MEDIUM SCORES BIG AT NATIONAL NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS CONVENTION

By CONNIE BENNETTE

Friday the 13th, which is generally frowned upon as "be careful" or "bad luck day" by many superstitious folks, proved to be a happy day after all last Friday, June 13, as members of The Medium's staff took pride in receiving two national awards.

The awards were among many presented to some 200 participating Black newspapers across the country at the 35th Annual National Newspaper Publishers Association (NNPA) Convention, held June 11-14 in San Francisco.

The Medium, although only five-years-old, has been a member of the NNPA for three years. Since then, The Medium has received "national journalism excellence" recognition for three awards, one of which was received last year for third place for "Best Feature Story of 1973" (housing series).

This year, however, things perked up a bit for The Medium. For the first time in its history, the small but salient Medium, engulfed first and third place national awards.

A series of articles relating to last year's controversial Dumdum Bullet sparked the judges' attention and netted first place as the NNPA's "Best News Story of 1974". Written by this reporter, this first place article awarded its recipient a trophy, a plaque, and $500.

The Medium was followed in this category by the 15-year-old Atlanta Inquirer, placing second, and the nation's oldest Black newspaper, The Philadelphia Tribune, which placed third. Newspapers with excellent creative and original advertising ideas also demand merit with the NNPA. In this category, Best Original Advertising, The Medium jumped into third place with its special Careers and You edition.

Careers and You brought The Medium a plaque and $200.

The Atlanta Inquirer led this category, while a 47-year-old Missouri newspaper, the St. Louis American, followed in second.

The publisher of The Medium, Chris Bennett, seemed almost speechless at the awards ceremony, as he observed the plaques, trophy, and money that he and his staff worked so "diligently for".

"I was very surprised at the winnings. And I was really happy when we won first place for 'Best News Story', which is one of the most prestigious awards given", Bennett said.

"I am very proud of the staff and I hope we get even better through the years", he added.

Also representing The Medium at the convention were General Manager and Advertising Director W. Larry Williams and Layout Supervisor Alberta Anderson.

Both Anderson and Williams agreed that a "lot of hard work" went into last year's Careers and You edition.

"It was rough putting a 64-page paper together", said Ms. Anderson. "But we hung in there and now we have something to show for it", she said as she lifted the beautifully engraved plaque and "check".

Getting advertisements was about the hardest part, Williams believes. "Naturally the ads did not come easy", he said.

"Chris and I almost gave up many times. But a competent staff kept us going. And as you can see, we made it", Williams said as he blushed at the glare from the shiny letter that could very easily have been pseudonyms for a "job well done".

The Medium, which has just proved itself capable of "journalism excellence", will continue to grow in size and influence and will continue to help initiate the changes most beneficial to Blacks in the "centuries to come".

BLACK WOMAN AWARDED $500 IN HOUSING BIAS CASE

A Washington State Human Rights Commission hearing tribunal has awarded $500 to a Seattle Black woman whom it found to be the victim of racial discrimination in housing.

The tribunal ordered that the amount be paid to Oneida Arnold by Kenneth and Donna Ferguson, owners of the Daphne Apartments, 414 13th Avenue East, in Seattle.

Ms. Arnold complained to the City of Seattle Department of Human Rights in late 1971 that she was denied rental of one of the units at the Daphne Apartments due to her race. The Department investigated and attempted to solve the complaint, and, when settlement efforts failed, brought the matter before a State hearing tribunal.

The case was handled under a joint agreement for processing complaints between the City Department of Human Rights and the State Human Rights Commission.

The tribunal found that fears, suspicions, and hostilities of racial origin explain why Ms. Arnold was not rented an apartment.

The tribunal also mentioned the fact that a Caucasian was offered rental of the apartment the day after Ms. Arnold was told that it was not available.

The tribunal also found that the Fergusons made an "almost comic attempt" to fill the vacant apartment for Ms. Arnold's visit with a tenant's belongings, without his knowledge.

The decision may be appealed to the Superior Court.

Jabbar Traded To LA

The long-rumored trade of Kareem Abdul-Jabbar by the Milwaukee Bucks finally took place this week. The Bucks traded Jabbar and back-up center Walt Wesley to the Los Angeles Lakers for veterans Elmore Smith and Brian Winters and rookies Dave Myers and Junior Bridgeman, the Lakers' two first-round picks in last month's NBA college draft.

The Bucks also received "undisclosed future considerations". Watch for future developments and commentary in next week's edition of The Medium.

FUNDS FOR 840,400 SUMMER JOBS FOR YOUTH EARMARKED

A formula for allocating $456,350,000 to 433 state and local governments to mount a summer jobs program for approximately 840,400 youths was announced Monday by Secretary of Labor John T. Dunlop.

The allocations are based on the bill passed by the House June 10.

The jobs are for economically disadvantaged youths and would be for nine to twelve weeks with a minimum pay of $2.10 an hour. The youths would work in state and local agencies in a variety of jobs not usually sought by full-time employees.

Northwest Regional Director James T. Hughes said in Seattle prime sponsors in Region

X will share an estimated $16,852,684, including $8,941,109 in Washington; $4,677,441 in Oregon; $1,746,302 in Idaho; and $1,487,832 in Alaska.

Dr. Dunlop said the 433 governmental units received program guidelines and instructions more than five weeks ago, including planning estimates, to permit the hiring of youths for summer jobs on schedule.

He said the prime sponsors had been given the flexibility to start their programs earlier, using Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) funds, in anticipation of an expected appropriation by the Congress.

He also pointed out that the broad powers of Title I of the Act already provided the prime sponsors with the authority and the funds to start summer jobs programs immediately, with the expected appropriation giving the means to carry out the latter weeks of employment. In addition, many sponsors have carry-over funds from last summer's program.

Participants must be 14 through 21 and from economically disadvantaged families, according to current federal poverty income criteria. These identify as poor an urban family of four if it has no more annual gross cash income than $5,050.

Activities for the young people may include classroom training, on-the-job training, work experience, public service employment and supportive services such as counseling and transportation. All will receive either training allowances or wages and workers compensation protection.

Typical jobs include directing children's recreation in parks and community centers, rehabilitating facilities and inventorying supplies in schools, sorting and storing books in libraries, caring for toddlers in day care centers, cleaning up alleys and vacant lots for environmental protection agencies, and setting up exhibits or guiding visitors through museums.

Today's allocations are based on a formula contained in CETA that takes into account unemployment in each area receiving funds, the poverty population, and previous year funding.

The allocations for Seattle and Tacoma are; King Snohomish Manpower Consortium, $8,941,109; Tacoma City, 696,132; Pierce County, $489,247.

City Recommends Abandoning Construction Plans For Pedestrian Overpass In Central Area

A recommendation to abandon plans to construct a pedestrian overpass at 23rd Avenue and Jefferson Street will be the topic of discussion July 2 at 10:30 a.m. by the City Council Transportation Committee, George Benson, chairman.

The Seattle Engineering Department made the recommendation after a recent study of cost-benefit ratios. The project was planned in 1971 to aid pedestrians using walkways between Garfield High School, Washington Junior High School, Medgar Evans Swimming Pool and local businesses.

The Engineering Department stated that pedestrian traffic in the area has dropped almost one third during the past five years. A department report also stated that a federal funding source which supplied design money is no longer in existence.

The estimated cost of the project in 1971 was $122,720. The present estimated cost is $567,000. Councilman Benson said the City would have to rely on the Arterial City Street Fund to continue with the plans.

He said construction of the overpass would deplete the fund by approximately 25 percent, jeopardizing other City improvements. He said funds already assigned to the project would be released for other urgent projects.

The committee meeting will be held in the City Council Chambers, 11th Floor, Seattle Municipal Building.

Youth Program

Running from building to building, operating elevators, carrying messages. These are a few things that become part of a regular routine when you have a job as page. From May 26 until the 1975 legislative session closed Monday, June 9 Anita J. Williams served as page for the Senate. She worked particularly for Senator George Fleming, but also performed various other duties in the Senate Chamber. Anita, now a junior in high school, will complete her schooling at Forest Ridge Convent. An honor student, Anita is a parishoner at St. Mary's Church and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Williams. The family resides in Central Seattle. In the words of Anita, "It was a wonderful experience, one in which you can learn about your government and still have fun."

Gospel

Festival

The Singing Galatians will be presenting a Gospel Festival on Friday, June 20 at the Langston Hughes Cultural Center, 17th and Yesler Way.

Featured on the Festival will be the well known Gloria C. Spencer Gray, who is renowned as the world's largest gospel singer, topping the scales at approximately 600 pounds; the Sensational Jackson Southerners from Mississippi; Rev. Clarence Fountain of the Blind Boys and the famous Gospel Keynotes from Texas.

Time for this grand festival is 8 p.m. Plan now to attend.

There could be a no better theme for a "Juneteenth" celebration than "Blacks in Unity", and there could be no greater need for a unified and collective stand among Blacks than is needed NOW to defeat the recall which put in issue, the competence of Walter Hundley, a qualified professional Black man. The position of the Recall Supporters in challenging this qualified Black man's competence, as a guise to hide their real motives, must be assessed for the impact of such tactics on all Black professionals.

To Tell A Tale Of A Total Experience

BY GREG STATEN

Listen my friends while I tell you a tale,
It's quite interesting, no need to turn pale.
The story is of a singing group that is pure dynamite,
And is headed by the one and only Sister Pat Wright.
The Total Experience Gospel Choir is this group's name,
The musical experience you receive is their claim to fame.
They were invited to take a trip to a convention,
But the money would have to be a product of their own invention
This story tells of all the blood, sweat, and the tears,
The group shared to be heard by our eastern shore peers.
Of how the group's counselors denied thier families for the choir,
This in itself, for the weakest soul should inspire.
Of all the letter writing and long distance calls that were made,
By doing all of this the group's battle plan was laid.
Incidentally, the sum in question was a mere 40,000 dollars,
What the group did to get it is presented as follows.
Singing here, singing there, singing all over the Pacific Northwest,
The Total Experience choir has been acclaimed as one of the best.
But singing engagements alone were not enough,
So the Total Experience started doing other stuff.
Clothes hangers and bottles were seized throughout the city,
On these hangers and bottles the choir showed no pity.
The Total Experience car wash was the place to bring your machine.
If on the weekend your stomach grawled for a little dinner,
A Total Experience chicken lunch had to be on your agenda.
Two dollars was all you had to dish out,
For the best dinner in town without a doubt.
And if you couldn't come by, there was no need to despair,
You could phone in your order, they delivered everywhere.
After all this the total Experience's goal still wasn't near,
Now take a break and listen with the other ear.
Before I go on, do you have any money you wish to donate,
I shall go on now, for now I know all of you are awake.
There was a paper drive going on at one time.
Do you know how much paper it takes to earn one dime?
The Total Experience even delivered papers for a newspaper,
This, as a matter of fact, was one of the group's biggest capers.
Rolling papers and keeping them rolled with rubber bands,
Oh, my goodness, how hard it is on my poor hands.
After the papers were rolled, they had to be thrown,
No matter what the weather was, papers reached every home.
Up the hill, down the hill, puzzled by dead end streets,
Oh, sweet Jesus, please have mercy on these, my feet.
While on delivery one day, there was a frightening sight,
When two dogs attacked our fearless leader the Pat Wright.
But she is doing fine, no need to get uptight,
Her feet did their duty, she's quicker than the speed of light.
But delivering papers did have its aspects of fun,
Like throwing papers while from barking dogs you would run.
I repeat that if you have any money for any of this,
You can get your name on one of the member's patron's list.
After all the asking, begging, singing, hoping, wanting and pleading,
After all the rides to places, thumbing, bumming, humming, and the praying.
After all the sore arms, sore backs, and nails in the feet,
The Total Experience went on, not knowing the meaning of defeat.
They went on because each member had the same purpose in their soul,
Which was to make the trip back east, this purpose was their goal.
So when the Total Experience is on the job one must confess,
The Total Experience Gospel Choir is got to be the best.
Thank you for listening to the Total Experience's true story,
Of their long struggle to reach a taste of glory.
May God be with you until we meet again,
For if He is on your side, you can't help but win!

Although The Total Experience Choir failed in its efforts to raise $40,000 to go to the American Baptist Convention, they are planning to go to California instead.

WASHINGTON STATE UNIVERSITY AWARDED $30,000 GRANT FOR BLACK STUDIES WORKSHOP

PULLMAN, Wash. Washington State University has been awarded a $30,000 grant by the U.S. Department of Education's Ethnic Heritage division to conduct a Pacific Northwest Black Studies Summer Workshop July 14 to August 1 on the Pullman campus.

The workshop will be under the direction of

Prof. Talmadge Anderson, director of WSU's Black Studies Program.

Purpose of the institute, Anderson said, is "to provide models for the initiation and development of effective academic course content and curriculum materials in Black Studies."

The three-week program will draw participants from the states of Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Nevada and California to the Pullman campus.

"The program is intended to study and develop innovative ways to address the matter of teaching methods, curriculum design and evaluation of Black Studies courses and programs in community and four-year colleges in the Pacific Northwest," Anderson said. "It is our hope that upon completion of the program, persons responsible for such instruction will return to their home campuses more prepared to teach Black or Ethnic Studies."

First week of the program will consist of subject familiarization, problem identification and assessment of Afro-American Studies in higher education, the WSU educator said. Curriculum content and resources is the focus of the second week, and the third week will deal with teaching methods, curriculum design, implementation and evaluation.

Anderson said prominent scholars and researchers in the field will serve as consultants to the WSU program.

"A nominal stipend is included in the grant for accepted participants, and graduate credit in the Department of Education at WSU will be given to those completing the workshop satisfactorily," Prof. Anderson stated.

2nd World Black African Festival Expecting 100,000

Jeff R. Donaldson, Ph.D., artist, art historian, educator and head of Howard University's Art Department is Chairman of FESTAC '75's North American Zone and responsible for the selection, housing and transportation of the more than 2000 artists and performers expected to participate in the 2nd World Black and African Festival of Arts and Culture in Lagos, Nigeria, November 22 to December 20.

Over 30,000 participants and some 100,000 visitors are expected to travel to Lagos, Nigeria, where FESTAC '75, the 2nd World Black and African Festival of Arts and Culture, will take place from November 22- December 20 of this year.

FESTAC spokesmen expect that 2,500 Black artists will be selected by August to participate in the festival, which is the sequel to a festival held in Senegal in 1966.

Additionally, FESTAC '75 is expected to attract a record turnout of tourists from both the United States and Canada, many of whom will use Lagos as a "jumping off point" to visit other countries along Africa's West Coast.

Numerous connections by air are available from Lagos to Cotonou, Dahomey; Accra, Ghana; Abidjan, Ivory Coast; Dakar, Senegal; and Monrovia, Liberia. There are also regular east-bound flights between Lagos and Addis Ababa, Ethiopia; and Nairobi, Kenya.

DID A BEE STING YOU?

Walking barefoot is part of summer, and so unfortunately are bee stings. If a bee bites you, there are several things you can do to minimize the pain, according to the Seattle Poison Control Center.

Poison Center nurse Mrs. Noreen Freese says that you should first remove the stinger. A paste of meat tenderizer (Adolph's) will relieve the pain and stinging. Ice will also help.

Mrs. House says that if the sting is on a leg or foot, the victim should elevate that limb to relieve pressure and pain.

A physician should be contacted immediately if there is an allergic reaction to the sting or if undue swelling occurs.

Whitney M. Young, Jr. Memorial Foundation Announces 1975 Fellowship Recipients

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 11 -- Six recipients of the 1975-76 Whitney M. Young, Jr. Fellowships were announced today by the Whitney M. Young, Jr. Memorial Foundation, Inc.

In announcing the Fellowships, Mrs. Whitney M. Young, Jr., Chairman, and Mr. Joseph F. Cullman 3rd, President of the Foundation, noted that the first annual Foundation Fellowships were announced in 1973 -- just two years after the death of the former executive director of the National Urban League.

The Foundation was created following Mr. Young's death in 1971. Its Fellowships are intended to memorialize him by providing minority group leadership training and developmental opportunities for men and women who have demonstrated talents and commitment in the broad field of social science-- which was Mr. Young's professional service and primary interest. The Foundation is devoting special attention to interracial cooperation in the areas of social services, career counseling and training, human resources, communications and government and its related agencies.

The Fellows were approved by the Foundation Board on the basis of the nominations of the Foundation's Selection Committee, consisting of eminent educators and public figures. Members of the Selection Committee personally interviewed the candidates before making their nominations.

Recipients of the Foundation's third annual Fellowship awards -- which include four Academic Fellowships and two Informal Tutorial Study Grants are:

Wilburn Hayden, Jr., Greensboro, North Carolina. Mr. Hayden, 26, will use his Fellowship award to pursue his doctoral study in Sociology at the University of Toronto.

Jeffrey T. Sammons, Lincoln University, Pa. Mr. Sammons, 25, holds a B.A. degree in history and an M.A. degree from Tufts College and plans to use his Fellowship award to begin his doctoral studies in the History Department at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Freeman T. Pollard, Denver, Colorado. A native of Birmingham, Alabama, Mr. Pollard, 33, holds a B.S. degree in English/Sociology from Tuskegee Institute and a Masters degree in Human Relations from New York University.

Adrienne Maria Foster, San Francisco, California. Ms. Foster, 30, will use her Fellowship award to pursue her Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology at the Wright Institute, Berkeley, California.

Joyce Mathis, New York, New York. A graduate of Central State University with a B.A. degree in Music, and a student at the Julliard School of Music, Ms. Mathis, 31, will use her Informal Tutorial Grant to train daily in vocal coaching and technique.

Paul David Escott, Durham, North Carolina. Mr. Escott, 27, a History teacher at Duke University, will use his Informal Tutorial Study Grant to devote this year to full time reading, analyzing and recording data from the Federal Writers' Project - Slave Narratives and a number of smaller collections of slave narratives.

Mrs. Young noted that the Foundation was formed "to establish fellowships for potential leaders committed to effecting positive social change, and to conduct conferences designed to bring together the races. We are pleased to see how well our former Fellows are progressing and look forward to great accomplishments from this most-promising group of Fellows who have been selected this year."

The Fellowship Program is administered by the National Fellowships Fund of Atlanta, Georgia. Candidates for the 1976-77 academic year can obtain application forms and additional information from the National Fellowships fund, 795 Peachtree Street, N.E., Suite 484, Atlanta, Georgia 30308.

GRADUATE AND UNDERGRADUATE DELTAS

The Delta Sigma Theta sorority hosted a beautiful initiation ceremony and banquet recently for 13 graduates and 11 undergraduates. The major community service during the pledge period was Delta Teen Life for middle school and high school young women. Delta Teen Life is designed to elevate the social, personal, educational and career interests that will lead to the awareness stature of Black young women. One of the projects was a tour of the University of Washington for high school women.

Along with these activities, the Delta Omicron Chapter is preparing for the National Convention, to be held here in August.

Rally Against Recall For Mt. Baker Residents

The Mount Baker Community Club will hold a Rally Against Recall on Wednesday, June 25 at 8 p.m. at the Community Clubhouse, 2811 Mt. Rainier Drive, So.

Mayor Wes Uhlman will be on hand to answer questions and discuss the issues in the current recall campaign carried out by Seattle Firemen.

Last month, the Mount Baker Community Club voted 67 to 0 to oppose the Recall, calling the Campaign against Uhlman "spurious and without foundation". The Club Resolution went on to urge the State Legislature to reform Washington's Recall procedures.

The June 25 event, sponsored by a Mt. Baker Committee, will be followed by a doorbelling and phone calling campaign on the following weekend.

Clean-up Day

Residents of the Mt. Baker community will mobilize for an ambitious cleanup campaign Saturday, June 28 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The Cleanup is sponsored by the Mt. Baker Committee.

Day Camp Seeking Volunteers

Day camp for handicapped children, operated by the Special Populations Section of the Seattle Department of Parks and Recreation needs volunteers 15 years of age and older.

The program begins June 30 and continues six weeks rotating at Camp Long, Camp O. O. Denny and Red Barn Ranch.

No previous recreation sored by the King County Environmental Health Project, the Mt. Baker Community Club and the Mt. Baker Housing Rehabilitation Program.

It will coincide with the kickoff of the city's $4.5 million dollar housing Rehabilitation Program which begins in the Mt. Baker Neighborhood July 1.

Under that program, Revenue Sharing funds have been made available to back up loans for housing improvements on approximately 1,000 homes in Mt. Baker, where home owners have agreed to submit their homes to mandatory code enforcement over the next 5 years. A board of directors elected from the neighborhood will govern the program.

Mt. Baker residents wishing pickup service should leave items at the curb. Almost anything will be picked up, except garbage, concrete and used tires. Anyone wishing a special pickup should call 722-1744 between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. on cleanup Day.

experience or work with the handicapped is required, as all activities are informal and well-supervised.

Volunteers work on a one-to-one basis with participants in activities such as crafts, games, field trips and so forth. For further information, contact Nancy Henry at 583-5798 weekdays.

Free Summer Youth Program for Central Area Youth

Cleo H. Earls

Through the efforts of Cleo H. Earls, PNB Public Offices Manager, and Pacific Northwest Bell's Central Area Community Relations team, Pacific Northwest Bell, for the second year, is affording a no-cost summer youth program to central area youths between the ages of six and thirteen.

Under the directorship of central youth services and Jather J. Michael Holland, Pastor of Immaculate Parish, a series of field trips to various state parks have been planned.

A reserved showing of childrens' plays at Black Arts/West, followed by a spaghetti feed for parents and participants, will end the summer program.

For information on the program, contact Dennis Duffell, Social Action Director-in-charge, 322-5970.

A LITTLE SPECULATION

by MR. CHARLIE

Whenever we hear a group of white economists or scientists, speculating about possible future programs, we listen carefully as they map out trips to the end of the solar system or a world food Bank. But if someone Black steps up to speculate about the feasibility of a Black political party or a national Black bank, we laugh it off as idealistic rhetoric.

The economic strength of the Garvey movement shows clearly the power of a cooperative Black bank, and the recent announcement by the Nation of Islam that they have assets totaling over $46 million bring things even closer to home. The fact that the Nation represents less than 20% of the Black population in this country should open your eyes to something.

Black people are the biggest single consumer group in this country. We buy over 40% of this nation's clothing and over 50% of the scotch imported in this country. Every major business is dependent upon our dollar. The car industry would go broke if we did not buy a new car for one year; the Cadillac corporation needs us, and everybody is aware of that except us.

So with those facts I dare to visualize Black unity through Black cooperative work. I dare to speculate about state wide and national Black economic and political conventions and it's easy to picture the formation of a National Black political party. I dare to speculate about Black banks funding Black businesses and a Black trust fund organized to provide money to research and map out solutions to Black problems. I dare to speculate a Black financed lobby group lobbying for Black concerns in every state and in Washington D. C.

Speculations are built on the need for something and are the first step toward making a plan to deal with the need. Speculations come from an awareness that something is possible and indeed feasible. Those of us who profess to be knowledgeable about how systems operate and how power is implemented, and yet refuse to speculate about building systems and creating power bases for one's people, may not be as intelligent as they wish us to believe.

Those of us who claim to be aware of Black problems and Black needs, and yet continue to put our hopes in other people for financial and political support, and refuse to assist in creating these valuable institutions in the Black community, may not be as aware as they claim. First we must dare to speculate, to visualize ourselves as a single powerful ethnic political and economic force. Next we must begin to mobilize and discuss how and when we can begin to build these institutions.

During all this, a community trust fund must be organized to create a community financial system. Each church, business and individual Black family should pledge to contribute a certain amount of money a month. White businesses that reap benefits from the Black community should be forced to pledge money or face a boycott.

Almost immediately the Black community will be given new respect, and whites will be clamoring to get in the doors of Black financial and political organizations.

We talk about removing oppression and we have the power to do so. We talk about what we need as a people to survive and we have the people and the capital to put it together. We talk about unemployment, discrimination and poor education facilities, and we discuss them as if whites are the only ones who can solve these problems for us.

Wanted! Your vote on July 1st

Wes Uhlman
Mayor of Seattle

Walter Hundley
Director, OMB

Recall, the real issue

You, the citizens of Seattle's Central Area, conscientiously cast your 1973 ballots overwhelmingly for Mayor Wes Uhlman; is that constitutional process to be undone by those who are unwilling to abide by a majority vote?

Why did Mayor Uhlman fire Chief Richards?

Because he overstepped his authority in rejecting Walter Hundley's proposed budget cuts — recommended for all city departments.

Did the Mayor act within his rights?

It is the Mayor's elected obligation to appoint and terminate such positions.

Who wants recall?

The Seattle Firefighters Union — not the Black Firefighters Association — reacted to the Mayor's firing of Chief Richards by attacking his appointment of Walter Hundley.

How competent is Walter Hundley?

Director Hundley was properly exercising his authority to suggest realistic areas of cost reduction; he has been nationally evaluated as one of the most superior administrators in government, bringing to his job expertise gained in social work and as Director of the Model Cities program.

Why should I vote against the Mayor's recall?

Because the very processes of representative government are at stake; whether or not you originally voted for Mayor Uhlman, your vote was a commitment to the concept of a majority election — a principle which should not be denied for every passing whim.

What has Mayor Uhlman done for the Central Area?

He has doubled minority hiring of city employees — from 7.6% to 13.4%; he has made a genuine commitment to improving the quality of Central Area life — by funding housing rehabilitation and people-needs programs through such means as the upcoming Block Grant; he has increased aid to Central Area senior citizens, including three new senior centers and by reducing their utility bills.

What will happen to the Central Area if the Mayor is recalled?

The budget will not be controlled — you can count on higher taxes; critical funding programs will bypass the Central Area; the spirit of unity will erode because nobody at the top cares enough to support it.

What can I do — before it's too late?

Vote July 1st

Get Your Bikes Ready For Bicycle Parade

Sunday, June 22, from 2-4 p.m., the concerned central area citizens for environmental protection will be sponsoring a bicycle parade. The ride will begin at Garfield High School and end at Seward Park. Mayor Uhlman has volunteered to be parade marshall. It is also very possible that both Sounder and Sonic representatives will be on hand. Radio Station KYAC will announce the ride as well as the lucky winners whose names will be drawn from a big hopper at the end of the ride. Participants must be 18 years of age or under and a resident of Seattle to be eligible for the prizes. However, everyone is encouraged to participate. Entry blanks can be picked up at Safeway parking lots (Empire, Rainier, 23rd) or by calling 324-6539.

BICYCLES

GET READY

Bicycle Sunday To Begin June 22

The season's third Bicycle Sunday will happen June 22.

Seward Park will be closed to automobile traffic from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. To park near Stan Sayres Memorial pits, turn east from Rainier Avenue South on South Genesee Street, then turn left on 43rd Avenue South.

A first aid station will be located at Sayres pits. Participants who have not already registered their bicycles with the Seattle Police Department are urged to do so. Registration forms will be available at the first aid station.

Bicycle Sunday program has attracted record numbers of people this year. More than 2,000 bicyclists pedaled the six-mile route from Mount Baker to Seward Park on Memorial weekend Sunday.

Other Bicycle Sundays are scheduled for July 20, August 24, and September 28.

HUD Schedules Meeting With Uhlman, Other Mayors To Discuss Homesteading Program

Senator Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) announced that the mayors of Seattle, Tacoma and Everett have been invited to attend a national conference in Washington, D.C., later this month on a new federal homesteading program.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) will ask the mayors of 100 cities across the nation to the June 26 Washington conference to describe their local homesteading and neighborhood preservation programs.

Following that meeting, HUD will award selected cities about 1,000 houses nationwide, valued at up to $5 million, for use in their homesteading projects. The mortgages on these houses have been foreclosed by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA).

"Urban homesteading works just like the homesteading which first opened America's frontiers by attracting settlers to free land in the West," Magnuson said. "Under the program, families who are willing and able to live in and rehabilitate a dilapidated home in a declining city neighborhood are given the title to the home at little or no cost."

Magnuson noted that Representative Joel Pritchard (R-Wash.) has long been a leading Congressional advocate of urban homesteading.

"While homesteading should not be considered a cure-all for inner-city decay, it can be an important element in any comprehensive neighborhood program," said Magnuson.

Up until a few months ago, the HUD Seattle area office, which covers the Seattle-Tacoma-Everett area, held more FHA-repossessed homes than any other area office in the country.

Since then, the Seattle HUD office has been disposing of the houses quickly, selling many of them "as is," without first repairing them. HUD now holds about 1,000 unsold houses in Seattle, Tacoma and Everett, with the majority located in Seattle.

"Since HUD has been selling many repossessed houses in the Puget Sound area in broken down condition, I strongly hope that the Department will pick at least one of the three cities to participate in the new program," Magnuson said. "Their selection would ensure that some of the repossessed inventory will be repaired in the near future."

The cities HUD will choose to participate in the project will be allowed to proceed with their own homestead plans. HUD is not developing any national program, other than to distribute the repossessed houses to deserving cities which will put them to good use.

The Central Seattle Community Council Federation, a grassroots people's organization dealing with issues and concerns effecting Seattle's Central Community since 1946, recently completed a community-wide election to determine the 1975-76 officers. Officers were elected by the central community Bernice Moreland, President;

Bernice Moreland
Don Kazama, Vice President; Alice Akers, Treasurer; Audrey Wright, Secretary. The following persons were elected as members-at-large to the Federation Board: Willie J. Allen, Thaddas Alston, Rita Griffith, Joe Jones, Earl Osborne, Doris Locke, and Flo Ware.

The Federation wishes to thank the other candidates and the community for their support in the election.
