying this craving with a large quantity of doughnuts and apple candy. N. Y. MacDonald of Azusa, Y. M. C. A. secretary of San Gabriel valley, took charge of the evenings entertainment.

The party started with a get-acquainted game, after which all the men were introduced. It was found that some had come from notable places including Canada and even Charter Oak.

Boxing followed but the main event in this — Leonard vs. Miller, was called off when Champion Miller failed to appear.

More games followed, one of which showed up all the dizzy men in school. After this some of the Frosh sang a beautiful little song. Doughnuts and cider were then served and the evening ended when "Chet" squeezed the last drop of cider out of the barrel.

Dr. Emmert was chosen faculty advisor for the Student Volunteer cabinet for this school year.

WHY DO YOU DO AS YOU DO?

Have you ever stopped to analyze your reason for doing certain things? For instance: Why did you vote for Calvin Coolidge in the last election? or if you did not, why not? Was it because you knew he would make a good president or because you knew he would not?

Listen, Americans, there is little doubt in our minds that 75 per cent of the voting public of America vote without really knowing whether they vote right or wrong. One person says one thing, another says the opposite. One newspaper, or periodical, stands for one side, while another stands for the other side. Why?

Let us analyze these publications. Why are papers printed? To give the news? No, the primary purpose of publishing newspapers is to make money for its owners. If you don't believe this compare the amount of space used for advertising with what is used for news. Advertising pays for the paper and makes the profits for the owner. The larger the paper's circulation, the more valuable the advertising space and the easier it is to sell ads. For this reason most newspapers endeavor to get the most sensational news, true or false. Why? Because people are looking for a thrill. They read the sensational and say "Aye, Aye." They believe it all and usually the reporter who wrote it is a more imaginative painter than the most artistic flapper.

Papers advocate certain things because they profit by it. It is business diplomacy. People take the information they give and build facts upon it. This is what we call forming public opinion. If the public believes a certain way, we do as it does whether it is right or wrong.

Then we do things because others do them. Someone hears something, tells it or the truth and we all swallow it for the truth whether it is or not. The fact is we do not know what the truth is. How can we know? So far as our public life goes, where is there an institution upon which we can ultimately pin our faith? Where can we go for the truth?

This is the fundamental problem of our institutional life. Attacks are made on our whole governmental fabric because men can say, "your government is cheating you. It is not honest." How can we reply that it is honest. We do not know. We merely believe it is. The reason we believe it is because some one led us to believe it is.

If the truth were known our government would either fall before it or live forever. "The truth alone can make us free."

It is our own problem. If America will live forever instead of falling like other nations the people must know the truth. (Of course this will not absolutely insure our national life for other elements enter to destroy or make it.) The truth is fundamental. We, as Americans, must work to get the truth. We must demand it; make the papers print it. You say this is a colossal task? Indeed, it is, but yet it is necessary. Therefore, we must have it.

There are many plans afloat to promote peace, but if the truth were known you couldn't have war. What the nations should do with the time, money, and brains they are using to kill war is to use these energies to kill the fundamental cause of war, and all other national and international troubles: the dishonest use of public opinion.

In some way we must promote truth. As Americans we must think about it, then act.

DON C. MILLER.

Parable of the Sticks

Lesson theme: The jaw is mightier than the —

Golden Text: The cow chews her cud, and the woman chews the rag, but the sons of men pay for their —

1. Now it came to pass that on the evening of the last day in the week, two young men met at the door of a certain house of custome where drugs and sweetmeats were wont to be sold.

2. And the eldest said to his neighbor, come, let us test our strength by the use of our teeth.

3. So they made a covenant and betook themselves to a counter where there were divers tempting morsels.

4. And they chose therefrom a great quantity of a certain gummed substance which was of the house of Wrigley, surnamed William.

5. Having received an equal amount, they straightway began to chew with great gusto the contents thereof.

6. Now it came to pass that as they did chew, they communed, one with the other, saying:

7. Let us make another covenant by which we vow that he who fails in masticating a number of sticks equal to those of the other shall forfeit the price of our provender.

8. And they clasped hands and plighted solemn vows.

10. Now it came to pass that as they chewed, there gathered a large throng of merchants — buyers, scholars, and divers classes of people who were passing by.

11. And they gathered about to witness, for nowhere in the land had there been seen so much chewing.

12. For so great was the result of their vigor that it is a faithful saying even unto this day.

12. Now when they had chewed at great length for a long time, the eldest again spake to his friend, saying.

13. I pray thee, my friend, how much hast thou chewed already?

14. And he answered and said, It is three-score sticks lacking one. Lo, here they are.

15. And he took from his mouth a large piece of gummed substance which was equal in size even with the egg of a very large fowl.

16. And the eldest said again, Verily, I have chewed three-score and five. Here are they.

17. And he took from his teeth an even larger amount, for it was a large wad.

18. Now he that had not yet three-score sticks when he had gorged his mouth with one more piece, he uttered a low moan.

19. And said, I have fought a good fight but I have not kept the pace. Verily there remains for me but to pay the price.

20. And he did so, producing from his purse an hundred, one score and five pence.

21. So they departed and went their ways rubbing their cheeks, for their jaw teeth did ache exceedingly.

22. Ye have heard it said of old, they shall not be weary in well chewing for they shall chew without cost if they faint not.

23. But I say unto you, Verily, if so much energy were given to the service of their brethren, all men could fly as birds and travel with the speed of an arrow.

"All right back there?" bawled the conductor.

"Hol' on, hol' on," shrilled a feminine voice. "Jes wait till I gets mah clothes on."

And then as the entire carful craned their necks, expectantly, she entered with a basket of laundry.

CONCERNING "KINGS OF CASTLES"

Friends, people are the funniest things you ever heard about. Perhaps you don't realize this, but look about you. Analyze people. Analyze yourself. What are you made of? Why do you get certain ideas and don't get certain other ideas?

You must realize that this is too big a subject to write about for the Campus Times, but let us look at it in another angle. Since the students began to enroll at La Verne college this year I have noticed a "wee speck" of human nature cropping out among the students. And we will believe that this type of human nature appears at the beginning of every school term in every college.

What I noticed is this: the attitude of the students and in particular the new ones. Some of them merely mention what they did in the high schools and colleges from which they came. When asked if they want to do something for La Verne they say: "Yes, we'll do what we can, but we don't know so much about doing things. However show us what you want us to do and we'll do our best."

This kind of people will succeed in this world. They are willing to prove their ability and not talk about it.

However, there are other students who come to La Verne with high brow ideas of how to run the school. This is all right. We need new ideas. But some of our people have an idea we don't like and that is, "I was a big bug where I came from. This is a high school. They ought to make me king and I'd put the school on top." These people sit back and criticize and "toot their own whistle," waiting for someone to come along and give them a position where they can be boss.

Now, my friend, we don't "give a continental" what you did before you came here. Your reputation won't carry you at La Verne. It will help you a lot if you get the right attitude, but just because you were king of the castle before you came here, is no sign you can be king here. First, you have to prove you are as good as your reputation says you are, then we may accept your kingship. There is no need to boost yourself too high. La Verne needs talent and if you have it and prove you have it, you will win, at La Verne and everywhere else, all the positions your talent can care for.

"What you do speaks so loud, I can't hear what you say," said an old philosopher, and so it is at La Verne college. Work and you shall win; boast and you shall lose. Prove your self and we'll like you and you'll like us, otherwise and you might as well leave La Verne now if you must be king of the castle.

—DON C. MILLER.

SHE DECLINED

Ed. Cunningham gallantly escorted Mother Baer to the table.

"May I," he asked, "sit on your right hand?"

"No," she replied, "I have to eat with that. You'd better take a chair."

A Frosh asks, "Wouldn't it be great to live in the Arctic circle where the nights are six months long and have a "nite out."

Jay Fyock: "Oh, yes — tell them all you know, it won't take long."

Melvin Rothrock: "I'll tell them all we both know, it won't take any longer."

DR. KURTZ SPEAKS TO STUDENTS DURING CHAPEL

"The great secret of success is to love what you do." Through enthusiasm for your work you throw your life into that work and thus increase the power of your energy until you succeed.

This is the theme upon which Dr. D. W. Kurtz spoke in chapel, Thursday, September 15. Dr. Kurtz, but recently resigned head of McPherson college, is a nationally known educator and lecturer. He is now pastor of the Long Beach Church of the Brethren.

In his talk to the La Verne college students and faculty, Dr. Kurtz brought forth the idea that success is achieved only when one loves his work to such a degree that he will put his whole energy into his work.

"It is my conviction," Dr. Kurtz said, "that truth and love go together The only way you can understand truth is to love truth That which you hate you can not love."

He continued by saying, "It isn't so much the amount of brains you have, but the use you make of them The average person of this world doesn't use over eleven per cent of his energy," but men who love to do what they are doing are likely to put in much more energy, and thereby succeed.

NOW YOU ASK ONE

"What are the passengers looking out of the window for?" asked a nervous lady passenger on the train as the conductor came thru.

"We ran over a cat, madam," said the conductor.

"Was the cat on the track?" she next asked.

"Oh, no, ma'am, assured the conductor. "The locomotive chased her up an alley."

Grace Nay: — "Why are you wearin' so many coats on a hot day?"

Howard Frantz: — "Well, you see I'm going to paint the dorm and it says on the can, "To obtain the best results, put on at least three coats."

Orville Hollinger: "Have you seen my comforter anywhere?"

Avery Dunning: "Not today, but I saw her with your roommate yesterday."

FACTS ARE FUNNY THINGS— ESPECIALLY ABOUT MAK- ING MONEY

This business of making money is one of the queerest things in the world. A man with a new religion does not need anything but a lot of wild notions in his head, a gunny-sack for a robe and a pair of sandals for his feet, to get rich in some parts of Southern California. He does not even need a hair-cut, and he can afford to give Mr. Gillette and Durham Duplex the grand razz and let his whiskers grow. His queer notions, volubly expressed—and the queerer the better—will bring him in the money. When he gets going he can raise as much money in a month as some honest folks can make in a year, or two or three years. When the wolf comes sniffing round the door of some folks, they treat the wolf to a tanning party and the next day blossom out in a new fur coat, while others have to come and go by the back door, because the wolf is always sniffing round the front porch.

Some people are honest and industrious, work like slaves, deny themselves even comforts and necessities, and can never save a cent; while other folks, if they fell in the river, would come up with fish in both hands.

The daily papers tell of one hundred people who have filed claims of relationship on the estate of a man who died in an insane asylum in California recently. He left a hundred thousand dollars, which will mean a thousand dollars apiece to folks who, perhaps, saw very little of him in his life time.

This man's story illustrates the thesis that there are more ways than one to make money, and that in some cases inertia is not only as good as enterprise, but a whole lot better. In brief, this man was one of those who joined in a mad rush to the Klondike when gold was first discovered up there. He endured all the privations and hardships of that country and worked unceasingly. He struck no gold, and the only thing he got for his hard work and trouble was a severe sick spell, which caused him to lose his eyesight and break down mentally. He entered the insane asylum twenty-five years ago. At that time he owned a little property in a Southern California town. He did nothing all these years was not capable of doing anything, and yet this little piece of property so grew in value that it was worth a hundred thousand dollars.

You just can't figure it out. He worked hard in the Klondike, and came out worse than he went in; he did nothing in the asylum, and became wealthy.

Now here is something we want to say: A great many people think that because a man has made money, he is unusually brainy. In this country,

FROSH HOLD PEPPY MEETING

ED. CUNNINGHAM ELECTED
CHEER LEADER

Paul Funk Invites Frosh to a Swimming Party

Friday noon at 12:30 the Freshman class held a peppy meeting in the gym. Orville Thomason, the temporary chairman surely knows his business when it comes to keeping things on the move. As many would imagine, the gym did not echo with the din and noise of childish commotion. Everyone behaved very well, and all the very urgent business was settled satisfactorily. In the way of a Frosh affair, Paul Funk invited the class to a swimming party, the date of which will be announced later. Entertainment and eats committees were duly appointed, so everyone is assured of a good time. Ed Cunningham was almost unanimously elected Freshman cheer leader, and they adjourned by giving nine hearty rahs for the class of '31.

The Misses Aileen and Kathryn Rothrock and Doris Welch gave a dinner at the Rothrock home Friday evening, September 9, in honor of their little sisters Lois Rupert, Reedley; Flossie Page, Strathmore, and Ruth Bolinger, Wenatchee, respectively. From there they went in a group to the Student Body party.

Miss Ruth Bolinger spent the Sunday with some her friends in Chino.

The Misses Flossie Page and Lora Eikenberry enjoyed a jolly ride to Long Beach last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Neher were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Yoder, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Baxley of Pomona, attended our evening services, last Sunday evening.

Mr. Roland and Royal Stutzman from Hawthorne, were in our city of La Verne, visiting their brother, Dale Stutzman, Sunday.

Roland Stutzman started his teaching career in the Long Beach high school last Monday. Royal is working in a silver plating shop in Los Angeles.

if a man succeeds in business, selling hardware for instance, or gasoline engines, or link sausages, we believe that he is brainy enough to give opinions on the immortality of the soul, the nebular hypothesis, the Einstein theory, the European debt and bio-chemistry. Many a vegetator, so called because he lives like a vegetable, just lets his land lie idle, and some one comes along and strikes oil on it, and makes the inert one very wealthy. He blossoms out in trick clothes and opinions on theology, which he believes is the last word. It is not good sense to do this, but it is the fact.—Pacific Methodist Advocate.

If you saw it in The Campus Times, it is true.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Wednesday evening, September 14, the Woody home was the scene of a birthday surprise party for Merle Butterbaugh.

About six p. m., Mark Lehmer, Jay Meyers, Marion Boots, Ernie Carl, Hilda Brubaker and "Dutch" and Marie Brubaker gathered at the Woody home to await the arrival of the honored guest. He soon came, being in a very unsuspecting state of mind as to the fact that he was to be the honored one. Was he surprised? Well, ask Merle about that.

A most delicious dinner was served by the hostess and all present report a very enjoyable time and wish Mr. Butterbaugh many more happy birthdays.

Mary Platt and Reatha Rensberger entertained their little sisters, Anna Emmert and Jessie Longenecker Friday evening. Miss Helen Griffith was also a guest.

Miss Ruth Blocker entertained her little sister, Martha Baer, Sunday.

Ruth Gible and Erma Saladan spent the week-end at Hemet, Ruth's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Klinerman entertained Neva Snell and Crite Heiney at dinner Sunday.

THERE WAS PLENTY LEFT OVER

One Sunday morning Lorell Weiss in his first charge at Laton announced nervously:

"I will take for my text the words, 'And they fed five men with five thousand loaves of bread and two thousand fishes.'"

At this misquotation an old parishoner from his amen corner said audibly:

"That's no miracle — I could do it myself."

Lorell said nothing at the time, but the next Sunday he announced the same text again. This time he got it right.

"And they fed five thousand men on five loaves of bread and two fishes."

He waited a moment, and then, leaning over the pulpit and looking at the amen corner, he said:

"And could you do that, too, Mr. Smith?"

"Of course I could," Mr. Smith replied.

"And how would you do it?" said Lorell.

"With what was left over from last Sunday," said Mr. Smith.

HOW A BLIND MAN TOLD COLOR

"Is it true," asked Ruth Gible, "that the blind can determine color by the sense of touch?"

"Sure," said Howard Brubaker, "I once knew a blind man who could tell a red-hot stove just by putting his finger on it."

MILLER HALL INMATES CAST OFF CARES

Friday evening! To the "inmates" of Miller Hall no other words have a sweeter meaning. For two whole days we may consider ourselves human beings again. No more torturing thots of complete isolation from the rest of the world after 7:30 p. m.

So last Friday evening was a most appropriate time for a gathering of the Miller Hall clan. Shortly after eight o'clock any passerby would undoubtedly have imagined that quite a "catty" party was in process. The only result of such Meof-ings, however, were some badly wrecked diets.

Interest in the Dempsey-Tunney fight is small in comparison to that shown in the sporting events which took place. After no small amount of advice had been given by trainers and managers all previous records were broken. Soon after, training rules were also broken as each feminine athlete feasted upon hamburgers with all the "fixings."

The climax of the evening came when Madame Brubaker demonstrated the powers of hypnotism. Fortunately the majority "came out of it" O. K. but some are still in a rather doubtful state.

In the Coast Conference much confab and many predictions can be heard on street corners and seen in newspapers about the strong teams in the Coast league. Washington and Stanford seem to be favorites while the California Golden Bear is considered very formidable. U. S. C. and the Oregon Aggies seem to be much underrated, although both seem to have an abundance of good material.

Sports Snorts

Very little has been heard about Whittier and San Diego state; but Caltek is reported to have a very good team, while U. C. L. A. or U. C. S. B. is picked to win the Southern conference.

Something for Pomona's opponents to rejoice about is the fact that the varsity will have few or no subs for the backfield, due to a poor turnout of material and also injuries to two men.

From the sound of conference rulings, the frosh will play an eligible team, for unless they do, the players will be ineligible for further conference athletics.

Judging from the sound of rumors coming from the Tiger's den, both the Occidental varsity and frosh football aggregations will be very strong this year. Many lettermen returned, besides the abundance of new material that has poured into Coach Exendine's willing hands.

LAVERNE LOOKS FOR GOOD YEAR

TEN LETTERMEN RETURN FOR FOOTBALL SQUAD

With the return of ten lettermen from last year's successful squad, the La Verne college varsity should have a good season ahead of them, although Leopard supporters are expecting nothing unusually spectacular from them.

The loss of Dale Glick, star quarter of last year and Otis Brooks, half back, will be keenly felt in the backfield. However, Coach Claude Arnett will have several reliable fellows from whom to pick his "four horsemen." Of last year's backfield Arnett has Wayne Bohn, Orville Brooks and Chet Shirk. It is almost certain that about these men the Leopard backfield hopes will be laid.

Milt Brownsberger, lanky sprinter, who last year was switched from the backfield to guard due to an overabundance of line plunging material, will probably be switched back to his old berth at half. There is little doubt but what these four will take the brunt of the offensive work with Boots, who was eliminated by injuries last year, working about equally as much as any of the others. For two years Boots was one of Arnett's best ball carriers. Yoder and Kreps, and Dellenbach, a freshman last year, will undoubtedly see some action in the backfield also. Although there is a possibility of moving Dellenbach to the line.

Thus the backfield will most likely be as fast and dependable as last year and with Milt Brownsberger's return there will be more weight in it.

Although the Leopard line will be out of the services of Harvey Brubaker, tackle, and Ernie Brubaker and Lloyd Emmert, guards, besides Milt Brownsberger, there are many good prospects to fill these gaps. Ernie Carl and Orville Hollinger look good for the guard positions. Hollinger played tackle last year and received some nominations for all conference tackle.

Betts is certain to take his old pivot position with Leonard, 200 pound sophomore, backing him up. However, Leonard may play regular at tackle with Fred Mahoney, another husky soph playing the other tackle.

Captain Lehmer and Harold Brownsberger, last year's wing combination, will most likely, continue in this role.

Hartman, a veteran end, who was out of the game last year, is back in his suit to give Lehmer and Brownsberger a good run for their positions.

Last year Captain Lehmer proved himself to be one of the best pass snappers in the conference, while Brownsberger is a hard man to get around.

To make the tackle work for their places, Butterbaugh and Vaniman, second string men last year, will be doing their best. Both of these men are heavy and as they saw much action last year they should prove to be good men this season.

With these men and many more of last year's Frosh and second string, Arnett hopes to work out a team which is better than last year's squad.

Ivan Betts, who has charge of the athletic store this year has been flashing around school the past week a big new assortment of pennants, rooters caps, pillows, banners, and various other kinds of "what'll you have." They are on sale and going fast.

FROSH EXPECT A STRONG TEAM

SEVERAL HIGH SCHOOL PLAYERS OF NOTE HAVE ENROLLED

The outlook for the La Verne college frosh team at this point is extremely brilliant. For the first time in its history, La Verne college has gathered a bunch of former high school stars to her fold and under the direction of Coach I. H. Van Cleave should turn out the best frosh gridiron machine the college has ever seen.

Twenty-six freshmen have already donned suits and have been warming up. Van Cleave is daily sending them through strenuous workouts.

Both weight, speed and experience are shown by the freshmen. Walter Feree, Pomona high tackle, is probably the heaviest tipping the scales at 180. The lightest is Paul Miller, a Reedley high school half back and end. He weighs 135 pounds and although light shows an unusual ability to catch passes. The team average will probably be about 160 pounds.

Pomona high school is furnishing many of the stars. There are Fred Hubble, end; and "Pewee" Lathrop, half, from Pomona, besides other lesser prospects. Bob Baynham, Pomona high half of two years ago is among those going out for the squad who shows great ability. He is well known in sporting circles of the orange belt and an all around athlete.

Ronald Bessie, quarters, and Joe Royman, tackle, from Strathmore high are showing up well. Bessie was one of Strathmore's best players two years ago when they gave the Bakersfield state champions to 12 to 13 scare.

Perhaps one of the best ball carriers on the La Verne field is Shelby Venables, full back from Redondo high. Venables is a fine open field runner and is already averaging better than 60 yards on his punts.

Among the others who show up well is Vernon Walbright, Fresno Tech, half; Neil Kindy, end, from Indiana, Galen Hoff, half, from Citrus high, and Orville Thomason, Bonita high's fighting half.

The best prospect for the center position appears to be Alfred Nicolas of Chino. Nicolas is a heavy, steady player and a clear thinker. His weight and experience should be of great value as a pivot man.

With these men and others entering every day La Verne's Frosh outfit has many chances to be victors in their contests this season.

Varsity to Tackle the Alumni Saturday

The football season begins with a meow and a growl when the Leopards meet the alumni on Saturday afternoon.

The old and bearded stars who made football history for La Verne college in days gone by will again play on the gridiron where they played in former times. This will be the age old battle between the younger generation and the old. The men whose gray beards rest upon their bosoms will attempt to prove that the old does not have to give way to the new.

Last year the former stars trounced the varsity by a 9-0 score, but later in the season, on Armistice day were lucky to wring a 7-6 out of the frosh.

If you want to see the fur fly, or rather the whiskers fly, come out and see the game Saturday.
