Dear Mr. Pitassi;

The window work is all complete now and I am sending you herewith the balance on the contract. It took so long because I had to have new ventilators made, the National Metallic Ventilator being of no account and always causing trouble. It was no use of putting in the new windows in these unsatisfactory ventilators. This work caused considerable delay. Everything is finished now and I am well pleased with your work. The sacristy windows are beautiful and quite light, something that we appreciate very much in this particular place. I am glad to know that all of us, you, the architect and myself, lived long enough to complete the windows in our church. It would have been unfortunate to have different hands in this important work. I was always afraid of that. I wish to thank you for the care and effort you spent in making these windows, and can assure you that they will lend no little part in establishing a name for you as to good and artistic workmanship. I am

Yours truly

Michael Klasen.
