Sept. 29, 1891.

Dear Father,

Yours most Obessant
will return more well
to-day.

Yesterday and to-day
I have been getting well to studying. Also got intend to study hard.

I have studies there any of the branching pupils I think. I also going to have to write this one journal but as I have not had an opportunity to get myself at school
the school. I hope you can read this and that it will not be faded out by the time it reaches

you. I wished I could see today Stone creek and have hills very big boys.

It was nice raining at three o'clock and at half past four but not at 6 o'clock. He did not have to take me usual make to-day much to the girls. Delight as we are disappointed to go for half an hour and take me and not make.

There is not much of a birthday letter but I did not forget you to think that I had forgotten all about you.

I appreciate all
of your letters and will all ways ready to look for letters when

I hear the post man
ring.

I then I will have to study my lesson.
With kind to you and all at home. Love

Your loving daughter
Georgia Miller.
