

Walnut Lane School,

January 8, 1892.

Dear Father:-

Your letter came wed Wednesday and as I have no pen moments I will write a short note so that you will hear from me on Saturday.

Yesterday afternoon I spent in getting some thing done in the place. My share is very pleasant and I like it much better than the one on the third floor. It saves going up so many stairs.
You must know my good feelings because they always have no very good.
Only one thing I will be the first and last time

Mr. G. H. Welles,

of this winter for Philadelphia.
Please tell Margant to send me some picture books my fancy pin, and a pair of scissors also of a picture of our house taken when the snow was on the ground.

It is almost time for the school bell to ring, so will take this down stairs and then study my spelling lesson as that comes the first thing Love to all

Your loving daughter
