Mayor Starts Redevelopment Program In Pioneer Square

Kicking off a summer of construction in the Pioneer Square Historical District, Mayor Wes Uhlman broke ground -- in this case asphalt -- at the beginning of work on the $75,000 First Avenue Median, a landscaped strip five blocks long between Cherry and King streets.

To emphasize the city's continuing commitment to redevelopment of Seattle's historic center, Uhlman took hold of a power concrete saw and helped cut away asphalt and concrete for the planting of the first of 33 sycamores that will line the street. The First Avenue Median is one of seven projects totaling about $867,000 scheduled for the next few months. Along with the median First Avenue's overhead traffic signals and wires will be replaced by corner bracketed lights mounted to existing light poles. Throughout the historical district, beginning with First Avenue, existing street lighting will be replaced by early-day three-globe fixtures similar to those found in Pioneer Square Park. These will be mounted on existing brass poles dating from 1923.

I SHALL PASS THIS WAY BUT ONCE THEREFORE ANY GOOD THAT I CAN DO OR ANY KINDNESS THAT I CAN SHOW LET ME DO IT NOW FOR I SHALL NOT PASS THIS WAY AGAIN.

This week's issue of THE FACTS features a six month progress report by Randolph Carter Industrial Workshop.

Patterned along the lines of GoodWill Industries, The Randolph Carter Industrial Workshop offers hope, encouragement, training and a sense of purpose to the mentally and physically handicapped citizens of the Central District.

A tour of the Workshop reveals many heartening facts. Its staff is extremely small, resulting in a large amount of personal interest in the welfare of the trainees at a small cost in overhead. Its income is derived not from large grants or donations, but from dollars earned from work projects.

Randolph Carter Industrial Workshop trainees not only learn to perform various work tasks, they are paid a fair wage for their output, thus reducing public dependency and opening a new world to these unfortunate people.

Lately, we Americans have been deluged with revelations of graft, crime and corruption, bureaucratic waste, and environmental excesses. It is refreshing to find that our whole country isn't this way. Indeed, there are many fine activities going on that offer compassion and opportunity to the less fortunate, and many fine people are quietly devoting their lives to improving our nation's moral climate by reaching out to help others.

A tour of Workshop is like a breath of fresh air. I hope all you businessmen and manufacturers who have work Randolph Carter could do will support it with work contracts. Believe me, it can be a GOOD feeling. Right On!

SEATTLE URBAN LEAGUE OJT PROGRAM PRODUCES JOBS

The Seattle Urban League through its OJT program has placed numerous "disadvantaged" individuals on jobs with local firms, and plans acceleration of the program as rapidly as funds will permit.

USB's effective program is simple in concept and is operated with minimum overhead. The League's field representatives develop areas of placement and its training advisors seek out disadvantaged people to fill the slots, provide counseling to trainees and followup with the employers.

During the employee's training period, 50% of the trainee's salary is underwritten by USB, thus permitting the smaller businessman or manufacturer to handle the extraordinary cost of training.

"The advent of Manpower Revenue Sharing through Nixon's 'New Federalism' has generated much local discussion regarding the impact on Seattle's economy" said Jerome Paige, Executive Director of the Seattle Urban League.

"The public at large generally realizes that the end of many social and manpower programs compounded by local manpower program cutbacks has very severe implications for the local labor force which consists of a large number of individuals who are non skilled, marginally skilled members of minority groups.

"The Seattle Urban League" he continued "recognized a long time ago that anyone without a job, or who is having difficulty for one reason or another in obtaining a job is disadvantaged, and some means had to be devised to interest employers in hiring these people. Our concept of reimbursing the employers for 50% of the initial salary outlay has proved to be highly effective and we feel it is a practical and responsible solution."

In addition to OJT, the Seattle Urban League has made a number of direct placements in companies and businesses seeking qualified applicants. Businessmen and manufacturers seeking new employees are urged to contact the Seattle Urban League's Director of Employment and Economic Development Tobias W. Washington, MA 2-2322.

Auction Scheduled At Historic Union Station

Residents of the Puget Sound region will soon have a rare opportunity to visit a monument to the great days of railroading. Seattle's historic Union Station at 4th Avenue and South Jackson Street will be the site of an "Environmental Auction" being conducted by Environment Northwest starting at 1:00 p.m. on June 23.

The old station is considered by many architects to be an outstanding example of the neo-classical design that characterized many public buildings around the turn of the century. It has been closed to public use since AMTR AK replaced the last Union Pacific passenger train running into Seattle.

The Environmental Auction will offer outdoor recreation, camping and sports equipment, season ski-lift tickets, guided pack-horse and back-pack trips in the Cascades, sailing and flying trips, ski-condominium and summer home weekends, and numerous other items and services. Open Letter To The Editor

Open letter to the Singing Galations and their family:

I cannot explain the joy I feel just being your queen, after that wonderful trip to Idaho, being put up in the very best quarters, served the best food, and just having so many people to care. I have really been made to feel like a queen. I know of large family's that could not have spent that many days together without a misunderstanding. But we did, and I know without the Lord God we could not have done it.

I give thanks to God today for a wonderful and blessed trip. I only hope that I can live up to what you expect of me, and be worthy of being crowned the Singing Galations Gospel Singers first Queen of the Pacific Northwest of 1973. Mrs. Mattie Beatrice Osborne

Roberta Byrd Barr To Talk To Women Of First A.M.E. Church

Mrs. Roberta Byrd Barr, vice principal of Franklin High School, will use the theme "Nothing Comes Easily" when she is guest speaker at 10:45 a.m. Sunday, June 10, at the First A.M.E. Church. The women of the church will be celebrating their Annual Women's Day at that service. The public is invited to attend. Mrs. Beatrice Farrar is chairman. The Rev. Cecil L. Murray is minister.

June is going to be a busy month for the men and women of the First A.M.E. Church. Since the two events are so close together this promises to be a very competitive race to see who can reach the goals that they have set first.

Starting with Women's Day, June 10th the women have chosen the theme, "Nothing Comes Easy". Mrs. Beatrice Farrar, Chairwoman for this year's event stated, "that any worthwhile goal does not come easy, and this is even more of a truism for the Black Woman."

In keeping with this theme they have invited Ms. Roberta Byrd Barr, to be guest speaker at the 10:45 a.m. Worship Service. Ms. Barr knows what hard work and goals are all about. For those who know and have worked with Ms. Barr, she has always set unlimited goals for herself. Having been active in the Seattle area for many years many of us will remember her as the commentator of the award winning, "Face to Face", television program. She has been seen more recently on KCTS' channel a program, "Faces".

Having been appointed Vice Principal of Franklin High School at a time when stability was greatly needed, her calm dignity prevailed when many decisions had to be made at that time. A turkey dinner will be served after the service with a donation of $2.00

Knowing that the women set the pace for many church activities, the men have been working hard to keep up. Men's Day will fall on Father's Day this year which is June 17th.

Mr. C.B. Wayne, Chairman for this year's Men's Day has put together a program, with the help of others, that will be of interest to many.

Dr. Nolen Ellison, President of Seattle Central Community College has been asked to be guest speaker.

Thirty-two years young, Dr. Ellison has accomplished much in his short life time. Versatile ability abound, he came to Seattle from Kansas City, Missouri where he was assistant to the Chancellor, Metropolitan Junior College District. Being a well rounded individual all his life, he, in 1963 was the third draft choice of the Baltimore Bullets of the NBA. With accomplishments to numerous to mention, this very personable young man will be a treat to bear.

A twenty-five voice male choir under the direction of Robert Ridley and Rovon Stanley organist, will also be presented. A "Church Man of the Year", will also be selected.

Both of these events will take place at the 10:45 a.m. worship Services at the First African Methodist Episcopal Church located at 1522 14th Avenue in Seattle. The Reverend Cecil L. Murray, Pastor.

RANDOLPH CARTER INDUSTRIAL WORKSHOP EXPANDS SERVICES TO HANDICAPPED

The Randolph Carter Industrial Workshop, 2100 East Spruce Street, is designed to serve the mentally and physically handicapped youth. Servicing mainly the residents of the Central area, it offers supervised training in employable skills, vocational rehabilitation, sheltered employment, job opportunities, placement and followup.

The Agency, which began operation in January 1970, has increased its services to youth from nine student/workers to 38 since November 16, 1972, when Mr. Oran L. Webb became Executive Director.

Randolph Carter solicits work contracts from Seattle area businesses and manufacturing firms, and from the work secured provides training and paid employment to the mentally and physically handicapped.

Since November 1972, Mr. Webb has been successful in obtaining a variety of contracts which permitted expansion from one skill, machine metal work, to seven additional areas of training and production: sorting, assembling, coating, inspecting, packaging and crating, painting and welding.

Mr. Webb stated "These increased areas of training will enable us to attract many more of the more than 1,000 physically and mentally handicapped youth in our area and train them for the world of work."

"I am pleased with our growth so far" he continued "but we still have a long way to go. We need more staff, especially in the counselor area, so that we can accelerate our recruitment program and our assistance to the trainees in their many areas of need."

Some remodeling and expansion of RCIW facilities has already been completed, and considerable more is in progress to accommodate the increased number of contracts from companies.

Companies who are currently supporting Randolph Carter with work contracts are Kenworth, Bethlehem Steel, Beebe Brothers, Towaco Screw Machine, G & M Nameplate, Pacific Northwest Bell, Weyerhaeuser, City of Seattle and Western Electric Company.

Other firms that have participated in providing the real life learning/earning opportunity to Randolph Carter include the University of Washington, ARCO, Jay Davidner, Modern Mfg., Harborview, Model Cities, Leckenby, Seattle First Bank, Ross Laboratory, Richfield Oil, John Fluke Mfg., Central Components, Hind-quarter Restaurant, Ideal Cement, K & R Productions, Boeing, Q C Corporation, O. B. Williams Co., Astro Gear, Lon-Jac Mfg., V.A. Hospital and Fentron Industries.

Public Notice

State legislators raised their voices in criticism of Nixon's recent revenue sharing proposals this week in Olympia.

The Senate Local Government Committee, chaired by Senator George Fleming (Democrat) of Seattle, voted to send a memorandum to the Senate Rules Committee, requesting direction as to the degree the committee could become involved in influencing federal legislation and guidelines in revenue sharing.

Legislators voiced their concern with the federal government's seeming intention of by-passing state government in awarding grants to local communities.

Effective programs, which have been the outgrowth of the model cities act are now in serious jeopardy, said Fleming. The state will be faced with these social and health service demands and yet had no involvement when the programs were initiated.

The Local Government Committee will hold a hearing on revenue sharing before the legislative session in September.

A Central Area playfield at Broadway Park? Do you feel that is too far away? The Parks Department would like to spend Forward Thrust bond funds designated for a Central Area park/playfield at Broadway Park. The funds require citizen approval at the site of expenditure. If you don't agree, come to the hearing sponsored by Central Seattle Community Council Federation on Thursday, June 14, at 7:30 p.m. at Horace Mann School, 2410 East Cherry Street. The Parks Department will give a short presentation and discussion will follow. Further information EA2-7100.

Magee trial date June 29

SAN JOSE, Calif. A date of June 29 was set for the second trial of San Quentin convict Russell Magee, 34, accused of kidnapping a judge during an escape attempt that left four persons dead.

Magee is to be retried on a single charge of kidnap arising from the gunbattle in the Marin County Civic Center in August, 1970. Superior Judge Harold Haley and three escaping convicts were killed.

Magee was originally charged with conspiracy, murder and kidnap, along with black militant Angela Davis, who police said furnished guns used in the escape attempt.

His first trial on the charges ended in a hung jury.

The second trial is in the Santa Clara county criminal legal building, in the same courtroom where Miss Davis was acquitted nearly one year ago.

Rustin hits Watergate

TEL AVIV —Black Leader Bayard Rustin said that no one will be able to govern the United States until the truth is told about the Watergate affair.

Rustin, director of the A. Philip Randolph Institute in New York City, told an International Economics Conference that Americans "are only seeing the tip of the iceberg" in the Watergate scandal. "No movement in America has been spared by it."

"The Nixon who swore to take crime out of the streets did exactly that and put it all in the White House."

Calling Watergate an ugly affair, Rustin said good can come of it if U.S. society becomes more responsive and if congress takes the opportunity to reassert itself.

"It can become America's greatest opportunity when and if the total truth is told," he said. "No one will be able to govern in the United States until the truth about Watergate is told."

City People

As a result of a special program aimed at getting more minorities into law practice, eighteen (2 will receive degrees in August) will graduate Saturday from the University of Washington Law School. Because of the tight job market, State Representative PEGGY J. MAXIE is making it possible for minority law graduates to meet potential employers at a reception July 14 at the Heritage House.

A few of the students are fortunate enough to have jobs to step into upon graduation and passing the bar examination. RAFAEL STONE, ex-Husky basketball member, has been tapped by one of the city's top firms--Ashley, Foster, Pepper & Rivera--and will become the first black lawyer for that company. MAXINE DANIEL THOMAS who would have like a position with a private law firm, will get her feet wet in the Office of the Attorney General.

Still on the university scene, a cup of tea to STACY WATERS for receiving a scholarship given by the British government. WATERS, 23 years old and holder of two masters degrees from U of W, will study at the University of Edinburgh... Congrats to LEONARD BERRY, often seen on all fronts, for obtaining a master's degree in Communications. LEONARD, who also serves as president of Vanhu Cable Company, is currently seeking a cable franchise in Seattle.

JOHN RAYE, in his spare time off as a television reporter with Channel 5, has just about completed a year's worth of pages titled: A Black Man's Guide to Radio & Television Announcing. Written not only for blacks but other minorities, the book will tell the "how-to's and what-not-to's" in electronic media, and is slated for publication in September.

City people did indeed turn out for the Mid-night Theatre Champagne Party given by Oscar Productions last Friday night or Saturday morning, depending on your arrival. Held at the Rainier Cinema, the crowd patiently stood in line to see the Watts/Stax Festival Film. It was worth the wait--good show, Jimi Brown et al.

On Tuesday, Washington Plaza was the place for City People to be captivated by the witty BILL RUSSELL, recently-named coach and general manager of the SuperSonics. According to the guests attending the reception, if BILL manages the team just half as well as he talks, they have also luted NOTHING to worry about. Agreeing with that was a proud and beaming CHARLES RUSSELL, who came up from Berkely on a moment's notice to be with his son during his first public appearance in Seattle.

The little gremlins worked overtime in my column last week, and I've been asked to cut their time in half. SOIC received $52,000 grant and it came from the Ford Motor Company instead of the Ford Foundation. An additional $1,000 and another organization can make a lot of difference in these times... Secondly, DEAN FALLS, owner of the Northwest Heavy Duty Contractors received a box of cigars for successfully bidding on a contract to build vehicle barriers for the Washington State Highway Department. It's important to know that DEAN becomes the first black to have been awarded a state highway construction contract over $100,000... Which reminds me of CARL MCCRAY president of Carlemco Enterprises, who expects to complete the Seattle Urban League's new quarters within six months. The three-story building, situated at 14th and Yesler, is being restored to the tune of more than $350,000. Let's keep doing it, y'all.

Brooke decries Watergate affair

WASHINGTON — Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., called the Watergate bugging an "act of stupidity" (by) a group of political novices "who lacked the experience to make the major decisions required of aides to the president."

Brooke defended President Nixon's right to a presumption of personal innocence in the Watergate affair, but said there might be questions about his judgment in choosing some of his close aides who have since been implicated.

"And as I've said before I think it's an act of stupidity as well as a very unwise act of a group of political novices," Brooke said in a UPI Washington window interview.

"I wish so far as the President's campaign is concerned that he'd had somebody in the higher level that had at least run for county sheriff -- that had some political experience," he added.

No one ever finds life worth living. One always has to make it worth living.

REMINDER: CAR LITTER BAGS ARE NOW A LAW!

The FACTS reminds its readers that the new Model Litter Control Act is now in effect.

The law requires that you have a litter bag in your car at all times. Violators are subject to a $10 fine.

For the next 30 days, the State Patrol will issue warnings to motorists; after that the $10 fine will be levied.

So, if you don't already have one, pick a litter bag today and get in the habit of always having one in your car. It's a neat idea.

This Is Your Life Mabel Harris

Mrs. Henry Harris,
by Moszell Pennington

June 3, 1973, 4:00 p.m.

It was Woman's Day at Washington Park Baptist Church, 624 Lake Washington Blvd., E. The little white and brown church was filled to capacity with beautiful women from all over the city and state. They came to share in "This is your Life Mable Harris." The theme: Rejoice in Hope - Encourage Each other. Mrs. Harris presented the message, "Rejoice Praise God and Give Thanks. She was very gracious and poised in a green and white suit, as she stood at the podium giving thanks to God. Mrs. Harris said "That every Christian should find a reason to rejoice to God every day. Rejoice when our friends or family find God. Rejoice even in pain and suffering. Let us rejoice and give thanks, let us celebrate."

It was at this time that one of the sisters came over to where I was sitting, she whispered in my ear, "where are the programs?" She was echoing the thought that a lot of the visitors had. Nevertheless, Mrs. Ethel Smith from Peoples Institutional Baptist Church calmly went about the job of serving as Mistress of Ceremonies. The Chanticleers from the Seventh Day Advent Church provided special music. Mrs. Nora Hatter from Mount Zion Baptist Church sang two solos.

The Ushers were seen quietly handing out the programs. The two eldest Thomas Sisters, Valda and Marcia approached Mrs. Mable Harris who was to be honored this day. I heard "this is your Life Mable Harris." I observed her facial expression; she was open mouthed with astonishment. She was struck speechless.

She humbly allowed the Thomas Sisters to lead her down the aisle to a brightly decorated chair. The chair had tiny flowers surrounding the top. She sat down, covering her face lightly with her hand as she was greeted by the voices of loved ones.

The unfolding of Mable Harris' life had begun. It began in Jasper, Texas as Mable Leola Frazier. She married Mr. Henry Harris. Her daughters Dorothy Johnson, Freddie Braxton, Son-in-law C. P. Johnson, relatives Otis Bean, Juanita Charles and Clara Frazier, long time friends and parade of churches, they came to honor Mable Harris with love gifts. As each came each pinned her with flowers of love and thanks. It was beautiful to listen to the testimonies from Mother Mables' friends in Christ, as she is called by many who love her and has worked with her. "Ask Mable she'll do it", seemed to echo through the church. "A real gogetter, that is Mable." But, all through the sharing I could hear the echo that "Mable will pray about it." I faintly heard Mother Mable say "I didn't know I was doing all these things. I love you, I love you."

I'm sure that everybody there was thinking and hoping that they too would like to be able to contribute to the growth of others as Mother Mable has done these past years. I followed the ladies downstairs to the reception. There were lots of hugs and kisses - and just happiness all around. I feel that for a little while everyone forgot about their problems as they rejoiced with Mable Harris in the little white and brown church that sets in a bend on a winding street on Lake Washington Blvd., where Rev. Spencer Thomas, Jr. is the Pastor.

Swing With Fir State

by: Bill Bell

Fir State golfers continued to "follow the sun" on last Sunday, June 3rd, holding a club play at the scenic and tantalizing Hi Cedars Golf and Country Club located in Orting, Washington. It was a long drive from Seattle to what seemed nowhere, but the course, 6296 yards long, par 72, was worth it. Especially for those who like large greens, tremendous undulations, lots of sand traps, considerable water and trees everywhere. I never saw so many ball ls splashing in water, or banging against trees as on this occasion as the course more subtle than it appeared. All the scores were not in at the time I departed the place but several had posted surprisingly high totals. John Freeman, Roscoe Richmond and Pete Costello survived the battle better than most shooting 75, 78 and 78 respectively. LiDean and Bob Duckworth also were in the 70's as were Montgomery, Benson and a few others. Steady Frank Jackson was really done in by the course, shooting an 88, only 10 better than his rapidly improving son, Ryan. Your writer had six penalty strokes but managed an 83. Wilbert Ponder, George Reynolds and John Valley were "bitten" by 84's. So you can see the first time on the course was quite a challenge as we had one of our largest turnouts to date. We will indicate the various winners in next week's article.

The playoffs are underway for the Captain's Cup. The first round must be completed by June 15th. Those participating are indicated on a sheet posted at Jefferson. We are aware of the outcome of one match to date. John Valley wnet 19 holes with Bill Langworthy with John emerging the victor following Bill-spraying a snout out of rounds. Hopefully next week we can report the results of other matches.

Twenty players are competing for the Club Championship. The lowest gross after four rounds of play at specific sites and dates (West Seattle twice, Jefferson, and Jackson) will determine the winner.

Further, our annual picnic will be held at Spanaway in July. The Annual Open Tournament again is scheduled for Alderbrook Country Club in August, the 10th and 11th. So with plenty of action remaining, get your games in shape and pick up some of the coins that Beaver, Duckworth, Freeman and others always make available. Incidentally, congratulations to Bob Duckworth on the exceptional job he is doing in getting out correspondence to the members.

RING SIDE NORTHWEST

Hi Boxing Fans-----As you can see most of the boxing news in this area this week is bad, it stems from the Grand Jury hearings held over the past few months, at this writing one of Seattle's past leading promoters has been charged with fixing the outcome of bouts held out of the state, being a boxing man myself I will await the outcome of his trial before passing judgement, and I hope that all of the boxing people in this area will do the same. At one time in this country there was the saying in our courts that a man was innocent until proven guilty, with all of the hearsay and innuendos in the Watergate Affair and now this little thing in our town I'm beginning to wonder about that, most of you readers I think I remember Wendell Wilkie ran for the President of this country, and some of his thoughts weree about the world at large, he said and I hope the Historians correct me if I'm wrong and being a human I an entitled to a few mistakes, the world was becoming one world and we in this country were bound to become involved, well I do hope that we do not go along with some of the laws of other countries that a man is guilty and he has to prove his innocence, I still think that our way is better, that the state has to prove his guilt, this I think is the better way, let not have the way of the land changed to appease the weak and small people just to placate their feelings, if you are small and weak that is probably where you belong, I'm sorry to see the publicity of this come out on boxing because I like the sport and want it to become one of our leading sports here, it can be that, but the strong have to stand up and weed out the chaff, at this moment after talking to one of our leading men here in boxing and after what I was told I can do and what I cannot do I have decided just this morning to consult with my attorney and see what charges can be made to protect oneself against the onslot of the favored few, and we do have that situation here in this town, I've been pushed to the edge trying to help boxing and boxers and have received not one pleasant word nothing but kicks and bruises, it has now come to an end, I would rather go down protesting and fighting than just let it be still as in the past, there has been nothing but roadblocks in the past, now we will move some of those roadblocks, this will be for the future people that come behind, and I really hope that the air will be cleared once and for all, no more behind the scene dealings if we are going to clear it up lets do a bangup job at it, let the rules apply to all and not have two sets of rules for white and black, if it has become one world lets make it good for everyone, it has come to the point of live or die and believe me this is a good world and I do not intend to go out without trying to make it better for those behind me. More next week.

'Say-hey' Willie Mays is now only a memory

NEW YORK, —Willie Mays doesn't "Say-hey" anymore...Or much of anything else for that matter. What is there for him to say? What is there really for anybody to say about this absolutely incredible 42-year-old man who some people purposely deluded themselves into thinking would always remain a boy?

Willie Mays is close to the end. Another month or so, a couple of weeks, a couple of days, who knows?

Some ballplayers quit, then retire five years later. With Willie it's altogether different.

He'll retire soon, but in his heart he's never going to quit being a ballplayer because the fact of the matter is he never wished to be anything else, and still doesn't.

At the moment, Mays is nursing a sore shoulder and an equally sore .105 batting figure.

That's only part of the story. The awful truth is Willie Mays can't hack it anymore.

He simply can no longer play, and it doesn't matter whether he comes out and tells everybody in the plain, almost boyish way Mickey Mantle did or continues keeping the fact to himself, he can't kid mother nature.

Where once it was a joy to watch Willie play, it is now a painful experience, particularly for those who remember him as an individual who played baseball with more pure love and abandon than perhaps anyone else in the past three decades.

Remember how Willie Mays

used to throw the ball? He doesn't anymore.

He merely flips it back to the relay man from the outfield.

Remember how he used to hit the ball over the fence? He doesn't anymore.

He generally can't get it out of the infield, and he's much too proud to tell anybody the reason, but at 42 nobody can see the same way he did at 22, even Willie Mays, and what it boils down to now is he can't pick up the rotation of the ball. He can't see the stitches.

"I say to hell with all hitters, but I gotta admit I feel a little sorry for him," says one National League pitcher who faced Mays not so long ago.

"Some other pitchers have told me the same thing. You don't want him to hit a home run off you or beat you a ball game, but you wouldn't mind too much if he got a base hit off you once in a while or at least hit a long drive. You have to remember this is Willie Mays, and he's not even getting the ball out of the infield anymore."

Willie has gone to bat 38 times for the Mets this season and managed only four hits.

"With the warmer weather, he may bounce back," offers Yogi Berra, the manager.

Yogi is only kidding himself. It'll never get that much warmer.

Willie Mays still draws a lot of mail. Earlier this season, one of his former teammates, who likes Willie, saw a photo of him in the paper, and the picture showed Mays back on his heels, already bailing out as the ball was being delivered.

"I know a lot of people are giving you advice, and who am I to tell you how to hit, but this is what you are doing wrong," wrote his ex-teammate. "Draw a line in the batter's box, make your first step with your left foot over that line and there is no way you'll be stepping in the bucket."

Chicken Supreme..... Fried Chicken probably comes as close to being the national dish of America as anything you can name. In 1607, early settlers brought chickens to the American Colonies and every housewife tended her small flock lovingly for meat, eggs and of course feathers for pillows and beds. The chicken has always been part of the American scene. Southern fried chicken is still a rally cry to certain rebels who look upon stewed chicken and dumplings as Yankee fare, while barbecued chicken owes its allegiance to the West. Chicken is a national favorite for flavor, convenience and economy, and when it comes to variety, you'll run out of summer days, before exhausting all the ways to serve chicken..... fried, barbecued, broiled, roasted, baked and in casserole.

Menu
Sesame Chicken*
Potato Salad
Tray of Fresh
Sliced Garden
Vegetables
Baked Beans or
Corn on the Cob
Sour Dough Rolls
Watermelon Boat*
Iced Tea w/lemon

Sesame Chicken
1 egg, slightly beaten
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup sesame seed
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. freshly ground pepper
1/2 cup butter
1 broiler fryer
(about 2 1/2 lbs.) cut in pieces

Combine the egg and milk, in another small bowl, mix the flour, sesame seed, salt, and pepper. Melt butter in a baking pan. Dip chicken parts in milk mixture; then dip in flour. Put chicken in pan, turning so that butter coats all sides. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 1 to 1 1/2 hours, or until tender, brown and crisp. Make about 4 servings.

Charming Triplets Celebrate First Birthday

Pictured above is Regina Bell and her three beautiful children. The triplets, McClain, DeShae and Lynae, were born May 30, 1972 at Virginia Mason Hospital.

Ms. Bell who lives at 1414 So. Columbian Way, is a student at John Powers Modeling School.

When asked what advice she had for prospective young mothers, Ms. Bell said, "It is a lot more simple to have three at a time; you've got a full family right away."

"Of course, there are problems with it too. It takes a whole lot of milk to keep three little babies healthy, and I am forever short of Pampers. It's pretty hard to handle all three of them, too. Since I don't have a stroller."

"In spite of these problems" she concluded "I wouldn't trade places with anybody. In fact, if I had known I was going to have triplets, I would have been just as happy to make it four-or even quintuplets!"

Watermelon Boat

Fruit Cocktail, coconut, crushed pineapple, 2 cups colored miniature marshmallows, maraschino cherries, 1/2 pt. sour cream, strawberries (whole for decorating). Decorate the table with batches of lovely, sun fresh daisies.

Special High School Graduation Exercise

Five students will receive their high school diplomas at the Special Counseling and Continuation School graduation exercise. It will be held on Thursday, June 7, 1973, at 8:00 p.m. at the East Side Branch YWCA, at 2820 E. Cherry Street. A former student, Mrs. Vicky Calhoun, and John Preston, Administrative Assistant of the Central Region for the Seattle Public Schools, will speak.

The Special Counseling and Continuation School provides an opportunity for students to continue or finish their high school education during their pregnancy.

Dog Problems In Parks

Problems with dogs in city parks will be the subject of a public hearing June 12 during the regular weekly meeting of the City Council's Public Safety and Health Committee beginning at 2 p.m. All interested persons are invited to participate.

Citizens may presently train dogs without leashes on two areas made available by the Parks and Recreation Department—one is Jensen's Playfield just south of the Sayres pits, the other is on 15th W. just south of Interbay Playfield. Animal control director A. J. Bossart has suggested more special exercise areas for dogs on unused city property.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development has many fine acquired homes throughout the Tacoma area, and all over western Washington. Some are nearly new. All are in good condition. All are reasonably priced, with low down payment.

As a homebuyer, you will realize several advantages: the interest you pay is wholly income tax deductible; you will soon build an equity in the value of your home... making your net worth grow; your home is your castle... yours to live in, in your own individual style.

HUD doesn't sell houses, so please don't call HUD for details. All sales are made through professional Real Estate brokers. Almost all licensed Real Estate brokers have complete lists of homes available. They will be glad to help you find the home suitable for you, and to answer all your questions. Call one today. Ask him about HUD availabilities.
