Dear Mother,

Yesterday I received a letter from Father and one from Eleanor. In the morning, I put my the gingham dresses and my grey hat in my trunk which is down in the trunk room and went down town with four of the girls and Miss Merrill. In the afternoon I visited the girls and wrote a letter and sent a circular of the school to Mary Cameron.

This morning I attended church and heard Bishop Hare of North Dakota preach. His sermon was about the Indians.

I have just come back from the children's meeting. Bishop Hale only said a few words but it paid for going. Four of the girls beside myself went. Mrs. Richards says if it is pleasant next Sunday she will take all that want to go to an after-noon service of another church.

Who ever writes to me after you receive this letter please tell me about the dancing lessons. They begin next Thursday.

Tell Margaret the prayer book and hymnal are very pretty and I used them for the first time to-day. I guess I will take a short nap now.

With love to all.

Your loving daughter
Georgia Willes.
