

Undercover Address Rua Latino Coelho, 57, Lisbon

This undercover address, discovered by this exhibitor in 1998, is unlisted in the literature. It was operated by Alfred Schwarbaum of Lausanne, Switzerland, who openly carried on Jewish relief services from there, and received hundreds of letters at Lausanne from Jews in occupied Poland. A postal card mailed from the Warsaw ghetto district to Schwarbaum at Lausanne on January 10, 1942, is shown on the Warsaw Jewish Ghetto page of this exhibit. He had no need of a Lisbon address for that work, but Schwarbaum was also working to support the armed Jewish underground groups in Poland, for which disguised communication was essential.

This 30-groszy postal card, canceled January 3, 1942, at Warsaw, and censored at Munich, originated in the Warsaw Jewish ghetto (where the small boxed "Judenrat Warschau" handstamped marking was applied), and ostensibly thanked the Kajotes firm at Rua Latino Coelo, 57, Lisbon, Portugal, for sending one packet of coffee, designated by a five-digit number (probably a code known only to the sender and to Schwarbaum). Upon receipt at Lisbon on January 10, the card was routed to Schwarbaum (red pencil on the message side) at Lausanne.
