APPRECIATION FACULTY DAY

Friday, March 6th, was set apart by the students for expressing in words their attitude and real appreciation, not only for the good work of the faculty, but their pleasing and influential personalities.

Dr. Hoover and Dr. Miller have been with us the longest. They have seen and helped LaVerne College through many crises. It is impossible to estimate the value of their work for the College.

Dr. Hoover instituted a course in Evidences of Christianity which is appreciated above all others by the students who have studied it. The fact that he has influenced the making of this course a required course for college students proves that he is seeking to help others to find the best in life. Dr. Hoover appears conservative at first but he is conservative only in those things which are conducive to the highest attainments in life.

Dr. Miller has spent much of his life's blood in service for the College, both as president and as instructor. He has spent more time and energy than has been good for his health. It is his policy to be busy at something worth while when the death angel comes for him.

No one has done more for the development of the aesthetic nature of the student than Professor and Mrs. Haugh, who have spent thirteen years in service for the College, not because they could find no other work—they have been offered about the highest salaries offered to instructors—but they prefer to help LaVerne get on her feet.

Prof. and Mrs. Haugh are responsible for the way the students are judged when they leave school, and they have many living testimonies in the Brotherhood and in the world who have made good as a result of their efforts.

Dr. and Mrs. Arnett are a good example of a happy college marriage. They, too, have been offered much higher salaries but they are interested not so much in making a living as in making lives. The students especially appreciate Dr. Arnett's spontaneity and broadmindedness, not only in classwork but everywhere. They admire the Arnetts for what they are.

As head of the Bible Department, Dr. Emmert has been a source of inspiration to all. The students and all who meet him feel the presence of a godly man when he is near. He is an ideal to many of us. His life is helping young lives to grow into useful manhood and womanhood.

Prof. Brandt is a man whom the students are proud to have on their faculty. He is a man of pleasing personality, wholesome attitude and

GEOMETRY JR. MAKES DEBUT

Thursday morning, March 12th, little Delbert Ernest Hollenberg announced to the world his ambitions and aspirations in life, with a healthy "Waah!"—and they believed him.

At least it appears thus, from the discourse given by President Studebaker in chapel on Friday morning, in which he took great pleasure in announcing the arrival of a new faculty member in our midst. It appears that Delbert has given the authorities to understand that he shall some day become assistant in the Biology Department of LaVerne College. He even went so far as to boast that he will undoubtedly far surpass his dad.

Whether he chooses a "buggy" profession or no, the faculty, student body and friends join in with hearty congratulations to Prof. and Mrs. Hollenberg.

FIRE DRILL

Ring-ng-ng, Ring-ng-ng, Ring-ng-ng—Fire Drill! First, keep your wits about you; second, do not hurry or attempt to take all of your belongings; third, if you are in the library, Dr. Emmert's room or the girls' Y. W. C. A. room, march out along south wall in the hall and out the front steps; if you are in Dr. Hoover's room or Dr. Miller's room, march along east side of the hall and go out north door; if you are in the girls' book room, Dr. Arnett's room, the art room or Pauline Brooks' studio, march along west side of the hall and go out of the north door; if you are in the physics room, walk upstairs to main hall and go out the front steps; if you are in the chemistry laboratory, go out the north door; if you are in the lecture room, go out into the main hall, keeping to the north, and then go out the front door; if you are in Prof. Hollenberg's room, take the south side of hall and go out the front door; if you are in Miss Mohler's room, go out the east door across the hall; if you are in the expression room or music room, go out the north door; if you are in chapel, march out in regular order and go out east door opposite Miss Mohler's room. The first boy out of each room is to stand by the fire extinguisher and be ready to operate it in case of a real fire. Never attempt to jump out of a window.

These were the instructions given to us by Dr. Arnett in chapel last Monday. The county inspector demands that we have fire drills and thinks we should be able to clear the building in thirty seconds.

FINE SPECIAL PROGRAM

We must give Mrs. Arnett credit for being the most original faculty member. She was the cause of the most original outburst of enjoyment ever put on in the chapel. The first numbers on this delightful program were rendered by the Peptomistic Quartet, who sang La Golondrina, Good News and Bingo. The last two numbers were impersonations of the Bingo Quartet. These said gentlemen squirmed in their seats and blushed rosy red as they saw themselves as others see them.

Glen Perkins of Glendale gave three enjoyable cornet solos, accompanied by Mrs. Arnett.

Dena Minnich gave a delightful and humorous reading entitled "Charlie's Aunt." The reading tells of a dilemma of a Yale student at a boat race between Harvard and Yale.

The 'Fraidy Cat Quartet, which consisted of Mrs. Arnett, Mrs. Brooks, Prof. Sargent and Mr. Yoder, sang "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," and "Old Black Joe" in a manner characteristic of their name. A solo rendered by Lucile Beckner was the climax of the entire program.

THE BINGOES GROW UP

Change Name to Clarion Four to Suit Work

There has grown up in LaVerne College an organization of which the students have been very proud. This organization has always been known as the "Bingo Quartet." Many people outside of LaVerne recognize the name, for this quartet has represented the College on deputation teams, in "booster programs," in various surrounding high schools, and were always ready to take part in local programs. But to those who do not know, we introduce them as a male quartet composed of Urbin Hartman, tenor; Howard Hoff, second tenor; Harvey Brubaker, baritone, and Wayne Bohn, bass.

Since the organization of the Binges, practice has been the underlying characteristic. In the last year, especially, they have practiced almost every day. This has improved them until it is claimed, with due sobriety, that few male quartets have them bested. Let these facts act as proof:

On March 2d the quartet sang at the Pomona K. P. Hall on LaVerne Night. After the program a prominent citizen approached and informed them that if they wished to sing again in Pomona, he would promise to secure a church and an audience.

On March 7th they sang at a young peoples' banquet of another denomination. They were approached again and offered a place which a noted quartet has held for two years, at a Christian Endeavor convention of Los Angeles County.

Last Thursday evening they sang at a Hi-Y banquet at Bonita High before delegations from all over San Gabriel Valley. A member of the Rotary Club of Covina offered them a date and regular program wages to fill a program in that city. The principal of a neighboring high school requested them to come any time and give an assembly program and charge admission if they wished. As this kind of work will be a good boost for LaVerne College, the fellows will be given time to do it.

At present, many other programs are being arranged for. The date of March 26th has been secured by the Methodist Church of Glendora. Such programs will furnish the quartet with a free-will offering which they hope will help them through school.

If the quartet is receiving such offers from its first three outside appearances, one wonders what will happen when the first complete programs are presented.

Now since most of the programs which are planned are for churches, and since all of them will be primarily of a religious nature, the fellows

THIS MEANS YOU

As probably the most of you know, plans are under way to build a new administration building this summer.

The editor of The Campus Times is planning to dedicate a special six-page issue of The Times to the old building which faithfully served for so many years; and she would like to fill the paper with legends connected with the building, stories of things that have happened in it, and testimonies by any who have ever gone to LaVerne College as to their sentiments about the old building and what it means to them.

The success of this issue will depend upon you, students and former students, so please write anything concerning the old building that you can, and send it to the editor before April 10th.

STUDENTS HEAR COOLIDGE

The event of the inauguration of Calvin Coolidge will be remembered as one of the greatest of history, because it was the first to be broadcasted over the radio, thus making it possible for millions to hear President Coolidge all the way from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Due to the kindness of C. C. Sheldon, owner of the LaVerne radio shop, a radio set was installed in the LaVerne College auditorium. A large group of students and friends of the College gathered about 9 a. m., March 4th, and listened to the preliminaries, and then the inauguration and the speech of the president, which followed. It was just about 10:50 a. m. by Pacific standard time when the president closed his address.

The last words of the president were, "Here stands our country, an example of tranquillity at home, a patron of tranquillity abroad. She cherishes no purpose save to merit the favor of Almighty God."

One could not help but feel the power, the unity, the greatness of a nation so closely bound together, and yet so broad and, above all, the noble Christian spirit of a leader who could speak and be heard by his people in the remotest corners of this great nation, the United States of America.

VOLLEY OF TONGUES

Thursday, March 5th, two men proved themselves worthy sons of L. V. C. when they won a 3 to 0 victory over Calteck in debate. The question was: "Resolved, that the Immigration Law of 1924 should be so amended as to admit Japanese on the same basis as Europeans." LaVerne had the affirmative and quite worthily did she defend it. For a change, LaVerne won the decision on both delivery and argumentation.

The men certainly have been working, and their work shows it. Mrs. Haugh is to be thanked for helping with the expression. LaVerne's representatives were Harold Hoff and B. F. Jamison.

The judges were Prof. Hand of Pomona College, Attorney Hickson of Pomona and Prof. Holsinger of Pomona High School.

That same evening Mark Lehmer and Lloyd Studebaker, supporters of the negative argument of our debating team, journeyed to Pasadena to meet the Calteck debaters. The boys did very creditable work, but despite this, they lost in the decision of the judges.

"Eventually, why not now?"—Orange Blossoms.

DEPUTATION TEAMS GIVE PROGRAM

As a climax to the extensive and successful work of the deputation teams representing the College Y. M. C. A., W. C. A. and the Student Volunteers, their programs were given in the LaVerne Church on Sunday, March 8th. The interest of LaVerne people was shown by their large attendance both morning and evening.

At the morning service the program was given by the team which visited the Northern California churches during the Christmas vacation. The theme carried out was "Forward with Christ." In the first speech, Florence Landis emphasized the necessity and value of "Abiding in Christ" in order to go forward with him. Harvey Emley then discussed the practical application of the theme. Both messages were well presented and were inspirational. The reading of "The Last Word," by Modena Minnich, was very impressive, and the songs by the quartette consisting of Howard Hoff, Lois Miller, Florence Landis and Harvey Emley were especially appreciated by the audience.

In the evening the team which was sent to the southern churches presented the play, "Two Masters." This drama showed in a very vivid and interesting manner the impossibility of serving two masters. A woman who had been a Student Volunteer had been prevented from becoming a missionary and had lost interest in missions. It was through the influence of her old college chum's daughter, who had been sent to live with her while attending college, that she was brought to her senses and was made to realize that she had been trying to serve two masters. The leading parts were taken by Lola Shirk, Ruth Stoner and Mrs. Mae Miller.

The northern team presented its program for the thirteenth time, and the southern team has given it eleven times. The religious organizations of the College are proud to send out such teams as these to represent our College.

LION TAMERS' PROGRAM

Saturday, March 21

1. Music.
2. Negro Scene—Dwight Welch, Wayne Bohn.
3. Scene—Pauline Dunker, June Hershey and selected group.
4. Dialogue—Cathryn Byerly, Ada Moothart.
5. One-act Play—Pearl Whitcher, Miriam Shirk, Viola Neher, Harold Hoff.

The Academy Senior Class gave their play, "Seventeen," at the K. of P. Hall in Pomona, March 2d, 1925. The Clarion Four provided the entertainment between acts, which was greatly appreciated by the audience and cast.

OUR APPRECIATION

In an attempt to show their appreciation of the faculty, the students recently had Faculty Appreciation Day. The Y. W. girls also took advantage of St. Valentine's Day as an opportunity to send little notes of appreciation to one another.

The students so often get into the habit of taking things for granted or as a matter of course so that we fail to realize how much we could help oil the wheels of some teacher's or student's work if we would just drop a few words of appreciation as we go along. It doesn't take much. Even an appreciative smile will help a great deal. It is practically impossible, sometimes, to measure the amount of good done by a few words of appreciation. They make the receiver feel that maybe he is doing something a little worth while in this world after all, and they give him courage to press on.

On St. Valentine's Day many of the girls received appreciation notes from some very unexpected sources. Some of these were testimonials as to the splendid, uplifting, silent influence of the girl's life and behavior. Others were an acknowledgment of some little deed of kindness that was appreciated. These notes served to bind the girls into a closer friendship and common interest, and helped to make them more considerate of one another.

The Faculty Appreciation Day caused the students to stop and think of what the faculty is and has been doing for them, not only in the classroom but in outside activities and extra help along various lines. The silent influence of and personal contact with Christian instructors means so much in the life of a student and helps him develop a good Christian character.

The faculty of LaVerne College is made up of splendid Christian men and women who are sacrificing a great deal for the College and the students, and it is very fitting that the students should make a special effort to show their appreciation. But we should not stop with one day only. We can show our appreciation at all times by being courteous and considerate in the classroom and out of the classroom. Our actions as well as our words will convey our attitude toward and our appreciation of our instructors and our classmates.

So let us remember that a few words of appreciation will help oil another's work, and let's not be afraid to drop a few along the way once in a while.

Y. W. C. A. HOLDS ELECTION
On Monday, March 1st, the Y. W. girls brought their lunches and while eating them they gave nominating speeches for the Y. W. officers for the coming year.

At 1 o'clock the election took place and the following officers were elected: Florence Landis, president; Pearl Whitcher, vice-president; Rose Landis, secretary; Olive Throne, treasurer; Nellie Frantz, undergraduate representative; Mina Throne, chorister.

The chairmen of the standing committees as appointed by the new executive board are as follows: Pearl Whitcher, program committee; Lola Shirk, social committee; Vestal Goetze, publicity committee; Olive Throne, finance committee; Marguerite Dickey, membership committee; Madie Royer, world fellowship and deputation; Ruth Emley, social service.

The Y. W. C. A. plans big things for the coming year and hopes to make the Y. W. mean more and more to the school and the community.

NEW Y. W. CABINET INITIATED

At 6 o'clock on Wednesday evening, March 4th, the retiring cabinet of the Y. W. C. A. entertained the new cabinet and the advisory board at Mrs. Haugh's residence. No set program was planned but the girls enjoyed the evening visiting, telling jokes and listening to music on the Victrola. A light luncheon which consisted of sandwiches, salad, tea, fruit jello and cake was served by Alida Larimer, Pearl Whitcher and Mina Shirk. At the close of the repast Marguerite Dickey, the retiring president, gave a short talk thanking all the girls who had helped to make the Y. W. C. A. a success this year, and expressing the sentiment of the old cabinet in wishing the new cabinet much joy and success in its work for the coming year. Florence Landis, the president-elect, responded in a few choice words, accepting her responsibility and expressing a desire in behalf of the new cabinet to make the organization grow and become a still stronger influence in the lives of the girls. Following this, each member of the retiring cabinet took her successor to some nook and instructed her in her duties, handing over any material which might be of use to her in her work. The pleasant evening closed with hearty thanks to the old cabinet and to Mrs. Haugh for their splendid hospitality.

CHAPEL CHIMES

Religion has been the instigation of scientific research. Truths of science and religion are one. When we find out all about the chemistry of life, we will become stagnant.

Stagnation is a result of inactivity. The cause for the gap between religion and science is attitude. We ought to make our religion a laboratory science; we have a wonderful book that does not need revision every year, and we have capable teachers.

Each individual should have an opportunity to make his own life a laboratory science. Prof. Hollenberg.

Whether we squander or use the physical energy which is given us by the sun, we get the same allotment every day.

Sit down and conquer a gallon of gas and you'll be greater than Alexander ever was.

You have greater opportunities than anybody has ever had, but your children will have greater ones.

There is a background to nature. What of the God that made it? Prof. Brandt.

The measure of a man does not depend upon what he can do day by day, but what he can do when a crisis is on.

It is up to the civilization of the present day to see that war is outlawed by Christian principles and methods. Dr. Miller.

Settling eighty-three conflicts by arbitration cost the U. S. less than one day in the World War.

When you lose a war you lose; when you win a war you lose. Loss of life, morals and religion, was too great in the World War to permit another one.

Insist upon using every influence to bring about friendly relationship among nations. Virgil C. Finnell.

MRS. SHELDON TALKS IN C. W.

On Sunday evening, March 8th, Mrs. Charles Sheldon, a returned missionary, spoke to the Senior and College C. W. Departments on China. Up until the time that Mr. Sheldon was martyred during an uprising, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon spent many years as missionaries in Tibet.

In her talk on China, Mrs. Sheldon said that China wants our Christianity, but not our denominationalism. With a national church in view, she prefers to work that part out for herself. Even though China is considered a heathen nation, her people have many commendable qualities, among which is respect for parents. After dwelling on this thought for a short time, Mrs. Sheldon closed by telling a story about a bell which a Chinese had made according to royal command, but which he had trouble to make ring clear. His daughter heard that the bell would ring clear if the blood of a pure maiden was put into the molten metal. Accordingly, at the last time her father was permitted to recast the bell in an effort to make it ring clear, the daughter threw herself into the molten mass, and a clear-toned bell resulted. The daughter had sacrificed her life to save her father's.

It is through such talks as this that students are made to realize that other countries have some good qualities which are commendable and of which Americans need more.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS BANQUET

On April 17th the Y. W. C. A. plans the biggest affair of the year, the Mothers and Daughters Banquet. The purpose of this banquet is not to have a big "feed," but to get the women of the community together in one harmonious, uplifting group. The College and the community must cooperate and they cannot unless they get together.

Come, let's everybody boost and make it the biggest affair of the year.

Y. W. SPRING CONFERENCE

The spring Y. W. Conference was held at Pacific Palisades, March 6th and 7th. It was there that merry girls grew serious and planned great things for the coming year in the Y. W. C. A. Inspiration and enthusiasm grew so big and warm that no one could help but carry away a bit of it. The convention closed with a banquet bubbling over with pep, and was followed by a most beautiful and impressive candle lighting service outside on the hill.

The still, dark night, the music and the girls all carrying white candles made one feel the presence of a great spirit and stand in awe. Truly it was a feast of light.

Have you put your name on the 1925 list?

SOME BIG ONES

Prof. Brandt says that a pound of coal contains energy sufficient to raise an ordinary person fourteen miles into the air; that a gallon of gas has enough energy to raise a person 126 miles into the air; that a pound of radium has enough energy to raise a person 17 1-2 millions of miles into the air.

These are pretty big ones for a college professor—even his wife flatly denies the truth of his statements. However, we give him credit for being intelligent and wise enough to tell us the truth.

Let the "Orange Blossom" bloom on your table.

OH, THOSE CHILDREN!

The sidewalk in front of the ladies' dorm has stood for a lot, but it is doubtful whether it is going to hold up under so many bumps and thumps much longer.

Only the other day Lucile Cox was trying to skate and suddenly, yes, very suddenly, she was not standing up. Not to be outdone, Ruth Massey followed suit. "Poor sidewalk"—those "out-of-town children" should be more considerate of it. They shouldn't seat themselves so suddenly, and they should be more careful where they fall.

But since roller skating has been so unhesitatingly adopted by the L. V. C. girls as an antidote for too much study, the sidewalk will simply have to put up with it.

THAT'S OUR ANNUAL

I want an Annual,
You want an Annual,
All good chillun want an Annual.
Students: Let's remember that it isn't long now until the 1925 Annual comes out. Have you been doing your part in boosting your year book? Have you urged others to hand in subscriptions?

The staff appreciates the cooperation shown by the student body and is doing its best to give you something you may well be proud of.
A book that really is worth while
Will bring a tear—perhaps a smile;
That's our Annual.
Will make life brighter than before,
Bring back memories of days of yore;
That's our Annual.
A book you will cherish all your life
Through times of joy as well as strife,
That's our Annual.

KOLLEGE KNEWS

All of the thrills and chills of a hunting trip were experienced by Cecil Jordan, Levi Dickey and Otis Brooks while they were at the "Summit" one day last week, even though a field rat was all that they were able to capture.

Tuesday night, March 10th, Gladys Larimer had a taste of dormitory life—as a guest of Dorothea Dyck.

Miss Mohler gave the Dorm girls a very pleasant St. Patrick's party in her room.

Even the weather cannot daunt folks from LaVerne College. This is the conclusion reached by the photographer at Hartsook's Studio in Pomona on Saturday, March 7th, when he was permitted to gaze upon the beaming countenances of the members of the College Junior Class, the Lyric Club, and the Glee Club, respectively. Mr. Yoder even monopolized his noon hour.

Wanda Carl, Wilbur Hoke, Virgil Russell and Dr. Miller went to Whittier and Los Angeles last Thursday afternoon in the interest of the College Annual.

Dr. Hoover and Prof. Brandt attended a faculties convention held at Pomona College on Saturday, March 14th.

The day for the date of Dr. Arnett's chapel talk is drawing nigh—remember March 25th.

"Spring has sprung!" The Lyric Club has "bloomed out" on state occasions in uniforms consisting of white sport suits with black ties, which are very beautiful and becoming.

The Landis family enjoyed a chicken dinner at the home of Mrs. Grace Miller on Sunday, March 8th.

Edyth Bowman had dinner at the home of Reetha Rensberger on Thursday evening, March 12th.

It was evident that Pearl Whitcher and Wilbur Hoke crave to be "different" from other folks, as was seen by their distinguishable little white patches that were plastered on their foreheads and chins respectively.

Nellie Frantz and Marguerite Dickey attended part of the Y. W. C. A. Conference as representatives from LaVerne College. The conference was held at Pacific Palisades, March 6th, 7th and 8th.

Dr. and Mrs. Arnett made a special trip to Los Angeles to obtain their "deer" head—consult them for further information.

Minnie Dickey and Galen Root spent Sunday, March 8th in Long Beach at the home of Mr. Root.

Wednesday evening, March 4th, a group consisting of Miss Mohler, Dorothea Dyck, Pauline Dunker and Paul Blocker attended the production of Verdi's "Aida" as given by the Santa Carlos Grand Opera Company in Los Angeles.

Mary Blickenstaff entertained at her home on Sunday, March 8th, Lola Shirk, Urbin Hartman and Howard Hoff.

The students were peacefully sitting in chapel last Monday when three tones of the bell raised each one to his feet and tested his ability to "move." At 12 o'clock the same day, the fire alarm again rang and the students all calmly walked out of the building, smelling no smoke and seeing no flame.

Elsie Booth entertained Etta Feightner on Sunday, March 8th, in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Booth of Covna.

Dr. Miller still feels the effect of his bad cold. He was out of school one day last week on account of it.

President Studebaker gave up his anticipated trip to Elgin, Illinois.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE IT?

Another dorm party! But this one is different, for Mrs. Carroll was the hostess. She cleverly entertained the girls with chocolate and wafers and—etiquette. Quite a lengthy discourse was given on this important subject. Of course, none of the girls felt that they particularly needed information on this matter, but then it's rather nice to have something to talk about. Girls will talk, you know.

BOW! WOW!

Hot dogs! That's what was served at a birthday party given in the dormitory in honor of Nellie Hylton's twenty-first birthday. Pipin' hot they served 'em, too, not to mention the fact that each girl was forced to the point of tears to eat an enormous slice of red-hot onion which generously enhanced each hot dog. Lelah Erwin and Reetha Rensberger, foreign representatives, were present at this outburst of enthusiasm.

DR. HOOVER CELEBRATES

A very delightful evening was spent at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Hoover on Sunday, March 8th, when a group of friends and relatives gathered to celebrate Dr. Hoover's fifty-sixth birthday.

The surprise was tactfully planned by Mrs. Hoover, who arranged that part of the group go to the Hoover home immediately after dismissal of church, and make themselves comfortable in the "darkened parlor," to await the arrival of Dr. Hoover and family.

In due time they came, and as Dr. Hoover snapped on the lights, wishes for a happy birthday greeted his ears. Although he would not confess it, he was surprised anyway, for he seemed so "fussed" part of the time.

The evening was spent enjoying music—piano and violin; telling jokes and visiting with Vera through pictures. They missed Vera very much but were glad that she is enjoying her experience in the East.

Time passed all too rapidly and, last but not least, the most delicious refreshments, including an angel food cake with candles uniquely arranged to reveal the exact age of Dr. Hoover, was served.

Wishes for many more happy birthdays closed the evening's pleasure.

Those present were Dr. and Mrs. W. I. T. Hoover, Grandma Hoover, LeRoy Hoover and wife, Roscoe Hoover and wife, Misses Alida Larimer, Modena Minnich, Ruth Emley, Messrs. Byrl Harper, Lloyd Studebaker, and Wilbur Hoke.

INSPIRATION

Like moonbeams her eyes;
Her hair a silken cloud.
Everyone loves her voice,
Like the silken peal of a silver bell,
Loved by all—loved well.

(To Dena, inspired by Lloyd, dedicated to LaVerne College by the unknown poetess.....)

Dena is the sweetest girl.
Her hair 'round her face doth sweetly curl.

Lloyd's kind of cute, you know;
At least, dear Dina thinks so.

ON A SUNDAY NOON

Everyone likes to go to Alida's for dinner, so it was with enthusiasm that the girls accepted an invitation to said place on Sunday, the 8th of March.

There was a feeling of heavy expectancy in the air, an uneasy fluttering of hearts, and subdued murmuring of tidings. But Miss Alida has fooled the girls so often when they had felt a similar "inward hunch" that everyone was discreetly silent on the subject nearest her heart. The girls had agreed not to suspect a thing, so they wouldn't be disappointed if nothing happened (which of course it would).

When dinner was announced everyone made a grand rush for the table to look in the beautiful pink and white favor cups, under their plates, and through the pink carnation centerpiece. In a few seconds, this enlightening little slip of paper was extracted from the favor cups:

"The saddest words on tongue or pen
Are just these three—you're stung again!"

The girls glanced sheepishly at one another and then everyone laughed and began telling Alida how they really had rather expected something to happen although of course they really knew better. Everything settled down to an ordinary wonderful chicken dinner atmosphere, and oh, that dessert! Sunshine cake and red jello in sherbet glasses which were seated on neat little paper doilies.

Dorothea began absent-mindedly playing with her doily, and she happened to notice as she held it up to the light—oh, horrors!—handwriting on the doily. She screamed and waved her doily, and there it was:

"Yes—it's summer, 1925—Alida and Byrl."

In the meantime the Larimer family had crept in and a shower of "ahs" and "ohs" and "whys" flooded the room.

Altogether it was a very merry and very happy time. Not only the betrothed couple is happy but their many friends rejoice with them.

TAFFY

Sadness reigned. Sorrow was queen. Leave-taking and Good-bye were servants in the home of Misses Pobst, Moothart and Astrope. So great was the feeling of intense suffering that a party was arranged for, which could be stretched to meet all needs of the participants. And there was no doubt that this party could be stretched, for it was a "taffy party." The main purpose was to console each other on the fact that the "Pobmootstrophe" apartment was to be torn asunder. Miss Astrope is going back to her home in Montana. Miss Pobst is going to the Detter home in LaVerne, and Miss Moothart is to stay in the apartment alone.

Near-tears were shed, but not for long. When Prof. Brandt mentioned sources of energy he forgot the human mouth. Even Eunice Kreps can testify to this. A contest was held in which this energy was utilized and of course her side won.

After this Olive and Pearl told their rosy dreams for the future, but Ruth could not be induced to do so because, she said, "It's all settled." Such is life.

The porch at Welchs' home must have been a fine rendezvous for the small boys of the street the next day, because it was soon covered with taffy. Hard taffy, soft taffy, brown taffy, white taffy, good taffy and every other kind of taffy imaginable held its respective floor space. That taffy, though, had no trouble in disappearing. Even Dwight Welch condescended to eat a "little."

Those enjoying the evening and taffy, and wishing Miss Astrope a pleasant journey were Misses Kathryn Harshbarger, Ruth Emley, Nova Leonard, Mae Ernst, Ramah Maust, Eunice Kreps, Lela and Dorothy Irwin, Reetha Rensberger and Pearl Whitcher, and the hostesses, Olive Pobst, Myrtle Astrope and Ada Moothart.

THE TIGERS WALLOP THE LEOPARDS

In what appeared to the uninterested as a comedy of errors, but what was really a tragedy, the Oxy Tigers thoroughly mused up the young but growing Leopards by a 14 to 3 score. The first act almost brought a climax when the ground rules were misinterpreted, bringing in four runs.

The Leopards' three scores came in the ninth inning as a result of hits by Landis, J. Brooks and Glick.

Teachout for Oxy pitched an airtight game, allowing but one hit, that by Landis.

Kreps pitched a fairly good game but errors and timely hits ruined his chances of victory. He was relieved by Welch in the seventh inning, who allowed but two hits in the three innings pitched.

The names of the LaVerne players and positions played are: Landis, 2b; Roynon, rf; J. Brooks, lf; Glick, cf; Root, 1b; Bohn, 3b; Lehmer, c; Boots, ss; Kreps, p; B. Betts, rf; and Welch, p.

I. Betts batted for Welch in the ninth. Runs for LaVerne were made by Landis, B. Betts and I. Betts.

You can't go wrong by investing in Orange Blossom.

At a meeting of the baseball men, Dale Glick was again elected captain for the present season. He is a heady and consistent player and displays a good brand of baseball. He held down shortstop position last season but will likely play in the outfield most of the time this year.

At the same meeting Coach Claude Arnett displayed to the squad a small bronze statue of a baseball player in uniform with his bat drawn back ready to take a swing at the horsehide pill.

This will be presented to the man with the highest batting average at the end of the season. It is now in the trophy case in the hall and every man eyes it with envy as he passes up and down the hall.

With but the one game played, that with Occidental, Ernie Landis and Dale Glick are leading in batting honors with two hits out of four times to bat, making an average of .500. J. Brooks is the only other man with any average having made one hit out of four times at bat with an average of .250. All other members of the squad still have the three zeros.

It is the intention of The Campus Times to list the batting averages in each issue.

WHAT A CALAMITY!

A group of students were passing the hedge on their way home from Mexican prayer meeting.

Nellie Hylton: "If I'm not careful, I'll get my scarf black with smudge."

Lloyd C.: "Oh no, you won't. I brushed it all off when I was running from the station to catch my class. The sidewalk was slippery and—you know the rest."

Nellie: "And did you have to change your clothes?"

Lloyd, rather reluctantly: "Uh-huh."

UNCLE EZRA SEZ:--

I saw a man th' other day what wuz drivin' one uv these here trucks that wuz loaded high with orange boxes.

Ez he cum by I eyed sum boxes that was about t' fall off an' jest ez I looked real har at 'em they did fall off all over th' streef. Th' man see me standin' there sort o' smilin' t' myself an' got mad, an' when I offered t' help pick 'em up he seemed t' blame th' hull thing onto me. Now thet's jest th' way with sum folks. Ez soon ez ye offer t' help 'em out uv trouble they start suspicionin' th'et you've had sumthin' t' do with it, even if you didn't have no more chance ter then I did t' thet truck driver. Kinda inconsistent, ain't it?

Morale

Durin' th' war we hed lots uv talkin' about morale. We wuzent jest shure what it wuz, but nevertheless we had t' keep it an' a great many things wuz done fer nothin' else than t' keep up th' morale. Now whatever this morale might be, it had th' power of makin' people confident an' full uv faith fer th' final victorious outcome, an' it wuz mighty necessary.

Now cum t' think about it, a school is mighty like a little nation an' altho we don't have th' same kin' uv struggle, we still got t' hev faith in th' final vict'ry uv our institution, an' it wouldn't hurt a bit if there was sumthin' done t' strengthen th' morale uv some uv th' people around this school, t' say nothin' uv them on th' outside thet is interested in it.

DON'T LOSE YER MORALE AN' DON'T LET TH' OTHER FELLER, EITHER—I thank ye.

recently decided to change the name of the organization. After much consideration, the name "Clarion Four" was chosen. They are growing to like the name the more they use it. It will be hard for the students to forget them as the Binges, but not so hard if one considers that the Clarion Four is the Bingo Quartet, grown up. The new name will soon be liked, for it means a better, more successful representative of LaVerne College.

FACULTY APPRECIATION DAY

teaching ability. The mathematics and physics students say that his knowledge along those lines can hardly be surpassed.

Because Prof. Sarafian does not advertise his knowledge and ability, his true worth has not been appreciated. Those who are taking foreign languages under him are very much pleased with the results. They value not only his work but his friendly spirit toward all the students, which is indicative of a broadminded, socialized man.

Those who attended L. V. C. when Mrs. Brooks was a student here know that college students are not any worse now than they were when she was a fellow-student. Nevertheless she is highly respected and esteemed by every student. Her work in the Music Department is worthy of note.

Prof. Sargent is a fellow with the fellows. His friendliness and winsome smiles are appreciated by every student. He is doing splendid work in the Science Department.

Although Mrs. Howes, the art teacher, is not with the students every day, they feel that she has the interests of L. V. C. at heart. Her work proves that she is doing all in her power to develop the aesthetic nature of the students.

There is a miscellaneous group of individuals who are not members of the faculty, but who are helping the College very much. Mr. Woody spends ten to fourteen hours a day keeping things clean around the building. He does a good job of it, too.

Business Manager Yoder, who has had something to do with college all his life, shows unusual ability in keeping the College expenses down. His cheerful countenance and optimism change downhearted pessimists into courageous optimists.

Mrs. S. J. Miller's ideal is to have a quiet library where every student is busy. She is rendering helpful service as College librarian.

Mary Hoke is uplifting the physical condition of the dirmitory students. She co-operates and helps to provide good eats at all regular meals and special occasions. The office reports that she is an extraordinarily economical cook.

Mrs. Carroll, matron of the Ladies' Hall, is a question. As Pearl says, she has good "sportness," which the dorm girls especially appreciate.

Pastor Rothrock is also a good sport and a real leader of Christian activities. The students appreciate his presence in chapel each day, and also his jokes and hearty co-operation.

Last but not least is President Studebaker. He has done so much more for L. V. C. than it is possible to enumerate. He is seeking to create better co-operation among those who are not, but should be, friends of L. V. C., and he has gone to the heart of the financial program of the College. His life is a quiet and deep inspiration to all.

In behalf of the students: "We thank and admire you, Faculty Members, not only for what you teach us, but also for what you are. We will not remember all you have taught us, but your lives will be an everlasting inspiration to us. We thank you, one and all!"
