

could. I have hung three pictures but cannot hang the others until I get some hooks I mean the little ones that hold the pictures to the wall.

Now I must get ready for bed.
With love to all from your affectionate daughter

Dear Mother — Jan 4, 1892.

After a very pleasant journey, I arrived Sat. — The school at six o'clock. It is now almost nine and I have had supper unpacked my trunk and ready for bed, but I have not supper and slipped.
Then I arrived at Penn Haven Junction I found no Clara and I knew it would do me no good to send a telegram to Mrs.
Richard because she would not get it in time to go to the train. There were two girls on the have who were going to boarding school for it cheating - still they were met by a teacher, every thing refused to morph and I picked it to be cause I found a man to bring my horse, refuge I got - to the, what there was beating one arriving and it was the one going to Cheate. I was so bored at and when I arrived at that school I got out and went to the telegraph office and sent a telegram to Father there after a short walk I was at Walnut Lane.

Then I met Mrs. Richards she said she was sorry but as she was away

she could not come to meet me.
With me I got along splendidly and was as well off as if I had had a teacher with me. Anyway we unpack my horse and I am almost settled in my new room Mrs. Richards came in and I asked her if I might put the man on the next stand and she said
