The Madrona Neighborhood Gets a Landmark

On Sat., Jan. 28, at 1 pm a new landmark will be dedicated at the Station House Library in Madrona. The Landmark is a large sculpture, "The Peaceable Kingdom", created by Rich Beyer, a well known Seattle artist ("Waiting for the Interurban", etc.) and a Madrona resident.

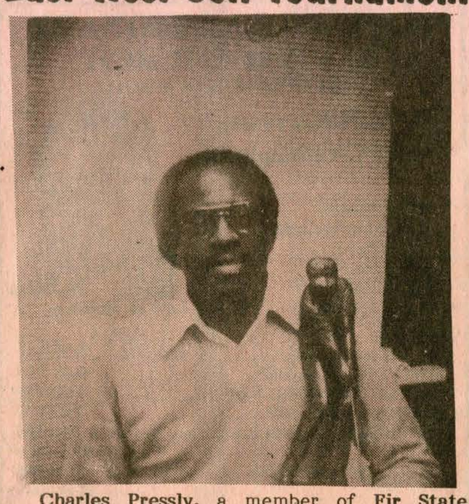

The sculpture commemorates neighborhood cooperation and the idea of the "lion lying down by the lamb" -- settin aside differences for peace in the future.

The sculpture is a collaborative effort involving Community Development Block Grant funds, neighborhood organizations and volunteers, the Neighborhood Youth Corps, local merchants, the City Departments of Community Development and Administrative Services and the Seattle Public Library.

The dedication ceremony will include: City Councilman Sam Smith, Library Board Chairman John Cannon, Deputy Mayor Carol Lewis, Jeri Ware, neighborhood resident, and will conclude with the unveiling of the sculpture.

Thank you, readers -- you made THE FACTS 'The Number One weekly in the entire Northwest!

This Is An Election Year -- Are You Prepared To Vote?

Most people are aware that a major election will be held in November -- the presidential election. Those among us who are concerned and have always exercised their right as an American citizen to vote will cast their ballots this upcoming November. Unfortunately, many would-be voters will continue to create excuses and stay away from the polls. Still, a large percentage of eligible black voters will not be registered by election time, unless they stop giving major issues lip service, develop a level of political awareness, and physically go to the nearest voter registration office and register.

Registration for people who are not registered voters can be done at 553 King County Administration Bldg., 500 4th Avenue (downtown Seattle). If there are any questions concerning your eligibility to register, please call the "Records and Election Division" of King County at 344-3282. Operators there can inform you where to go and register in your neighborhood if you are unable to make the trip downtown.

Becoming a registered voter is your right as guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States. As to whether or not you exercise that right is a matter of one's personal prerogative.

Remember, community news of interest is exclusive in THE FACTS and you read it first.

During 1983, I was able to award four scholarships to deserving young people involved with getting a good education. I also made donations to the Northwest Center for the Retarded, and the Epilepsy Foundation. I made seven quilts, which were donated to the Morrison Hotel Shelter. I am grateful that the Lord has enabled me to continue this work, which was begun in 1964. I plan to keep up this work, which the Lord has given me, as long as He continues to give me the health and strength to do so. I would like to thank everyone that contributed items for my yearly rummage sale, and materials for my needlework. I would like to give a special thanks to Bro. & Sis. L. Barrett, who donated the materials for the quilts that were given to provide warmth for homeless persons in the downtown area. May God continue to bless you all.

THE FRUIT OF THE SPIRIT

Just as the Galatians were led by the Spirit, yet were experiencing problems with and from those who troubled them by preaching another gospel, perverting the gospel of Christ (chapter 1), so can true christians be troubled today. It took the inspired word of God to set them straight and that is what will set all of us straight today; nothing else will do it. When men ignore and disobey the word of God and/or teach another gospel the Bible literally says "Let him be cut off from God" (Gal. 1:3b). THE FRUIT OF THE SPIRIT IS LOVE.....(Galatians 5:22).

LOVE: A lot of people will not accept the biblical meaning and teachings on love. The reason is simple: they want to believe that love means to go along with, or put up with, any and everything. I pray that the reader will keep in mind that the "love" we are discussing here, is the love that comes as a result of obeying God and not the emotions and feelings of men. We must understand love as God will have us to understand it before we can manifest it in our lives; before it will come as a result of the work of the Spirit, or obedience to the revelation of the Spirit, which is the word of God (I Peter 1:25; 1:12; Eph. 6:17; I Tim. 3:16). The word "love" as we read it in our English New Testament is actually a translation of the Greek word agape. Among several Greek words expressing love, the two (2) words used most frequently in the Greek New Testament are the words agape and eros. The word expressing the fruit of the Spirit is agape. Agape is produced in the christian by the Holy Spirit. One can truly see that it actually takes an act of God to "love your enemies." No ordinary man can understand why he should "Love (agape) your emenies and pray for those who persecute you," it is not man's way of doing things. But there is a purpose behind doing things God's way. Jesus completed the above statement by saying "that you may be Sons of your Father in heaven" (Matt.5:45a). It is not a matter of jumping up and down claiming that "I have the Holy Spirit," it is a matter of the Spirit working in my life. Agape is a matter of the will, the desire to obey God.

VANESSA BELL-ARMSTRONG IN SEATTLE CONCERT

Renowed gospel vocalist, Vanessa Bell-Armstrong of Detroit, Michigan, will grace the Pacific Northwest with her soul-thrilling gift of song Sun., Jan. 29, at 3:30 pm at the Sharples High School Auditorium, 3928 S. Graham, Seattle. Also featured on this very special concert will be the Rainier Teample Choir and the Hosanna Community Choir under the direction of KNHC Gospel Host Alfred Taylor. MC will be Seattle's own Charles Brown.

Vanessa has appeared with some of the greatest gospel talents of today, including the Hawkins Family, Rev. James Cleveland, Rance Allen and many other recording artists. She has also had offers to perform with Stevie Wonder and Aretha Franklin. But because of her religious convictions, she has learned to appreciate secular music for what it is, but has chosen not to sing it.

Her talents cultivated into acting as she appreared in the premier of "Season's Reason," produced by Ron Milner, author of "What The Wine Sellers Buy."

Vanessa has made her way across the country singing in San Francisco, New York Los Angeles, Chicago, and many other cities, devastating her audiences with her articulate voice control and versatility. In a recent television appearance, the commentator announced her as "The Song Bird of Michigan."

Tickets for the Vanessa Bell-Armstrong Concert are available at The Lord's Place, 2514 E. Cherry, Seattle, or from any member of the Hosanna Choir; $5 in advance, $6 at the door.

For more information, please call The Lord's Place, 325-3096 or 323-7454.

At Sunday School you get answers instead of more questions. Children want to know how God fits into their lives. In a Christian Science Sunday School class young people are encouraged to ask questions. And they find answers. They learn from Bible stories how the power of God's love can help them in school and at home. From Jesus' example, they even learn to bring spiritual blessings to themselves and others.

All children through age 19 are welcome to come to our Sunday School.

Black History Month Programs at Seattle Public Libraries

Get out your pencils and start filling in your calendars! The Seattle Public Library celebrates Black History Month this February with a focus on the family and with a greater variety of programs than even before.

This year's Black History Month theme is Walk Together Children: A Celebration of the Black Family. The title is taken from a traditional Black American spiritual.

The festivities begin on Wednesday, February 1 at 7 p.m. at the Douglass-Truth Library with a dedication of the Black Heritage Society of Washington State Exhibit case. In February the exhibit will feature a special display on the theme of Black family history in Washington State.

On three consecutive Saturdays at the Douglass-Truth Library, 23rd and E. Yesler Way, at 3:00 p.m., from February 11 - 25, the Library will present a series of programs on local literary arts called Northern Lights and Neon Naturals: Seattle Black Women Writing. The series, co-sponsored by the Seattle Section of the National Council of Negro Women will feature post and fiction writer J. T. Stewart; journalist Evelyn C. White and poet Carolyn T. Vaughn Young. Each program consists of an opening reading, a feature reading and a reception. In addition, a photographic exhibit also entitled Northern Lights and Neon Naturals: Seattle Black Women Writing, consisting of 11 photographs accompanied by a reproduction of a piece of writing by each auther will be displayed at the Douglass-Truth Library during the time of the readings.

Family programs for Black History Month may be seen in community libraries throughout the city. The first program features an original puppet show, "How Anansi Brought the Stories Down," about the Ashanti folkhero, Anansi, the spider man, together with a film, "Ty's Home-Made Band, about a wandering minstrel who helps a young boy put together a band. The second program offers the Storyteller and the Play with Debra Harris, member of the Seattle Storytellers Guild telling stories on African and Afro-American themes, and A Friend with Friend Theatre Ensemble performing an original short play based on the life of Harriet Tubman entitled, "They Called Her Moses." Each program is designed for the whole family an will be presented at three community libraries.

The film, "Roll of Thunder, Hear My Cry, based on the novel by Mildred Taylor, set in the poverty stricken South of 1933, describes a Black family's triumph over greed and prejudice as family members struggle to hold onto land they have owned for three generations. The film is designed for older children and their parents and may be seen at seven library locations during February.

Historians and genealogists will be interested in a program on Black Family History by Genealogy Librarian Darlene Hamilton. She will present an introduction to Black family history and genealogical research at three library locations.

In addition, a supplement to the booklist, "Dreams to Grow on: Books about Black Children," will be available to the public in February for Black History Month. The updated list will be entitled "More Dreams to Grow On."

Walk Together Children promises to make February an exciting month for the whole community. "We have tried to reach a greater variety of audience than ever before," said Marcia Myers, Managing Librarian for the Seattle Public Library's South Region. "We have attempted to involve the community in programming, working with organizations such as the Black Heritage Society, the Seattle Section of National Council of Negro Women, the Seattle Storytellers Guild and A Friend With Friend Theatre Ensemble.

The programs are funded by the Robert Charles Bunn Fund Trust.

Hi Boxing Fans — There were three media attractions over the weekend. Two of them most of you were able to see, the title fight that was held just before the Super-Bowl and the Super-Bowl. The other media event was held last Friday in Olympia, Washington. You probably know about it by now, if you don't, let me fill you in on it. If you can recall Senator Fleming has a bill before the House that calls on the Senate to create a fund for boxers. Also a bill to beef up health and training programs for all athletes in sports in the state of Washington. His reasoning for this is the fact that Ray Seales was blinded by boxing and he mentioned the huge sum of money that was awarded to a young man that was injured in a football game. I'm sure that most of you read about that case last year. To me, it was a little suspecious that all this came about after the wide publicity that was accorded to the Seales' story.

Anyhow, there was a hearing about these bills last Friday. There were few boxing people from this state who commented on the boxing bill and quite few people who talked about the health bill. Among those were Curt Warner, Michael Jackson, and the trainer of the Seahawks, plus few Doctors. With these people in attendance, you know there were quite few in attendance including all of the TV and newspaper writers. The committee let Seales and his attorney speak first on the boxing bill. Then, the chairman of the committee mentioned that a few of the people had to leave early so he let Warner, Jackson, and the trainer speak for about 30 minutes. All of the committee then had to comment to those three, and tell of the thrill they gave all of them on the season the Seahawks had. At that point, the three left, of course all of the TV cameramen left and also most of the crowd. That left about eight people to speak on the boxing bill. Seales attorney had spoken of the Boxing Commission in a very bad light. So, when the Boxing Commission spokesmen had a chance to comment, they were on the defensive from the start. The committee gave them a bad time and then called the meeting to a close.

Let me say here that when Warner and Jackson left, so did two-third of the committee. I thought that when the TV cameras left and the biggest part of the committee left, the Boxing Bill got cheated. If the Bill passes as written, you can kiss boxing goodbye in this State. But then, you knew that when Senator Rassmussen asked one of the Doctors, if he thought that boxing should be banned, the biggest thrill came when Stan Naccarto of the Boxing Commission asked Senator Rassmussen, if he knew that during 1983, there were 5 boxing deaths and 248 football deaths. Of course, the senator had no answer for that.

There will be more about this on next week. — CI BON.

Brooks, Employment Security Department Commissioner, announced today that the Department recently obtained convictions against 35 Washington residents, in separate cases of attempting to defraud the Unemployment Insurance Program. The 35 defendants received over $72,000 in fraudulent benefits. Of these convictions, 25 were for theft in the first degree; six were for theft in the second degree; three were for theft in the third degree, and one conviction was for perjury in the second degree. All four offenses are classified as felonies.

The defendants were given conditions of probations ranging from two to five years, in addition to a mandate that full restitution of the fraudulent amount be made to the Employment Security Department. They were also given jail sentences of up to six months, performing community service ranging from 50 to 200 hours, and payment of attorney fees and court costs.

"Although the state's economy continues to improve and unemployment is at the lowest level in nearly two years," said Brooks, "our Claims Investigation Office reports that the number of fraud cases submitted for prosecution in 1983 substantially increased over last year." According to Brooks, this increase can be partially attributed to the agency's computerized system of cross matching claimants against employer records, which "makes it difficult, if not impossible," for a claimant to defraud the system by not claiming earned wages. "We also have a full-time staff devoted to following leads related to possible fraudulent unemployment insurance claims," Brooks said.

Brooks also noted that in addition to criminal penalties, there are administrative decisions which cancel all benefit rights for 26 weeks after determination that fraudulent claims have been made, and he reminded those filing for benefits, that it is their responsibility to provide full and accurate information to the Department.

Fir State Golf News by R. Silas, Jr.

This week will be a departure from the usual news. The past week-end provided a rare view into things that are not available every day. Last Saturday morning, 7:30 a.m., at the Mt. Zion Baptist Church Judge Jack Tanner gave those in attendance a brief glimpse of one facet of the government's seats of Power. As I listened, it was enlighening, educational, entertaining, but most of all exciting! I am writing this to leave you with a few of the many ideas brought to us. It was interesting to me as Jack regressed back to 1956-57 when he was a practicing attorney here in Seattle, and a member of the Esquire's club where we became acquainted and later friends.

Nevertheless, in answering some of the questions from the floor, it was necessary for him to go back in time to make the point that he has always been a man born of the Black experience and he admonished young aspiring lawyers (Black) to remember your heritage and after the degree is achieved don't disappear from the Black scene (some young Black aspirants are never seen again ?).

He also wanted it clear that politics exists at all levels of government and no matter what is written or said, the ONE-WAY to become a Federal District Circuit Judge is by appointment by at least one SENATOR! (correction that's endorsement by a senator).

Jack is concerned that he is probably the last appointed Black Judge for this 9th circuit (state of Washington, Oregon, California, and Alaska). The reasons are fairly obvious, his popularity and the new SENATORS recently appointed. After several questions as to what can we do to help ourselves generally, the answer was rather simple: register to vote and vote regularly. The one bit of power that you and I have that echoes back to the power structure is the vote. Members take the time, find the time get registered to VOTE. If you are registered to vote, then, be sure to exercise your power and VOTE!

"JR" GOLFERS.....

The 1984 "JR" Golfing season is already being planned for up to (25) young people that are interested in playing golf.

Last year we made a beginning at organizing our program and start to present the program that is both beneficial and rewarding. This year Mr. Ryan Jackson, assistant professional at Jefferson Park will undertake the responsibility of organizaing and running the "JR" Golf program for 1984. Ryan will be supported by his dad Frank Jackson acting as the focal point in the FIR STATE G.C.

This column will announce the kick-off of the program and keep JR golfers and parents up-to-date with program developments.

WEARIN THE GREEN.....

The applications are out - let's get the dues in -. Officers, are you there? Let's call a truce and I won't have to list the officers who have and those who haven't — OK? (a leader leads, right? Jan. 31, is only a week away!).

Hey guys, it has become some what a catchy idea to place a hat in the car in the back window symblizing your "sporty" persuasion. It would be our thing to place the GREEN CAPS in the rear window of our cars, while the weather is bad enough to ruin it — How about that? One new name is added to the list of last week, a man to wear the GREEN this week is Aaron Jones!

Last week, the reported FIR STATERS and friends that journeyed to Phoenix to play golf in the EAST-WEST classic was incomplete. The entourage included Bill Butler, L.B. Curry, Alvin Horton, John Malone, Hershey Sampson and Woody was mentioned. Our club is one of the most traveled clubs in WSGA — How about that?

By: Harold Murphy

The Subs Basketball Team was the victor in the Garfield Holiday Tournament. The tournament was held in the last week of December. The other teams that participated in this men's tournament were Family Plus, Tubs, Take Five, Maaronna, and Yessler.

The competition was intense throughout the entire tournament, with each team making a fine showing.

The championship game was between Family Plus and the Subs. The game was close up until the final three minutes, but the outside shooting of the Subs pulled them ahead to the final score of 77-69, and victory!

The Garfield Community Center and the participating teams would like to express their thanks to the officials who volunteered their time to provide excellent officiating and quality competition. Special thanks to Gary Boyle, Jimmy Daniels, James Ewing, Bernie Strong, Bruce Barwett, and the Pacific Northwest Officiating Association for their cooperation. Thanks is also due to the Garfield High School for the use of their gym.

A Poem for Michael...

Who Loves the world so much.
Who keeps a smile so bright.
Who enlightens and brightens up your day.
Who makes joy and love such a tender thing?
Who breaks your heart with just a note.
Who makes so many women day dream.
Who wears a curl so full of life.
None other than the world's most loveable person...Michael Jackson.
We all Love you Michael.

Southeast Youth Service Bureau Presents A Fundraiser

Ron Ben Jarrett

"Now is the Time" a comedy for youth by Ron Ben Jarrett is being presented as a fund raiser by the Southeast Youth Service Bureau on Friday and Saturday, February 17 and 18 at Sharples School Auditorium, 3928 So. Graham.

"Now is the Time" is an amusing tale of Rick a teen-ageer with a not so pleasant attitude and out look on life. The fun begins when Gabriel is dispatched from heaven to teach him some manners, or to let him earn his wings so to speak. The end results are entertaining and enhancing for the youth of today.

The play is directed by Tee Dennard and the cast is made up of youth from 9 to 17 years old from Southeast and Central Seattle. The Central Area Chamber Process Is Progressing Rapidly!

My name is Decharlene Williams, the Founder of the Central Area Chamber of Commerce; also a member of Mayor Charles Royers' Small Business Task Force Board.

The Central Area Chamber has been an instrument of mind and is a dependency of the City of Seattle through Mayor Charles Royers. In other words, I am on a mission out of the Mayor's Office to create a positive Central Area Chamber of Commerce, so that we can pull the entire Seattle Central District out of the dark. "We too must stand up and be counted." The Central Area Chamber of Commerce is open to all because the Central district is made up of all types of people. This is not a Black controlled chamber, and we are not affiliated with NBUF, or with any other type of minority groups. I will not let the Central Area Chamber be sabotage. This is a dynamite world and a world of redefinition and it is time that we learned to "share". That is what a chamber is about. The propose is to advance and improve the economic industrial, civic, health, educational, cultural and general community agencies who share common goals and goal to create and maintain a bureau for the youth and our senior citizens. We will have information that will help our neighborhood, business survival and to create new businesses. We plan to restore our neighborhoods by maintain a consumer liason council to develop a better relationship between the consumers and the business people. We have so many good positive thoughts to work on and we need your inputs. So, why don't you plan to attend our Feb. 6th meeting, 7:30 p.m., at Knights Cocktail lounge, 820 Martin Luther King, Jr. Way. Mary Henry will show a film on minority land marks.

Remember the Central Area Chamber is designed for "Real People". For information call 322-8296, Decharlene; or Mr. Bell 625-5555, or 625-4511.

Florence Howell who is my assistance, or liason worker for the Central Area Chamber of Commerce.

A Report To The People

by ISAIAH EDWARDS

This is True:

Arising from the crevasses of an environ, filled with bigotry and hatred, came he, Jesse Jackson, and astound the world with his great daring, in announcing an aspiration he had nurtured since his early childhood: "I want to be President of the U.S.A." And, as the results of which America's political process will never remain the same: For the stewardship of Dr. Martin L. King has hastened the day when a Black, shall one day, become President of the U.S.A; with continued perseverance in fields of education and preparation; with honest and concerted efforts of voters' registrations; with increased numbers of Black mayors in control of most of our largest American cities; with increased numbers of Black office holders across the nation in at-large; and after we've had a few more diabolical, hypocritical forked tongued administrations such as administrated by Richard Dick Nixon, and Ronald Reagan. Frustrated America will have no other alternative, but to place its trust in the brain power and the proven integrities of Black men, to run this government, just as she has turned to the Black American athletics who dominates her athletic world with their superior capabilities. The bigots and the racists shall be subdued, and humanity will demand justice above color. Yes, one day sooner than we know, we shall have a Black President, and Jesse Jackson's stewardship will have hastened that day.

Until then, This is True. Will see you next week.

BABY TALK: WHERE IS MY LEGAL LICENSE TO LIVE

Since a law cannot be made directing that certain children shall not breathe—we end up with magnificent opera buffos starring "unlicensed" parents and "licensed" public censors.

Looking at some of the classics: (1) Ousted from Cabinet Post: Parliament member, Cecil Parkinson wishes the baby born to his ex-mistress secretary—"peace, privacy and a happy life." (2) Marion Center, Pennsylvania: The school board upheld the dismissal of 17-year old Arlene Pfeiffer from the National Honor Society. (3) Dallas, Texas: Some parents complained that by selecting Ayle Martin, 17, Homecoming Queen, the school appears to be condoning teenage pregnancies.

These "unlicensed" parents exercised their personal rights in allowing life to their children. Remember the times when the newspaper would run a blurb young unidentified girl's body found at city dump. Grapevine gave the reason of death as botched abortion. The voices of censor never hollered about TWO DEAD ONES. Now the parents in these situation choose LIFE FOR TWO, the censors are having a field day in curbing the rights of a parent to do the best possible with future planning.

Babies are given legitimate license and recognition by the IRS—they are legal exemptions. Uncle Sam will not censor citizenship and taxation areas—we are all equal in the eyes of the IRS.

As young mothers continue with their education, we can see many becoming lawyers and politicians. They will need to remember to re-write the laws that were originally narrowly designed to protect large landholding families. New laws can accommodate birthrights of children legally recognized by their fathers. Deletion of any disenfranchisements to the mother and the child are in order.

MORE BLACK MAYORS ARE KEY TO NATION'S FUTURE

If the number of Black Mayors continue to increase in the future as during the past sixteen years, there will be little need for any of us to worry about facing another period in history such as the one we are currently experiencing. Should that happen, this nation may never have to contend with another Reagan as President, and overall conditions for everyone will have greatly improved because of that fact. It was not at all surprising to see recent statistics compiled by the Joint Center for Political Analysis that revealed a spectular increase in the number of Black Mayors during the ten year period between 1973 and 1983. Black Mayors increased during that brief period by 364 percent. Today the 226 Black Mayors represent more than 25 million people in some 28 of our 50 states. Most of us will undoubtedly agree that the office of Mayor is one of the most difficult, most demanding and most challenging public offices that one can hold. It is an office that requires all the skill and expertise that these Black men and women can bring to it.

In many ways, Black Mayors are a special breed. They bring to the office an uncommon sensitivity for human suffering that is lacking in even the most liberal white public official. The only other public official that comes close to having their unique sensitivity are White women and Hispanics whose numbers are also increasing. When combined with White women and Hispanic Mayors, they represent more than half the total population of this nation. With these kind of numbers, it should be almost impossible for a conservative hater of Blacks, Hispanics and Women, like President Reagan is said to be, to ever get elected again.

However, the primary necessity for assuring against his or the election of any other conservative, is that Black Mayors, White Women Mayors and Hispanic Mayors get people that they represent out to vote. If they do, whatever amount of money that conservatives are able to raise will not help them get elected. The numbers, the sensitivity and the sentiment are clearly against the Jesse Helms, the Strom Thurmonds, the Roger Jepsens, the William Armstrongs, the John Warners, the James McClures, the Larry Presslers, the Gordon Humphreys, and yes, the Ronald Reagans of the nation. Among these, only President Reagan may be wise enough to see the handwriting on the wall, and quite frankly, may well elect not to seek a second term. His fate too, is clearly in the hands of Blacks, Hispanics and Women, who are not likely to soon forget either the years of 1968, 1972, or 1980, the years that the nation had Richard Nixon, his resignation, and the election of President Reagan. Those were dark days in our history that none of us can afford to forget.

HEALTH EXTENSION

When you are laughing, talking, walking, sleeping, or doing nothing at all, your system is regenerating continuously. One cell is dying, another is being formed. The regeneration process happens automatically. Cells can regenerate toward health or degenerate toward illness depending on the choices one makes in daily life. When you eat, how much you exercise, the way you manage stress, your mental and spiritual orientation—any combination of all these factors determines the quality of regeneration of the cells.

Health status is purely individual. Even illness can act as a health indicator. Dramatic progress toward the regeneration of your health can be made once you learn your body chemistry and system, and discover the causes of illness. Often we convince ourselves that we can be fit without efforts, thin without dieting, and psychologicqally and spiritually healthy without facing our behavior problems. It is time to stop cheating ourselves.

For a realistic wellness evaluation, you have to assess your health status. Some significant signs of imbalance are: (1) Food—digestion difficulties requiring digestive aids, poor eating habits, more than 10% above or below your ideal weight (which creates poor body image). (2) Energy level—low energy, lacking in stamina, sluggishness, no exercise habit. (3) Stress—anxiety, quick temper, restlessness, poor sleeping habits, difficulty concentrating on daily tasks.

To be continued Next Week).

PSILOCYBIN

(cont'd from last week) The precise mechanism by which psilocybin produces a psuedo-hallucinogenic state is not known. Both psilocybin and psilocin are thought to effect the levels and activity of certain brain hormones. One of these, 5-HT (Serotonin), is involved in the transmission of nerve signals in the brain. It is thought that the interaction of psilocybin or psilocin with this hormone, and thus with neural transmission, accounts for the altered states of perception produced by the drug.

Although the psychological effects of Psilocybe are similar to those of LSD, mushrooms are much less potent, and have a shorter duration of action. A psilocybin "trip" can last from 4 to 10 hours, depending on the type and amount of mushroom ingested.

Current research has not demonstrated physical dependence potential with psilocybin use, although tolerance to the drug's effects does develop. Tolerance is the development of increasing immunity to the effects of a drug, so that greater amounts are required to produce the desired result. In addition, psilocybin has demonstrated a cross tolerance with LSD.

Although a dose of from 115-160 microgram/kg. of body weight is usually sufficient to produce definite effects, tests in animals indicate that psilocybin is relatively non-toxic. Intravenous doses as high as 200 mg/kg. of body weight were administered to mice in one study, with no lethal effects. Children, however, may exhibit untoward responses including high fever and convulsions. The death of one child in the Pacific Northwest has been attributed to Psilocybe poisoning.

BLACK-ON-BLACK CRIME
(Part 1 of 4)

As we gear up to celebrate Black History Month, we will not have any history left unless we as a community do something about Black-On-Black crime.

Black-On-Black crime is committed on those who can least afford it - those who are extremely vulnerable and are larger uninsured. The economic and political oppression suffered by Black people in America is the cause. It is a symptom of the social ills.

Brothers and sisters are acting out of impulse and frustration. We are all confined in a vacuum. If you are agry, frustrated, helpless or hopeless, you manifest those negative feeling right there within the context of the vacuum.

Racism is systematically projected in every institution in Amcrica and this produces a sense of self-hate. People in that same vacuum will begin to believe those messages coming from institutional racism. The power and consistency of that message will take its toll.

When the economic and political oppression reaches a certain point in one's life Black-On-Black crime will erupt.

Dr. Chancellor Williams wrote, "Life caged animals they strike at what is nearest to them—their own people. White need not go all out for "genocide schemes" when Blacks are killing themselves off daily on such a larger scale."

(Next Week: The Youth and Black-On-Black Crime.)

THE NATIONAL BLACK UNITED FRONT

AFRO-AMERICAN HISTORY MONTH:
It's Creation, Changes and Aims

Afro-American (Black) History Month was first celebrated in 1926, called then Negro History Week. In 1972 the name was changed to the present Black History Week, due to the demand for more time, and the week was extended to a month. This event was the brainchild of the late Dr. Carter G. Woodson, also known as the Father of Negro History. Carter G. Woodson was born in Virginia, and received very little formal education, freedom and employment, until age 17. He was the son of former slaves, who taught himself to read and write, and later graduated from high school with honors. He then went on to attend Berea College, the University of Chicago, and graduated from Harvard University in 1912 with a Ph.D. Carter G. Woodson, unlike many Blacks of that time and today, did not forget his roots. In 1915 he became the founder of the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History. He strongly believed in promulgating the contributions which Black people have made within this society. he believed that it was necessary, through research, to bring Black History out of the shadows and to probe the neglected aspects of Black Americans.

Throughtout the years, the Association for the Study of Afro-American (Black) History has presented and encouraged yearly celebrations, usually in February. This year, several groups have events scheduled, including the Black United Front, the Seattle Times, KIRO Television, the Seattle Public Library, and the National Council of Negro Women. The activites include programs of dance, film, music, literary arts, puppets shorts exhibitions, visual arts and dramas. This annual tribute to Black History is scheduled to begin January 28 and continue throughout February.

Keep an eye open for announcements of the various programs, and try to attend at least one of them during February. Also watch for notices on the NBUF programs (one each Friday evening, starting February 10th) in this column and the National View, or call Pam at 323-0229 for further information.

Another Point Of View

VIEWPOINT RESPONSE: SUGAR RAY'S COME BACK WILL TURN SOUR

This week's viewpoint response is in regard to the article which appeared in the Dec.21, 1983 issue of THE FACTS. The column was directed at the return of boxing great Sugar Ray Leonard, who just a year earlier announced his retirement due to an eye injury. Most likely sustain in his last match with Thomas Hearns.

This week's response is from a boxing fan who thinks that Ray Leonard is headed toward the wrong direction.

Mr.Burney: This letter is in response to your article on Ray Leonard which was in the 21st issue of THE FACTS. Although the letter I'm writing is a little late, there are some points I would like to get across. First of all, many boxers cannot leave well enough alone. For instance, when Muhammad Ali retired - then returned, then retired again. He was just playing games with his own fans. Trying to make a comeback at age 39 in boxing! - come on Mr. Burney, who's foolin' who?

And as for Sugar Ray Leonard, you explained in your article that any more injury to the eye retina, this young man will go blind. He's a young man with money and is set for life. Why would he risk his eyesight for history? Only he knows.

Yours truly,
Marun Holly.

HOUSEHOLD MOLD AND MILDEW
By: Anne Engelsen
County Extension Agent

The cold and wet winter of 1983 and 1984 may lead to a couple of minor but unpleasant household problems that can be prevented with a little attention. The problems are mildew and musty odors.

Anne Engelsen, King County Extension agent, cautions that the right conditions for mildrew is a thin, usually black or greyish growth produced on many kinds of surfaces by molds. These molds grow on anything from which they can get enough food. In homes they develop most often on cotton, linen, rayon, silk, wool, leather, wood and paper. Many synthetic fibers are resistant to mildew.

Prevention of mildew growth is a lot easier than removing the mildew once it has a chance to grow. To prevent it, keep things clean, control excessive moisture, keep the air dry and circulating and be certain that any closed location has frequent and adequate circulation of air. Chemicals such as silica gel, activated alumina, and anhydrous calcium sulfate can be used to absorb moisture from the air.

When mildew damage has occurred on clothing or any household article, remove the spots as soon as possible. If possible, brush the spores off outside so that they are not scattered further in the house. If carpets or upholstery is damaged and the removal of mildew is with a vacuum, be certain to dispose of the bag immediately, preferably emptying out of doors.

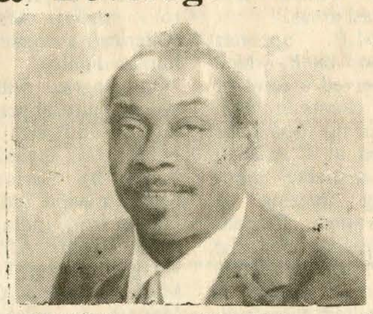

Drying, sunning and airing the damaged article will stop the mold growth. However, during the winter season this process is hardly possible. Clothing spots can be removed by soaking colorfast garments in a chlorine bleach solution of two tablespoons bleach to one quart of water. Soak five to fifteen minutes.

For non-colorfast fabrics use a solution of peroxygen bleach of one-half tablespoon to one pint of water. Be sure to pretest fabrics for colorfastness as some fabrics with wash and wear of special finishes may be damaged by chlorine bleach.

When mildew remains on upholstered articles or mattresses, sponge lightly with thick suds of soap or detergent and wipe with a clean damp cloth. In doing this, get as little water on the fabric as possible so the filling does not get wet.

Another way to remove mildew on upholstered furniture is to wipe it with a cloth moistened with diluted alcohol (one cup denatured or rubbing alcohol to one cup of water). Dry the article thoroughly.

For further details on preventing and removing mildew in the home, call King County Cooperative Extension office at 344-2686 and request King County publication KC #39.

1. Career exploratory opportunity for our youngsters. 2. Provide contemporary role models for our youngsters. 3. Direct dialogue between student and professional. 4. Develop communication skills - oral and written.

The first program is scheduled to air on Tuesday, Feb. 7, 1984, 8:00 p.m., Group W, Channel 29. Mr. Curtis Midkiff, pictured above, makes his debut, and will be interviewing the Reverend Samuel B. McKinney, Pastor of the Mt. Zion Baptist Church.

Mr. Midkiff is a student at St. Therese School, 9 years old, and in the 4th grade. He also attends the Mt. Zion Baptist Church, where he is active in the choir, and the Mt. Zion Ethnic School, which holds sessions every Saturday morning.

Mr. Midkiff developed the questions he asked Rev. McKinney. The questions ranged from a discussion of Rev. McKinney's formative years, his education, community activities, and his opinion on the Reverend Jesse Jackson running for president.

Recently, Mr. Midkiff received a standing ovation during a recent Dr. Martin Luther King celebration. He dramatically recited Dr. Martin Luther King's "I HAD A DREAM" speech.

Tune in February 7, Channel 29, and see a very enlighening direct dialogue between Mr. Curtis Midkiff and the Reverend Samuel B. McKinney.

The next scheduled CAREER CONVERSATIONS will be an interview between Ms. Melinda Brown, a third grade student at Van Asselt Early Childhood Education Center and also the Mt. Zion Ethnic School, and Attorney Symone Scales.

WASHINGTON ALMANAC

How Will Hispanics Vote?

By Frank J. Fahrenkopf, Jr.
Chairman, Republican National Committee

There is no doubt about it, Hispanics are America's fastest growing minority. By the year 2000, they may be our most populous minority, too. The Democratic Party claims 70 to 80 percent of the Hispanic vote, but perhaps the Democrats should not speak too soon.

Congressman Manuel Lujan is Hispanic. He was also the first Republican congressman elected in New Mexico in 46 years. Lujan, a 14-year veteran of the House, sees strong Republican trends in Hispanic communities.

Republicans and Hispanics in general, he says: "are conservative people, and therefore, the two share common ideologies: balanced budgets, the importance of family, good management and the defense of the country, areas in which both groups feel strongly."

By virtue of background, family ties and a common language, Latin American issues rank high on the list of Hispanic policy interests, garnering strong support for President Reagan's tough pro-democracy and anti-Castro stand.

In 1980, Ronald Reagan set electoral records for Republicans, winning 35 percent of the Hispanic vote. According to Lujan: "It is the President's basic conservative philosophy that had a big impact on the Hispanic vote.

Hispanics, who came to the U.S. to work hard and get ahead, and who, by and large, have retained strong family, cultural and moral values, flocked to President Reagan's platform which reflects their beliefs.

Hispanic support also comes from practical as well as philosophical concerns. With more than 250,000 Hispanic owned and operated small businesses, tax cuts, lower interest rates and an infinitesimal rate of inflation provide meaningful opportunity and old-fashioned business sense. For small business owners, Hispanic or otherwise, those economic successes mean support for the President.

While the real facts will be known only on election day, the Republican Party is making real strides in recruiting Hispanics as voters and as candidates, working in Hispanic communities across the country. 1984 may be another record-breaking year.

Help A Teenager - Provide Emergency Care!

By: Elaine Streitberger

"Street kids" or "throw-away-kids" have received a lot of attention in 1983. These teenagers have fallen through the cracks in modern family life. They are the victims of broken homes, permissiveness, drugs and self-centeredness. They have left home and their families cannot or will not take them back. It is my job to help them. I work for the State Department of Social and Health Services.

Let's talk about a typical case whom we will call Tammy. Her parents are both divorced and remarried. She lived with her father and step-mother, but could not ajust to the new family. Life at home became progressively worse when she entered high school. Tammy's grades were poor. She began to skip school. When she was kicked out for truancy, family interactions degenerated into shouting matches. She says she hates her parents. Tammy has come to believe that she is no good. Her father and step-mother cannot cope with her anymore. They are at the end of their rope. When Tammy left home she was told not to come back. She stayed with a friend for a few days, and stole food when she ran out of money. She got caught. The store owner refused to press charges. The parents were called, they were not willing to have her home. They did agree to sign a consent to give DSHS the legal authority to place Tammy in Receiving Care (emergency short-term foster care).

There are only four receiving homes for teenage girls in King County available for evening placements. They are usually full. They were full the night Tammy entered the system. Tammy can sleep on chairs at After-Hours and hope her newly assigned caseworker can find her a bed the next day. Or, she can run away, hand around the streets until she is recruited into prostitution or drugs. Those are her only choices. It isn't against the law to run away, so the police won't pick her up again unless she breaks the law.

Tammy needs a chance. When she enters the system it is important that she is offered shelter. She is more vulnerable now than ever. She has been cold, hungry, lonely and rejected. Because of this, she is angry and confused. She might reject any family that offers her help because she believes she is bad. It takes understanding, strength and stability to give a kid like Tammy another chance. You could be that family.

If you have an extra bed in your home, consider providing emergency receiving care to a teenager in need. For more information call 721-4383.
