Huskies Three-Peat Ends

MANN'S
BITS &
PIECESby Dave Mann

When you arrive at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, California the first thing that strikes your fancy is the thousands of people lining Colorado Boulevard the site of the Rose Parade. Once you make your way thru the muddle of people and traffic and finally arrive at the Bowl itself, you count your blessings for having Press Parking Credentials. There's a long tunnel that the Press walk thru to get to the playing field. This same tunnel is used by both teams to exit onto the playing field. I was most impressed by the exuberance of the Michigan players taking the field, than the coolness that surrounded the Huskies as they calmly trotted on to the field. For a game of this magnitude, College layers are usually so upbeat until a tranquilizer is the order of the day.

Maybe after three consecutive tries to the Rose Bowl, the Huskies felt invincible, and perhaps carried a Ho-Hum attitude into the battle. But once the game began, Michigan proved that they came from across the continent for one reason only, to take back the Rose Bowl Trophy and the prestige to their Big Ten counterparts...

Just watching the Boston Celtics last week in the Kingdome, I suddenly found myself looking for Larry Bird and Dennis Johnson to jump off the bench and enter the fray and at least make the game against the Sonics Competitive. But as with all living things time erases its youth. Consequently, the Celtics Roster now include the un-house-hold names like Joe Kline, John Bagley, Dee Brown, Sherman Douglas, Rick Fox, Kevin Gamble, Reggie Lewis, Ed Pinckney, Jon Barry and Kenny Battle to name a few. The Celtics of old are down to only two with Robert Parrish at Center and Kevin McHale at Forward. There's an ex-Sonic flavor there now in the presence of Xavier McDaniel...Consider this: within three football games the University of Washington Huskies went from a tie in first place to a season ending final eleventh position - WSU quarterback Drew Bledsoe has given up the College Campus Life to announce his intentions to play for pay in the Professional ranks - Open the door and let me in. Reggie Jackson is singing that song this week to the Powers that hold the key to the doors of the Hall-Of-Fame. "Mr. October" heads a list of 14 first-time candidates who appeared on the ballot mailed last month to more than 400 10-year members of the Baseball Writers Association of America - New Coach John Lucas of the San Antonio Spurs is looking good. The fiery coach has his spurs on a winning streak. Since taking over the job from the beleaguered Shark two weeks ago the Spurs have only lost one game while winning six.

Lincoln Kennedy running interference for his Coach Don James out of the tunnel.

I will return in 1993-94.

My last game and I go out like this!

The Washington Huskies with Coach Don James and Big Lincoln Kennedy leading the way, burst upon the soil of the Rose Bowl Stadium in Pasadena to take on the Wolverines from Michigan. After the fray, the Final score 41-38 Michigan, made some of the Husky Seniors show pain and dismay and others like Number 8, Napoleon Kauffman grimace and vow to be back in 1993-94.
